(NOV 14) UPI - Lawyers for Pan Am Corp. and UAL Corp. worked Wednesday to beat a midnight deadline for drafting a final agreement for the sale of Pan American World Airways' highly coveted U.S.-London routes and other Pan Am assets to United Airlines.

Lawyers worked into the night to get the $400 million proposal into shape, and both sides expressed hope the final documentation could be completed by the midnight deadline set in the tentative accord announced by the two companies last month.

A spokesman for Pan Am in New York, where lawyers for the two companies were meeting, said an extension was unlikely.

''They're still meeting now,'' Pan Am spokesman Jeff Kriendler said at 5:30 p.m. EST.

''Talks will probably go on for several hours yet but we're hopeful an agreement will be reached,'' Kriendler said, noting the midnight deadline.

A spokesman at UAL headquarters in Chicago's suburban Elk Grove Village expressed confidence that agreement would be reached, though he said it might not be announced until morning.

A Pan Am spokeswoman said Tuesday the company was ''confident'' a final deal would be forged by the close of business Wednesday. Asked if the company was still confident late Wednesday, Kriendler emphasized that ''hopeful'' was a more appropriate word.

Should the Pan Am-UAL deal fall through, Carl Icahn and his privately held Trans World Airlines Inc. were waiting in the wings with a $450 million offer to buy out Pan Am lock, stock and barrel.

Analysts said the TWA proposal appeared to be of questionable value. The $3-a-share offer provided stockholders only $1 a share in cash. The remainder would take the form of preferred stock and notes with a face value of $2.

Analysts, however, noted that both Pan Am and TWA have huge debts, and that the preferred stock and notes would trade at deep discounts - with cash value estimated at as little as 50 cents a share.

That would make the face value of the Icahn offer less than the selling price of Pan Am stock - which gained 12.5 cents to close at $1.875 a share Wednesday on the New York Stock exchange. UAL gained $1.25 to $101.625 in Wednesday's trading.

But Robert Decker, airline analyst for Chicago-based investment advisers Duff & Phelps, suggested Wednesday that Pan Am might find a snag its talks with UAL convenient - allowing Pan Am directors to give the Icahn offer more careful study.

Pan Am and United announced a tentative agreement Oct. 23 under which United would acquire a number of Pan Am's European routes, as well as terminal facilities at San Francisco International, London Heathrow and Washington Dulles airports and two Boeing 747-200 aircraft for $400 million.

Since then, both Icahn and Texas-based AMR Corp., parent of American Airlines, have expressed interest in Pan Am - in whole or in part.

AMR said it was interested in Pan Am London routes being sold to UAL, and estimated the routes to be worth about $500 million.

That prompted a Philadelphia shareholder to file a derivative action suit in Delaware Chancery Court accusing Pan Am directors of gross waste of corporate assets, mismanagement and reckless breaches of their fiduciary duties.

The suit was pending.

NEW YORK (NOV. 14) UPI - U.S. banking regulatory and thrift bailout agencies filed a $6.8 billion claim Wednesday against Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc., the former employer of junk bond czar Michael Milken, alleging the firm ''plundered'' more than 40 savings and loan institutions through securities transactions.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which guarantees bank deposits, and the Resolution Trust Corp., created to oversee the bailout of the savings and loan debacle whose final cost has been projected at $500 billion, accused the Wall Street firm of ''bribery, coercion, extortion (and) fraud.''

Drexel Burnham Lambert Group Inc. filed for bankruptcy in February because of its inability to raise fresh capital after paying out $575 million in 1989 on losses related to the high-risk, high-yield junk bonds and settling federal charges the year before by agreeing to pay $650 million in penalties.

But its main subsidiary, Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc., the primary operating unit of the Drexel empire, was not included in the filing.

A joint FDIC/RTC statement said the agencies' filing in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in New York charges that Drexel, working with others, ''willfully plundered the S&Ls.''

It said Drexel ''maintained the appearance of a market for junk (bonds) that would not otherwise exist'' to disguise securities losses.

L. William Seidman, chairman of both the FDIC and the RTC, said the agencies would develop the charges in an ongoing investigation.

(NOV. 14) UPI - Defense Secretary Cheney today authorized the military to call up an additional 75-thousand 500 National Guard and Reserve support troops for Operation Desert shield. The troops could be called up for duty in and around Saudi Arabia, but that's NOT expected. The Pentagon has activated more than 35-thousand members of the selected reserve since the buildup began in the Persian Gulf.

Swiss officials say it was raining, but visibility was good and there was NO fog or heavy cloud cover when an Italian airlines D-C-9 crashed five miles from the airport in Zurich, Switzerland, today. Rescue workers probing the fiery wreckage recovered 10 bodies three hours after the crash. Authorities fear all 40 passengers and six crewmembers aboard the Alitalia plane were killed. The flight was on a short 45-minute hop from Milan to Zurich.

At the Kennedy Space Center, work is proceeding smoothly at pad 39-A for tomorrow's night launch of the space shuttle Atlantis on a secret military mission. The latest revised forecast says there's only a 40 percent chance weather will delay the mission, which is expected to orbit a spy satellite.

A congressional panel is blaming the Reagan administration for weakening federal food labeling requirements. The report for a subcommittee of the House Government Operations Committee says the Reagan White House interferred with rule-making at the Food and Drug Administration. According to the report, the result was ''the proliferation of misleading health claims on foods.''

The Soviet government today removed controls on prices of luxury goods. That means the prices of things like fur coats, jewelry, cosmetics and liquor could double in most of the country tomorrow. However, the Parliament of the Russian Federation is defying the central government. It rejected the increases until its legislators approve them.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 14) UPI - Secretary of State James Baker will travel next week to Colombia where drug traffickers have brought the country to a standstill with a reign of terror.

Baker's spokeswoman, Margaret Tutwiler, said Wednesday that Baker will fly to Colombia at the conclusion of President Bush's European summit trip on Nov. 21.

No date or location was given for the Baker trip, but it was announced that the secretary will meet with Colombian President Cesar Luis Gaviria.

The South American nation has been disrupted by a drug terrorist campaign to break the government's policy of extraditing suspected drug leaders to the United States.

Baker will leave Washington on Thursday when he will fly to Geneva for meetings on the Persian Gulf crisis with the foreign ministers of Ethiopia, Ivory Coast and Zaire.

The African countries are members of the United Nations Security Council, where the United States is pushing for a resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq.

FRANKFURT, GERMANY (NOV. 14) UPI - Swede Stefan Edberg needed more than 2 1/2 hours Wednesday night to shake off Andre Agassi, 7-6 (7-4), 4-6, 7-6 (7-5) on the second day of the $2 million ATP Finals, and Boris Becker began his assault on the summit of tennis with a difficult 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Andres Gomez.

U.S. Open champion Pete Sampras had an easier time, defeating Emilio Sanchez of Spain 6-2, 6-4 with his powerful forehand and a devastating first serve.

Sampras, rebounding from his opening loss to Andre Agassi, kept alive his hopes of a semifinal berth in this eight-player round-robin event. Sanchez dropped his second straight match.

After 2 hours and 35 minutes, Edberg's forehand volley on second match point at 12:20 a.m. Thursday proved unanswerable for Agassi, sending the world's top player into the semifinals.

Becker, who was questionable for this tournament because of a thigh injury suffered 10 days ago, can become the No. 1 player for the first time if he wins this tournament and Edberg fails to make it to the final.

The German star lacked the mobility to answer Gomez's returns and passing shots in the first set. Gomez, the French Open champ from Ecuador who is ranked No. 6, captured the set in 47 minutes with the first break of the match on a crackling return.

In the second set, Becker took advantage of Gomez's errors. He won three games in a row, including two breaks, to win the set 6-3.

A near capacity crowd of almost 8,000 in the Festhalle saw Becker approach top form in the third set. He managed two more breaks and was never in any real danger. Becker wrapped the two-hour match up on his second match point.

Sanchez, a clay-court specialist who fell to Edberg in his first match, made many unforced errors against Sampras and has only a dim chance to advance.

Sampras used two breaks and two strong service games to run off four straight games and take the first set in 25 minutes.

He blew a good opportunity in the opening game of the second set, missing two breakpoints. Both players held before Sanchez faltered at 4- 4, unable to counter Sampras' attacking net game. The 19-year-old California then held serve to capture the match.

Each victory is worth $50,000 and 50 world ranking points.

Thursday's schedule is Ivan Lendl-Gomez, Becker-Thomas Muster and Agassi-Sanchez.

Edberg and Sampras have a day rest before their encounter Friday.

(NOV. 14) UPI - Defense Secretary Cheney today authorized the activation of up to 72-thousand-500 more members of the National Guard and Reserve for Operation Desert Shield. If the reservists are sent to the Gulf region it could push the total American deployment to more than 500- thousand troops. There are already more than 230-thousand U-S forces in the region and the Bush administration announced plans last week to virtually match that commitment.

President Bush today got a warning from Democratic leaders in Congress. The leaders said the president will have to consult Congress in detail if he decides to go to war against Iraq. Bush invited bipartisan congressional leaders to the White House amid congressional unease over a major addition of U-S forces in the Persian Gulf. The leaders ruled out any immediate call for a special session of Congress to debate U-S policy in the Gulf.

Swiss authorities fear all 46 people aboard an Italian airlines D-C-9 were killed today when the plane crashed just before landing at Zurich, Switzerland. Officials say Alitalia Flight 404 crashed in woods about five miles north of Kloten Airport while on a 45-minute hop from Milan to Zurich. They say visibility was good but it was raining. Hours after the crash, authorities recovered 10 bodies. But they say parts of the wreckage is still burning.

More violence marred the three-week-old strike at the New York Daily News today. Authorities say about a dozen men with baseball bats and sticks stopped a Daily News delivery truck in Brooklyn and beat the driver and an assistant. Police say the driver was NOT hurt, but the assistant was taken to a hospital with a possible broken arm. The incident is the fifth strike-related act of violence this week.

In Geneva, Switzerland, the largest diamond ever sold today fetched a record price of nearly 12-Million dollars at a Sotheby's auction. (NOV. 14) UPI - The Pentagon authorizes more reserve call up... An Italian airlines plane crashes in Switzerland... And former Wall Street speculator John Mulheren gets a prison sentence... U-P-I has these top stories and more, next.

In a move that was NOT unexpected, Defense Secretary Chaney today authorized the activation of up to 72-thousand more members of the National Guard and Reserve.

The reservists will be used to support operations in and around Saudi Arabia.

The authorization is NOT a call up. Rather, it allows the military to dip further into reserve forces if necessary.

If all reservists under the latest order were sent to the Persian Gulf region, it would push the total American troop deployment to more than half-a-Million. Currently, there are more than 230-thousand U-S forces in the region. Last week, the Bush administration announced plans to virtually match that commitment.

That announced major addition to U-S forces in the gulf has caused worries on Capitol Hill. Today, congressional leaders met at the White House with President Bush and voiced their concerns about the possibility of military action to drive Iraq from Kuwait.

The meeting ran almost twice its scheduled hour duration. Bush assured lawmakers the U-S military position in Saudi Arabia remains defensive- NOT offensive.

Afterwards, congressional leaders gave the president a conditional yellow light to pursue his military build-up. And they ruled out any immediate call for a special session of Congress to debate U-S policy in the gulf.

But Democratic leaders warned Bush that Congress will have to be consulted in detail if he elects to go to war against Iraq.

The president plans to pay a Thanksgiving Day visit to U-S troops in Saudi Arabia. Some lawmakers suggest that Bush may address the American people after his return in a further bid to make clear U-S interests and objectives in the gulf.

Egypt's President Mubarak and Iraqi and Soviet envoys shuttled around the Middle East today to discuss a call for an Arab summit on the Persian Gulf crisis.

It was Morocco's King Hassan who proposed the meeting. Pro-Kuwaiti states such as Saudi Arabia say a new summit would only succeed if Iraq recognized resolutions passed at an Arab gathering in Cairo.

That summit... held August 10th, eight days after Iraq invaded Kuwait... sanctioned the dispatch of Arab troops from Egypt, Syria and Morocco to the gulf to deter further Iraqi aggression.

Egypt has NOT officially responded to Hassan's summit call. Only three members of the Arab League... the Palestine Liberation Organization, Jordan and Mauritania... have accepted.

Baghdad has said it will only attend a summit if it can have a say in the agenda, and if the order sanctioning the dispatch of Arab troops to the gulf is rescinded.

Amid the diplomatic activity, Iraq's Saddam Hussein issued a presidential decree. Baghdad Radio says Saddam appointed a prominent member of the ruling Baath party as governor of what was described as the Iraqi province of Kuwait.

On the hostage front... the Voice of America today broadcast a message to U-S nationals still held in Iraq and Kuwait, telling them a special plane will leave Kuwait and Baghdad Sunday.

The message asked U-S nationals... including those of Arab origin... to get in touch with U-S missions in Baghdad and Kuwait for further details.

PAHUTE MESA, Nev. (NOV. 14) UPI - U.S. and British scientists triggered a nuclear weapon beneath the Nevada desert Wednesday in a test delayed by technical problems and environmentalists who infiltrated the rugged site.

The weapon, with a yield of 20 to 150 kilotons, was detonated at 11:17 a.m. and swayed highrises in Las Vegas 105 miles away.

Seismologists at Caltech in Pasadena, Calif., said the blast registered 5.6 on the open-ended Richter scale, while the Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., said its sensors came up with a 5.1 reading. A 5.6 earthquake is considered moderate.

It was set off shortly after four people, three British members of Greenpeace and their guide, ran onto ground zero and were arrested.

U.S. Department of Energy spokesman Jim Boyer confirmed the weapons test was conducted jointly by U.S. and British scientists. Its yield was possibly 11 times greater than the 13-kiloton atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima during World War II and could have had a maximum equivalent of 150,000 tons of dynamite.

The weapon, possibly a thermonuclear warhead, was exploded 1,900 feet beneath Pahute Mesa, a 5,000-foot-high volcanic plateau located deep within the boundaries of the Rhode Island-sized Nevada Test Site.

The subsequent ground shaking was felt distinctly at Scotty's Castle in Death Valley, Calif., 40 miles from ground zero, Boyer said.

Government observers at a number of highrise Las Vegas gambling resorts also felt the shaking, as did residents in the small communities of Rachael and Hiko, Nev.

The vertical shaft that housed the nuclear weapon was plugged with cement and grout to prevent radiation from escaping into the atmosphere. Helicopters and other aircraft circled ground zero to monitor any accidental radiation leaks but none were detected.

Boyer, stationed at a ''control point'' about 30 miles from ground zero, said that, from all indications, ''the test was a success.''

The detonation was planned for 9 a.m. But it was delayed, first because of unspecified technical problems and finally when the four protesters ran onto ground zero in an attempt to halt the blast.

''They ran out of the bushes. We were on a technical hold at the time. The three women were running very close together and very fast. They were on ground zero when we sighted them on our closed circuit television,'' Boyer said. ''They had been hiding in the pinion trees and brush.''

Michael Terry of the Rocky Mountain Peace Center, who guided the women through the desolate high desert country to ground zero, attempted to flee. Security guards chased him down in their all-terrain vehicles.

The protesters, Lorna Richardson, 25, of London; Juley Howard, 23, of Bristol, England; Jane Gregory, 27, of London; and Terry were taken to Beatty, Nev., about 100 miles from Las Vegas, and booked on charges of trespassing.

Greenpeace had notified the Energy Department Tuesday that the three British women and their guide had infiltrated the 1,350-square-mile test site.

''These four people have done more to stop the nuclear arms race than any other government,'' Greenpeace spokeswoman Karen Topakian declared. ''While the clock was ticking, they were running to ground zero and they made it. If they arrived there, and the test went off, there was no guarantee what would happen to them.''

The four pleaded not guilty in an appearance before U.S. Magistrate Lawrence Leavitt in Las Vegas and were ordered to appear for trial Jan. 14. If convicted, they face $1,000 fines each but no jail time.

Since 1962, British and American scientists have conducted 22 joint nuclear weapons tests. Prior to Wednesday, the last British nuclear weapons test in Nevada, code named ''Barnwell,'' took place on Dec. 8, 1989. It also had a yield of 20 to 150 kilotons, meaning a maximum equivalent yield of 150,000 tons of dynamite.

LONG BEACH, CALIF (NOV. 14) UPI - The Air Force has reinstated payments to McDonnell Douglas Corp. for development costs on the C-17 cargo jet after having suspended the payments this summer, a company spokesman said Wednesday.

The Pentagon, which had stopped the money in July over problems with the cost estimates of developing the $30 billion 120-plane program, made payments of $71 million in late September and $59 million early this month to the company, spokesman Richard Hill said.

Hill said that the Air Force is expected to continue making ''progress'' payments for the plane, which is being built at the company's huge Douglas Aircraft Co. plant in Long Beach.

The suspension of payments stemmed specifically from the company's failure to file a required financial projection document in July for the plane, which is expected to make its first flight next June.

Hill said that McDonnell Douglas executives believe that the C-17, which has a 222-foot wingspan and can ferry troops and cargo long distances, will be completed under the $6.6 billion ceiling on its development cost.

A strong critic of the company, Rep. John Dingell, D.-Mich., charged last month that overruns on the program had climbed to $836 million above projected costs. He also said the costs on the program could force the company into bankruptcy by the end of the year.

McDonnell Douglas recently disclosed in its third-quarter earnings report that it had wiped out all the profits it had taken on the C-17 by reversing $58 million in previously reported after-tax profits on the plane.

But despite these setbacks, the C-17 program will probably survive since military observers believe that the new planes are needed to address a shortage in transport capacity. That shortage was underscored by the difficulties in getting U.S. troops to Saudi Arabia following Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

Aerospace analyst Lawrence Harris of Bateman Eichler, Hill Richards of Los Angeles said that McDonnell Douglas appears to have satisfied the Air Force's questions about the C-17's cost.

''The C-17 will not probably not be a major issue between the company and the Air Force unless there are delays in getting to the first flight,'' Harris said.

NEW YORK (UP) - Second seed Monica Seles, effectively using a drop shot, crushed Barbara Paulus, 6-2, 6-2, Wednesday night to gain the quarterfinals of the $3 million Virginia Slims Championships.

Earlier, Mary Joe Fernandez, down two service breaks in the second set, rallied for a 6-1, 7-6 victory over Nathalie Tauziat. Fernandez, the runnerup at the Australian Open and a semifinalist at the U.S. Open, also fought back from a 3-1 deficit to win the tie-break 7-3.

Third seed Gabriela Sabatini faced Jana Novotna in the concluding match of the opening round.

Seles broke service twice in each set as she disposed of Paulus in 58 minutes. She had difficulty with her serve, putting in only 54 percent of her first deliveries, but Paulus was unable to convert any of six break point opportunities.

''It was pretty comfortable, but I don't think I played too well,'' said Seles the French Open champion. ''She hits very hard and gets back a lot of shots.''

Seles will face Arantxa Sanchez Vicario in the quarterfinals.

Fernandez, the fourth seed, breezed through the opening set, allowing Tauziat to hold serve only in the second game. A double fault by Tauziat gave Fernandez set point, and Tauziat then netted a backhand.

After Fernandez held serve to open the second set, Tauziat fought back to take the next four games for a 4-1 lead before Fernandez got one of the breaks back in the sixth game on a sharp forehand down the line.

Fernandez drew even at 5-5 with another break in the 10th game on a forehand pass.

''I got off to a really good start, didn't make many errors and kept the pressure on her,'' said Fernandez, a 19-year-old Floridian who will meet Manuela Maleeva-Fragniere in the quarterfinals. ''In the second set I played a loose game on my serve at 1-all and she started playing better, more aggressively.

''I knew if I played solid and kept focused, I could come back.''

Tauziat, a Frenchwoman ranked 18th in the world, said Fernandez used more spin during her comeback ''and made less mistakes.

''If I win the second set I have a good chance to win the match; if I lose, it's over.''

CORVALLIS, OR (NOV. 14) UPI - An Oregon State University administrator has escaped from Kuwait after hiding for more than three months from Iraqis who invaded the tiny, oil-rich country, his wife said Wednesday.

Ernest Briskey, 59, escaped from Kuwait earlier this week and made his way to Jordan, according to a statement from Oregon State. Marge Briskey said her husband called from Jordan Tuesday, but she did not know when he had left Kuwait. She said he planned to fly home Friday. Marge Briskey said she knew no details of her husband's escape.

Briskey, assistant vice president for international program development at Oregon State, was working as a senior adviser to the Kuwaiti Institute of Scientific Research when Iraq invaded the country Aug. 2.

He immediately went into hiding, but was able to contact his family by sending cables through the American embassy, which has remained open despite an Iraqi order that it close.

Marge Briskey said her husband moved "four or five times" during the last three months, but she knew nothing else about his situation. She said his cables sent through the embassy contained no details. "Because the lines were tapped everyone lived in fear of being found," she said. "Every message was very brief and very general."

Briskey said her husband called her from Jordan Tuesday to say he had escaped. She said his first concern was their daughter's planned wedding in Hawaii Nov. 24. "The first thing he wanted to eat was a fresh orange," she said. "I gather it was canned food and rice" while he was in hiding.

Briskey said she and her husband had lived for four years in Kuwait, where he advised the scientific institute on agricultural issues. Ernest Briskey first began working at Oregon State in 1979, when he was named dean of agriculture.

Marge Briskey, a school teacher, said that when the invasion occurred she was spending the summer in the United States to escape the heat of the Middle East.

ROSWELL, NM (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Hondo Oil & Gas Co. (ASE:HOG) Thursday reported net income of $12,634,000, or 98 cents per share, for the year ended Sept. 30, 1990.

This compares with net income of $509,000, or 4 cents per share, for the prior fiscal year. For the fourth quarter, the company reported net income of $10,378,000, or 81 cents per share, compared with net income of $8,851,000, or 69 cents per share, for the last quarter of fiscal 1989.

Anderson said that refining margins at the company's Fletcher refinery were excellent during the fourth quarter, contributing to the refinery's favorable results. A new vacuum distillation unit installed during the year also aided results. He added that, although natural gas continues to remain underpriced relative to crude oil, gas prices should improve over time.

Anderson said prospects for the future are very encouraging and that Hondo is well-positioned to respond quickly to changes and opportunities in the oil and gas industry.

ANAHEIM, CALIF. (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Buyers returned to the Southern California housing market during October, boosting sales 10 percent from September's dismal showing, according to TRW Real Estate Information Services (NYSE:TRW).

TRW said 21,208 new and used homes and condominiums changed hands during October in Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

That was a hefty increase from September's 19,331 sales but September's total was the worst in nearly three years. Compared with October 1989 last month's figure was down 21 percent. And sales so far this year are down 13 percent from the first 10 months of 1989.

Moreover TRW figures show that October's buyers negotiated some hard bargains. Average prices slid 3 percent throughout the region to $202,913 from September's $208,215. And compared with a year before, prices are virtually unchanged, TRW said.

This lack of year-to-year appreciation is due almost entirely to substantial price declines in Orange County. Last month's $236,421 average price was 9 percent below the $260,180 paid in October 1989.

Southern California's two other coastal counties also showed anemic year-to-year appreciation. The $193,483 average price paid in San Diego County during October was less than 1 percent more than the $192,340 paid a year earlier; the average price in Los Angeles County fell 1 percent to $226,116 during the same time period, TRW said.

TRW tracks real estate transactions throughout California and other states from documents filed with county recorders' offices. The TRW figures represent the number of new and used homes and condominiums that closed escrow during the months indicated. Average prices are calculated after eliminating very high-priced and very low-priced properties.

LAS VEGAS (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The new clean air law signed by President Bush Thursday recognizes the important role natural gas will play in improving air quality across the nation and in Las Vegas, a Southwest Gas (NYSE:SWX) official said Thursday.

''The new law provides significant opportunities for the natural gas industry and Southwest Gas to help alleviate the air pollution problems in our metropolitan areas,'' said Michael O. Maffie, president and chief operating officer of Southwest Gas.

''It contains market-based, flexible approaches to deal with our air pollution problems.''

He said the law allows private industry to choose the means that will be most economical and most practical for them to meet the pollution reduction goals in their area.

''Natural gas is clean-burning, economical and abundant,'' Maffie said. ''With those benefits, it is likely to be the fuel of choice for entities ranging from power plant operators to vehicle fleet owners.''

According to Maffie, the new law recognizes the importance of alternate vehicle fuels, including compressed natural gas (CNG) in reducing tailpipe emissions.

''CNG reduces emission of carbon monoxide by as much as 97 percent, carbon dioxide by 24 percent, nitrous oxides by 39 percent, and reactive hydrocarbons by 72 percent, compared to gasoline,'' Maffie noted, ''and it's cheaper -- about 75 cents per equivalent gallon of CNG, compared to roughly $1.50 per gallon for gasoline.''

He explained that a CNG conversion kit can be economically added to just about any internal combustion engine, so the vehicle can run on either CNG or gasoline with the flip of a swith.

Since CNG refueling stations are not available on every street corner, its use is most economical and practical for fleet owners whose vehicles return to a central location each day.

The approximate $2,000 cost of converting a vehicle to CNG is usally recoverd by the owner in two or three years through reduced operating and maintenance costs.

One portion of the new law provides significant incentives for fleet owners to convert their vehicles to run on clean-burning fuels such as CNG, an approach Southwest Gas has been expousing for several years, according to Maffie.

The company began using CNG in its fleet vehicles in 1984 and now fuels some 470 vehicles with it on a daily basis. Refueling takes place at the company's three state-of-the-art CNG refueling stations in Las Vegas, Tucson and Phoenix.

Use of natural gas in stationary sources also received a boost in the new law, according to Maffie.

''Industries and large commercial businesses will now have the flexibility to choose the most practical and economical fuel source to meet the pollution reduction goals in their area,'' he explained.

''That means many industrial and power plant boilers will be fired with natural gas, and many businesses and commercial buildings will have natural gas cogeneration systems to meet their heating, cooling and water heating needs.

''Natural gas has long been known as an efficient, economical fuel; now it's finally being recognized as an environomental fuel as well,'' Maffie concluded.

When burned properly, natural gas emits only water vapor and carbon dioxide, which is what humans exhale as they breathe.

SANTA CLARA, CALIF. (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Applied Materials Inc. (NASDAQ/NMS:AMAT) announced Thursday that it will cut its workforce by 250 to 300 people, slash executive salaries by 10 percent and implement a worldwide salary freeze as part of an effort to reduce the company's costs.

Affected people will be notified Nov. 29.

''A slowing worldwide economy and weak economic conditions within our industry make this decision necessary. Our current employment level is beyond what we can sustain for the period of moderate growth we foresee for the next several months.

''This is the latest in a series of steps we have taken to adjust for a changing economic environment,'' said Jim Bagley, president and chief operating officer of Applied Materials.

''We are using this period to carefully evaluate all operations within the company, so that we can prepare to take full advantage of our industry leadership position when the economy rebounds,'' Bagley said.

The reduction in force will affect between 7 and 9 percent of Applied Materials' worldwide workforce, and will be largely concentrated within the company's Santa Clara operations, the location of the majority of the firm's employment.

''Clearly, we are impacted by a growing hesitation on the part of many of our customers to commit to large new equipment purchases,'' noted Bagley. The workforce reduction will also affect some of Applied Materials' operations outside the United States.

Dr. Glen Toney, vice president of human resources at Applied Materials, said, ''This is a painful decision for managers, yet it is made necessary by the uncertainty in the economy.'' Toney added that the company will offer outplacement help for all employees affected by the staff cuts.

Applied Materials Inc. is based in Santa Clara and is the leading independent supplier of wafer fabrication systems to the worldwide semiconductor industry. It is a market leader in chemical vapor deposition (CVD), dry plasma etching and silicon deposition.

The net loss for the third quarter was $1,394,800, or 43 cents per share, compared to $638,100, or 28 cents per share, in the corresponding period of

For the first nine months of 1990 the net loss was $6,084,700, or $1.86 per share, on net sales of $3,892,000, compared to the net loss of $1,284,700, or 57 cents per share, on net sales of $317,000 in the corresponding period of 1989.

Virtually all of the sales in 1990 have consisted of the Kids William & Clarissa product line.

''While the company has obtained nationwide distribution in over 16,000 outlets, and has evidence of high consumer satisfaction levels, performance has been hindered by lack of sufficient funds to build broad consumer awareness,'' said Chief Executive Officer Mary George.

''As previously announced, the company has retained The First Boston Corporation to explore alternatives for raising funds which are needed now to provide working capital and to build the business to its full potential.''

OVERLAND PARK, KN - Western Financial Corp. reported that net income for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990 increased 13.7 percent to $208,000, or 10 cents per share, compared to net income of $183,000, or 9 cents per share, for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1989.

Net interest earnings for the 1990 third quarter were $3,735,000 compared to $3,311,000 for the same period in 1989 - a 12.8 percent increase. Net income before taxes was $401,000 - an $850,000 increase over the same three month period in 1989.

For the first nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, Western reported a net loss of $7,078,000 compared to a net income of $1,201,000 for the same period of 1989. Net interest income for the current nine month period was $10,443,000 compared to $10,462,000 in the same period of 1989.

Western's non-performing assets (non-accrual loans and foreclosed real estate) at Sept. 30, 1990, stood at $27,746,000, or 3.38 percent of assets compared to $26,142,000, or 3.15 percent of assets at June 30, 1990 as real estate markets continued to be soft.

The company reported that net income was postively impacted primarily by the increase in net interest earnings of $424,000 and a reduction in the provision for loan losses of $650,000. The company's allowance for losses increased $311,000 due to net recoveries.

Net income was negatively impacted by an increase in expenses of $436,000 over the third quarter of 1989. This increase was the result of a $586,000 increase in expenses related to foreclosed property.

Salaries and benefits for the third quarter of 1990 were $156,000 less than the same period in 1989, even though over $140,000 in employee related restructuring costs were charged to expenses in September. PALM DESERT, CA (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - StratAmerica Corp. announced total revenues of $6,883,000 for the six-months ended Sept. 30 with a net loss of $1,631,000, or 36 cents per share.

Comparable amounts for the six-month period ended Sept. 30, 1989, were total revenues of $6,799,000 with a net loss of $23,000, or 1 cent per share. The results of operations for the six-month period ended Sept. 30 reflect two newly acquired subsidiaries.

The new acquisitions include Shari's Franchise Corp. (formerly Restaurants Etc.) and 80 percent of Sports Archives Inc. that has licensed the trade name ''Field of Dreams'' to conduct a baseball card and sports memorabilia retail business.

The name ''Field of Dreams'' is a registered trademark of Universal City Studios Inc. licensed by Merchandising Corporation of America Inc.

For the three-months ended Sept. 30 total revenues were $3,324,000 with a net loss of $969,000, or 21 cents per share. Comparable amounts for the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1989, were total revenues of $321,000 with a net loss of $152,000, or 3 cents per share.

Sam D. Battistone, StratAmerica's president, said the rapid development of the Field of Dreams baseball card and sports memorabilia retail stores has required a considerable investment to take advantage of the unique opportunity to be the first company to have a national network of baseball card and sports memorabilia retail stores in a $4 billion market.

The primary focus to achieve that goal is a national franchise program that was announced last month and the development of a cluster of company owned stores in Southern California.

Both expansion programs are directed toward high-traffic regional shopping mall locations. StratAmerica intends to open three new corporate Field of Dreams retail stores by March 31, 1991.

Battistone also said the establishment of a wholesale distribution facility and the associated sports cards and memorabilia inventories, along with hiring key management personnel to implement the growth strategy that is required for the long-term success of the retail stores, has required additional investment.

StratAmerica also announced that it has acquired the other 50 percent of B.B. O'Brien's Inc., which owns a Palm Desert sports cafe and restaurant. The original 50 percent was acquired in January 1989.

StratAmerica's stock is traded on the NASDAQ system in the over-the-counter market with the symbol STCO.

SANTA MONICA, CA (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - National Medical Enterprises Inc. (NYSE/PSE/LoSE:NME), one of the nation's largest health care services companies, Thursday received a coveted honor for its contributions to both local and national charitable organizations during the 1990 Los Angeles celebration of National Philanthropy Day.

A consortium of Los Angeles philanthropic organizations presents the ''Outstanding Corporation in Philanthropy'' award annually to the company that has demonstrated ''exceptional civic responsibility, concern and leadership through financial and other support of charitable projects.''

The morning award celebration was held at the Westin Bonaventure Hotel in downtown Los Angeles.

Richard K. Eamer, chairman and chief executive officer of NME, who accepted the award, hopes that the company's commitment to philanthropic causes serves as a catalyst to encourage corporate social responsibility nationwide.

''Corporate America holds one of the keys to helping solve the nation's social ills,'' Eamer noted. ''If every company in the country made the commitment to develop a social vision and implement programs, corporate America -- with its clout and ingenuity -- could make a vital difference.''

NME has been in the forefront of promoting corporate social responsibility since its inception in 1969. The company supports programs and organizations that enhance the communities throughout the country where its employees live and work. In recent years, NME's philanthropic efforts have focused on causes related to health and education.

''As a health services company, we are in the business of caring for others. Supporting programs and organizations that help people live better, healthier lives is a natural extension of NME's objectives,'' Eamer pointed out.

NME will give more than $3 million to philanthropic causes this year, while providing more than $100 million in charitable health care services through its network of acute, psychiatric and physical rehabilitation hospitals and substance abuse treatment facilities across the country.

The company's philosophy that corporations must work for the betterment of the community extends beyond financial support. This year NME initiated its Employee Volunteer Program, which encourages employees to become active in their community. In addition to assisting in matching employee talents and opportunities to volunteer, NME also provides employees time off for community activities.

DENVER (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - AIRCOA Hotel Partners L.P. (AMEX:AHT), a Denver-based master limited partnership engaged in ownership of hotels, announced financial results for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990.

The partnership recorded a net loss of $270,000 for the third quarter of 1990 compared to net income of $30,821,000 (which included a gain on the sale of the Clarion Kona Village Resort (''Kona'') as previously reported) in the third quarter of 1989, reflecting depreciation and amortization for the respective periods of $962,000 and $1,146,000.

Net loss allocable to the Class A units in the third quarter of 1990 was 15 cents based on 3,101,173 weighted average units outstanding compared to net income of $4.95, which included the results of the Kona transaction, based on 2,574,133 weighted average units outstanding in the same period of 1989.

In order to accurately compare 1990 third quarter to the third quarter of 1989 results of operations for the third quarter of 1989 have been restated to exclude the operating results of Kona. Partnership operating revenues for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, were $11,746,000, a decrease of $241,000, or 2 percent over restated operating revenues of $11,987,000, for the period ended Sept. 30, 1989, and were derived principally from operation of the partnership's six hotels and resorts. Operating income for the third quarter of 1990 was $2,276,000, a $120,000 decrease over the restated operating income of $2,396,000 for the same period in 1989.

Year-to-date operating revenues for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, were $36,279,000, an increase of $1,168,000, or 3.3 percent compared to restated operating revenues of $35,111,000 for the same period in 1989. The current year-to-date net loss of $95,000 compares to the year-to-date net income of $28,932,000 for the first nine months of 1989.

Comparable operating statistics for the six properties for the first nine months of 1990 vs. the first nine months of 1989 are as follows: Average Daily Room Rate - $69.77 and $66.67; Percentage of Occupancy - 73.1 percent and 73.3 percent; and Gross Operating Profit - $12,316,000 and $11,523,000. Gross Operating Profit includes all operating revenues less operating expenses except for debt service, depreciation, amortization and certain other fixed expenses.

As indicated above, overall average occupancy remained virtually unchanged and average daily room rates were up $3.10 or 4.6 percent, for the first nine months of 1990 vs. the first nine months of 1989. Individual property performances indicate that the Sheraton Lakeside Inn and Sheraton Buffalo East were the primary contributors to the overall revenue increase due to programs that emphasize maximization of revenue yields through management of rooms inventory.

The remaining four hotel properties showed a slight overall decrease in room revenue for the first nine months of 1990 due to decreases in room rate. Operating income increased 7.9 percent for the first nine months of 1990 compared to the restated first nine months of 1990 while operating expenses increased 2.3 percent for the same period.

On Nov. 15, 1990, the partnership paid a cash distribution of 18 cents per Class A unit of AIRCOA Hotel Partners L.P. for the quarter July 1, 1990, through Sept. 30, 1990, to owners of record as of Oct. 31, 1990. This distribution completes the partnership's requirement for support of the minimum annual distribution by the general partner and an affiliate through July 31, 1990.

STAMFORD, CT (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Petroleum Heat and Power Co. Inc. (ASE:PHP) has announced that home heating oil volume for the third quarter of 1990 increased 17 percent to 34 million gallons compared with the 29 million gallons delivered in the same period in 1989, primarily due to the 21 acquisitions completed subsequent to the second quarter of 1989.

As a result of the beneficial impact of the acquisitions on volume and operating costs, the company's operating results improved during the third quarter and the normal non-heating period operating loss of $12.8 million before depreciation and amortization was lower than that incurred during the third quarter of 1989.

However, these improvements, combined with those of the second quarter, could not offset the impact of the abnormally warm weather experienced during the first quarter of 1990 when the company normally delivers approximately 50 percent of its annual volume.

Because of the first-quarter weather, which was 12 percent warmer than in 1989 (as well as 20 percent warmer than normal and the warmest in this century), operating income before depreciation and amortization was lower for the nine months as costs related to the acquisitions were incurred without the benefit of the additional volume associated with those purchases.

While for the first nine months of 1989 the company had a net loss, its level grew in 1990 to $24.1 million, due primarily to the abnormally warm first quarter which also led to cash flow being a negative $748,000 for the period and which is also expected to result in cash flow for the year being below that generated in 1989.

Also impacting the year-to-date performance was a reduction in the income tax benefit rate to 8 percent, substantially below the 37 percent benefit rate for the same period in 1989.

The company expects that it will incur a loss for the year which, because of limited amounts of federal tax carrybacks and deferred tax provisions, will generate a tax benefit rate of only 8 percent for the year.

Petroleum Heat and Power is the largest distributor of home heating oil in the United States and currently serves 375,000 customers in 24 marketing areas from Portsmouth, N.H., to Washington, D.C.

PHOENIX (NOV 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Nix-O-Tine Pharmaceuticals Ltd. (NASDAQ:NIXXF; VSE:NIX.) Thursday announced that its proposed acquisition of Behavioral Services of America (BSA) is being mutually terminated and Nix-O-Tine and BSA are negotiating marketing arrangements for each other's products.

The proposed acquisition, announced in July 1990, was subject to a number of conditions including additional financing. Management of Nix-O-Tine and BSA have concluded, with input from Nix-O-Tine's investment banker, that it is unlikely that the financing required by the terms of the acquisition can be obtained on terms acceptable to BSA and in a timely manner given current financial market conditions.

In connection with the termination of the proposed acquisition, K. John Harrison has resigned as president, chief executive officer and director of Nix-O-Tine. Lee Wahl, senior vice president of sales, has also resigned. Jon V. Eylands, M.D. has been appointed president and a director of Nix-O-Tine to replace Harrison.

In connection with Eylands' appointment, the joint venture between Eylands and Nix-O-Tine for the clinical laboratory established on Oct. 1 has been modified.

Eylands has agreed to exchange his 50 percent interest in the clinical laboratory and convert his approximately $150,000 of advances to the laboratory to equity in exchange for 1,500,000 shares of Nix-O-Tine common stock, subject to regulatory approval.

The laboratory will operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of Nix-O-Tine under the name Laboratory Sciences International Ltd.

Since Oct. 1, Eylands has been the chief executive officer and medical director of the laboratory. Prior to Oct. 1, he was chief pathologist and director of laboratory services for 10 years at Phoenix Baptist Hospital and Medical center. He also serves as chief pathologist and medical director for national health laboratories in Phoenix.

Eylands stated: ''Our clinical laboratory produced revenues of $25,000 in October, its first month of operation, and we anticipate continued revenue growth from these services and from expansion of the proprietary LungCheck test.

''We are also endeavoring to reduce operating costs of Nix-O-Tine while expanding the revenues from the patented Nix-O-Tine smoking cessation program. The company is continuing to seek expansion financing and/or strategic alliances to exploit our smoking cessation and clinical laboratory services.''

RENO, NE (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The Sands Regent, a 1,000-room hotel/casino in Reno, announced Thursday that revenues for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 increased to $10.7 million as compared to $8.4 million for the like quarter in the prior year.

Net income increased from $1.2 million in the first quarter of fiscal 1990 to $1.6 million in the first quarter of fiscal 1991, a 34 percent increase. For the like periods, earnings per share increased from 36 cents to 49 cents.

Pete Cladianos Jr., president of The Sands Regent, said: ''We are extremely pleased with the first quarter operating results which reflect the use of our new hotel tower. Completed in February 1990, this tower includes 270 rooms, additional gaming and convention/meeting space and two new restaurants.

''We are cautiously optimistic about the balance of 1991. The trend of improved profitability and operating margins, which increased from 17 percent to 21 percent, must be tempered by current national and international conditions. As in the past, we are prepared for an economic slow down and will react to minimize any adverse effect.''

Cladianos also said: ''We are in the process of refurbishing some of our existing facilities. In the next two months we will renovate 102 rooms in the motor lodge section of our hotel complex and we will completely remodel one of our restaurants. We feel this will enhance our guest services and improve overall profitability.''

NEWPORT BEACH, CA (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The board of directors of MIP Properties Inc. (ASE:MIP) Thursday decided to omit the fourth-quarter dividend.

In explaining this action, Carl C. Gregory III, chairman and chief executive officer of MIP, said: ''The board took this action to maintain the company's liquidity in light of deteriorating conditions in both the real estate and financial markets.

''We will continue the board's policy of reviewing the dividend based not only on the funds available for the relevant quarter, but also expectations about the future.

''The company has retained Merrill Lynch Capital Markets to assist the board in identifying alternative long-term strategies, which may include mergers or business combinations with other companies, restructuring or sale of the company.

''We continue to pursue three important objectives. First, we are conserving capital. The reductions in the dividend and the cessation of new commitments are steps toward this goal. While certainly disagreeable in the short run, these steps enable the company to maximize the leasing opportunities that come along and maintain the properties in top-notch condition.

''Secondly, we are reducing our debt as quickly as possible. Funds for debt reduction become available as loan repayments or property sales occur. During the next few months, we expect to take advantage of several opportunities of this type.

''Thirdly, we are aggressively trying to reduce all of our costs, whether small like the cost of our annual report, or large like the advisory fee. In this vein, the directors have waived their retainers for 1991.

''The value of the company lies in its assets. These are carefully selected, quality properties in one of the nation's strongest real estate markets. In our opinion, the current depressed price of the stock bears no relationship to the value of these underlying assets.''

SANTA CLARA, CALIF. (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Inmac Corp. (NASDAQ:INMC), the world's leading direct response marketer of computer aftermarket data communications and computer accessory products, Thursday announced sales of $76,266,000 (up 18.4 percent) for the first quarter ended Oct. 27, 1990, and net income of $633,000 (up 43.1 percent), or 7 cents per share.

This compares with sales of $64,396,000, and net income of $442,000 (5 cents per share) for last year's first quarter.

Ken Eldred, Inmac's president and chief executive officer, stated, ''I am pleased to report continued improvement in the company's profitability this quarter. Our pre-tax profit increased 82 percent over the first quarter of last year on sales growth of 18 percent.

''Order rates slowed at the end of the quarter and we missed our sales goal; yet, the cost reduction efforts that we instituted enabled us to improve on last year's results. Our investement in startup countries caused our SG&A expense to increase as a percent to sales. Startup losses are not currently deductible for tax purposes which causes our tax rate to appear inordinately high.''

Eldred further stated, ''The uncertain economy leads us to view the near-term future with caution. Our top priorities are to keep expenses in line with sales growth and to stimulate additional revenues from new product opportunities. We are working vigorously on several new programs that will support these efforts over the next six months.''

Inmac Corp. markets its products directly to microcomputer and minicomputer users in nine countries through its full color catalogs. The company offers over 4,000 items, substantially all of which carry the Inmac brand name.

NOVATO, CALIF. (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Shareholders of Harding Associates, (NASDAQ/NMS:HRDG) reelected four incumbent directors to the company's board at the annual shareholders' meeting and approved amendments to the company's 1988 Stock Option Plan.

In a brief presentation following the meeting, Richard P. Prezio, president and chief executive officer, stated that the company has revised revenue growth expectations for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1991 downward from approximately 15 percent to a range of 8-12 percent. He noted, however, that the company still expects to meet goals established at the beginning of fiscal 1991 relative to operating income, net income and earnings per share.

''The downward revised growth forecast is due to a number of factors, but primarily to the difficulty in finding qualified staff to perform work under contract, increased competition, and the company's unwillingness to accept contracts with inadequate fees,'' Prezio stated. The company expects to meet its profit goals by maintaining a proper pricing structure and continuing to adhere to sound cost control practices.

Additionally, Prezio stated, ''Harding's business focus remains on remediation of contaminated sites, solid waste management, and geotechnical/civil engineering.'' He expressed optimism in the long-term growth potential of these markets. He further noted the company's expansion efforts into the Northeast and upper Midwest are meeting expectations. Future plans could include expansion into the southeastern states and the Pacific Rim countries.

SEATTLE (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Olympic Savings Bank (NASDAQ:OSBW) Thursday reported a third quarter loss of $1.2 million, due in part to costs associated with its expansion into 17 new branches.

Olympic also announced that the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) has rejected it's revised capital restoration plan and has imposed significant restrictions on Olympic's operating activities.

In the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, Olympic lost $1,202,000, or $.90 per share, compared to a loss of $829,000, or $.62 per share, in the third quarter last year.

For the first nine months of 1990, Olympic lost $2,834,000, or $2.13 per share compared to a loss of $2,610,000, or $1.96 per share, in the like period of 1989. In September of this year, the OTS determined that Olympic should defer certain gains on the sale of loan servicing rights that occurred in 1989 and 1990. 1989 results for the third quarter and nine months have been restated to reflect this change in accounting method.

Net interest income doubled to $535,000 in the third quarter compared to $243,000 in the third quarter a year ago. At Sept. 30, 1990, Olympic had $181 million of core deposits compared to $154 million one year earlier. Problem loans total $484,000, or 0.2% of total assets, which is well below the average of all thrift institutions in Washington. Non-interest income totaled $921,000 in the third quarter compared to $846,000 a year ago.

Increased compensation, occupancy, and data processing expenses resulting from Olympic's recent branch expansion is the principal reason for the increase in non-interest expense to $2.6 million for the third quarter from $2.3 million a year ago.

The average interest rate Olympic paid on deposits and borrowings was 104 basis points (1.04%) lower in the third quarter of 1990 compared to a year ago while the average yield on loans, mortgage-backed securities and investments increased 5 basis points (0.05%) from the third quarter last year. Olympic paid an average rate of 7.61% for deposits and borrowings in the third quarter of 1990, down from 8.65% in 1989's third quarter. The average yield on loans, mortgage-backed securities and investments in the third quarter this year improved slightly to 9.73% compared to 9.68% last year.

Total assets at Sept. 30, 1990, were $248 million compared to $279 million one year earlier. Shareholder equity was $1.5 million at the end of the quarter and book value was $1.12 per share compared to $4.3 million and $3.26 respectively at Sept. 30, 1989.

Olympic Savings Bank, founded in Bremerton in 1964 and now headquartered in Seattle, presently serves 47,500 customers through 26 complete-service branches in Western Washington. It was the first bank in the Puget Sound region to offer its customers full-service banking seven days a week. Olympic's expansion program in Safeway Stores increased its retail banking network from 11 to 26 branches since mid-1988.

DOUGLASTON, NY (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - New York Bancorp Inc. (NASDAQ:NYBC), the holding company for Home Federal Savings Bank, Thursday reported net income of $4.2 million or $1.23 per share for the year ended Sept. 30, 1990.

This compares with $3.4 million or 97 cents per share for the year ended Sept. 30, 1989 and is the company's strongest performance since going public in 1988.

For the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, net income amounted to $.5 million or 15 cents per share, compared with $.9 million or 26 cents per share for the prior year period.

The company reported net interest income, or ''core earnings,'' for the quarter of $6.7 million, an increase of $1.5 million or 29.2 percent from the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1989. This increase was due primarily to the improvement in both net interest rate spread, from 1.61 percent to 2.26 percent, and net margin, from 1.93 percent to 2.66 percent.

Total assets for the company amounted to $1.1 billion at Sept. 30, 1990. The bank's cumulative one year gap at Sept. 30, 1990 was negative 4.13 percent.

As of Sept. 30, 1990, Home Federal Savings Bank continued to maintain ''tangible capital,'' ''core capital'' and ''risk-based capital'' of approximately $54.4 million, $54.4 million and $78.8 million, respectively. These capital calculations exceeded regulatory requirements by $38.5 million, $22.5 million and $43.5 million, respectively.

During the quarter the bank realized $2.0 million of additional other operating income from interest on Federal income tax refunds resulting from an Internal Revenue Service review of the company's calendar tax years 1968 through 1985.

Consequently, other operating income amounted to $2.7 million for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared to $.7 million for the prior year period. Other operating expenses amounted to $4.9 million or 1.83 percent of average assets during the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared to $4.1 million or 1.50 percent of average assets in the prior year period.

PARSIPPANY, NJ (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - AT&T Thursday introduced an all-digital, tapeless answering machine with a radically different style.

This tapeless technology gives users superior sound quality and instant response.

''With no moving parts, the AT&T Answering System 1337 is basically a high-speed computer designed to process speech with digital sound clarity,'' said Steve Bennett, AT&T product manager. The machine stores messages on an electronic memory chip.

The new technology is packaged in a vertical style that takes up only 10 square inches of table space and is less than six inches tall.

The AT&T Answering System 1337 has more than seven minutes of recording time -- more than any other digital machine on the market -- and allows up to one minute for each message.

''Consumers tell us their average message length is about 40 seconds, so the recording time of the 1337 is ample for the vast majority of answering machine users,'' Bennett said. He added that AT&T research on average message length and average messages per day shows the 1337 meets the needs of 90 percent of answering machine buyers.

The digital circuity allows users to play back messages, repeat messages or skip messages instantly, without waiting for tapes to forward or rewind.

''Users can save some messages and delete others, making it ideal for households that get messages for various family members,'' Bennett said. ''When the kids get home from school, they can listen to and erase their messages without erasing messages for their parents.''

When away from home, users can call the machine from any touch-tone phone and retrieve, repeat, erase or save messages by using a two-digit security code, which they can change.

If a user picks up any extension phone while the outgoing announcement is playing, the machine can stop the announcement so the user can take the call and reset itself automatically for answering incoming calls. It includes a 9-volt battery to protect messages during a power interruption.

The AT&T Answering System 1337 has a suggested retail price of $139.99 and is available at AT&T Phone Centers nationwide. In early 1991, it also will be available at other retail stores across the country.

TEMPE, AZ (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - MicroAge Inc. (NASDAQ:MICA) reported net income of $6.5 million, or $1.46 per share, for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 1990, a 54 percent increase compared to fiscal 1989 net income of $4.2 million, or 96 cents per share.

Revenue for fiscal 1990 reached a record $622.5 million, a 71 percent increase compared to $363.9 million in fiscal 1989.

Net income for the fourth fiscal quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, was $1.6 million, or 36 cents per share, an increase of 39 percent compared to $1.1 million, or 26 cents per share, in the fourth quarter of fiscal 1989.

Revenue for the fourth fiscal quarter was $169.5 million, an increase of 64 percent compared to $103.2 million in the corresponding quarter in fiscal 1989.

Gross margin for the quarter was 8.3 percent of revenue compared to 10.8 percent in the fourth quarter of fiscal 1989. This decline in gross margin percent was expected and was due primarily to the transition throughout fiscal 1990 from a royalty based program to lower margin cost-plus programs. The gross margin decline was offset by the increase in revenue and a lower relative increase in operating expenses.

The company was able to realize economies of scale as evidenced by the decline in selling, general and administrative expenses to 6.7 percent of revenue for the quarter, from 8.7 percent in the fourth quarter of fiscal 1989.

BURBANK, CA (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - dick clark productions inc. (NASDAQ:DCPI) reported net income increased to $133,000, or 2 cents per share, in the first quarter of fiscal 1991 compared to $14,000 reported for the first quarter of fiscal 1990.

First quarter revenues in fiscal 1991 were $6,299,000 compared to $6,863,000 for the same period last year.

Francis C. La Maina, president and chief operating officer, attributed the increase in profitability for the three month period to gross profit generated from license fees and commissions earned in connection with the ''American Music Awards Concert Series,'' scheduled to take place in Japan next spring.

Television production during the quarter included ''Farm Aid IV'' for CBS and a new episode of ''Super Bloopers and Practical Jokes.'' In addition, two episodes of ''Super Bloopers and Practical Jokes'' previously produced were licenced to NBC for repeat broadcast. In the first quarter the company continued to deliver episodes of the ''Let's Make a Deal'' game show series on NBC and ''The Challengers'' first run syndication game show series for Buena Vista.

La Maina said, ''In the first quarter of fiscal 1991 we also continued to focus on utilizing our trademarks and other assets to increase our opportunites during the coming years. One of the more significant events was the booking of all talent for the Spring '91 American Music Awards concert series in Japan. Artists scheduled to appear are Gloria Estefan, Whitney Houston, Kenny Rogers, Steve Winwood, Bobby Brown, Donna Summer and Cyndi Lauper.''

La Maina added, ''We continue to explore expansion opportunities for the American Bandstand Grill. It is the most developed example of our strategy to extend the company's trademarks and other assets into new revenue streams.''

Founded in 1957, dick clark productions develops and produces a wide range of television programming including entertainment specials and series, dramatic and situation comedy series and movies and game shows.

PARIS (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The Executive Board of LVMH Moet Hennessy Louis Vuitton (NASDAQ:LVMHY), the Paris-based luxury products group, Thursdy declared a 1990 interim dividend of FF 16.50 per share, before ''Avoir fiscal'' tax credit of FF 8.25. The dividend represents a 10 percent increase over the 1989 interim dividend. As last year, the interim dividend will be paid out in November and not in February of the following year, as had been the practice before 1989.

Dividends payable on American Depositary Receipts (ADRs), each representing one-fifth of an ordinary LVMH share, will be distributed by Morgan Guaranty Trust, the depositary bank, in corresponding dollar equivalent amounts per ADR.

The company also reported that its sales for the first nine months of 1990 totalled FF 13.5 billion ($2.6 billion, at the FF 5.2450). This confirms the pattern, seen in the half-year performance, of a steady increase in local revenues largely offset by unfavorable currency movements. On a comparable exchange rate basis, sales would have increased by 11 percent in the first nine months of 1990.

Consolidated sales should record stronger growth in the fourth quarter of the year, reflecting such favorable trends as a sizable increase in the sales of Louis Vuitton Malletier and the higher exchange value of certain currencies, notably the Japanese yen, against the French franc in recent months.

LVMH Moet Hennessy Louis Vuitton is one of the world's largest companies specializing in luxury products. Its prestige brands include Dom Perignon, Moet & Chandon, and Veuve Clicquot champagnes; Hennessy and Hine cognacs; Louis Vuitton luggage, leather goods and accessories; Givenchy Couture; and Christian Dior, Christian Lacroix, Givenchy, and Roc perfumes and cosmetics.

LVMH Moet Hennessy Louis Vuitton ordinary shares, each equal to 5 US ADRs, trade on the Paris Stock Exchange, and may be accessed on the Reuter Equities 2000 service under LVMH.PA and on Quotron under LVMHF.EU.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Falcon Cable Systems Co. (ASE:FAL), a California limited partnership, Thursday reported increased revenues and cash flow for the three and nine months ended Sept. 30.

For the third quarter of 1990, revenues increased 37.1 percent and operating income before depreciation and amortization grew 42.0 percent over the like period in the prior year. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, Falcon's revenues grew 31.7 percent, while operating income before depreciation and amortization rose 41.2 percent as compared with the like period in the prior year.

The partnership recorded revenues of $10,472,000 for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared with $7,640,000 for the like period in 1989. Operating income before depreciation and amortization for the third quarter increased to $5,267,000 from $3,709,000 for the corresponding three months in 1989.

Falcon achieved revenues of $28,568,000 for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared with $21,693,000 for the like period in 1989. Operating income before depreciation and amortization for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, rose to $14,447,000 from the prior year total of $10,231,000.

On Sept. 30, 1990, Falcon's subscribers totaled 171,400, an increase of 20.9 percent over the total of 141,800 subscribers on Sept. 30, 1989.

While increases in revenues and cash flow reflect the impact of acquisitions during the reporting periods, the partnership achieved improvement in monthly revenue per subscriber and cash flow margins compared with prior year results.

However, this improved operational and financial performance is not readily apparent from a net income standpoint where the partnership continues to post net losses due primarily to increases in non-cash depreciation and amortization expenses and higher interest charges related to increased debt levels associated with acquisitions and capital expenditures.

The partnership experienced a net loss of $2,653,000, or 41 cents per equivalent limited partnership unit, and $7,987,000, or $1.25 per equivalent limited partnership unit, for the three and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared with a net loss of $1,396,000, or 22 cents per equivalent limited partnership unit, and $3,138,000, or 49 cents per equivalent limited partnership unit, for the like periods in 1989.

The partnership owns, operates and develops ''classic'' cable television systems in more than 115 communities in California and western Oregon that do not receive a wide variety of clear broadcast reception.

Falcon Cable Systems Co. is one of seven separate partnerships affiliated with Falcon Cable TV, which together (including pending acquisitions) serve more than 800,000 subscribers in over 500 communities in 28 states.

DENVER (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - U.S. Gold Corp. (NASDAQ:USGL) Thursday reported a $30 million write-down in its investment at the Tonkin Springs mine resulting in a net loss for the third quarter of 1990 of $30.1 million, or 64 cents per share, on revenues from bullion sales and hedging income of $1.9 million.

This compares to net income of $188,000 on revenues of $4.6 million for the comparable period of 1989. The 1990 results include the loss of $2.7 million on the sale of the White Pine property and extraordinary items which total a loss of $347,000.

''Although the write-down reflects the present difficulties at Tonkin Springs, we believe the potential joint venture with Homestake Mining Co. will prove to be very positive for the project and the company. DALLAS (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Babbage's Inc. (NASDAQ:BBGS) the nation's leading chain of consumer software specialty stores, Thursday reported a 47 percent increase in sales to $25,023,000 for the third quarter of fiscal 1991 ended Nov. 3, 1990, compared with $17,070,000 for the like quarter last year.

Net loss for the quarter was $627,000, or 12 cents per share, compared to a net loss of $779,000, or 15 cents per share, reported for the like period last year.

For the nine months ended Nov. 3, 1990, sales increased 44 percent to $75,401,000 from $52,356,000 for the like period last year. The company reported a net loss of $1,022,000, or 19 centsper share, compared to a net loss of $809,000 or 15 cents per share, for the like period last year.

The lower net loss for the quarter resulted from effective expense control programs and higher sales, which offset the impact on gross margin of the continuing change in the sales mix toward lower-margin products. As a result of the change in sales mix, the company's gross margin was 29.2 percent for the third quarter, compared with 31.8 percent a year ago.

During the quarter Babbage's opened seven stores and closed one store, and, as of Nov. 15, 1990, operated 178 company-owned stores in 30 states. Virtually all of the company's stores are located in major regional shopping malls.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, funds from operations were $.38 per share vs. $.31 per share for the same period.

Funds from operations is defined as net income before depreciation and amortization less gains on sale of real estate and deferred rent collections. HOUSTON (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Reliability Inc. (NASDAQ: REAL) Thursday announced revenues and results of operations for the period ended Sept. 30, 1990.

Revenues for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990 were $26,157,000 down 11 percent from revenues of $29,471,000 for the like period in 1989. Operations for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990 resulted in a net loss of $2,334,000, or 55 cents per share, compared to net income of $676,000 or 16 cents per share for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989.

Revenues for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 were $8,357,000, down 10 percent from revenues of $9,246,000 for the like period a year earlier. Operations for the third quarter of 1990 resulted in a net loss of $987,000, or 23 cents per share, compared to net income of $52,000, or one cent per share for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1989.

Backlog as of Sept. 30, 1990 was $6,461,000, reflecting a five percent decrease over the June 30, 1990 backlog of $6,782,000. Backlog at Sept. 30, 1989 totalled $7,698,000.

A company spokesman stated, as expected, the loss in the third quarter was less than that of the preceeding quarter on slightly higher revenues. The Gulf Crisis has exacerbated an already weak electronics economy and a turnaround is not expected before the middle of next year.

In order to minimize the impact, we are aggressively reducing expenses in manufacturing, R&D, and overhead areas. However, we can expect continued losses in the fourth quarter of this year and probably the first quarter of 1991.

ACTON, MA (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The Co-operative Bank of Concord (NASDAQ:COBK) reported earnings for the second quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990 of $57,000, or 2 cents per share, as compared to $883,000, or 26 cents per share, for the same quarter last year.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Leisure Technology (NYSE:LVX) Thursday announced a net loss of $8 million for the second quarter of fiscal 1991 ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared to net income of $676,000 reported for the second quarter of the prior year.

Revenue for the period was $28.1 million vs. $40.6 million a year earlier.

After deducting preferred dividends, the company reported a primary and fully-diluted loss per share of $1.56 vs. primary and fully-diluted earnings per share of 3 cents for the second quarter of fiscal 1990.

For the six months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the net loss was $9.8 million on revenue of $51.1 million. This compares to net loss of $149,000 on revenue of $72.4 million for the first half of last year.

After deducting preferred dividends, the primary and fully-diluted loss per share was $1.98 for the first half of fiscal 1991 vs. a primary and fully-diluted loss per share of 22 cents for the prior year.

This year's second quarter revenue includes $15 million from the previously announced sale in August 1990 of Leisure Village Ocean Hills, an active adult community in Oceanside, Calif. to a joint venture in which the company has an interest.

Second quarter housing revenue declined 69 percent to $12.4 million, compared to $39.4 million from housing sales in last year's second quarter. Consolidated results for the current year exclude housing revenue of $3.6 million at Leisure Village Ocean Hills.

Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Michael L. Tenzer attributed the decline in revenue from housing sales primary to a 40 percent reduction in units delivered as a result of adverse economic conditions in the housing industry and to a change in the sales mix toward lower-priced homes in the northeast and away from higher-priced homes in California.

During the second quarter, the company closed only 61 units compared to 96 units during the first quarter of fiscal 1991, and 155 units during the second quarter of fiscal 1990.

The current year's second quarter excludes 11 closings at Leisure Village Ocean Hills. The company's backlog of homes scheduled for future delivery was $32.3 million and $30.3 million on Sept. 30, 1990 and Oct. 31, 1990, respectively, excluding backlog at Leisure Village Ocean Hills of $5.8 million and $3.7 million respectively.

Backlog was $98.5 million and $96.8 million on Sept. 30, 1989 and Oct. 31, 1989, respectively.

Leisure Technology, founded in 1957, is the largest publicly owned nationwide developer of active adult communities and is currently developing active adult single-family or full-service retirement communities in New Jersey, New York, Florida, Illinois and California.

BASKING RIDGE, N.J. (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Doctors today find it necessary to listen to more than their stethoscopes.

They've also heard AT&T has introduced sound ways for them to trim costs.

AT&T has signed an agreement with a subsidiary of the American Medical Association (AMA) to promote to AMA's 255,000 members substantial discounts on AT&T long distance services.

AMA members who choose to participate in the program will receive discounts that range from 10 to 24 percent on AT&T long distance services.

''This agreement gives AMA members significant savings,'' said Terry Sidlow, president of AM Members Services, a subsidiary service group of the AMA. ''In the first month alone, almost 2,000 AMA members signed up for the service proving that the medical profession welcomes any quality product or service that provides a solution and helps hold the line on medical care expense.''

''These discounts are made available through our Commercial Affiliation Program,'' said Dan Black, AT&T national sales manager. ''The program is available to groups that have an aggregate monthly billing of at least $20,000.''

NEWPORT BEACH, CALIF (NOV.15) BUSINESS WIRE - The following is a statement by M.L. McAlister, president of Downey Savings and Loan Association (NYSE:DSL) of Newport Beach:

''Downey Savings, through its service corporation and joint venture activities has sold two parcels of land in Salinas, Calif., for $45 million. A one-time profit of approximately $9.5 million will be realized from this sale in December 1990 which is subject only to a 30-day public right of referendum, expiring Dec. 3, 1990.

''Since the passage of FIRREA last year, total real estate sales, which includes joint venture sales, amounted to $110 million. These sales generated a profit of $24.7 million. An additional $10.8 million of profit has been deferred until certain regulatory and accounting requirements are met.

''Because of the slowing economy and sluggishness in real estate sales, the potential overall gains from Downey's real estate portfolio has softened. Cap rates are higher, consequently sales prices are lower.

''In addition, foreign buyers are not as plentiful due to the increased interest rates abroad. While it would be much better to market our real estate in an up market, FIRREA mandates us to sell our entire real estate portfolio, so we will continue to prudently do so.

DETROIT (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Intergraph Corp. (NASDAQ:INGR) introduced new design software products that make advanced technologies available in mechanical design, engineering, and manufacturing solutions.

Chief among these new offerings is the DataBeam CAD (Computer-Aided Design) Conferencing Module, which allows as many as eight engineers in separate locations to simultaneously view and edit a graphic image.

The product announcements were made at Autofact '90, the nation's leading computer design and manufacturing trade show, being held this week in Detroit.

The DataBeam CAD Conferencing Module enhances technical information management by instantly transmitting color or monochrome images and text to physically separated users. Drawing and engineering change orders can be discussed and approved simultaneously by responsible parties. The module uses software from DataBeam Corp. of Lexington, Ky.

''Intergraph's heritage in electronic design and computer integrated manufacturing uniquely positions us to offer CAD conferencing as part of an interactive graphics design environment,'' said Eliott James, president of Intergraph.

Significant Product Announcements

The company announced other CAD-related software packages today:

-- Intergraph Expert Tutor FEM (I/ET - FEM) guides users through finite element analysis using expert system technology. The software lets non-experts analyze routine finite element problems without engineering support, so experts can solve more challenging cases.

-- Intergraph Finite Element Modeling Solver p-adaptive module (I/FEM-P) analyzes a mechanical model's structural stress and flexibility using Rasna Corp.'s p-method analysis. This method is highly efficient, producing more accurate results and significantly reducing analysis time.

-- Intergraph Engineering Modeling System (I/EMS) will have variational design capabilities available in the next major release, version 2.0. These new functions significantly reduce model creation and editing time by automatically generating models based on user-specified constraints.

-- Intergraph Mechanical Component Library (I/MCL) is the industry's first system to generate solid models of standard mechanical assembly parts. I/MCL reduces modeling time and eliminates misrepresentation of standard parts in the assembly model.

-- ADAMS (Automatic Dynamic Analysis of Mechanical Systems) analyzes systems of moving parts, identifying problems in design before expensive physical prototypes are made. Intergraph will now sell ADAMS, from Mechanical Dynamics Inc., along with a CAD interface, Intergraph Mechanical Systems Modeler (I/MSM), through its international sales organizations.

''These products are introduced in Intergraph's tradition of supplying our users with industry-leading technologies across a spectrum of CAD applications '' said James.

Intergraph Background Information

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Westvaco Corp. (NYSE: W), a major manufacturer of paper, packaging and chemicals, reported Thursday unaudited fourth quarter and year-end sales and earnings for fiscal 1990.

Sales for fiscal year 1990, which ended on Oct. 31, increased by 6 percent to a record level of $2.4 billion compared to the previous record of $2.3 billion in 1989. For the year, net income reached $188 million, or $2.90 per share, a decline of 16 percent from last year's all-time record of $223 million, or $3.45 per share.

For the fourth quarter of fiscal 1990, sales reached a record of $649.4 million, an increase of 7.7 percent over sales of $603 million in the previous year. Net income totaled $48.3 million, or 75 cents per share, compared with $60.8 million, or 94 cents per share in the same period in 1989. The United States economy showed diminished growth in 1990. In the middle of Westvaco's fiscal year, new economic policies created rapidly changed conditions in the Brazilian economy. During the late summer, the Middle Eastern crisis put additional negative pressures on the United States economy. While the company's earnings in this climate fell moderately below all-time record levels, they compared favorable with Westvaco's major competitors in North America.

Reflecting the company's sound progress, the board of directors in August voted to raise the quarterly dividend from 25 to 26-1/4 cents per share, an increase of 5 percent. The dividend action represents the twenty-first time in the past 27 years, and the sixth time in the last seven years, in which the quarterly dividend has been increased.

With the 1990 payment, the company has achieved 95 years of uninterrupted quarterly cash dividend payments, one of the longest records of any of the companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The following is a summary of a presentation Thursday at the New York Society of Security Analysts by Robert Stein, chief executive officer, EKCO Group.

In a speech to the New York Society of Security Analysts Thursday, Robert Stein, president and chief executive officer of EKCO Group Inc. (NYSE: EKO), said that efforts to increase productivity and manufacturing efficiencies have positioned the company to improve earnings in 1991.

Before an audience of analysts and portfolio managers, Stein outlined the company's strategy.

''Our emphasis over the past three years has been to reduce debt, dispose of non-strategic businesses, and consolidate and restructure our operations for greater efficiency. These efforts are expected to reduce annual operating costs by $3 to $4 million, beginning in 1991. We are now focusing on introducing new products, increasing market share, and expanding distribution while continuing to benefit from strong cash flow.''

Despite the soft economic environment, EKCO Group sees opportunities for growth. More than half of the company's business is with grocery stores and mass-merchant channels that historically have performed well during a recession. ''We primarily sell basic products that historically have not been affected by downturns in the economy,'' explained Stein.

''Our earnings thus far for 1990 are consistent with our expectations. On a year-to-year comparison, our gross margins are up, cash flow is improved, receivables and inventories are down. Excluding the first-quarter restructuring charge related to the consolidation of our Chicago-based kitchenware parts-fabrication operation into our Lititz, Penn., facility, there has been earnings improvement every quarter this year. If the current order pattern continues, I would expect earnings for 1990 to be better than last year, excluding the write-off taken in the first quarter.''

EKCO Group Inc. manufactures and markets a variety of consumer products which it broadly markets through leading retail outlets, including a range of household and recreational products carrying the ''EKCO,'' ''Baker's Secret,'' ''Best Results,'' ''Victor,'' ''Woodstream'' and ''Havahart'' brand names.

MIAMI (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - American Bankers Insurance Group Inc. (NASDAQ:ABIG) announced Thursday that it has entered into an agreement settling a portion of previously reported litigation.

This litigation involved credit risk (credit bond) insurance written on mobilehome loans by its property insurance subsidiary for one customer.

The company concluded that it was advantageous and in its best long-term interests to dispose of this portion of the litigation. Without admission of liability, the company joined with certain other parties in reaching a settlement with investors who held approximately 23 percent in principal value of the outstanding bonds.

The loans, originated by the major customer had been pooled and pledged to secure bonds sold to various investors. In 1987, the bonds became the subject of litigation following the customer's filing for bankruptcy.

The terms of the settlement are subject to certain confidentiality restrictions. Closing of the settlement agreement is expected to occur within 120 days. The company will then be released from all claims and all outstanding insurance obligations in connection with these bonds.

The company anticipates that this settlement will result in a fourth quarter 1990 charge of approximately $2 million pre-tax. The actual charge will depend upon the timing of certain payments to which the company will be entitled.

Claims asserted with respect to other bonds issued by this customer are not affected by this settlement. Litigation involving the remaining bonds issued by the customer is ongoing. Discovery is expected to continue through 1991. No date has been set by the court for trial of the actions.

AMSTELVEEN, THE NETHERLANDS (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The Japanese government has granted KLM rights to operate scheduled freight services between Schiphol and the Japanese city of Nagoya.

This will be KLM's second Japanese destination, a city several hundred kilometers southwest of Tokyo.

KLM has also acquired the right to expand its trans-Siberian Tokyo services from two to three weekly flights. The number of weekly return flights between Schiphol and Tokyo will remain five. However, effective April 1, 1991, KLM may expand its Boeing 747 flights in all-passenger configuration from three to four per week.

Passenger capacity will, consequently, increase. Boeing 747 Combi aircraft will be operated on the fifth flight.

This expansion of rights on the Japan route is the outcome of constructive talks held in an open atomsphere in the past week between a delegation from the Netherlands Ministry of Transport and the Japanese Ministry of Transport at the Japanese capital Toyko.

The Dutch delegation was led by R.L.M. Schreurs, deputy Director-General of the Netherlands Civil Aviation Authority. KLM was also represented on the delegation.

KLM will operate the new Nagoya cargo service jointly with Nippon Cargo Airlines. The service is expected to commence during summer 1991. Scheduled cargo services between Schiphol and Tokyo have already been operated by KLM and NCA jointly since June 1988 on Nippon Cargo Airlines Boeing 747 all-freight aircraft.

The third nonstop trans-Siberian service will commence at the earliest date possible. The remaining two services will continue to fly via the North Pole route with an intermediate landing at Anchorage, Alaska. The duration of flights via the trans-Siberian route is shorter by six hours.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The board of directors of Ruddick Corp. (ASE: RDK) Thursday declared a dividend distribution of one preferred share purchase right on each outstanding share of Ruddick's common stock.

R. Stuart Dickson, chairman of Ruddick Corp., stated: ''The rights are designed to assure that all of Ruddick's shareholders receive fair and equal treatment in the event of any proposed takeover of the company and to guard against partial tender offers, squeeze-outs, open market accumulations, and other abusive tactics to gain control of Ruddick withouth paying all shareholders a control premium.''

The rights will be exercisable only if a person or group acquires 20 percent or more of Ruddick's common stock or announces a tender offer the consummation of which would result in ownership by a person or group of 20 percent or more of the common stock. Each right will entitle shareholders to buy one one-hundreth of share of a new series of junior participating preferred stock at an exercise price of $105.

If Ruddick is acquired in a merger or other business combination transaction, each right will entitle its holder to purchase, at the right's then current exercise price, a number of the acquiring company's common shares having a market value of twice such price.

In addition, if a person or group acquires 20 percent or more of Ruddick's outstanding common stock, each right will entitle its holder (other than such person or members of such group), to purchase, at the right's then-current exercise price, a number of Ruddick's common shares having a market value of twice such price.

Following the acquisition by a person or group of beneficial ownership of 20 percent or more of the company's common stock and prior to an acquisition of 50 percent or more of the common stock, the board of directors may exchange the rights (other than rights owned by such person or group), in whole or in part, at an exchange ratio of one share of common stock (or one one hundreth of a share of the new series of junior participating preferred stock) per right.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - American International Group Inc. (AIG)

Thursday issued the following statement upon receipt by the company of a letter from Joan Claybrook, president of Public Citizen:

''After the publication last month by Public Citizen of its report on the property-casualty insurance industry, AIG objected to reference to it in the report. Specifically, AIG objected to any suggestion in the report, which AIG believes was irresponsible, that its financial condition was to any degree imperiled or impaired.

''Public Citizen has now acknowledged, in a letter from Joan Claybrook to AIG Chairman M.R. Greenberg, that any such suggestion in the report was neither intended nor accurate. Specifically, Public Citizen has acknowledged that AIG is neither in danger of becoming insolvent nor of becoming unable to meet its obligations.

''AIG had previously received and still holds the highest rating provided by each of the three most recognized professional rating organizations. Both Moody's and Standard & Poor's have accorded AIG their highest ratings (Aaa and AAA respectively), and A.M. Best has awarded AIG an A+ rating, its highest. AIG is the only property-casualty insurer to have received the highest ratings from each of these organizations. In Ms. Claybrook's letter to Mr. Greenberg, she acknowledged that Public Citizen 'does not dispute' those ratings.''

HOWELL, N.J. (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Union Valley Corp. (AMEX:UVC) Thursday reported losses for the third quarter and nine-month period ended Sept. 30.

For the 1990 third quarter, the net loss was $3,634,000, or 96 cents per share compared to net income of $430,000, or 11 cents per share, in the same period last year. Third-quarter 1990 revenues declined to $15,522,000, from $22,129,000 in the 1989 third quarter.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the net loss was $8,073,000, or $2.14 per share, compared to net income of $1,046,000, or 23 cents per share, in the equivalent period of 1989. Revenues for the first nine months of 1990 decreased to $37,232,000, from $68,373,00 in the same period last year.

The company's profitability has been adversely affected by a severe downturn in the regional housing market. Buyers of new move-up and retirement housing are experiencing difficulty in the sale of their existing homes. Furthermore, many prospective buyers have become cautious in the face of softening economic conditions.

Sales backlog, including non-binding reservations, on Sept. 30, 1990, amounted to $25,734,000 or 209 units, compared with $39,294,000 or 276 units, on Sept. 30, 1989.

Union Valley completed a major refinancing of its lending agreements with First Fidelity Bank N.A., Newark, N.J., on Sept. 7, 1990. The new terms provide essential financing for the company's New Jersey homebuilding operations and certain overhead expenses. The new loan is due March 7, 1991.

Because of the need to generate cash flow to satisfy the terms of its agreement with First Fidelity, Union Valley may dispose of certain assets outside of the normal course of business, which may have an adverse impact on the company's ability to recover the carrying value of those assets. The company has provided reserves for possible loss on certain real estate assets, and may add to those reserves in the future, based on changing conditions in the market.

Union Valley continues to seek remedies to cure a default condition on its 14-1/4 percent subordinated debentures resulting from nonpayment of semi-annual interest due May 15 and Nov. 15, 1990. Discussions with major holders are ongoing.

Union Valley Corp. designs, builds and markets retirement and pre-retirement communities, non-age restricted housing and commercial real estate in New Jersey, Delaware and Pennsylvania.

MELVILLE, N.Y. (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Vicon Industries, Inc. (ASE: ''VII''), a leading manufacturer of closed-circuit television (CCTV) systems, Thursday reported operating results for the fourth quarter and fiscal year ended September 30, 1990.

The announcement was made by Kenneth M. Darby, Chief Operating Officer, who stated that after the major restructuring at the end of the first quarter, Vicon had essentially operated at a break-even level for the past three quarters, which was in line with Company expectations.

Revenues for fiscal 1990 were $45.1 million, compared with $44.3 million for the previous year fiscal year. Vicon had a net loss of $317,000 ($.11 per share) compared with a net loss of $1,808,000 ($.68 per share) in fiscal 1989. Fourth quarter sales were $11.1 million, versus $11.8 million one year ago. The net loss for the quarter was $35,000 ($.01 per share) compared with a net loss of $1,295,000 ($.48 per share) for the same period last fiscal year.

Commenting on the results, Mr. Darby said, ''Since restructuring the Company at the conclusion of the first fiscal quarter, operating performance has been stable and consistent. The objectives of the restructuring were to refocus sales and product development efforts on Vicon's primary markets, enhance customer satisfaction, stabilize quarterly revenues and reduce overhead enough to operate at a break-even level or better. We have achieved or made significant progress toward all of these objectives.''

Fourth quarter results were similar to those of the second and third quarters, with revenues exceeding $11 million and minor losses incurred in each quarter. Mr. Darby noted that, over the past three quarters, Vicon's revenues exceeded $33.8 million and, despite absorbing substantial costs from the restructuring moves in February, the net loss incurred in this period was only $105,000. He further added that Vicon's balance sheet was greatly improved as a result of lowering the Company's investment in inventory and receivables by more than $4 million since last fiscal year.

Looking ahead, Mr. Darby noted that fiscal 1991 will be the first year that Vicon will offer a full range of camera products, with the introduction of three new models planned for early in the calendar year. In addition, he emphasized that Vicon has substantially increased its sales coverage in the U.S. and certain foreign markets. ''I expect to see our revenues grow at a more normal rate in the future.''

Vicon Industries, Inc. designs, manufactures, assembles and markets a broad line of products for video surveillance. These products are used for security safety and control applications by a wide variety of end users.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - New York Telephone announced Thursday that it is disciplining 56 additional employees in its Buildings Department for accepting gifts and gratuities in violation of the company's Code of Business Conduct.

This week 28 employees were fired or resigned, and 28 others will lose pay or face other disciplinary action in the company's ongoing investigation. The company announced earlier this month that 15 employees had been fired or resigned between July 1989 and Oct. 1990.

The 28 employees who left the company received tips in cash, gratuities and gifts from vendors since 1985. The total amount of money received by all of these employees came to nearly $50,000.

The other 28 disciplined employees remain with the company. Penalties range up to loss of pay. Since 1985 these employees accepted gifts such as liquor or gift certificates during the holiday season.

Cases involving allegations of criminal activities have been turned over to the Manhattan District Attorney's Office. The company is cooperating with the district attorney's office in a joint investigation. The investigation encompasses alleged criminal activities involving vendors as well as the employees.

New York Telephone began its joint investigation with the district attorney's office more than a year ago. As previously announced, that investigation led to the indictment and arrest of John Nobile. A vendor and his companies were also indicted. The investigation is continuing.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.(NOV 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Precision Standard Inc. (NASDAQ:PCSN) announced that it earned $625,000 (or 5 cents a share) for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, on net sales of $30.8 million vs. $1,505,000 (or 12 cents a share) on net sales of $41 million for the three month period ended Sept. 30, 1989.

The company said that it earned $1,905,000 (or 15 cents a share) for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, on net sales of $92.5 million vs. $3.7 million (or 29 cents a share) on net sales of $101.7 million for the nine month period ended Sept. 30, 1989.

Results for the comparable year-earlier period were adversely impacted by a $923,000 non-cash purchase accounting adjustment taken in connection with the company's September 1988 purchase of Hayes International Corp. (now Pemco Aeroplex Inc.).

Matthew L. Gold, the company's president, stated that, as for the prior three months, the results for the quarter were down primarily due to lower sales volumes and higher overhead rates resulting from slower than anticipated volume recovery following the 16-week work stoppage at the company's Birmingham facility which was settled in mid-January.

Gold said, however, that the Birmingham operations improvement program which the company announced in late June continued to generate savings.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (NOV 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Researchers at Genzyme Corp. have discovered how a defective gene associated with most Cystic Fibrosis cases results in the disease.

The research represents the first detailed study of the protein encoded by the altered gene and provides new insights into the mechanism of the disease that will help accelerate the search for new treatments and diagnostics. The work, to be published as the cover article of tomorrow's issue of the journal Cell, is the second major advance in Cystic Fibrosis research announced by Genzyme scientists in the past two months.

In the studies reported in Cell, the Genzyme researchers determined that in cells with the most commmon genetic mutation associated with the disease, the gene product, a protein called Cystic Fibrosis Transmembrane Conductance Regulator (CFTR), does not reach its proper destination on the cell surface. Instead, the critical protein remains incompletely processed within the cell, in effect rejected by the cell's own internal qualtiy control mechanisms.

''These are very exciting and unexpected results,'' said Alan E. Smith, Ph.D. Genzyme's senior vice president of research, ''and they provide a much clearer picture of the basic disease process in Cystic Fibrosis. For example, the results demonstrate that Cystic Fibrosis is a protein deficiency disorder -- a lack of mature CFTR in the proper location -- rather than a defect in protein function.''

Normally, the CFTR protein plays an important role in the transport of chloride ions out of the cell. The absence of mature protein from the cell surface, and resulting change in chloride transport, is believed to result in the abnormally thick mucus build-up in the lungs that characterizes Cystic Fibrosis. The mucous build-up leads to the cycle of infection and tissue damage associated with the disease.

''We now have another critical piece of the puzzle by better understanding the basic defect in Cystic Fibrosis,'' said Robert K. Dresing, president and chief executive officer of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. ''This research offers important insights which could lead to the development of new therapeutic strategies.''

To determine what goes wrong when the CFTR gene is defective, the Genzyme scientists induced specific mutations in the gene and characterized the proteins encoded by these alterations. The principal altered version studied is called (delta)F508 and is present in at least 70 percent of Cystic Fibrosis chromosomes. The studies revealed through a variety of methods that several, but not all, variants produce immature protein that remains within the cell.

In late September, Genzyme scientists, in collaboration with researchers at the University of Iowa and Tufts University School of Medicine, reported in Nature that for the first time they identified and characterized the CFTR protein. They went on to demonstrate that by inserting a good CFTR gene into diseased cells, the molecular defect associated with Cystic Fibrosis could be corrected.

Cystic Fibrosis is among the most common lethal human genetic disorders. The disease affects approximately 30,000 individuals in the United States and occurs in one in 2,000-3,000 live births. The research reported in Cell was funded by Genzyme with support from a grant by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

The company is headquartered in Cambridge, Mass., with production and research facilities located in Cambridge and Framingham, Mass., and Maidstone and Haverhill, England, and an international sales and marketing office located in Tokyo, Japan.

MANILA, PHILIPPINES (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - San Miguel Corp. (SMC), the Philippines-based beverage, food and packaging group, Thursday announced consolidated net sales of P10.53 billion (US$ 425.6 million (a)) during the third quarter of 1990, an increase of 16 percent over the P9.11 billion during the same period last year.

Net income registered a decline of 64 percent from P664 million in 1989 to P238 million (US$ 9.62 million) in 1990.

The decline in net income of P426 million was due to a P142 million decline in income from operations of SMC itself, an increase in interest expense of P58 million and a decrease in non-recurring income of P85 million. In addition, equity in earnings of subsidiaries and affiliates dropped by P170 million mainly because of non-recurring income in 1989.

The decline in the company's income from operations was primarily due to lower sales volumes of beer in the third quarter compared to the same period last year. This was caused by a beer price increase following the implementation last July of Republic Act 6956, which drastically raised the ad valorem tax on beer from 37 percent to 50 percent.

In addition to the beer tax, SMC encountered distribution problems in Northern Luzon during the third quarter as a result of the July 16 earthquake.

The general economic slowdown, compounded by rising oil prices, mounting inflation and a depreciating peso, also strained the company's sales and profitability during the quarter. These were partly offset, however, by timely implementation of cost-cutting and productivity measures, as well as by improvements in the other operations of the company.

The rise in SMC's interest expense was a result of higher interest rates and additional loans necessary to finance the company's expansion and increased working capital requirements.

The company reported a non-recurring expense in the third quarter arising from the early retirement of some employees, in contrast to non-recurring income during the same quarter last year.

The decline in equity in earnings of subsidiaries and affiliates was due to the absence this year of non-recurring income compared to last year. The operations of subsidiaries, including San Miguel Hong Kong and Coca-Cola Bottlers Philippines Inc., showed marked improvement over last year.

The third-quarter results brought SMC's consolidated net income for the first nine months of 1990 to P1.28 billion (US$ 51.7 million), 39 percent lower than the P2.09 billion generated over the same period last year.

Consolidated net sales during the first three quarters totalled P31.16 billion (US$ 1.26 billion), or 17 percent more than the P26.58 billion generated over the same period last year.

The decline in income from operations over the first nine months of 1990 is attributable to several factors. These include higher prices of fuel and raw materials, newly negotiated wage increases and costs inherent to SMC's expansion and modernization program. The company also experienced work stoppages due to Collective Bargaining Agreement-related strikes, along with power interruptions during the first semester.

SMC management foresees no significant positive changes in the months ahead as the economy is expected to continue to slow. The rise in international crude oil prices will also continue to exert pressure on business costs.

The availability of foreign exchange is also expected to continue to be difficult, interest rates will remain high and higher inflation will further dampen consumer spending. All these will be exacerbated by the impending additional 10 percent increase in the ad valorem tax on beer in January 1991.

Founded in 1890, San Miguel is the Philippines' largest industrial enterprise and is active within the brewing and beverages, food and food-related, and packaging areas. San Miguel's shares trade on the Manila and Makati Stock Exchanges. San Miguel prices may be accessed on the Reuters Equity 2000 service under the symbol SMC, and on the electronic OTC Bulletin Board under the symbol 3SMGBF.

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (NOV 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Sheri Poe, president of RYKA Inc., Thursday announced third quarter results for the period ending Sept. 30, 1990.

Third quarter sales were $711,244 compared to $1,260,023 for the third quarter of 1989. Loss for the quarter was $861,936, or (5 cents per share) compared to a loss in the third quarter of 1989 of $985,621, or (8 cents per share). Sales for the first nine months of 1990 were $3,933,657 compared to sales of $4,204,360 for the first nine months of 1989.

Loss for the nine months of 1990 was $2,047,679, or (14 cents per share) compared to a loss of $2,565,837, or (23 cents per share) for the first nine months of 1989.

''We are obviously disappointed with our third quarter results, but continue to remain optimistic based on future bookings of product, especially our new Nitrogen Ultra-Lite aerobic shoes,'' Poe said.

Poe announced that the company's backlog of orders for its footwear was approximately $1.6 million at Nov. 15, 1990, all of which the company expects to ship by the end of the first quarter of 1991. Almost 90 percent of the backlog represents orders placed for the company's two new Nitrogen Ultra-Lite models -- the 770 mid-cut and the 750 low-cut.

''One of the difficulties we faced by introducing the Ultra-Lites in July was that retailers were so enthusiastic about the line, they opted to wait for their Holiday deliveries of Ultra-Lites rather than order or re-order RYKA products in the third quarter,'' Poe said. ''In addition, back-to-school was weaker than many retailers anticipated, often leaving them with higher inventories and fewer open-to-buy dollars,'' she added.

''We recognize that the recession will have an impact on purchases of athletic footwear, but we remain confident that our consumer will continue to buy, and that she will be especially excited about the Ultra-Lites,'' Poe said.

RYKA Inc. designs, develops and markets high-performance fashionable athletic footwear for women. The company's principal products are multi-purpose aerobic cross-training shoes and lightweight aerobic shoes.

DETROIT (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Nissan Motor Co. Ltd., Tokyo, imports into

Japan during the current fiscal year are expected to reach approximately $763 million, up 45 percent compared with the previous period.

Nissan has put a variety of plans into action aimed at reduction of exports, expansion of overseas production and increase of imports. The plan is a part of Nissan's ''International Cooperation Program'' established in September 1989.

The main import items include catalyzers, alloy wheels, tires and speakers for audio systems. Notable increase was registered in U.S. purchase components such as anti-lock brake systems (ABS) and inflators for air-bags. Import of the V.W. Passat from Germany also contributed to the increase.

Under the ''International Cooperation Program,'' Nissan was originally scheduled to double the import value of fiscal 1989 to $740 million during fiscal 1993. However, through stepped-up efforts to expand imports of parts, materials and finished vehicles, it is certain that the amount of Nissan's imports will exceed this figure in the current fiscal year, two years ahead of schedule. Nissan is aiming to double that figure again by the late 1990s.

In 1990, Nissan sent two large-scale teams for purchasing to U.S. automobile parts companies. In the future, Nissan intends to push forward with joint manufacturing projects with foreign suppliers as a means of further expanding imports to Japan.

FREEHOLD, NJ (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Calton Inc. (NYSE:CN) announced Thursday that it is continuing discussions with its lending group to revise certain terms of the company's revolving secured credit agreement, including a reduction in the $20 million payment required to be made to the lenders on Nov. 30, 1990 and an extension of the term of the credit agreement beyond its current expiration date of April 30, 1991.

Borrowings of $95 million are currently outstanding under the credit agreement. The company has also initiated discussions with the holder of $17,950,000 aggregate principal amount of its 16-5/8% Senior Subordinated Notes with regard to exchanging certain real property for the notes.

The company stated that the continued deterioration of economic conditions and the resultant reduction in demand for new homes has continued to adversely affect the company's financial performance and has prompted the discussions with these creditors. NATCHEZ, MI (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Callon Consolidated Partners L.P. (NASDAQ/NMS:CCLPZ) reported its results of operations for the three and nine month periods ended Sept. 30, 1990.

For the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the partnership reported a net income of $1,000, or 0 cents per unit of limited partnership interest, compared to a net income of $461,000, or 8 cents per unit, for the third quarter of 1989.

Operating results for the third quarter of 1990 reflect revenues of $2,773,000 compared to revenues of $3,671,000 for the third quarter of 1989.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the partnership reported a net income of $148,000, or 2 cents per unit, on revenues of $8,047,000. For the same period of 1989 net income was $1,761,000, or 30 cents per unit, on revenues of $10,806,000.

The reduction in 1990 income and in cash flow provided from operations ($2.9 million in 1990 vs. $5.3 million in 1989) was primarily attributable to declining production rates. The partnership's average daily production rates were 1,068 barrels of oil and 4.04 million cubic feet of gas in the first nine months of 1990, compared to 1,418 barrels of oil and 4.95 million cubic feet of gas in the same period in 1989.

A portion of the lower production rates is attributable to natural declines common to maturing properties. Flood waters were responsible for a temporary shut down of a major oil property for several months during 1990.

During the first nine months of 1990, as opposed to the same period of last year, the average price received per barrel of oil increased to $20.45 from $18.47 and the average price received per thousand cubic feet of gas decreased to $1.69 from $1.81. Oil and gas revenues during the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989, included $846,000 resulting from retroactive ownership changes in two major oil properties.

Callon Consolidated Partners L.P. produces oil and natural gas from domestic onshore properties located primarily in the Gulf Coast region. The partnership's 5.9 million depositary receipts for units of limited partnership interest trade on the NASDAQ National Market System under symbol CCLPZ.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - The Home Insurance Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of AmBase Corp. (NYSE:ABC), Thursday reported net losses of $72 million and $130 million, respectively, for the 1990 third quarter and nine months compared with net income of $36 million and $125 million in the same 1989 periods.

The company attributed the decline principally to the sale of its Canadian subsidiary, the Commonwealth Insurance Co., which resulted in a loss under generally accepted accounting principles of $21 million, and to realized losses due to the restructuring of its investment portfolio.

Net realized losses on investments were $69 million and $155 million in the third quarter and nine months of 1990, compared with net realized gains of $9 million and $24 million in the same periods in 1989.

''We have been taking prudent but agressive steps to improve the quality of our investment portfolio during the year by selling off non-investment grade securities and launching a program to upgrade the credit quality and shorten the average maturity of the portfolio,'' said James J. Meenaghan, chairman, president and CEO of The Home.

Excluding realized gains and losses on investments, insurance operating income before income taxes in the 1990 third quarter and nine months was $30 million and $72 million, respectively, compared with $33 million and $117 million in the same periods a year ago.

The consolidated statutory combined ratios were 111.6 and 110.1 for the third quarter and nine months of 1990, respectively, compared with 111.8 and 109.6 for the same periods in 1989. For the Home Companies, which comprise the Home and certain of its subsidiaries participating in a reinsurance pooling agreement, the statutory combined ratio remained about flat at 111.1 and 109.7 for the third quarter and nine months of 1990, respectively, compared with 111.4 and 109.6 for the same periods in 1989.

''In spite of very difficult conditions in the property-casualty insurance market, our basic underwriting operation performed admirably,'' said Meenaghan. ''The overall market continues to suffer from overcapacity and inadequate pricing. However, the key strategies we have put in place at The Home over the past few years have enabled us to perform better than the industry as a whole - and

I believe that trend will continue.''

Insurance revenues were $521 million in the 1990 third quarter compared with $619 million in the 1989 third quarter. For the nine months the figures were $1,609 million and $1,838 million in the respective periods. Decreased revenues were attributable to realized losses on insurance investments in the third quarter and nine-month periods as well as somewhat lower earned premiums and insurance net investment income. Insurance revenues included gains on the sale of investments in both periods last year.

The underwriting loss in the third quarter was $53 million in 1990 compared with $59 million in 1989. For the nine months, the underwriting loss was $175 million compared with $155 million in 1989. Insurance net investment income decreased to $83 million and $247 million in the 1990 third quarter and nine months, respectively, from $92 million and $272 million in the same periods last year.

At Sept. 30, 1990 consolidated statutory surplus was $778 million and the statutory premium-to-surplus ratio was 2.5-to-1.

On Nov. 14, 1990, The Home completed the sale of The Commonwealth Insurance Co. for $49 million, which approximated its statutory carrying value.

The Home reported other expenses of $8 million and $18 million in the 1990 third quarter and nine months principally attributable to the settlement of a claims administration dispute involving a former subsidiary and expenses relating to the proposed sale of The Home by AmBase.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Orient-Express Hotels Inc., deluxe hotel, tourist train and cruise ship operator, Thursday announced net earnings of $1.6 million (16 cents per common share) on revenue of $19.4 million for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990 net income was $17 million ($1.74 per common share) on revenue (excluding proceeds from the sale of a hotel) of $48.7 million. Earnings for the quarter were up 31 percent over the third quarter of 1989, although for the nine months losses from operations were approximately the same as during the previous year period. Revenue for the nine months of 1990 was up 13 percent from the same period of 1989.

The third quarter of 1990 was characterized by substantially improved profits from tourist trains and cruising, offset in part by reduced profits from Italian hotels and The Lodge at Vail. For the nine months Italian hotels were down $1 million in operating profits from the same period in 1989, due in large measure to delays in completion of renovation at the Splendido Hotel in Portofino, Italy. Tourist trains have shown a $1.3 million improvement over the first nine months of 1989. There have been meaningful improvements in earnings at Harry's Bar in London and from Lake Windermere cruising. The Lodge at Vail experienced a mediocre summer season this year.

James B. Sherwood, chairman, said that overall 1990 would be an excellent year for the company due to profits on the sale of assets. He said in 1991 Italian hotels would not be prejudiced by construction delays and the new annex to the Hotel Cipriani in Venice was now nearly complete and would be opened early in 1991.

Hermann Jenny, president, said that a complete revue of Italian hotels operations was now in progress, which he believes will result in lower costs while retaining the company's traditional standards of quality. He said the company was committed to achieving a profit from operations in 1991. Sherwood pointed out that the company's financial ratios were now greatly improved, with long term debt greatly reduced and shareholders' equity exceeding liabilities less cash. This equity does not take into account any increased value of assets over historic cost less depreciation.

Jenny added that the company is actively developing three tourist train projects and negotiating the management or purchase of ten hotel properties.

He said that renovation works at the Copacabana Palace Hotel in Rio de Janeiro had started and are scheduled for completion in stages over the next 18 months.

CLEVELAND, OH (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Ameritrust Corporation announced today that, based on preliminary findings of an extensive review of its loan portfolio and in view of a deteriorating economy, nonperforming assets could increase by an amount significantly higher than has been experienced in recent quarters. Fourth quarter net charge-offs and the provision for loan losses could also increase significantly. As a result, the Corporation said that it expects to report a loss for the fourth quarter of 1990. Actual results, however, will depend upon a number of factors which cannot be predicted with certainty.

The concerns are principally in the real estate portfolio, the company said. Commercial real estate projects in the Midwest, while performing better on an overall basis than in more distressed areas of the country, are being adversely affected by general economic conditions in the nation.

It also noted that the fourth quarter common stock dividend will be considered at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Directors on November 21.

''While the final decision on the common stock dividend rests with the Board as a whole, I intend to recommend that we pay a reduced dividend,'' said Craig R. Smith, chairman and chief executive of Ameritrust. ''I believe this to be most prudent in light of our expectations for near-term results and the economy as a whole.

''We are committed to doing what is needed to strengthen Ameritrust,'' Smith continued. ''That is what our customers, employees and stockholders expect and deserve and that is what they will get.

''All of our core businesses are out aggressively marketing to our customers. Even in the midst of the challenges we are facing, I am encouraged that our people are meeting our customers' needs and giving them the high level of service they expect from Ameritrust.''

PICKERINGTON, OH (NOV. 15) BUSINESS WIRE - Physicians Insurance Company of Ohio (PICO) Thursday reported consolidated net income for the first nine months of 1990 of $348,600 or 11 cents per share, down from $1.7 million or 55 cents per share for the comparable period a year ago.

The company reported a consolidated net loss of $238,700 or 8 cents per share for the third quarter, compared with net income of $670,300 or 21 cents per share for the like period last year.

Year-to-date and third quarter earnings are down, primarily due to higher estimated reinsurance costs resulting from increased coverage in 1990 compared with 1989. Earnings also have been impacted by increased claims costs for the year.

PICO's earnings for the second quarter of 1990 have been restated from income of $689,600 or 22 cents per share to a net loss of $54,500 or 2 cents per share. The restatement was necessary to correct an error in the calculation of deferred policy acquisition costs at June 30, 1990.

Acquisition costs are those expenses that are directly related to the generation of premiums and include commission, underwriting and marketing expenses. Generally accepted accounting principles permit acquisition costs to be deferred when they are expended and recognized in the same manner as premiums are earned.

PICO and its subsidiaries reported total net premiums written of $17.4 million and $36.8 million for the third quarter and first nine months of 1990, respectively, compared to $20.9 million and $38.8 million for the like periods a year ago.

These premiums reflect increases in direct medical malpractice premiums which have been offset by planned decreases in commercial writings.

According to Robert L. Dion, president and chief executive officer, the company continues to operate in a highly competitive environment. PICO is focusing its efforts upon group medical practices and other profitable segments of the marketplace. Dion also said that PICO is making full use of the marketing edge the company has developed through its full range of insurance products and services.

Investment income, net of expenses, increased slightly in the first nine months of the year to $12.1 million from $11.8 million during the comparable period a year ago. Net investment income for the third quarter was nearly level with the like period in 1989.

The company continued to show a decrease in its operating expenses for the quarter and for the first nine months of the year.

Reserves for unpaid losses and loss adjustment expenses -- primarily on medical malpractice claims -- were $132.7 million at the close of the third quarter. At the close of 1989, claims reserves were $135.5 million.

Shareholders' equity at Sept. 30 was $28 million or $9.08 per share, compared with $26.1 million or $8.49 per share at the end of 1989. PICO's total consolidated assets at Sept. 30 were $233 million, compared with $226.6 million at the close of 1989.

WINDHOEK (NOV 15) - The U.S. Embassy here has sent an urgent message to Washington advising that sanctions should no longer be applied against Namibia, now a free and independent country, the U.S. information service said in a news release published here Thursday.

The message was prompted Namibian Prime Minister Hage Geingob's appeal earlier in the day for the United States to lift remaining sanctions against the country which, he said, remained in force nearly eight months after independence from South Africa.

Mr. Geingob told a news conference Namibia had made representations to the United States stating that the country was free "and should not anymore suffer under sanctions imposed against South Africa".

Before Namibia won its independence from South Africa last March, it was subject to some of the provisions in the 1986 Comprehensive Anti-Apartheid Act adopted by the United States.

The U.S. information service said the embassy was concerned that certain state governments in the United States still applied various anti-apartheid sanctions against Namibia.

It said sanctions ran counter to U.S. government policy and that U.S. President George Bush on Namibian Independence Day, March 21, formally lifted all sanctions against Namibia.

The message to Washington asked that certain jurisdictions again be advised that Namibia was a free and independent country in which apartheid practices ended on March 21 "and that U.S. government policy is to encourage, not restrict, trade between the U.S. and Namiba".

KATHMANDU (NOV. 15) - At least six climbers died in the Himalayas during Nepal's post-monsoon climbing season which ended on Thursday, the Nepalese Tourism Ministry said.

Three Soviet climbers were killed while descending Mount Manaslu and a South Korean climber died in a fall on the world's tallest peak, 8,848-metre (29,028-foot) Mount Everest. Two Nepalese mountain guides have also died, it said without elaborating.

About 90 expeditions from 18 countries attempted to scale 35 peaks this season with only one third of the attempts successful.

WINDHOEK (NOV 15) - The first meeting of the Namibia-Botswana joint commission on defence and security was held here Thursday, the South African news agency SAPA said.

The commission follows a "protocol of understanding on defence and security" signed by Namibian president Sam Nujoma and Botswana President Quett Masire in July in the Namibian capital.

During the meeting, the parties agreed to give special attention to the problem of poaching and to work out a joint mechanism to eradicate the problem along the two countries' common border.

It was also agreed to ensure free and justifiable access to common rivers, to avoid, at all costs, cross-border shooting incidents through swift exchange of information on criminals, to intensify efforts to promote and protect the fragile environment, and to urge nationals to use designated border crossing points between the neighbouring states.

LONDON (NOV 15) - The British RSPCA has launched a publicity campaign featuring a photograph of a slaughtered horse hanging from a hook in an abattoir in a bid to curb alleged abuses of animals shipped from Britain to the European continent to be used for food.

In a graphic advertisement appearing this week in British national newspapers, the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (RSPCA), appealing to anti-European sentiment among some Britons, stated: "The continentals love freshly butchered horsemeat."

The text of the ad, running alongside the photograph of the hanging horse, stated that with introduction of new EEC-wide regulations governing transport of animals, Britain would again begin sending live horses for consumption in other European countries.

The European Economic Community (EEC) regulations would supersede Britain's Minimum Values Order, which effectively banned transport of live horses to the European continent some 30 years ago, the RSPCA asserted.

"The images are hard-hitting and we make no apology for that," stated Gavin Grant, the RSPCA's campaigns director.

"By showing people the horrors, we hope they will be motivated to take action and campaign for tougher legislation," he added.

An RSPCA statement said the campaign was aimed at persuading the EEC's Council of Agricultural Ministers to adopt measures to protect animals transported across Europe.

Among the steps called for by the RSPCA were limiting the time during which animals can be transported for slaughter to eight hours and maintaining the British law which bars shipment of live horses from Britain.

~HL:NEW INVESTMENT BANK FOR LATIN AMERICA IN URUGUAY
MONTEVIDEO (NOV. 15) UPI - A powerful international finance group filed for permission from Uruguayan authorities to open an investment bank for Latin American development projects, one of the financers said Thursday.

The investment bank will begin operation following approval by the Central Bank, with operations aimed at promoting the influx of capital to Latin American countries, Auturo Martinez Olascoaga said.

Martinez, a Uruguayan financier and president of the European Corporation, which is based in Madrid, said the Investment Bank will be financially backed by the ''Pallas Group,'' a powerful international economic organization.

The Pallas Group is made up of 27 major private banks and investment companies including the French bank Credit Lyonnais, the Union of Swiss Banks and Nippon Life Insurance, one of the world's largest insurers, Martinez said.

The investment bank was authorized Sept. 12 as a way of consolidating Uruguay's position as the financial capital of the region, one of the goals announced by the government of President Luis Alberto Lacalle.

Unlike a traditional commercial bank, the investment bank will be limited to financing development projects, along with the help of the Inter-American Development Bank, Martinez said.

MANAGUA (NOV. 15) - Former contra rebels hurled grenades at police trying to break up a demonstration, killing four police and wounding 17 as anti-government unrest spread to northern Nicaragua, authorities said Thursday.

News of the violence in the northern town of Sebaco followed warnings by Vice President Virgilio Godoy that civil war could erupt if the government used force to crush the swelling protest movement.

The Interior Ministry said the latest incident occurred Wednesday after about 300 people in Sebaco seized a bridge on a highway linking the northern cities of Jinotega and Matgalpa with Managua.

When police used tear gas to disperse the crowd, former rebels hurled several fragmentation grenades at the police, killing four and wounding 17, the ministry said.

The clash raised to nine the number of people killed in the two weeks since the protests first broke out in southeastern Nicaragua over the government's failure to give former rebels promised land and financial aid.

Contra supporters, backed by nearly a score of local mayors and by Mr. Godoy, have built barricades severing the only highway between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. Others have occupied schools and government buildings.

The contras, formed and financed by the United States, battled throughout the 1980's to topple the leftist Sandinista government, which was finally ousted through elections early this year.

The ex-rebels' uprising poses a clear challenge to the government of President Violeta Chamorro, who assumed office in April at the head of a fractious coalition that included supporters of the contra rebels.

Negotiations were under way Thursday between the government and the former contras in the southeastern town of Muelle de Bueyes but the former contras have added political demands to their initial grievances.

Accusing the government of making too many concessions to the opposition Sandinistas, who remain in control of the army and security forces, the former rebels have demanded the resignations of the armed forces chief, General Humberto Ortega, a Sandinista, Interior Minister Carlos Hurtado and presidential chief of staff Antonio Lacayo.

CAIRO (NOV. 15) - President Hosni Mubarak returned here from Damascus late Thursday after two days of talks with Syrian counterpart Hafez al-Assad on the Gulf crisis, correspondents said.

Asked by reporters at the airport about differences emerging within the anti-Iraqi coalition formed after Iraq invaded Kuwait on August 2, Mr. Mubarak replied: "Nothing has changed in the situation, the anti-Iraqi coalition hasn't changed at all."

He said a peaceful solution to the Gulf crisis was difficult, since Iraq's conditions (for a comprehensive Middle East peace settlement and complete withdrawal of international forces from the region) were rejected by the whole world.

"Nobody wants war, but the Iraqis have rejected all possible solutions," he said."

Earlier, the official Egyptian news agency MENA said Mr. Mubarak and Mr. Assad had implicitly rejected the idea of an emergency Arab summit proposed by Morocco's King Hassan II.

A joint communique, issued in Cairo and Damascus at the end of talks between the two leaders in the Syrian capital, blamed Iraq, saying Baghdad's position made all political settlement of the Gulf crisis impossible.

MENA, quoting the communique, said Mr. Mubarak and Mr. Assad carefully reviewed King Hassan's proposal for a summit.

Mr. Mubarak, who had also visited Libya to discuss the Gulf crisis, held talks Wednesday with Mr. Assad on ways of averting war in the region, authoritative Syrian sources said.

Egypt and Syria have both strongly denounced the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait and outraged Baghdad by sending troops to Saudi Arabia to defend the kingdom against any Iraqi attack.

NAIROBI (NOV 15) - Ethiopia has welcomed U.S. efforts to end the civil war in the northern Ethiopian province of Eritrea amid growing signs that relations are warming between the two countries.

Ethiopia has launched a diplomatic campaign to win Western support since it turned its back on orthodox Marxist policies earlier this year and announced reforms to liberalise its economy.

U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs Herman Cohen, winding up a two-day visit to Addis Ababa on Wednesday, welcomed the new cordiality in bilateral relations and pledged to work towards their further improvement, according to an Ethiopian government statement.

Ethiopian President Mengistu Haile Mariam described a meeting last month in Washington between Ethiopian government officials and representatives of the rebel Eritrean People's Liberation Front as a "positive step" which should be continued.

Mr. Cohen said Ethiopia was fully committed to peace and hoped that peace negotiations to end nearly three decades of civil war would soon resume.

Ethiopia recently lifted restrictions on emigration of Ethiopia's 20,000 Jews to Israel in a move that will certainly help improve relations with the United States, which had asked Addis Ababa to allow free Jewish emigration.

But Ethiopia has reportedly demanded military aid from Israel in exchange for the Jews -- a development that would be less welcome to Washington, which has opposed previous Israeli arms sales to Ethiopia on the grounds that military assistance would prolong the civil war.

ACCRA (NOV 15) - Liberia's interim president, Amos Sawyer, Thursday called on the five-nationl peacekeeping force in his country to impose a ceasefire to ''freeze military action'' and allow diplomatic initiatives a chance to work, Radio Ghana reported.

Sawyer, who returned to Accra from Lagos Thursday, was quoted as also calling on the main rebel force, the National Patriotic Front of Liberia (Npfl) led by Charles Taylor, to agree to a ceasefire.

Radio Ghana said Sawyer told a news conference after meeting with Ghana's head of state Jerry Rawlings behind closed doors that further ''aggravation on the military front would complicate matters.''

He said his interim government believed that the real solution to the 11-month-old civil war lies in a political initiative.

Sawyer's call to the peacekeepers came as the 9,000-strong force Wednesday bombed the port of Buchanan, killing a number of people and damaging a ship belonging to a U.S. company which was offloading relief supplies.

An Economic Community of West African States (Ecowas) official confirmed the British Broadcasting Corporation (Bbc) report saying that the peacekeepers had been forced to take the action in Buchanan because they had had several reports of arms shipments reaching taylor through that port.

WASHINGTON (NOV 15) - With just four days to go before the signing of the first treaty to reduce conventional arms in Europe, the United States Thursday expressed concern over the prior withdrawal of Soviet tanks to the east of the Urals.

U.S. experts must verify Soviet assurances that the tanks withdrawn from Eastern Europe during the past month and redeployed outside of the area covered by the treaty are being destroyed, said a U.S. official speaking on condition of anomymity.

The CFE treaty, which covers Europe from the Atlantic to the Urals, establishes no method of verifying the destruction of tanks redeployed before the treaty is signed, said the official, who nevertheless hailed the treaty as "a tremendous success."

U.S. officials have played down the importance of the issue, saying it is secondary compared to the "incredible accomplishment" of the CFE treaty.

The official, who briefed reporters prior to the signing Monday of the CFE treaty at the opening in Paris of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE), stressed that the issue of the tanks would "certainly not" threaten the treaty, which will be initialed Sunday in Vienna, where it was negotiated over the past 20 months.

He added, however, "Obviously, we are concerned about movements to the East of the Urals."

The official declined to give the number of tanks believed involved. According to The New York Times Thursday, several thousand were withdrawn.

The CFE treaty limits the number of Soviet tanks to 13,150. The Soviet Union had 40,000 tanks in Europe before the CFE negotiations and would have had to destroy 27,000 if no tanks had been withdrawn ahead of time.

According to the Times, the Soviet Union has let Washington know that it now has only 25,000 tanks in Europe, which would leave 12,000 tanks to be destroyed under the terms of the treaty.

PARIS (NOV 15) - The Soviet Union has signed a contract for buying French soft wheat and barley, informed sources said here on Thursday.

They said the contract, for 900,000 tonnes of soft wheat and 500,000 tonnes of barley, was concluded after European Economic Community authorities decided on Thursday to grant certificates needed for the transaction together with "restitutions" (export subsidies) for the amounts involved.

The wheat restitution for the deal is 115.5 European Currency Units (ECU) per tonne, with a limit of 900,000 tonnes. The barley restitution is 103.80 ECU per tonne, with a 500,000-tonne limit.

The Soviet Union will be able to pay for the grain thanks to a credit line of 1.5 billion francs (300 million dollars) granted by France during a visit to Paris at the end of October by Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev.

The two-year credits, the details of which have not yet been settled, will be guaranteed by the French export credit insurance company, COFACE.

WASHINGTON (NOV 15) - The Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) Thursday approved 300 million dollars in loans to Venezuela, part of a 650 million dollar financing package destined to help that country restructure its state-run businesses.

In addition, the IDB will provide Venezuela up to five million dollars in technical assistance to prepare for a privatization program.

The World Bank already has approved parallel financing of 350 million dollars for this same public enterprise streamlining program.

The IDBWorld Bank package seeks to give Venezuela's government the necessary financial leeway to readjust management policies in to maximize efficiency, to eliminate market barriers and to slash public enterprise subsidies which top one billion dollars annually, officials said.

WASHINGTON (NOV 15) - The United States is readying contingency plans to send emergency food and medicine to the Soviet Union if food shortages develop in that economically troubled country this winter, U.S. officials said Thursday.

The officials said a key reason for the U.S. willingness to help was fear that internal unrest could destabilize the Soviet Union.

(According to a poll in the latest edition of the News of Moscow, 62 per cent of Soviet citizens fear that famine will hit in the coming months. The poll followed reports in the Soviet press in recent months of some isolated cases of famine, particularly in Soviet Central Asia.)

The U.S. officials said measures being contemplated to help the Soviets included using U.S. emergency disaster programs, airlifting food and medicine and sending technicians to help cope with transportation problems.

At the State Department, spokesman Richard Boucher would only say: "We are aware of the concern that the Soviet Union may experience difficulties in food availability this winter. It's still unclear whether severe shortages will actually develop.

"We will of course consider such assistance if we were asked."

President George Bush is expected to discuss the issue with his Soviet counterpart Mikhail Gorbachev when the two meet next week in Paris for the summit of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

LONDON (NOV 16) - The Bank of England on Thursday predicted that Britain will next year slide into a "steeper and more prolonged" recession than it previously expected.

"Economic indicators have been suggesting more consistently and clearly that the slowdown in the real economy has been continuing, with signs now that output and demand may have fallen in the third quarter," the Bank said in its Quarterly Bulletin.

The slowdown could be more pronounced because there had been stronger growth than expected in the first six months of 1990.

A fragile world economy would also harm trade and reduce British export markets, which are already suffering because of the firmness of the pound, the Bank added.

The Bank's outlooks appears more pessimistic than that of the government, which has predicted a moderate short-term recession, which would allow growth of 0.54 percent next year.

BRASILIA (NOV 15) - The Brazilian government tried to build an atomic weapon while under military rule, but has since "completely abandoned" the project, a government official said Thursday.

Science and Technology Secretary Jose Goldemberg confirmed the reports in testimony to a parliamentary commission charged with looking into nuclear research done by the country's former military government, which left office in 1985 after 21 years in power.

Mr. Goldemberg and Paulo Leone, the secretary of strategic affairs, declined to identify government officials who participated in the project.

"The government has broken with the past and we don't want to know about what is past," Mr. Goldemberg said.

Mr. Ramos said only that the officials were "a group close to the president."

He said the technology center developed a method of enriching uranium to build a bomb that would have been tested in a cave in the Sierra do Cachimbo in the state of Amazonia, symbolically closed two months ago by current President Fernando Collor de Mello.

Mr. Ramos also declined to detail the program or say when or how the research was done, despite repeated questioning by legislators, some of whom offered to call a closed door session.

He also indicated that he did not know if the military officers involved with the program were still in the armed forces.

The only evidence given the legislative committee was a secret document signed by General Danilo Venturini, the former head of the country's National Security Council during the presidency of General Joao Baptista Figueiredo (1979-1985.)

Legislators said the document, which was not released, shed little new light on the atomic program.

They decided to call Mr. Figueiredo, who has already declined to testify several times by saying that his health was too poor to permit a trip to Brasilia.

WASHINGTON (NOV 15) - President George Bush reiterated Thursday that he had not yet decided whether to use force in the Gulf but said he was "deadly serious" about getting Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait.

"I am not going to compromise one single iota," Mr. Bush said in an interview with Cable News Network. "No, there isn't going to be a compromise with this kind of naked aggression."

The U.S. president said he would never put American soldiers in a military situation "that we do not win. Ever. And there is not going to be any long, drawn out agony of Vietnam."

He reiterated that he had not ruled out a military option, "but I am absolutely convinced that having the forces in place, should a military option be required, is prudent policy."

Asked about the reinforcements -- reportedly numbering 150,000 -- that he dispatched last week, Mr. Bush said, "I am sending a signal, a clear clarion signal to (Iraqi President) Saddam Hussein: 'We are deadly serious about seeing you get out of Kuwait and about those hostages... Make no mistake about it'."

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) - Iraqi President Saddam Hussein told an American television audience Thursday evening that his country wants peace but will not capitulate.

Interviewed by Abc-News, Saddam called on President George Bush to engage in dialogue with Iraq without ''capitulation as a precondition.''

He said all foreigners would be free to leave Iraq as soon as Bush gives an ''open pledge'' not to start war.

Saddam said any such dialogue would include ''all issues.'' Asked whether that meant the occupation of Kuwait is ''negotiable,'' Saddam replied, ''When I say something, I mean it.''

WASHINGTON, (NOV 15) - President George Bush Saturday will start an eight-day tour of Europe and the Middle East to consolidate the multinational anti-Iraqi alliance and seek consensus on the possible use of force to free occupied Kuwait.

The highlight of the tour will come November 22, when Mr. Bush will visit the U.S. troops stationed in Saudi Arabia, not far from the Iraqi front lines in Kuwait, in a strong signal of defiance Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

The other key event during the tour will be Mr. Bush's participation in the summit meeting of the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE) in Paris November 19-21. The summit is due to include signing an historic treaty reducing conventional forces in Europe (CFE).

A senior government official said the CSCE summit would symbolize the "Europe whole and free" which has been a key foreign policy goal of Mr. Bush since taking office nearly two years ago.

But despite this historic occasion, Mr. Bush's attention will stay focused on the Gulf crisis, amid mounting concerns that his policy is losing public support back home where Congress has given him only conditional backing.

Another senior government official said Mr. Bush would probably use two informal CSCE meetings to discuss the Middle East situation.

On the sidelines of the CSCE summit, Mr. Bush will meet French President Francois Mitterrand and at least four other foreign leaders, including Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev.

Mr. Bush intends to pursue efforts undertaken by Secretary of State James Baker during his recent trip to Europe and the Middle East to fortify the anti-Iraqi coalition amid disagreements over when and if to use military force to dislodge Iraq from Kuwait.

Mr. Baker Wednesday stressed the importance of establishing a sound political and military basis for using force in the Gulf, since it could not be be discarded as an option.

Mr. Baker left Washington early Thursday for meetings in in Geneva and Paris with members of the U.N. Security Council to explore the possibility of drawing up a new U.N. resolution authorizing the use of force in the Gulf if deemed necessary.

Mr. Baker will meet up with Mr. Bush Sunday for the CSCE summit.

Before his departure, Mr. Baker said that following his and Mr. Bush's discussions with foreign leaders over the next 10 days, Washington would be better situated to made decisions on the possible use of military force.

A senior official, however, said "hope" was too strong a word at present to describe the possibility the allies might reach a consensus on this issue by the end of Mr. Bush's trip.

Mr. Bush will have plenty or opportunities to state his intentions when he meets Saudi King Fahd and the exiled Kuwaiti Emir, Sheikh Jaber al-Ahmad al-Sabah, in Jeddah next Wednesday.

Thursday, the president will travel to the eastern Saudi region around Dhahran where, 250 kilometers (160 miles) from the Kuwaiti border, he and First Lady Barbara Bush will have the traditional U.S. Thanksgiving Day dinner with U.S. troops before visiting a U.S. warship in the Gulf.

It will be first time since Richard Nixon went to Vietnam that an American president has visited a region considered a zone of conflict.

Some 240,000 U.S. troops are currently deployed in the Gulf, but that number may swell to more than 400,000 by January of next year following Mr. Bush's announcement a week ago that he wanted to give the anti-Iraqi forces an offensive capability.

Before he returns to Washington November 23, Mr. Bush is due to stop in Cairo to confer with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak.

During his stay in Paris, Mr. Bush will join 33 other heads of state and government in the CSCE summit where three historic agreements reducing U.S. and Soviet conventional forces in Europe (CFE), pledging non-aggression and vowing closer ties between former adversaries are to be signed.

The summit, according to Mr. Baker, will formally "bury the Cold War hatchet."

Saturday, Mr. Bush is to visit Prague for celebratations marking the first anniversary of Czechoslovakia's "velvet revolution." He is expected to give a major speech on democracy.

The following day, Mr. Bush is due to visit German Chancellor Helmut Kohl at his weekend retreat in Oggersheim for talks on the Gulf situation, before heading to the CSCE meeting in Paris.

WASHINGTON, (NOV 15) - The U.S. and South Korean defense ministers wound up three days of talks here Thursday, with Washington's assurances that planned cutbacks in U.S. troop strength on the Korean peninsula did not signal any change in the close security ties between the two countries.

In a joint communique, Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and his South Korean counterpart Lee Jong Koo reaffirmed that "any future reduction or readjustment of U.S. forces in the Republic of Korea should be made gradually and in a phased manner after a careful evaluation of the security environment in and around the Korean peninsula."

Mr. Cheney assured his guest that plans to cut the 40,000-strong U.S. military contingent on the Korean peninsula by 5,000 ground and 2,000 Air Force personnel reflected changes in the overall situation, including South Korea's enhanced defense capabilities.

"Both sides agreed that North Korea poses a serious threat to South Korea by continuing to deploy its forces offensively and that the capability of the North to initiate a surprise attack against the Republic of Korea with little ort no warning remains high.

"They also discussed North Korea's potential chemical weapons threat and deployment of weapons such as SCUD-type missiles which runs counter to the internationmal trend toward reducction of tension," the communique said.

Both sides expressed concern about Pyongyang's refusal to place its nuclear program under International Atomic Energy Agency safeguards.

Mr. Cheney again pledged that Washington would give prompt and effective help to repel any external armed attack against South Korea in line with the two countries' 1954 mutual defense treaty.

"The U.S. nuclear umbrella will continue to provide additional security" to the South, he added.

Both sides also reiterated that joint military exercises such as the annual Team Spirit were important to maintain deterrence and represented no threat to any third party.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) - Embarrassed World Bank officials said Thursday that the United States and Japan had effectively blocked a 450-million-dollar loan package for Brazil.

The officials, who asked not to be identified, said Washington and Tokyo had insisted that Brazil pay at least some of the eight billion dollars it owed in interest to commercial banks before the World Bank resumed assistance.

Earlier Thursday the bank erroneously announced approval of the 450 million dollar loan package to inject funds for credit into Brazil's private sector and finance scientific and technological research.

Later officials had to ask new organizations to kill the story because it was not true.

Subsequent interviews of officials, who declined to be identified, said the loan was blocked at the last minute when Japan raised objections. The United States, said the officials, supported Japan's objection.

TOKYO (NOV. 15) - Japan's Mazda Motor Corp. said Thursday its net profit rose 6.9 percent from a year earlier to 10.8 billion yen (78 million dollars) in the six months to September, mainly due to booming domestic sales.

The major carmaker, affiliated with Ford Motor Co. of the United States, said sales advanced 10.3 percent to 1,111 billion yen (8.1 billion dollars).

Domestic sales jumped 15.1 percent to 474 billion yen (3.4 billion dollars) while exports grew seven percent to 637 billion yen (4.6 billion dollars.

By volume, sales grew 11.6 percent to 730,587 vehicles with domestic sales jumping 19.2 percent to 311,510 and exports rising 6.6 percent to 419,077 units.

The company attributed the growth in domestic sales to increased demand, the introduction of new models and active marketing efforts during the period which saw the number of Mazda sales networks boosted from three to five.

Mazda said slower export growth partly reflected increased local production abroad. The performance in the North American market was particularly poor, with sales volume falling by almost 12 percent. European sales jumped by almost 30 percent and sales in Southeast Asia were also active, it said.

Overall sales of passenger cars jumped 12.5 percent to 563,343 units while sales of commercial vehicles climbed 8.7 percent to 167,244 units.

By value, car sales jumped 17.1 percent to 626 billion yen (4.5 billion dollars) while sales of commercial vehicles rose 13.7 percent to 145 billion yen (1.1 billion dollars), the company said.

Sales of parts for overseas production fell 4.4 percent to 97 billion yen (703 million dollars) but sales of other parts climbed 29.6 percent to 149 billion yen (1.1 billion dollars). Sales of other products plunged 26.9 percent to 94 billion yen (681 million dollars).

Bonn (NOV. 15) - The economy of western Germany, rising at a four percent rate this year, will remain robust in 1991, with the gross national product growing by three percent, a panel of leading economists told Bonn on Thursday.

The five-member economic advisory panel, in its autumn report to Chancellor Helmut Kohl, did not venture a prediction about the overall German economic performance combining western Germany and the former East Germany.

It only predicted that the economy in eastern Germany will keep sliding until bottoming-out in mid-1991. After that, a gradual economic rise will set in, the 500-page report said.

The panel of economists - dubbed the ''Five Wise Men'' -forecast a 3.5 per cent inflation rate for western Germany. The rate will be somewhat higher in the former East Germany.

In the labour market, unemployment in western Germany will remain steady at around 1.9 million. In eastern Germany, joblessness will rise to some two million unemployed and 1.1 million people on reduced work shifts in the second half of 1991.

TOKYO (NOV. 15) - Japan's Nissan Motor Co. Ltd. forecast Thursday that its imports would surge 45 percent from last year to 763 million dollars this year surpassing an import target two years ahead of schedule.

The company, Japan's second-biggest carmaker, said its "international cooperation program" announced a year ago initially planned to double imports over a four-year period to 740 million dollars by the end of March in 1993.

"However, through the stepped-up efforts to expand imports of parts, materials and finished vehicles, it is now certain that the amount of the company's imports will exceed this figure in the current fiscal year.

"Imports from the United States showed a great increase," Nissan said, adding that it hoped to double overall imports again by the late 1990's.

The company said its main imports were catalytic converters, wheels, tyres, audio speakers and safety devices in addition to Passats made by German carmaker Volkswagen for sale in Japan.

The program announced last year seeks to reduce exports and expand production overseas as well as boost imports.

TOKYO (NOV. 15) - Five Japanese banks have extended a 400 million dollar loan to Vnesheconombank of the Soviet Union to meet overdue import bills and to finance new purchases of steel pipes to boost oil output, news reports said Thursday.

The unidentified banks extended the five-year loan after seeking repayment guarantees from Japanese trading companies, the reports said. Further details were not available except that repayments will be made over 10 installments.

The Nihon Kezai Shimbun said the loan enabled Soviet interests to order 105,000 tonnes of seamless steel pipes and 80,000 tonnes of large-diameter steel pipes for delivery between January and June.

Soviet importers fell sharply behind in meeting bills to Japanese trading companies earlier this year. The backlog peaked at 500 million dollars at one stage, industry sources said, prompting Japanese firms to sound tough warnings.

STUTTGART (NOV. 15) - Daimler-Benz, Germany's largest corporation, said here Thursday its net earnings in the first nine months of 1990 reached 1.32 billion marks (897 million dollars), up slightly on 1.27 billion marks in the same period last year.

The company said increased automobile sales helped to counterbalance problems in other areas.

Daimler-Benz said its nine-month turnover reached nearly 60.8 billion marks, up six percent on the 57.5 billion marks in the corresponding 1989 period.

The automotive division Mercedes-Benz accounted for 70 percent of the turnover with 14 percent contributed by the electronics division Aeg, 12 percent by the aerospace unit Deutsche Aerospace, and 4 percent by the new services company, Debis.

The company said the weak dollar and yen had clearly hurt its earnings, and warned that any further decline in the dollar would influence the competitive position of German-made products.

MANILA (NOV. 15) - The Philippines plans to import rice for the third straight year in 1991 but hopes to become self-sufficient again in 1992, the agriculture department said Thursday.

He said the Philippines was negotiating to import up to 300,000 tons from the United States but some could be bought from nearby countries if Washington refused to provide it all free.

"It would be cheaper to buy from Thailand and Vietnam," he added.

Mr. Reyes said Philippine production would be sufficient to meet requirements but a considerable sum is lost yearly because of drought, floods and other problems.

SYDNEY (NOV. 15) - The Australian airline Qantas announced Thursday net profits of 12.1 million dollars (9.3 million U.S.) for the year to June 30, down sharply from 176.8 million dollars (136 million U.S.) the previous year.

Qantas chairman Bill Dix said the most significant factor behind the slump was last year's strike by domestic airline pilots, which deterred visitors from Japan, Germany and the United States.

He also blamed a 27 percent increase in fuel prices during the 12 months and forecast profits would be even worse hit this year because of the Gulf crisis, which has pushed fuel costs up by 60 percent since July 1.

State-owned Qantas' revenue for the year came to 3.6 billion dollars (2.8 billion U.S.), Mr. Dix said.

Company directors recommended no payment to the government, compared with last year's pay out of 31.5 million dollars (24 million U.S.).

Domestic carriers Australian Airlines and Ansett were crippled when some 1,500 pilots resigned in August in an attempt to break the country's central wage-fixing system.

Qantas's net profit included abnormal items of 107.3 million dollars (82.5 million U.S.), primarily related to amortisation of profits on aircraft sale-leaseback transactions, Mr. Dix said.

In the coming 18 months, Qantas planned to sell five old Boeing 747s, bringing to nine the number of aircraft on sale, he added.

The company planned to axe 500 jobs in the coming months and possibly reduce staff levels even further, Mr. Dix said.

Qantas had withdrawn services to Amsterdam, Athens, Bahrain and Bombay and a further reduction was to be achieved through flight rationalisation but details were not yet available.

Mr. Dix said Qantas welcomed the government's decision - approved by a special conference on the ruling Labor Party in September - to sell 49 per- cent of the airline to the private sector.

SYDNEY (NOV. 15) - Rupert Murdoch's News Corp., which is pleading for a rescheduling of its debts, reported Thursday a 31.3 percent dive in net profit to 25.9 million dollars (20 million U.S.) for the first quarter.

The after-tax result exceeded the most pessimistic market forecasts of 40 million dollars to 50 million dollars and compared with a 37.6 million dollar (29 million U.S.) profit for the previous three months to September 30.

However, abnormal gains of 29 million dollars (22.2 million U.S.) through foreign exchange trading lifted the bottom line to a 54.7 million dollar (42 million U.S.) profit -- 45.4 percent higher than the corresponding period in 1989-90.

Mr. Murdoch's media giant wants bankers to roll much of its estimated 10 billion dollar (7.7 billion U.S.) debt.

He was scheduled to meet Friday with representatives of Midland and other European lenders in London.

The company aims to reduce its debt levels through increased cash flow from better trading performances and sell non-core assets.

A sharp climb in interest costs in the latest quarter to 304.7 million dollars (234 million U.S.) from 236 million dollars (182 million U.S.) a year earlier emphasised the urgency of the talks.

Sky Television's steep expenses plunged British operations into a 20.9 million dollar (16 million U.S.) loss for the period, but News Corp. said it expected to return the division to profitability for the rest of the current year following the agreed merger with British Satellite Broadcasting.

Under the deal, the two satellite broadcasting rivals will join forces under the banner of a new joint venture company British Sky Broadcasting, to be owned equally by News Corp. and the former BSB major shareholders.

PARIS (NOV. 15) - The United States is blocking the sale to Vietnam of two Airbus airliners, well-informed sources said Thursday.

COCOM, the organization charged with monitoring the sale of sensitive technologies to Eastern bloc and other countries, has agreed to the sale of the two Airbus planes before next summer.

But the sources said Washington has invoked its embargo against Vietnam to block the sale because the European-built planes have American components in their engines. The embargo contains clauses pertaining to the re-exportation of U.S.-made material.

The national Vietnamese airlines, Hang Khong Vietnam, had ordered at the start of this year two Airbus planes as well as two French-Italian ATR-72 craft. The last two planes have already been delivered.

The Airbus are equipped either with motors that are built half by the French firm SNECMA and the U.S. firm General Electric, or built half by the British firm Rolls Royce and the U.S. firm Pratt and Whitney.

When high-technology material exported to Vietnam contains 10 per cent of U.S.-built components, Washington demands the right to investigate the deal. One expert said U.S. officials "put pressure on the firms".

According to the sources, the embargo is tied to Vietnam's occupation of Cambodia and a settlement to the Cambodian conflict.

Similar embargos that go beyond COCOM restrictions are also in effect against Cuba, North Korea and Cambodia.

The COCOM regulations are starting to ease now following the reforms that swept through Eastern Europe last year. The Soviet Union, for example, has been able to purchase five Airbus airliners without U.S. opposition.

MANILA (NOV. 15) - Oil producers want crude prices to settle at about 21 dollars a barrel once the Gulf crisis is settled, Indonesian Mines and Energy Minister Ginandjar Kartasasmita said here Thursday.

Mr. Kartasasmita, attending a regional energy conference, said: "I do not agree with the predictions that prices will fall very low once the crisis is over because we are determined to maintain stability."

He said the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), of which Indonesia is the only Asian member, "is not for a too low price, and it is not also for too high prices.

"We are determined to maintain a stable and reasonable level ... around 21 dollars a barrel, that is acceptable to us, to everybody."

Prices were below 20 dollars a barrel before Iraq seized Kuwait on August 2 and now range between 30 and 35 dollars a barrel after fluctuating wildly in the aftermath of the invasion.

Mr. Kartasasmita said industrial nations were partly to blame for rising oil prices because of stockpiles beyond the normal 90 days of consumption.

"They go to the market and they beef up their stocks. By doing so, they are competing with the developing countries and drive prices up," he said. "They are holding more than 90 days ... they could release their stocks safely."

On regional issues, Mr. Kartasasmita said the Philippines and Thailand would have priority in buying excess Indonesian production under the petroleum security agreement of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), under which ASEAN oil producers would aid other members in a crunch.

ASEAN groups Brunei, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore and Thailand. The first three are oil producers while Singapore is a major oil refiner.

Bangkok (NOV. 15) - Cambodia officially inaugurated its first satellite link with the western world, Radio Phnom Penh said Thursday.

''The posts and telecommunications department on 14 November organized a ceremony to inaugurate the Vista earth satellite station, built with the cooperation of the Australian government's Otc international,'' the radio said in a broadcast monitored here.

Australia's Overseas Telecommunications Corp International (Otci), a government enterprise, has pioneered telecommunications in Vietnam, Laos and now war-torn Cambodia.

Otci sources claim they have taken a long-term approach to these cash-poor countries, setting up joint ventures and operating their systems on a turn-key basis.

Industry sources note that telecommunications has been one of the first sectors to take off in Indochina, partly because foreign exchange can be earned abroad, especially on long-distance calls from western countries.

''This is only the first stage of the agreement,'' the report said. ''The next phase is the construction of a network of 5,000 telephone and telgraphic lines.''

The Vista satellite will allow overseas telephone calls via Australia, the first such link with the western world.

Lusaka (NOV. 15) - Zambia Consolidated Copper Mines (Zccm) lost 564 tons of copper output worth 1.7 million dollars due to strikes at its Nchanga division in Chingola, it was reported here.

The Daily Mail cited a Zccm spokesman Thursday as saying that the value was based ''on last week's ruling copper prices on the London Metal Exchange.

''Of this, 240 tons was finished copper production and 324 tons were copper concentrates,'' the spokesman said.

Mines in various parts of Zambia's copperbelt have been hit by strikes during the past two weeks, involving some 3,600 miners.

TOKYO (NOV. 15) - The very different and tougher European car market will be much harder than the U.S. market for Japanese manufacturers to conquer, according to the managing director of Toyota Motor Corp.

"I don't think the same thing will happen as you are seeing in the U.S. because the background is completely different ... the European market is not easy for us," explained Junji Numata, who also heads the company's European concerns.

In the United States the Japanese were competing in different car categories, he said in an interview here. "Americans are only making big cars, but historically they don't have the background to do small cars."

"Fortunately and because of energy problems" U.S. customers began to turn towards smaller cars to the advantage of the Japanese, who now control 30 per cent of the market, almost one third of which belongs to Toyota.

"But in Europe you have the main producers of the small cars," explained Mr. Numata, which will mean the Japanese will have to compete in the same markets.

From its current 2.5 percent share of the West European market, Toyota, the world's third largest car manufacturer, expects to expand to only three per cent by the end of the 1990s, he said.

The vast potential in Europe makes it the next target for Toyota which projects annual sales figures of 20 million cars in the whole of Europe by the end of the decade.

But with challenges like safety, energy consumption and enviromental concerns, "car manufacturers and parts suppliers can not just sleep," he added.

But European manufacturers have several weak points in contrast to their Japanese counterparts including "product development, a really long real time of producing new models, no sound management, labour relations," Mr. Numata said.

While they were "working very hard" to improve production efficiency and were becoming competitive there was still room for improvement, he said.

But "big European carmakers are now strengthening their capibilities both in product developement and in production and many are updating their production facilities," he said, adding that every day the gap between them and Japanese producers was narrowing.

SYDNEY (NOV. 15) - Westpac Banking Corp., Australia's largest bank, announced Thursday a 39.3 net profit slump to 486 million Australian dollars (374 million U.S.) due to a more than doubling of bad loans.

The bank said that after an abnormal gain of 198 million dollars (152 million U.S.) from the staff pension fund, net profit for the year to September 30 came to 684 million dollars (526 million U.S.), for a fall of 14.6 percent.

Chairman Sir Eric Neal blamed the profit slide, from 801 million dollars (616 million U.S.), on Canberra's tight monetary policy and Australia's economic slump.

High interest rates had helped trigger corporate failures, boosting bad and doubtful debts 105 percent to 1.2 billion dollars (890 million U.S.), he said, adding that the bank's liberal lending policies had added to the problem.

Managing Director Stuart Fowler said profit for the first half was hurt by large corporate failures and narrow interest rate margins.

In the second half, business activity fell and unemployment rose, he said. "Bad debts increased as medium-sized commercial customers and small businesses failed. The level of bankruptcies is now running at record levels."

The profit "was achieved in a year that has placed great pressure on all financial institutions in Australia and indeed a number of banks -- old and new -- have recorded operating losses, some of great magnitude," he said.

Many new foreign banks here lost million of dollars last year while Australia's other major banks have all increased bad and doubtful debt provisions at the expense of profits.

"Clearly we are expecting a better profit next year. (But) the agriculture sector will undoubtedly be a concern for farmers and us," Mr. Fowler said, citing wool and wheat growers as vulnerable clients.

The Federal Office of Statistics in its report here Thursday said the robust performance had also spurred employment in western Germany. In the first nine months, there was an increase of 197,000 jobs, up 2.7 percent, in manufacturing and mining.

Leading the field were the food and luxury items sector, where there was a 4.3 percent increase in jobs, followed by the investment goods industry, where employment rose 3.4 percent.

LAS VEGAS, Nevada (NOV. 15) - Four Greenpeace activists, three of them British women, were arrested after they disrupted testing of a British nuclear bomb in the Nevada desert minutes before it was to have exploded, The Washington Post reported Thursday.

Department of Energy spokeswoman Janet Fogg said the four were arrested and would be charged with trespassing, according to the Post.

A Greenpeace spokeswoman identified the four as Juley Howard, 23, Jane Gregory 27, and Lorna Richardson, 25, all of London, and Michael Perry, 27, an American with the Rocky Mountain Peace Center.

The underground test at the desert site, 170 kilometers (105 miles) northwest of Las Vegas, was delayed nearly two hours Wednesday after the small group was spotted by video cameras trained on the ground surface directly above the weapon, seven minutes before the bomb was set to go off.

Technical difficulties had already delayed detonation of the bomb several times.

After the protesters were removed, the weapon was set off. It released no radioactivity, according to the energy department spokeswoman.

The weapon was buried 600 meters (1,900 feet) underground in a shaft filled by concrete. Experts said the upward force of the blast was strong enough to break the legs of anyone standing on the ground directly above it.

TOKYO (NOV. 15) - Australia is urgently probing a Japanese discovery that beef imported from the country contained traces of antibiotics banned by Kanegawa prefecture near Tokyo, the Australian embassy said Thursday.

"Authorities are urgently undertaking an investigation of the feedlot in question to ascertain the cause of the residues," Australian embassy agricultural counsellor Bruce Gosper said in a statement.

"Additional procedures to the existing monitoring program have now been put in place to ensure that all beef from this feedlot is tested for antibiotic residue before it is exported," Mr. Gosper said.

"Any beef containing any antibiotic residue will be rejected for export."

The announcement follows claims by Kanegewa authorities that they had found traces of the antibiotic dihydrostreptomycin as well as a penicillin compound in beef from Australia and the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido.

The first antibiotic can impair hearing while the penicillin compound is used as an anaesthetic. Traces of a third antibiotic were also found in chicken meat imported from China, Kanegawa officials said.

Mr. Gosper said programs to test for antibiotics had been in place in Australia for several years.

"These programs, together with the measures put in place to deal with this incident and concerns in Japan, have been explained to the ministry of health and welfare," he said.

The statement said the use of antibiotics to treat livestock in Australia was subject to strict laws and extensive monitoring.

"Our monitoring program shows that the misuse of antibiotics in Australia is extremely low and compares favourably with those in other beef-producing countries," it said.

Manama (NOV. 15) - A conference of Arab interior ministers, scheduled to be held in Bahrain on December 1-3, has been postponed because of the Gulf crisis it was reported here Thursday.

The Bahrain daily Al Ayam said no new date has been set yet for the conference which was supposed to discuss ways of combating terrorism and achieving peace and stability in the Arab world and draw up a plan to confront the problem of drugs.

The reason for the postponement of the meeting was ''the current situation in the Arab arena arising from the treacherous Iraqi invasion of the state of Kuwait'', it said.

In the meantime, Saudi Arabia's Interior Minister, Prince Nayef bin Abdul Aziz has said the Iraqi aggression against Kuwait cannot continue and underlined the need for the oil emirate to return as ''a free and independent state'' led by exiled Emir, Sheikh Jaber al-Ahmed al-Sabah.

Addressing members of the Mecca Cultural Club in Mecca Wednesday night, Nayef said his country was capable of defending itself against any external threat.

He expressed regret over the failure of all peace efforts to solve the Gulf crisis and blamed what he called Iraq's ''stubbornness'' for this.

BEIJING (NOV. 15) - The Chinese Foreign Ministry on Thursday would not confirm reports that it would veto a United Nations Security Council resolution backing the use of force to dislodge Iraq from Kuwait.

Following Chinese Foreign Minister Qian Qichen's meeting with Iraqi leaders earlier this week, the international media had quoted diplomatic sources as saying China would veto such a measure.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Li Jinhua said Thursday, ''As far as I know, Foreign Minister Qian didn't talk about this matter during his visit to Iraq.''

The U.S., whose troops form the largest contingent in the international force arrayed against Baghdad, has been seeking support for a resolution approving the use of force.

China, one of the five permanent members of the U.N. Security Council, has supported all of the U.N. resolutions on the Gulf crisis but has spoke out against a military solution.

In talks here with Argentine President Carlos Menem Thursday, China's head of state Yang Shangkun reiterated China's position that the Gulf crisis should be ''resolved politically and peacefully''.

JOHANNESBURG (NOV. 15) - A joint working group set up by the South African government and the African National Congress on the ANC's decision to suspend its guerilla war has completed its report, the press said here Thursday.

ANC spokesman Joel Netshitenzhe told the Business Day newspaper the report had been finished after "months of delays" and was being considered by the leadership of the two sides.

The working group (JWG) was appointed under a historic accord reached between the government and the ANC on August 6 -- known as the Pretoria Minute -- aimed at thrashing out details of the ANC's decision to suspend its 29-year guerilla war against the government.

Business Day said although the report may still be modified by either side and possibly referred back to the JWG, the fact that it had been prepared indicated that significant progress had been made in resolving difficult issues such as ANC arms caches.

Other matters where progress had been made, the newspaper said, were recruitment inside South Africa by the ANC's military wing, Umkhonto We Sizwe (MK), and the enforcing of the suspension of the guerilla war.

Under the Pretoria Minute, the JWG was to report some two months ago but was delayed by the government's refusal to renew the indemnity from prosecution of Chris Hani, the leader of the ANC delegation on the JWG.

Mr. Hani, chief-of-staff of MK, was later granted indemnity by the government.

Meanwhile, a row has erupted over remarks made by Foreign Minister Pik Botha in London, where he reportedly said the ANC had agreed on August 6 to point out arms caches or to suspend mass action.

The other deaths occurred in encounters between the security forces and the militants in other parts of the Indian border state that faces Pakistan.

BEIJING (NOV. 15) - Chinese Prime Minister Li Peng and Indonesian President Suharto called here Thursday for the setting up of a supreme Cambodian national council ''under the chairmanship of Prince Sihanouk''.

The formation of the council should be given ''top priority'', the two leaders agreed at their nearly three-hour meeting, according to the Chinese news agency Xinhua.

Thai Prime Minister Chatichai Choonhaven, who is also in Beijing, supported the call. China and Thailand would ''work together towards this objective'', Chatichai was quoted as saying.

During a two-day visit here parallel to Suharto's, the Thai premier has conferred with Chinese head of state Yang Shangkun Yang and Li Peng and the Cambodian prince who is currently staying at his Beijing residence.

Suharto and Li Peng agreed that other issues, such as the vice-chairmanship of the council and the enlarging of its membership should be ''discussed and decided'' by the council itself under Sihanouk.

The rival Cambodian parties have agreed on the creation of a national council as a transitional government, but its exact composition is the key obstacle to progress in Cambodian peace talks.

The Cambodian issue is one of the main topics of Suharto's talks here. He will also be meeting with Sihanouk. From Beijing the Indonesian president is to due to travel to Vietnam.

Cambodia was at the centre, too, of talks here Thursday between Indonesian Foreign Minister Ali Alatas and his Chinese counterpart, Qian Qichen.

Li Peng told Suharto that the recent normalisation of relations between China and Indonesia and the establishment of diplomatic relations between Beijing and Singapore would have a ''very positive impact on solving regional conflicts, the maintenance of peace and stability, and a political solution to the Cambodia problem in particular'', Xinhua said.

BONN (NOV. 15) - The German government and opposition Thursday urged in parliament here every effort to find a peaceful solution to the Gulf crisis.

They also insisted on priority being given to the unconditional release of hostages held in Iraq.

In a 90-minute debate on the Gulf, Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher and elder statesman of the opposition Social Democrats (Spd), Willy Brandt, agreed that firmness in the crisis should be no excuse for political and humanitarian inactivity.

Genscher stressed that the release of foreigners and withdrawal from Kuwait were an Iraqi ''duty''. The world had to use every means for securing a peaceful solution, but it should pay no premium for Baghdad's aggression.

Only after withdrawal from Kuwait would the time come to think about new stable structures in the Middle East, whereby oil-producing countries could wisely invest their wealth.

MOSCOW (NOV. 15) - The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics will become the Union of Sovereign Republics (USR) and be headed by a president and vice-president elected by universal suffrage, according to a draft project of the new union treaty obtained by AFP.

The 24-article treaty affirms the sovereignty of the republics on their territory, adding that these "sovereign-states" will have a "constitutional tribunal" to arbitrate in disputes between them or between them and the centre.

Provisions will be made for the republics -- the number of which is not specified -- to secede from the union or be excluded if they "systematically break the treaty's provisions".

Lithuania -- one of the 15 Soviet republics -- which has already declared independence, has made clear it will not sign the draft treaty.

The draft text, expected to be submitted to the federal Supreme Soviet next week, concentrates on defining the rights and duties of the federal state, whose official language will remain Russian.

The federal state will be responsible for any changes to the federal constitution and will guarantee the rights and freedoms of citizens, by mutual agreement with the republics, the draft says.

But the federal state alone will be responsible for "defence of the borders, state security, national defence involving the use of armed forces, border troops, and special Interior Ministry troops".

JOHANNESBURG (NOV. 15) - Drought-affected South African farmers have begun praying for rain while some have made preparations to leave the land following massive crop failures, agricultural authorities said Thursday.

Economists, meanwhile, estimate that predicted wheat and maize imports to make up for the expected shortfall may cost the country about 500 million rands (195 million dollars).

The worst-affected areas are the maize and wheat belts of Orange Free State (OFS) and Transvaal provinces where the usual spring rains have failed to materialise, leaving farmers unable to plough or to plant.

A crisis meeting to discuss the drought on Wednesday, called in the OFS town of Kroonstad, heard farmers tell how increasing production costs, low profit margins and the drought was forcing them off the land.

Searing temperatures and freak windstorms which had damaged crops were for many the last straw.

According to press reports here, the meeting was opened by a minister who prayed: "Lord, we have our backs to the wall and are down and out. Let it rain."

The government has become increasingly unwilling to bail out unproductive white farmers and a drought-aid package of 60 million rands (23.5 million dollars) to distressed farmers announced this week was described at the meeting as a "drop in the ocean".

This year's wheat crop is expected to total two million tons, which means that to meet local demand at least another 300,000 tons will have to be imported at a cost of about 150 million rands (58.5 million dollars).

Brussels (NOV. 15) - The European Community, under fire for its farm subsidy cut proposal in the ''Uruguay Round'' of world trade talks, stressed Thursday it hopes for a successful conclusion of the talks in Brussels next month.

In a statement issued by the E.C. Council of Ministers, the Community said the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (Gatt) negotiations opposed a cancellation or postponement of the final conference when a new trade treaty is to be signed.

''The date for early December must be maintained so that the Uruguay Round can be brought to a successful conclusion,'' the E.C. said about the planned December 3-7 Gatt ministerial meeting at which the trade accord is to be finalised.

The statement follows on severe criticism from the United States and others among the some 100 Gatt participants of the E.C.'s proposal for only a 30 per cent cut in farm subsidies.

The U.S. and other food exporters are demanding a cut of 75 percent and more in order to remove what they see as competitive distortions caused by farm subsidies.

The issue is certain to be a major topic of discussion in Brussels on Friday when U.S. Secretary of State James Baker meets with the E.C. Commission, Brussels diplomatic sources said.

BUCHAREST (NOV. 15) - Several tens of thousands of people, shouting slogans against the government and communism, demonstrated here Thursday in response to a call from the opposition Civic Alliance.

Similar demonstrations were held in cities across Romania.

The protests were called to commemorate a 1987 workers' revolt in the city of Brasov, considered the first public protest against the former Ceausescu regime, but developed into anti-government protests.

In the capital, demonstrators met at Palace Square, where the late dictator Nicolae Ceausescu was shouted down by a crowd on December 21, 1989, before his downfall and subsequent execution.

Some demonstrators carrying Romanian flags shouted "Down with communism" and "Down with Iliescu," a reference to President Ion Iliescu.

The crowd included youths, students, workers and elderly people.

In Brasov, the November 15 Movement, which includes the Civic Alliance and veterans of the 1987 revolt, announced that it would "recreate the day of November 15, 1987".

In a radio and television address, Mr. Iliescu said economic reform underway would improve living standards. "The ideals of the Brasov protestors in 1987 are becoming reality", he said.

The Brasov revolt began as a demonstration by more than 20,000 workers against the austerity policies of the Ceausescu regime and turned into a riot which resulted in the burning of the mayor's office and the local Communist Party headquarters.

STOCKHOLM (NOV. 15) - Sweden had a trade deficit of 1.1 billion kronor (about 200 million dollars) in October on the basis of provisional data, the Central Statistics Office said here on Thursday.

That reduces the cumulative trade surplus since the start of the year to 12 billion kronor (2.16 billion dollars), the announcement said.

The October shortfall marks a sharp deterioration from the 100-million-kronor figure of the same month last year.

The Office noted that the increase in oil prices since the start of the Gulf crisis had depressed Swedish trade. If oil and maritime traffic were excluded from the accounts, it said, the trade balance actually showed a surplus of 1.3 billion kronor in October, the same as for October last year on the same basis.

October exports amounted to 32 billion kronor, and imports to 33.1 billion. For the first 10 months of the year, exports were up by three per cent and imports by four per cent, bringing the cumulative trade surplus down to 12 billion kronor against 15.6 billion for the same period last year.

The report on the trade deficit came a day after a report of a substantial balance-of-payments deficit for September, 4.4 billion kronor, making a total shortfall of 20.9 billion since the start of the year. That is almost double the total of 11 billion kronor for the first nine months of 1989.

STOCKHOLM (NOV. 15) - The Swedish auto manufacturer Volvo suffered a loss of 193 million kronor (34.7 million dollars) in the nine months up to September after a profit of 6.1 billion kronor (1.1 billion dollars) in the same period last year, the company said Thursday.

Volvo's turnover dropped five per cent to 62.436 billion kronor (11.2 billion dollars), while profit before interest cost stood at 2.257 billion kronor (406 million dollars).

However, with commissions for restructuring costs totalling 2.450 billion kronor, the company's loss was reported at 193 million kronor.

Volvo decided to slow down its car output and axe 5,000 jobs by late 1991 due to tougher competition and slackening demand from July-September, executive director Christer Zetterberg said.

The company sold 284,000 cars during the nine months to September, 8.6 percent less than the same period last year, with losses heaviest in North America (down six percent), Britain (down 12) and the Scandinavian countries (down 13 percent, while sales to Japan rose substantially.

The auto branch reported a turnover of 30.088 billion kronor (5.48 billion dollars), down three percent, and trucks of 17.233 billion kronor (3.1 billion kronor, down four per cent.

Turnover for busses was 2.741 billion kronor (267 million dollars, up seven percent, for ship and industrial engines 2.169 billion kronor (391 million kronor, up two percent, and for aviation 1.480 billion kronor (267 million dollars), down eight percent.

BERLIN (NOV 15) - East Germany's polluted environment should catch up with western German standards by the year 2000, Environment Minister Klaus Topfer said Thursday, as he unveiled a 10-year cleanup program that will require major investment.

Mr. Toepfer said the government had allocated 1.65 million Deutsche marks (1.12 billion dollars) this year to help clean the environment in the former German Democratic Republic, which he described as being in "a partially catastrophic state."

He did not detail proposed outlays for the rest of the programme.

The help had already reduced emissions of sulphur dioxide in east German territory this year by 10.5 percent, or 550,000 tonnes, compared with the 1989 figures, and output of dust by 300,000 tonnes, a fall of 13.5 percent, he said.

Mercury waste, dumped in the River Elbe, had been reduced by a tonne (four percent), and dumping of salts in the River Werra had been slashed by 750,000 tonnes (12 percent), he said.

Pointing to the size of the task facing the government, he said that, of the 16.6 million inhabitants of the five east German states, 9.6 million were drinking poor-quality water and six million breathing air whose sulphur dioxide concentrations were above the maximum allowed in former West Germany.

BAGHDAD (NOV. 15) - A group of U.S. citizens and other Westerners authorized by Iraqi authorities to leave occupied Kuwait will be evacuated by charter flight to the United States via Baghdad on Sunday, diplomatic sources said here Thursday.

The flight, first of its kind to leave Kuwait since October 10, will be restricted to women, children under 18, and people of Arab origin.

Most of the evacuees will be U.S. citizens, but British, Canadian and other nationals will also be eligible within the limits of available capacity, the sources said.

After leaving Baghdad, the Iraqi Airways Boeing 707, which has a capacity of 160, is to stop over in London before continuing on to an unspecified destination in the United States, the sources said.

The new evacuees are mainly people authorized by Iraqi authorities to leave Kuwait in late August, but who preferred at the time to remain.

One diplomat said their change of mind indicated conditions for foreigners in Kuwait were deteriorating.

Baghdad continues to hold hostage some 3,000 Westerners, most of them American and British, as a deterrent against a military offensive.

A total of 2,300 U.S. citizens were evacuated from Kuwait aboard 10 flights over the past three months.

Brussels (NOV. 15) - The European Community commission said here Thursday the situation of refugees from Iraq and Iraqi-occupied Kuwait, who are scattered in several Middle Eastern camps, was under control.

About 710,000 refugees had passed through the camps, mainly in Jordan, since the August 2 Iraqi invasion of Kuwait. Some 5,000 remained in Jordanian refugee camps.

The commisssion said E.C. has financed the repatriation of 130,000 refugees, mainly Egyptians and Asians.

The volume of the community's humanitarian aid for Gulf refugees was about 100 million Ecu (136 million dollars), or 30 per cent of the international aid package, it said. The aid programme would continue till the end of November.

About 8,000 Vietnamese refugees would leave camps in Turkey and be flown home during the coming days, the commission said.

BRUSSELS (NOV 15) - European Economic Community (EEC) ministers, striking a conciliatory tone, said here Thursday that they were ready for serious trade negotiations.

Their statement followed a series of recent warnings from all sides in the Uruguay Round of trade talks that the negotiations were in trouble because of a refusal to compromise.

Italian Trade Minister Renato Ruggiero told journalists after a meeting of EEC trade ministers that they were ready for "serious and concrete" negotiations on trade liberalisation, particularly for agriculture.

In a statement, the ministers agreed on the need to respect the deadline for the four-year Uruguay Round, which is due to end at a week-long General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) conference here starting December 3.

Mr. Ruggiero said the EEC's controversial offer on cutting subsidies for farmers, made earlier this month, was not a "take it or leave it" proposal. But he added: "That does not mean that we have a big margin of manoeuvre."

The ministers said that while considerable difficulties were blocking "indispensable compromises", they had the political will for tough negotiations and counted on the same "constructive spirit" among others.

ABOARD USS O'BRIEN (NOV. 15) - The flotilla of international warships enforcing U.N.-imposed economic sanctions against Baghdad have effectively shut down all of Iraq's seaborne trade, the U.S. Navy's chief of naval operations said Thursday.

Admiral Frank Kelso II, speaking to reporters during a tour of the U.S. destroyer USS O'Brien, said the U.S.-dominated armada patrolling the waters around the Arabian peninsula had been "very effective in stopping seaborne traffic." "It appears to me that all seaborne traffic (to and from Iraq) has been stopped," he said.

Answering questions from sailors on the deck of the destroyer, Adm. Kelso added: "Whether (the embargo) works or not to the extent that everybody would like...that hasn't been seen yet."

The admiral, whose stop on the O'Brien was part of a tour U.S. warships and naval installations in the Gulf, said President George Bush's decision to send three additional aircraft carriers to the Gulf "adds considerably to naval capability to project power."

"We have fundamentally doubled the capabilities we had," he said. "You have doubled your firepower." With the arrival of three more aircraft carriers, the United States will have a total of six in the Gulf region.

Adm. Kelso refused to answer questions concerning a joint U.S.-Saudi exercise which began Thursday and is to include an amphibious landing on Saudi beaches south of Iraqi-occupied Kuwait. Iraq has said the exercise, dubbed "Imminent Thunder," is a "flagrant provocation."

Adm. Kelso told U.S. sailors and Coast Guard personnel on the forward deck of the O'Brien that "the American people appreciate what you are doing." "We are not going to put up with people taking other people's homes and land for their own gain," he said.

Asked by a sailor whether U.S. warships would return to their home ports after six months, the usual practice, Adm. Kelso said there "are going to be some pertubations in the schedule."

"You've got to look at this crisis as what it is - a crisis," he said. Officers said the O'Brien has made about 370 challenges to merchant ships since it arrived in the Gulf on September 1.

TUNIS (NOV 15) EFE - Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) leader Yasser Arafat said Thursday the Iraeli-Palestinian conflict was at the root of the current Gulf crisis.

Arafat made the statement in a speech, reported by the Palestinian news agency

WAFA, marking the second anniversary of his proclamation of an independent Palestinian state.

"Palestine and its cause are at the center of the international crisis in the Gulf ... everyone has begun to recognise that it is the base of all crises" in the region, he said.

Arafat, who has established a Palestinian government-in-exile in Tunisia, said the PLO's aim was "to end all conflicts in the zone and to press the international community to take the road to a just and global peace to avoid destructive war."

Since the Gulf crisis broke, Iraq's President Saddam Hussein has hinted a solution could be reached by linking Iraq's occupation of Kuwait with Israel's control of the Occupied Territories.

The PLO is one of the four members of the Arab League who voted against a resolution condemning Iraq's August 2 invasion of Kuwait.

Arafat on Thursday criticized the build up of the U.S.-led multinational forces in the Gulf which are considering a possible military strike against Iraq if it refuses to leave Kuwait.

"Those intending to attack Iraq, its power and its technological development have not limited themselves to that. They are starving the Iraqi people and its children to control its oil resources, oil prices and reserves," he said.

Vienna (NOV. 15) EFE - The Romanian government security forces throughout the country to prepare for civil unrest Thursday in commemoration of a 1987 worker's revolt, Romanian news agency Rompress reported.

Trade unions have organized demonstrations against the National Salvation Front (NSF) government in at least a dozen Romanian cities in commemoration of a 1987 anti-communist workers' revolt in the city of Brasov.

The Interior Ministry has warned that protesters are preparing acts of provocation, Rompress said.

In November 1987, the workers of Brasov, 225 km north of Bucharest, launched a demonstration against harsh social conditions imposed by the communist regime of former dictator Nicolae Ceausescu.

Dozens were killed, hundreds arrested, and Brasov town hall was torched.

In Bucharest Thursday several hundred supporters of the opposition Free

Democrat party took to the streets to call for the removal President Ion Iliescu and his NSF government, which opposers have called a quasi-communist regime.

The government's forecast of civil disturbances comes a day after thousands of protesters in the city of Bacau, 250 km north of the capital, demonstrated against price rises and poverty.

MADRID (NOV. 15) - Bank of Spain governor Mariano Rubio said Thursday that interest rates will not be lowered until "the current inflationary tensions clearly change".

Rubio said the central bank will make no decision on a possible expansion of credit until the end of this year, and that a restrictive monetary policy would continue to be necessary in 1991.

Despite the Bank of Spain's tight money policy, consumer prices rose 6.4 percent in the first ten months of this year, more than the government's January 1990 prediction of inflation for the whole year.

The interbank interest rate is over 14.6 percent.

BUENOS AIRES (NOV 15) EFE - Argentine Vice President Eduardo Duhalde predicted failure for a nationwide protest called for Thursday by the anti-government faction of the powerful Peronist trade union federation.

"People want to help the government to escape from the crisis, which is why the protest will not have the hoped-for participation," Duhalde said.

The Azopardo faction of the General Confederation of Labor (CGT) has called the protest to show opposition to the government's economic policies, especially the widespread privatization of state enterprises.

The event is to consist of rallies in several cities, including a demonstration planned for the Plaza de Mayo in front of the presidential palace in the capital at 3 p.m. (1700 GMT).

"I say that nowadays the Azopardo-CGT does not represent the people. We will see who is right," Duhalde said.

The CGT split in 1989 into the Azopardo faction, led by former CGT head Saul Ubaldini, and the CGT-San Martin, which supports President Carlos Menem.

The CGT has traditionally been tied to the Justicialist (Peronist) Party now led by Menem.

Ubaldini's CGT faction, which includes most state employee unions, has planned the rallies with the backing of the Communist Party, dissident Peronist legislators and center-left deputies.

Duhalde said Argentines backed the 13 general strikes carried out by the CGT during the 1983-1989 presidency of Raul Alfonsin, but would not support a protest now.

Protest organizers have scheduled the rallies for late afternoon to enable state workers to attend the demonstrations after work.

Menem has decreed tough limits on the right of public employees to strike.

On Tuesday, the 250,000-strong Metalworkers Union pulled out of the CGT-Azopardo group, arguing that workers should negotiate with the government instead of going ahead with the protest.

The privatization program, begun by Menem's 16-month-old government to reign in rampant inflation, is expected to put some 200,000 state workers out of work.

Unemployment is already at 17.9 per cent of the 12-million workforce.

DOLORES, ARGENTINA (NOV. 15) EFE - Thirty-seven Argentine prisoners and 16 prison officers were injured during a riot at a jail south of Buenos Aires, officials said Thursday.

The prison riot in the town of Dolores, 200 km from the capital, was sparked late Wednesday by the removal of three inmates to a solitary confinement block Buenos Aires prison service inspector Juan Carlos Gallol said.

About 50 inmates began shouting and banging their cell doors in protest, but the unrest appeared to have been headed off when prison governor Mario Echeverria promised to review the cases of the three inmates who had been confined for disciplinary reasons.

But Gallol said that as soon as the governor departed inmates took over the block, began breaking down cell doors and setting fire to their beds.

Echeverria ordered prison officers to quell the riot with rubber bullets and tear gas grenades, but inmates responded with a hail of metal objects.

The riot did not end until Thursday morning when inmates voluntarily returned to their cells.

FALLS CHURCH, VA (NOV. 15) MCS - A SAMPLING OF TODAY'S COMMENTARY COMPILED BY MARKET CONSENSUS SURVEYS, INC. IN TWO SECTIONS (1) STOCKS (2) MONEY & ECONOMY.

IN THE NEWS:

The Nikkei drops 450 points. ... In London, stocks are higher - the FTSE up 15.5 points in early afternoon trading. ... U.S. stocks in London are down slightly with the EXMI off 55 cents. ... The dollar is mixed, higher against the mark and the sterling. ... The long bond is yielding 8.52% in overnight trading. ... North Sea crude is up 50 cents at $32.00. ... DONALD TRUMP asks to meet with bondholders in a bid to avoid a Chapter 11 bankruptcy filing for his TAJ MAHAL CASINO. and TIME WARNER sign a two-year marketing accord giving the auto maker access to the media company's various outlets for an estimated $30 million to $40 million. ... Sales of domestically built cars and light trucks rose by 3.2% in early November.

WHAT'S AHEAD:

The COMMERCE DEPARTMENT releases business inventories today at 10 a.m. EST. Analysts are anticipating a rise of 0.5%. ... The judge in the case says MICHAEL MILKEN will be sentenced next week, but she set no specific date. ... CARL ICHAN plans to renew his proxy challenge against USX unless the company restructures.

FROM THE BULLS:

Look for a 40% market gain over the next year. That's the forecast of the econometric model used by NORMAN FOSSBACK of the "Mutual Fund Forecaster." He says mutual fund cash reserves are at their highest level in eight years and recent buying by corporate insiders outweighs selling by nine-to-one. Fossback says there is more good news to come as the Fed moves to avert recession: "The biggest risk in [this] market is missing the big rally when it comes." (CNBC "World Business", 11/15)

GENE SEAGLE at GRUNTAL AND CO. is sticking by his prediction that the Dow will reach 2650 or 2700 by the end of November. "For one thing, I feel we formed a major bottom," he says. "We had a climatic drop on Aug. 23 ... in that we had over 700 new lows, we had one new high, we've had less and less of that as we've gone along, so the downside momentum has lessened. ... Markets do not turn up from tops in the economy, the market comes up out of recessionary types of economies." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/14)

"Every bull market starts with an uptick," says MICHAEL METZ of OPPENHEIMER. "Maybe this is the real thing." (NYT, 11/15)

FROM THE BEARS:

Brief and sharp rallies are characteristics of a bear market, says BOB NUROCK, who thinks sentiment indicators do not yet indicate the aggressive pessimism of a market bottom. "We continue to suggest a cautious and defensive approach. ... Both financial and economic risks remain high," he writes in "Bob Nurock's Advisory." Nurock believes the technical picture is deteriorating again and much of the good news, such as lower interest rates, has already been discounted by the market. "We suggest modest net long exposure, holding about 75% in cash reserves." (CNBC "World Business", 11/15)

"We recognize the market was due for a technical bounce," says WILLIAM KUFTA, manager of about $1.2 billion of investments at PITCAIRN FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT. "But we still think the fundamentals haven't changed dramatically. We think the recession has further and deeper to go, and this is just a trading rally." Mr. Kufta is content to have 40% of his portfolio in cash for now. (WSJ, 11/15)

STOCK MARKET:

"The rally looks increasingly real - it wasn't just programs that did it, although there was some index arbitrage during the afternoon [yesterday]," says chief institutional trader DAVID MACK at COWEN AND CO. "Gains were fairly across-the-board. It seems people are increasingly afraid of being under-invested." ("The Washington Post", 11/15)

"The background momentum, the background sentiment, even the trading cycles are still a good and positive influence on the market, so I would be inclined to look for further follow through to this rally," says technical analyst WALTER MURPHY at MERRILL LYNCH. (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/14)

"People are coming to the realization about oil, and with a slowing economy giving the Federal Reserve some breathing room, that's producing a strong reflex bounce in stocks," says A.C. MOORE, director of research at ARGUS RESEARCH. While there is room for even further gains in coming weeks, there are some important constraints on how long the rally can last. "Stock prices are a function of interest rates and earnings, and while the interest rate part of the equation is working favorably, the earning part of the equation isn't good," says Moore. He predicts that stock prices will fall after the New Year as investors focus on disappointing fourth-quarter profits and further evidence of a recession. (WSJ, 11/15)

"If [a fall in] oil prices did encourage the market, and certainly it did ... certainly the market was not disappointed by the lack of evidence of a Fed ease," says BRIAN FABBRI of MIDLAND MONTAGU. Thursday, "oil prices could easily dominate, especially if the market can't detect Fed ease." (FNN "Marketwrap", 11/14)

The current market rally is "partially an interest-rate play - people still expect the Fed to lower interest rates sometime this week, even though the Fed didn't act [yesterday]," says KENNETH DUCEY, chief trader at S.G. WARBURG. "There have been some buy programs, but there's been a solid underpinning of cash buying all along." ("The Washington Post", 11/15)

"My instinct of 30 years in the market tells me the market has made a bottom," says ALFRED GOLDMAN of A.G. EDWARDS. He says stocks have been buffeted by waves of bad news, but "has discounted most of it." Goldman says investors should not "chase" stocks, but rather buy on "pullbacks." ("Investor's Daily" 11/15)

"Actually, [Wednesday] was a weak day," according to LAZSLO BIRINYI, president of BIRINYI ASSOCIATES. "We had nowhere near the quality of buying we had earlier in the week." (NYT, 11/15)

STOCK TIPS:

Drug stocks tend to undergo a metamorphosis during a recession, turning from market leaders to laggards, says MARY ELLEN McCARTHY of SHEARSON LEHMAN BROTHERS. "They're sold to raise cash at the start of recessions. And in anticipation of the economy rebounding, they're sold as investors switch to cyclicals, hoping for bigger gains." McCarthy's advice to investors: Use market downturns to buy

BRISTOL-MYERS SQUIBB and PFIZER, and sell MERCK and LILLY on rallies. ("USA Today", 11/15)

"I still like the food stocks, I still like the health stocks, I like the big Blue Chip stocks that have good international connections and I like some of the secondary high-tech stocks," says GENE SEAGLE at GRUNTAL AND CO. "I'm talking about IBM in particular because I think IBM is turning into a leader for this market. ... Technically, IBM breaking through 110 to me [means] it is headed for at least 120." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/14)

OPPENHEIMER & CO. recommends buying stock in SHONEY'S INC., a restaurant operator with 924 franchises in 32 states. The company's earnings are expected to grow 26% in 1992 as the company adds new products to its menu and expands by opening 105 franchised units in fiscal 1991 and 140 in fiscal 1992. FALLS CHURCH, VA (NOV. 15) MCS - A SAMPLING OF TODAY'S COMMENTARY COMPILED

BY MARKET CONSENSUS SURVEYS, INC. IN TWO SECTIONS (1) STOCKS (2) MONEY & ECONOMY.

MONEY & CREDIT:

"The basic tone is bearish for the dollar," says EARL JOHNSON of HARRIS TRUST & SAVINGS. He blames "adverse interest rates and the U.S. economy" for that weakness. He says the greenback has been hurt by the strength of the mark, which has benefitted from reunification. ("Investor's Daily", 11/15)

"Everyone is favoring the mark," says BERND BECKER, vice president and chief dealer at OESTERREICHISCHE LAENDERBANK in New York. But the market apparently sees "no reason to buy the dollar except to take profit." (WSJ, 11/15)

"It's up to the Fed right now to avoid a more serious downturn in the economy " says STEPHEN GALLAGHER of KIDDER, PEABODY. "In order to avert a problem, the Fed has got to be a little bit more accommodative," says Gallagher. He says the Fed will continue to lower short-term rates. (FNN "Marketwrap", 11/14)

"I think the Fed will ease," says ALFRED GOLDMAN of A.G. EDWARDS. "They have no other choice." He thinks the rise in the fed funds rate yesterday was merely due to the volatility of settlement day. ("Investor's Daily", 11/15)

"I think they [the FEDERAL OPEN MARKET COMMITTEE] probably eased monetary policy, but they put a time delay on it, because they did not do something very obvious ... which was to provide a signal they had eased," says CHARLES LIEBERMAN at MANUFACTURERS HANOVER SECURITIES. "I suspect they are probably going to do it [today] or Friday. ... I think there will be another easing before year-end." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/14)

"A potential time frame for a further policy easing" might be established by tomorrow's October consumer prices report, according to ELLIOTT PLATT of DONALDSON, LUFKIN & JENRETTE. If the report does not show signs of increasing inflation, "the Fed would ease by reducing the funds rate" by a quarter point. ("Investor's Daily", 11/15)

Remaining is cash "is not that big of a sacrifice," says WILLIAM SULLIVAN, director of money-market research at DEAN WITTER REYNOLDS INC. Although many market forecasters believe interest rates will fall further, "we're nowhere near the level where people feel they're sacrificing too much." (WSJ, 11/15)

If the Federal Reserve eases interest rates further, as many expect, short-term rates could drop sharply in the weeks ahead, says CHARLES CLOUGH, chief investment strategist at MERRILL LYNCH & CO. Investors who remain in money funds will see their returns drop accordingly. Thus, he says, people should be shifting to longer-term investments. (WSJ, 11/15)

What do bondholders get if they push the TRUMP TAJ MAHAL into bankruptcy? "At the end of the day, the bondholders are going to get most of the equity in the company - they are going to own the casino," says ANDREW HERENSTEIN, senior analyst with the DELAWARE BAY COMPANY. In the current economic climate, the casino is worth $300-

400 million dollars says Herenstein, but bondholders are owed $700 million. (CNN "Business Day", 11/15)

THE ECONOMY:

"The U.S. entered a recession sometime in the middle of September," according to STEPHEN GALLAGHER of KIDDER, PEABODY. He looks for three quarters of negative growth, with the worst being this fourth quarter, where he looks for a negative two percent growth. He says small companies are having "problems raising funds to conduct their businesses," and he says that credit crunch could make a mild recession more severe. (FNN "Marketwrap", 11/14)

"This is the first recession we have predicted since 1982," says RICHARD RAHN, chief economist for THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. He blames the Fed and the "horrible budget bill" for causing the recession. He says by the first quarter of next year, growth will be around -1 1/2% and unemployment may reach as high as 7%. (CNN "Moneyline", 11/14)

"It will be a very bleak Christmas," predicts ALLEN SINAI, chief economist at BOSTON CO. "Unfortunately, the worst of the downturn [in the economy] is occurring close to the Christmas season." ROSALIND WELLS, chief economist of the NATIONAL RETAIL FEDERATION, disagrees. She says, "A lot of analysts are going over on the gloomy side about Christmas. I don't think it will be a very good Christmas, but I'm not looking for a disaster either ... Barring some disaster, people will get out there to buy their Christmas gifts." (WSJ, 11/15)

Retail sales grew just 0.1% due to gasoline prices. "It stinks, pure and simple, and proves that the public is in a mood to conserve money rather than spend," says KURT BARNARD, publisher of "Barnard's Retail Marketing Report." "But it's no surprise coming after last week's results from major retailers." ("The Washington Post", 11/15)

Retail revenue accounts for half of all consumer spending, so Wednesday's report "is one more nail in the coffin of the economy's eight-year expansion," says IRWIN KELLNER, chief economist at MANUFACTURERS HANOVER TRUST. KIM RUPPERT, economist at consultants MMS INTERNATIONAL, explains, "As people cut back on spending, businesses will have no reason to up their production schedules because demand won't be there for their goods." ("USA Today", 11/15)

"Holiday sales are going to be pretty lousy," says BRUCE STEINBERG of MERRILL LYNCH CAPITAL MARKETS. "Compared to Christmases past, it's just not going to look very good." (NYT, 11/15)

"Retail sales [are] fairly sluggish, showing that consumers are not making many purchases," says CHRISTOPHER RUPKEY of MITSUBISHI BANK. "Consumer sentiment is down to the lowest level since the 1981-82 recession." (FNN "Marketwrap", 11/14)

The retail sales number "does suggest that consumers are being quite cautious " says ROBERT GAY of MORGAN STANLEY. "They aren't freewheeling in their spending." (FNN "Marketwrap", 11/14)

PRESIDENT BUSH's assurances to Congress that war was not imminent brought about a nearly two dollar decline in the price of oil. "It was like a switch was thrown," says B&C TRADING's JOHN GERAGHTY. "The market tumbled, and the move down accelerated as the wave of selling grew." ("Investor's Daily", 11/15)

Japan's trade surplus with the world continues to trend downward as the government encourages the consumption of imported, lower priced goods. "The Japanese economy has grown quite a bit through domestic investment," says PETER DAVIES, v-p for international equities at NOMURA SECURITIES. "Now they would like to increase their consumption as a fuel to economic growth." (CNBC "World Business", 11/15)

#90319p7132 11/15/1990 ~PR Newswire

SPOKANE, WASH. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Inland Gold and Silver Corp. (NASDAQ: INGS) today reported a net loss of $1,093,531, or 8 cents per share, from sales of $795,655 for the third quarter ended Sept. 30. The company had net income of $381,216, or 3 cents per share, from sales of $4,922,200 during the same period in 1989.

The net loss is primarily attributable to the inclusion of approximately $974,000 of additional deferred costs associated with ore being leached included in cost of sales and other direct production costs. These additional costs resulted from a revision of the estimated number of recoverable ounces of gold contained on the leach pad at Sept. 30.

General and administrative expenses for the third quarter ended Sept. 30 totaled $230,901 as compared to $129,614 in 1989. This increase is directly attributed to a buildup of administrative and technical personnel.

The net loss for the nine months ended Sept. 30 was $338,294, or 3 cents per share, as compared to net income of $321,292, or 2 cents per share, for the same period last year.

Gold production of approximately 11,600 ounces is expected to be realized during 1990. Gold bullion being held in inventory as of Sept. 30 was approximately 9,800 ounces of which 5,000 and 2,000 ounces are committed for delivery on Feb. 1 and April 1, 1991, at $405.75 per ounce and $423.25 per ounce, respectively. These forward sales will generate gross cash proceeds of $2,028,750 and $846,500 respectively.

Mining operations continued at the company's Toiyabe property, now enlarged to approximately 34,000 acres, during the third quarter of 1990, and ceased on Sept. 14, 1990. Leaching and processing, however, continued throughout the third quarter, and are expected to continue through the fourth quarter of 1990 and most of 1991.

Inland's chief executive officer, James F. Etter, stated, "Even with gold prices at disappointing levels, and the accumulation of increasing costs from the amortization of developmental assets in our gold inventories, sales of production from our Toiyabe Mine will continue to provide a strong cash base for which to evaluate and acquire other production opportunities. In addition we are currently negotiating with certain major mining companies to fund an aggressive exploration campaign on our Toiyabe property."

The company's 34,000 acre Toiyabe property, located in Nevada, has yielded approximately 73,500 ounces of gold to date with production ongoing. In addition, Inland owns a 50 percent interest in the Big Blackfoot property near Lincoln, Mont. Big Blackfoot contains approximately 100,000 ounces of mineable gold reserves. In addition, the company is engaged in a joint venture exploration project near Republic, Wash., and has acquired an exclusive lease agreement on a 2,160 acre property located 4-1/2 miles from FMC Gold Co.'s Paradise Peak Mine.

GLASTONBURY, CONN. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - DataImage, Inc. (NASDAQ: DATA) of Glastonbury announced today financial results for the three-month and nine-month periods ended Sept. 30, 1990.

For the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, DataImage had total revenues of $1,118,922 compared to $585,965 for the same period a year ago, an increase of 91 percent. Despite this revenue increase, DataImage reported a small loss for the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990 of $4,652 (or a net loss of 0 cents per share) which compares to net income of $13,171 (or net income per share of 1 cent) for the similar period in 1989.

For the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, DataImage had total revenues of $2,452,886 compared to $2,328,535 for the same period a year ago, an increase of 5 percent. The net loss for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990 was $292,733 (or a net loss of 17 cents per share) which compares to net income of $133,028 (or net income per share of 9 cents) for the similar period in 1989.

Backlog as of Nov. 14, 1990 was approximately $749,000. The increase in total revenues for the third quarter of 1990 compared to the third quarter of 1989 was due to a 69 percent increase in system sales and a 691 percent increase in service revenues. The gross profit for the third quarter 1990 was $357,288, an increase 52 percent compared to the third quarter of 1989. The 5 percent increase in total revenues for the first nine months of 1990 compared to the same period in 1989 was due principally to an increase in service revenues. The gross profit for the first nine months of 1990 was $759,651, a decrease of 6 percent from the gross profit for the comparable period of 1989.

An operating loss from continuing operations of $15,689 for the third quarter 1990 was a slight improvement compared to an operating loss from continuing operations of $53,424 for the comparable period in 1989. Despite an increase in total revenues of 91 percent for third quarter of 1990, the operating loss is primarly attributable to the 29 percent increase in selling, general and administrative (SG&A) expenses in the third quarter of 1990 over the comparable quarter in 1989 and to a decrease in the gross profit margin. The improvement in the SG&A expenses as a percentage of total revenues from 43 percent for the third quarter of 1989 to 29 percent for the third quarter of 1990 is attributable largely to the increase in total revenues in the third quarter 1990 and the cost containment measures adopted by the company on June 30, 1990. An operating loss from continuing operations of $361,327 for the first nine months of 1990 is attributable principally to the increase of $440,941 in SG&A expenses over the comparable quarter in 1989 coupled with the decline in the gross profit margin.

As a systems integrator of hardware and software components, DataImage, Inc. designs, assembles, installs and maintains image-processing systems. The company's image-processing system electronically captures, indexes, manages, files, retrieves, and re-files text, data and images (non-computerized information). Since July 1987, DataImage has sold more than 35 systems to corporate customers including Fortune 500 companies, financial institutions, insurance companies and a regional brokerage house.

MT. VERNON, NY (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Michael Anthony Jewelers, Inc. (AMEX: MAJ), today reported that its net sales for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, rose 21 percent to $25,031,000 from $20,638,000 in the comparable quarter last year. The increase in sales is attributable to the company's acquisition of the Jardinay manufacturing operations.

Net earnings for the quarter increased 15 percent to $595,000 as compared to $516,000 a year ago, although earnings per share remained unchanged at $.10 per share due to an increase in the weighted average number of shares.

Michael Paolercio, president and chief executive officer of Michael Anthony Jewelers, Inc., commented that the increase in earnings from continuing operations not only reflects the company's improved gross margins (19 percent in this quarter, as compared to 16 percent in the comparable fiscal quarter), but also the integration of the Jardinay manufacturing operations which were purchased from Berisford International PLC in July 1990.

Paolercio also commented that the company's financial position continues to strengthen with the addition of $3,480,000 to stockholders' equity resulting from the purchase of 870,000 shares by Isaac Nussen and George Weisz, two executives of Jardinay. Stated Paolercio, "We have now positioned Michael Anthony Jewelers as one of the leaders in jewelry manufacturing in the United States."

STERLING, VA. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Star Technologies, Inc. (NASDAQ: STRR) today announced revenue of $7.9 million for the second quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared with $8.9 million for the same prior-year period. The company reported a net loss of $256,000, or a loss of 4 cents per share, compared with a net loss of $1.4 million, or a loss of 9 cents per share, for the second quarter last year.

For the six months, revenue totaled $16.6 million, compared with $19 million reported for the first half a year ago. The company reported a net loss of $225,000 for the first six months, or a loss of 5 cents per share, compared with a net loss of $1.2 million, or a loss of 8 cents per share, for the same prior-year period.

The company said that revenue for the second quarter of last year was higher than the current year as a result of a $1.1 million product shipment under a classified defense contract. Despite lower revenue levels this year, the company achieved near break-even results for the quarter, a dramatic improvement over the second quarter of the previous year. This improvement resulted from major capital restructuring which reduced interest expense and cost reduction actions taken during last year.

In May 1990, the company announced a $15 million recapitalization program. The proceeds of this private equity placement were used by the company to retire debt and for working capital to support the market introduction of two innovative product families. As a result of the recapitalization, interest expense during the quarter declined 72 percent compared with the same period last year.

The quarter's earnings were also positively impacted by operating expense reductions implemented during the previous year, including a 24 percent decrease in research and development expenditures, as the company nears the completion of the development cycle for these new products. In addition, increased manufacturing efficiencies and an improved product mix contributed to higher gross margins, up from 47 to 56 percent, despite the decline in revenue.

DAVIS, CALIF. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Calgene Inc. (NASDAQ: CGNE) today announced a net loss of $3,642,000 (34 cents per share) on revenues of $4,902,000 for the first quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990. This compares with a net loss of $2,944,000 (33 cents per share) on revenues of $6,870,000 during the like period last year.

Research and development expenditures for the quarter were $2,542,000, a decrease of 16 percent from the prior year's $3,034,000. Product sales for the company's operating businesses were $3,191,000 compared to $3,732,000 during the like period of the previous year. Product development revenues were $1,120,000 compared to last year's $2,486,000.

"The reduced product development revenues reflect the completion of the research phase of certain of our genetic engineering programs and a one-time sale of technology to a corporate partner for non-core crop applications which occurred in the prior fiscal period," said Roger Salquist, chairman and chief executive officer of Calgene. "In anticipation of this, we took steps last June to reduce our non-core programs which resulted in lower year-to-year R &

D expense. Even with these reductions, we continue to invest in our research and development programs at an annualized rate in excess of $12 million.

"The product development phase of the first of our genetically engineered products, FLAVR SAVR(TM) tomatoes and herbicide-safened cotton reached new milestones with the successful harvest of field trials this fall. Our five-year investment in oils biochemistry research has resulted over the last six months in the completed cloning of three important genes and initiation of the final cloning stages for yet another gene, all of which are essential to the synthesis of specific plant oils," said Salquist.

Canola Subsidy Payments Under 1990 Farm Bill "We experienced a doubling of sales this year at Ameri-Can, our canola seed subsidiary, reflecting the substantial momentum canola is generating as an alternative to winter wheat for U.S. acreage," noted Salquist. "This occurred prior to the finalization of the 1990 farm bill which in future seasons will eliminate the economic penalty growers producing canola have experienced up to now."

Under the existing farm program established by the 1985 Farm Bill, growers are entitled to receive subsidy payments only on acres planted with program crops, including winter wheat, but not acres planted with canola and other "non-program" crops. Under the 1990 Farm Bill now awaiting presidential signature, growers planting canola on acreage eligible for wheat subsidies would receive 92 percent of the payments they would otherwise receive producing winter wheat.

Calgene Inc., is an agribusiness biotechnology company that is developing improved plant varieties and plant products for the seed, food and specialty chemical industries. The company has five operating subsidiaries -- Ameri-Can Pedigreed Seed Co., Calgene Chemical, NobleBear Inc., Plant Genetics Inc. and Stoneville Pedigreed Seed Co.

OCALA, FLA. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Mid-State Federal Savings Bank (NASDAQ-NMS: MSSB) is implementing a staff reduction program that is expected to reduce salary and benefit expense by approximately $925,000 per year. Mid-State Federal will incur approximately $200,000 in severance costs during the current quarter as a result of the program.

Charles E. Harris, chairman of the board of Mid-State Federal, said that the staff reductions involved 18 executive and staff positions which were scheduled to be phased out upon completion of the pending acquisition of Mid-State Federal by First Florida Banks, Inc. (NASDAQ: FFBK). Harris said that the staff reductions were not dependent upon the acquisition, and would be completed even if the acquisition were delayed or terminated.

"The streamlined management and reduced expenses that will result from these staff reductions make sound business sense in the current economic enivronment regardless of the acquisition," Harris said. "If the acquisition occurs as proposed, these positions would be eliminated by First Florida. If the acquisition is delayed or terminated for some reason, we would still plan to eliminate the positions in order to improve management and profitability," Harris added.

Harris said that the proposed acquisition of Mid-State Federal by First Florida remains pending. He indicated that the transaction has been approved by the stockholders of Mid-State Federal and by the Office of Thrift Supervision but it is still subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, including the receipt of approvals from the office of the Comptroller of the Currency and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. Harris said that, while he continues to hope that all approvals will be received and conditions satisfied in time for the transaction to be consummated by year-end 1990, he is increasingly concerned that delays could occur in the receipt of the remaining approvals and the consummation of the acquisition. He added that no assurances could be given that all necessary approvals or conditions will be received or satisfied.

Mid-State Federal is a publicly held, federally insured and federally chartered stock savings bank with its common stock traded over-the-counter and quoted on the NASDAQ National Market System under the symbol "MSSB". With its home office in Ocala, Fla., the thrift has assets of just under $1 billion and operates 26 branch offices within a five county area in west Central Florida.

DENVER (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Coral Companies Inc. (NASDAQ: COCI) announced today the successful independent third party review of Profile 90 on the Unisys 6080. The work by Promark Inc., a specialist in third party review, showed that Profile 90 will simultaneously handle 200 interactive terminals with an order throughput of 2,500 completed orders per hour on a fully configured Unisys 6080.

Paul Lionti, president and CEO of Coral Cos. said, "The successful benchmark of Profile 90 is significant. Coral was in a position of attempting to put our software on a hardware vendor's machine that did not perform according to specification. This situation hurt Coral's financial position. Now that the software has been independently exonerated, Coral can proceed with its original corporate plan."

"For example," Lionti said, "the results of the benchmark has allowed Coral and the Inmac Corp. (NASDAQ: INMC) the world's largest independent direct marketers of computer supplies, accessories and data communication equipment, to get back on schedule." Software completion will occur on Jan. 31, 1991. The Santa Clara office of Inmac will be the first to go live with Profile 90, with the next installation occurring in Bracknell, England. Thereafter, the remaining six Inmac countries, France, Germany, Italy, Sweden, Japan and Holland will go live until all are connected to the system. Coral renegoatiated the sales contract with Inmac which will generate, by Jan. 31, 1991, additional consulting revenue of approximately $830,000 above the original contractual amount. Coral has recognized approximately one-half of these revenues to date.

The initial agreement with Inmac calls for the purchase of an approximately $2 million computer system for installation in the U.S. and the United Kingdom. Subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, INMAC plans to purchase up to an additional $3.2 million of systems from Coral for installation abroad.

Coral Cos., based in Denver, specializes in the global marketing of hardware and software business solutions to companies involved in distribution, direct ANCHORAGE, ALASKA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - General Communication Inc. (GCI) (NASDAQ: GNCMA) today reported a consolidated net income for the third quarter of 1990 totaling $175,000, or 1 cent per share. This compares with third quarter 1989 net income of $590,000, or 4 cents per share. Net income for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30 totaled $749,000, or 5 cents per share, compared with $1,062,000 during the same period of 1989, or 6 cents per share.

Year-to-date revenues through September 1990 totaled $47,138,000, a 24 percent increase over 1989 revenues of $38,100,000. Revenues for the third quarter of 1990 totaled $15,965,000, a 19 percent increase over third quarter 1989 revenues of $13,438,000.

Operating income through September 1990 totaled $2,949,000 as compared to 1989 operating income of $4,559,000. Operating income for the third quarter of 1990 totaled $894,000 as compared to third quarter 1989 operating income of $1,541,000.

Jack Hughes, GCI's senior vice president for marketing and sales, attributed the substantial improvement in revenues to increases in minutes of traffic carried and growth in private line operations, additional revenues associated with operating agreements with other common carriers, and additional revenues associated with the equipment sales and service operations of the company's wholly owned subsidiary, Transalaska Network Systems Inc.

Operating income and net income decreased in 1990 as compared to 1989 as a result of increases in operating costs attributed to network expansion efforts and transmission revenue growth, and additional legal and regulatory costs associated with the company's effort to gain authority to provide intrastate services. In general, the company has added personnel and capacity in order to position itself to take advantage of future growth opportunities.

GCI, an Alaska-owned and operated long distance telephone carrier, has more than 80,000 customers throughout Alaska.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - American Plastics and Chemicals Inc. (NASDAQ: APAC) today announced that it has signed an agreement to acquire the Acme Power Plant located in Sheridan, Wyoming. The purchase, which is being made for an undisclosed amount, will be accomplished through notes and a profits interest participation.

The Acme facility is a twelve megawatt coal-fired steam plant and formerly a base-loaded plant for Montana-Dakota Utilities Co. It has been inactive since 1977 when it was taken off-line in anticipation of new nuclear generating capacity in the service area. APAC has formed Acme Power Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary, which will bring the Acme Plant up to current environmental standards with appropriate emission controls prior to putting it back on-line. The plant will initially operate in a conventional mode, using local purchased coal.

"In addition to providing a steady revenue stream for APAC through electric power sales, the modest capacity of the plant and its modular design will make it an ideal vehicle for a long term commercial demonstration of the desulphurizing coal gasification process which APAC has optioned from California Carbide of Costa Mesa, California," said William Morris, President of APAC.

"This demonstration program in a commercial electric utility environment will take the desulphurizing gasification technology out of its pilot stage and make it ready for the retrofit of other coal- fired facilities. There are currently over 900 U.S. coal-fired facilities which are facing modifications or shutdown in order to comply with the new standards under the federal Clean Air Act of 1990," Morris stated.

According to Morris, APAC's consulting engineers estimate that it will take approximately one year to bring the plant on-line after power sale contracts, environmental permits, and project financing have been set in place.

"Although we have our plate fairly full negotiating contracts to develop several chemical plants in the Far East, we felt we could not pass up this unique opportunity to commercialize this important technology in its electric utility context. It fits into our long- term business strategy of demonstrating the environmentally acceptable uses of coal," Morris added.

American Plastics and Chemicals Inc. is a development-stage company engaged in demonstrating the commercial viability, licensing and utilization of certain proprietary technology in the cost effective co-production of calcium carbide and fuel gases from raw coal and limestone.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - ASM International N.V. (NASDAQ: ASMIF), today announced weakened results for the third quarter and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990. The poor performance reflected diverse business conditions prevalent in various international markets and segments of the company's semiconductor equipment business which more than offset gains in selected areas. The extremely negative market situation for fabrication equipment in both Eastern and Western Europe was the major factor behind the decline. The weak U.S. and Hong Kong dollars against the Dutch guilder also impacted results.

Third quarter net sales slid nearly 20 percent from the 1989 period and nine months net sales dropped 14 percent. For the three months, the company reported a net loss of Dfls (12.6) million vs. a profit of Dfls 1.0 million for the comparable quarter a year ago. The nine months net loss of Dfls (17.6) million represented a substantial swing from earnings of Dfls 8.8 million for the similar period in 1989.

"The worst of the year is behind us," commented Arthur H. del Prado, president and chief executive officer. "Certainly the pendulum is turning toward sharply increased sales for the fourth quarter." Backlog, at Sept. 30, 1990, stood at Dfls 286.8 million, 10.6 percent higher than the Dfls 259.3 million reported at the end of June. The company indicated that U.S. operations represent an increasing part of this backlog.

During the third quarter, the company said its European wafer processing operations continued to struggle through depressed times for the integrated circuit industry. The turbulent environment was exacerbated by intense competition from U.S. dollar based manufacturers who are benefiting from a dollar marked at an all-time low to the Dutch guilder. Major cost cutting programs were introduced at ASM Europe to cope with the contracted market. With no clear indication of the timing of an industry recovery, the 1991 outlook for ASM Europe is uncertain.

"On the other hand, our other major European based operation, ASM Fico, should enjoy a healthy fourth quarter and its best year ever, after a slightly disappointing third quarter hampered by lower gross margins and seasonal influences," remarked del Prado. "Furthermore, ASM Fico is looking at substantial volume increases next year.

"Like Europe, our U.S. operations showed mixed results. While ASM America is still operating at a loss, ASM Epitaxy recorded its fourth consecutive profitable quarter, and we foresee no disruptions in this trend for the coming year.

"Our Far Eastern operations, ASM Pacific Technology, headquartered in Hong Kong, felt the effects of start-up costs on new facilities in China and Singapore as well as technical production problems associated with the newest bonder product. The lower volumes plus higher expenses accounted for the temporarily lower levels of profitability. A progressive recovery can be expected as soon as these facilities come fully on stream."

According to del Prado, ASM Japan returned to profitability in the third quarter after a second quarter loss reflecting reduced volumes and a lower margined product mix. A substantial volume improvement is anticipated for the fourth quarter, and in line with industry projections for increased capital expenditures for 4-megabit production lines and 16-megabit pilot lines, significant increases are expected in 1991. However, current expenses for additional capacity to meet the expected upturn may keep the bottom line under pressure for the short term.

ASM International N.V., headquartered in Bilthoven, the Netherlands, dedicates its resources to the research, development, manufacturing, marketing and servicing of equipment and materials used to produce semiconductor devices. The company provides production solutions for the main areas of semiconductor production: wafer processing, assembly and encapsulation. The company's principal facilities in the Netherlands, the United States, Hong Kong and Japan enable it to meet local specifications and to sell and service its products in the world's major semiconductor markets of Europe, the United States and Asia.

RALEIGH, N.C. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Firstcorp, Inc. (AMEX: FCR) reported that the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) has rejected the capital plan filed by the company's principal subsidiary, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Raleigh (FFR), and requested that FFR enter into a consent agreement governing its operations.

At the same time, the OTS has agreed to consider FFR for inclusion in the Accelerated Resolution Program (ARP), whereby the institution could be quickly sold to another financial institution seeking to build market share in the FFR service area.

"Several financial institutions have expressed interest in acquiring First Federal of Raleigh," said Willard G. Ross, President of First Federal of Raleigh. "Acquisition of First Federal of Raleigh would provide an acquiror with a significant share in this market and would clearly be in the best interests of all concerned."

The Accelerated Resolution Program is administered jointly by the OTS and Resolution Trust Corporation to assist in placing troubled institutions with other institutions seeking to acquire or increase market share in that institution's market area. Only institutions with good management, stable operations and recognizable franchise value are considered as candidates for the ARP. "With its significant market share, First Federal is a prime candidate for the ARP program," Ross stated.

FFR's capital plan primarily involved the bulk sale of Real Estate Owned and nonperforming assets to a nonaffiliated liquidating entity. According to Ross, FFR's capital plan was not approved because a combination of three factors -- the escalating uncertainty of the financial markets, continued deterioration of national and local real estate markets, and the increased restrictions imposed on FFR's operations by the federal regulators -- significantly reduced the likelihood that the bulk sale could be successfully consummated.

Firstcorp is the parent company of 1st Federal of Raleigh, 1st Federal of Durham and 1st Security of Pinehurst. Firstcorp's subsidiaries operate twenty-two full service offices in four counties in North Carolina which include the Research Triangle and Sandhillls areas. Deposits in the savings institution subsidiaries continue to be insured to applicable limits by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC).

PHILADELPHIA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Leading energy project developer O'Brien Energy Systems (AMEX: OBS), today announced results for the fiscal 1991 first quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990.

Revenue for the period was $7,350,000 compared to $12,599,000 for the same quarter last year. The company reported a loss for the quarter of $689,000 or 5 cents per share, versus net income of $560,912 or 5 cents per share in the first quarter of fiscal 1990.

"As expected, we experienced a decrease in sales for the current year's quarter as the result of a non-recurring $5 million equipment sale made in last year's first quarter. Otherwise, operating results were comparable for the two quarters, typical of periods when large projects are under construction," said Chief Financial Officer Joel Cooperman said.

"The first of our large wholly owned plants, the 52 MW Newark Project, operating under a 25-year agreement with Newark Group Industries, was accepted and put on-line last week. As a result, we anticipate significantly greater performance for the remainder of the year," Cooperman said.

PRINCETON, N.J. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Dataram Corp. (AMEX: DTM), a developer, manufacturer and marketer of innovative computer memory and peripheral products, today reported revenues and earnings for the second quarter and six months of fiscal 1991.

Revenues for the second quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990, were $6.9 million compared to the $4.2 million reported in the year earlier period. Net earnings were $265,000 or $.21 per share vs. $489,000 or $.25 per share in the prior year second quarter.

For the six months of fiscal 1991, revenues were $13.7 million compared to the $8 million reported in fiscal 1990. Net earnings totalled $642,000 or $.51 per share vs. $904,000 or $.47 per share reported for the comparable period last year.

Despite the second quarter shortfall in net earnings and earnings per share, President and Chief Executive Officer Robert V. Tarantino said he was pleased with the company's sustained rapid and profitable penetration of the expanding computer workstation market.

"Our ability to identify specialized needs in this dynamic market -- which is growing at a 35 percent compounded annual rate -- has enabled us to considerably improve revenues, broaden our product line and enter the markets of additional original equipment manufacturers," he said. "We have the premier product development, sales and marketing infrastructure in place to capitalize on future opportunities in the workstation marketplace."

Tarantino also noted steady improvement in the company's international operations, where Dataram's add-on memory boards cost- efficiently serve minicomputer and workstation users in Canada and Europe. "We have 40 authorized distributors throughout Europe and are well positioned to maximize opportunities when the Western European Economic Community unites in 1992," he stated.

Tarantino said continuing market softness for WIDE WORD, a high-end memory product used primarily by the U.S. government for specialized high-speed computer applications, was largely responsible for the decline in net earnings. He added that federal budgetary cutbacks have hurt demand for WIDE WORD and could not predict when government sales would rebound.

CORAL GABLES, FLA. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - William F. Donnelly, marketing and research specialist at Minneapolis' Fallon McElligott Advertising for the past eight years, has joined Crispin & Porter Advertising, Coral Gables, Fla. He will become a partner in the agency with the title of vice president-client services.

"Overnight, this makes us a very different agency," said Charles Crispin. "Bill Donnelly has helped create breakthrough marketing success stories for people like The Wall Street Journal, Porsche, Lee Jeans and US West. With him aboard, we can offer the kind of smart, focused strategy development that can compete with any agency, anywhere."

Donnelly spent 12 years in research and media at BBDO, first in New York, later as head of that agency's Minneapolis office. He directed research and planning on accounts such as Campbell Soup, Scott Paper, Gillette and 3M. In 1982, he left BBDO as a vice president to become the director of marketing for a new Minneapolis agency called Fallon McElligott. Over the next eight years -- in perhaps the most stunning advertising success story of the '80s -- Fallon's billing soared from $4 million to over $140 million. At the same time the agency built one of the strongest creative reputations in the industry.

The Donnelly partnership completes a transition at Crispin & Porter that began nearly three years ago. At that time, Charles Crispin became the managing director and Chuck Porter joined the shop as creative director. Since then, the agency has doubled in size, winning accounts from some nationally known agencies. Del Monte Tropical Fruit came from McKinney-Silver, Palm Beach came from The Martin Agency. Most recently, Crispin & Porter won the national network television account of Personnel Pool of America. The agency also won more golds at the last Miami addy awards than any other shop.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Toy industry analysts and national retailers have identified Mattel's new Magic Nursery doll as one of the best-selling new toys for 1990. Mattel (NYSE: MAT) expects to generate more than $60 million in worldwide revenue with Magic Nursery alone this holiday season and retailers have been reporting shortages since the product was introduced in September. Magic Nursery dolls feature a unique transformation process which allows children to experience the magical discovery of the distinctive features of their own special baby -- just like in real life. When a child receives a Magic Nursery baby, she doesn't know whether the doll is a boy or a girl until the doll's outer homecoming robe is removed and immersed in water. The garment magically disappears, revealing a waterproof packet which says, "It's A Boy" or "It's a Girl," as well as a new, permanent outfit and matching ID bracelets for the doll and new "Mommy."

The large doll category is experiencing renewed growth, and Mattel has become known for its innovation in competitive product features. Last year, Mattel had the three top large dolls in the marketplace. Li'l Miss Make-Up, Li'l Miss Dress Up and P.J. Sparkles -- each selling over 1 million units -- helped to generate $110 million in worldwide revenue for Mattel's large doll category.

Mattel expects to approach $200 million in worldwide large doll revenue in 1990 due to the success of Magic Nursery, and continued strong demand for Li'l Miss and P.J. Sparkles dolls.

"We feel that one of the reasons for the instant popularity of Magic Nursery is that it takes the world of nurturing play one step closer to real life, and the child experiences the pride of having an individual, one-of-a-kind baby, just like a real Mom," said Jocelyn Carter-Miller, vice president of marketing at Mattel.

One of the many special features of Magic Nursery is that one in every 36 dolls in a twin, entitling the child to receive a second doll from Mattel, at no additional cost, when the serialized card is redeemed (a).

There are over 800 variations of the doll, including differences in style and color of hair, garment, eye color, and evey belly button (innie or outie).

Additional features include a magical heart on the doll's cheek that turns into a star each time the child kisses it, and a Magic Nursery Book which provides space for a family tree, the baby's first picture, a lock of the baby's hair and a footprint. The book also includes baby shower invitations, a list of suggested names, plus lists for the child to fill out chronicling baby's exciting "firsts" and "favorites." There is also a line of Magic Nursery accessories, ranging from fashions to "Bye-Bye Diapers," which when immersed in water, dissolve to reveal training pants for the doll.

SEATTLE (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - NeoRx Corp. (NASDAQ: NERX) has announced the issuance of U.S. Patent No. 4,965,392, entitled "Chelating Compounds for Metal-Radionuclide Labeled Proteins," expected to be the first of several U.S. patents covering NeoRx's N3S chelating compounds.

The chelating compounds are used to produce imaging products based on Tc-99M and therapeutic products based on Re-186/188. Scientists at NeoRx use the chelates to bind radionuclides to antiobodies, and the resulting radiolabled antibody can then be used to diagnose and treat cancer.

One of the N3S chelating compounds produces the only chelate ever shown to stably bind a therapy radionuclide to an antibody in patients. The stable binding results in five times greater delivery of radiation to the tumor target, compared to the unstable yttrium chelates used by NeoRx's competitors. NeoRx plans to include the chelate formed by the patented chelating compounds in the next generation of its OncoTrac(R) small cell lung cancer imaging kit.

The N3S patent augments NeoRx's series of U.S. and foreign patents and pending applications on related N2S2 chelating technology, used in NeoRx's first two products.

NeoRx Corporation is developing monoclonal antibody-based pharmaceutical products for in vivo detection and treatment of certain types of cancer. The company has four cancer clinical trials in progress and has filed for marketing approval with the FDA for two OncoTrac(R) imaging products to detect metastatic melanoma and small cell lung cancer.

AVON, MASS. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Kiddie Products, Inc. (OTC) reported sales for the first nine months of 1990 were $25,826,326 as compared to $23,619,143 for the similar period last year. Net income was $1,128,004 as compared to $1,025,874 for first nine months of 1989. Earnings per share, based on the average number of shares outstanding in each period (374,710 in 1990 and 1989), were $3.01 for first nine months of 1990 and $2.74 for the similar period last year.

Net sales for the third quarter declined by $144,000 from the third quarter of 1989. The company believes that uncertainties about the economy and the Mideast adversely affected the buying decisions of the retail industry and caused the decline in sales. Any effect of these uncertainties on future sales cannot presently be determined. Accordingly, the decline in net sales for the third quarter may not be indicative of net sales to be expected for the fourth quarter of 1990.

The company introduced 41 new products at this fall's Juvenile Products Manufacturers Trade Show, including several new play and health & safety items. First shipments to retailers are expected in the first quarter of 1991. The First Years product line continues to be supported by aggressive public relations and communications efforts toward the consumer, trade, and childcare professionals. The company continues its emphasis on new product development as a corporate priority.

WESTBOROUGH, MASS. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - GTE Government Systems Corp. today announced receipt of a $14.2 million contract from the U.S. Air Force to provide modernized electronic equipment that will power guidance systems for the nation's land-based, intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs).

The award, made by the Air Force Air Logistics Command, Hill Air Force Base, Ogden, Utah, calls for GTE's Strategic Systems Division to design, develop, test and deliver power-supply units for the nation's ICBM launch facilities (unmanned silo sites) and launch-control facilities (manned sites). Under the agreement, GTE will deliver 1,163 power-supply units beginning in May 1992 and continuing through April 1996.

The GTE-designed 28-volt, 36-ampere power supply will replace a linear regulator with a switch-mode regulator that will protect the missile-guidance systems from excess voltage.

The initial contract of $6.8 million has six options estimated at $7.4 million bringing the total value to $14.2 million.

A GTE subcontractor on the program, Lambda Novatronics of Pompano Beach, Fla., will manufacture the power-supply equipment.

OTTAWA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - SHL Systemhouse Inc. (NASDAQ: SHKIF; Toronto, Montreal: ME) of Ottawa today announced the results for its fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1990.

In a separate release today, the company commented on the process announced in May of this year of finding a buyer for all its outstanding shares.

Revenues for the 12 months were $689.2 million compared with $630.8 million for the period one year earlier.

Net loss for the year ended Aug. 31 was $40.6 million or $1.10 per share compared with net income of $15.3 million or 58 cents per share for the period one year earlier. The weighted average number of shares for fiscal year 1990 was 36.8 million. For 1989, it was 26.4 million.

Net loss for the year included $35.6 million or 97 cents per share in non-recurring items comprising principally the write-off of goodwill in operations acquired in prior years, and the write-offs of amounts owing from companies related to Kinburn Corporation announced in the second quarter. Excluding these non-recurring items, net loss for the year was $5.1 million or 13 cents per share.

Fourth quarter revenues were $161.4 million compared with $142.7 million in the fourth quarter last year. Net loss was $12.1 million or 32 cents per share compared with a net income of $3.4 million or 13 cents per share in 1989. The loss for the fourth quarter included $2.8 million in provisions against a receivable and $900,000 in expenses associated with the process of seeking a buyer for all the company's outstanding shares.

On Aug. 31, 1990, shareholders' equity stood at $247.7 million or $6.65 per share vs. $287.1 million or $7.71 per share, one year ago. Tangible net book value stood at $3.96 vs. $4.35 at year end last year.

In commenting on the figures released today Systemhouse Chairman Rod Bryden said, "Fourth quarter results were better than our forecasts in ComputerLand Canada. Profits increased, with increased sales and product margins compared with the third quarter. In ComputerGroup (UK), the fourth quarter reported a small loss rather than a small profit which had been forecast. Increased expenses, partly reflecting building service capacity, accounted for the shortfall in ComputerGroup. Revenues and margins were on plan.

"The major shortfall was in Systemhouse operations, which recorded a loss, resulting from revenue shortfall in both Canada and the United States. This reflected a significant drop in new orders during the second half of the year which impacted revenues in the fourth quarter. Operating expenses were slightly below plan in both Canadian and U.S. operations.

"New orders dropped sharply in the second half, rebounding late in the year and now are at all-time-high levels. New orders in Systemhouse operations were $118 million in the first half of fiscal year 1990, but less than $40 million in the second half. In the first two months of the new fiscal year contracts signed exceeded $70 million.

"The principal event which accounts for this swing is the confusion among customers surrounding the Kinburn financial difficulties announced early in quarter three. These difficulties of the company's majority shareholder were initially interpreted as affecting the financial strength and stability of the company. By the end of August, the financial strength of Systemhouse was again understood, evidenced by the value of contracts signed in September and October.

"Organizational changes announced in the fourth quarter and early in September are also producing good results. On Sept. 1, new management compensation plans and hiring policies were introduced to reduce expenses and improve operating margins.

"Up to the end of October, Systemhouse operations are performing to business plan which calls for profits for the quarter.

"The operations of ComputerLand Canada continue to perform well in the context of a tight market, with continued profitability expected. The U.K. market has reflected the same trends as Canada with ComputerGroup expected to contribute to overall net income.

"In total, SHL Systemhouse Inc. is performing well through the first two months of our first quarter and we expect to see solid profits both in the quarter and throughout the year," concluded Bryden.

WILMINGTON, CALIF. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Vector Aeromotive Corp. (NASDAQ: VCAR) announced today that the company had successfully completed its offering of 400,000 units through a syndicate headed by Paulson Investment Co. of Portland, Ore. The Vector units each consist of one share of the company's common stock, and one common stock purchase warrant. The Vector warrant expires in 1995 and is immediately exercisable and tradable.

"Having recently endured extraordinary market conditions, we are grateful for the support provided by everyone associated with the completion of this offering," said Gerald Wiegert, Vector's chairman and president.

The proceeds will be used to continue funding Vector's expansion programs for production and marketing, facilitating the ability to meet recently announced delivery schedules on the growing order backlog for the Vector W8 TwinTurbo supercar. "With our recent successful completion of D.O.T. crash and safety certification, and our projected completion of EPA/CARB emissions certifications by year-end, Vector looks forward to achieving its 1991 corporate objectives," commented Don Johnson, vice president of finance.

The all-American-made aerospace engineered Vector W8 TwinTurbo supercar competes in the same price category with the Ferrari F40 and the Chrysler Lamborghini Diablo. The powerplant is a Vector designed six-liter V8 TwinTurbo engine. Base price of the Vector W8 is $283,750, and the backlog continues to build with production sold out through the first quarter of 1991.

OTTAWA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - SHL Systemhouse Inc. (NASDAQ: SHKIF) of Ottawa today issued an information update on the process initiated by the board on May 3, 1990 to seek a buyer for all the shares of the company.

Considerable interest has been shown by a number of potential bidders, and that interest continues. One potential bidder submitted a written proposal to the independent committee of the board, indicating willingness to bid subject to certain conditions, including the ability to acquire at least 90 percent of all outstanding shares. The proposal was for cash for all shares. Discussion between the potential bidder and shareholders representing more than 10 percent of the shares indicated that the price proposed would not result in the tender of 90 percent of the shares and the bid did not proceed.

Other interest continues and the independent committee will be available to respond to interested parties.

During the process of encouraging interest by potential bidders, the independent committee signed with several interested parties agreements pursuant to which confidential information and access to company management has been provided.

Participation in the information and due diligence process has been a material distraction to the management and staff of the company. Action to cease further activity in this regard reflects the board's decision that the company and shareholders will be best served by devotion of the business to build upon its strong balance sheet and established market position.

The board believes that full information has been provided to interested parties and has therefore ceased to provide any further access to information or company staff except as may be generally available to all shareholders.

Agreements in place with all parties having access to confidential information require that the board consent to any bid, or that the bid by for all shares of the company. It is the intention of the board to ensure that any bid to which it consents is equally available to all shareholders. Parties that have not signed agreements with the board, and have not had access to information through this process, are, of course, able to bid without consent of the board.

NESS-ZIONA, ISRAEL (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - InterPharm Laboratories reported today sales of $16.4 million for the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1990, compared with $10.3 million for the same period last year, an increase of 59 percent. Net income for the nine-month period increased by 367 percent to $1.4 million or 22 cents per share, compared with net income of $0.3 million or 4 cents per share in 1989.

Net sales for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, rose 180 percent to $7 million compared with $2.5 million during the same period in 1989. Net income for the third quarter of 1990 was $1.4 million or 23 cents per share. This compares with $21,000 for the third quarter of 1989.

The main reason for the increased sales and profitability was the year-to-date beta native interferon (FRONE)(R) sales which increased by 100 percent to $12.6 million from $6.3 million during the same period last year.

Two major factors influenced the increase in sales of FRONE in Italy, InterPharm's major market: the approval of FRONE for a new indication in the oncology field -- for adjuvant therapy in breast and uterine cancers and the usage of a 3 MIU injection in addition to the 1MIU dosage currently used.

Income for the third quarter also reflects the ongoing improvement in productivity resulting from decreased cost of sales for beta native interferon.

Gross research and development expenditures rose 38 percent to $1.1 million, compared with $0.8 million spent during the corresponding quarter of 1989.

"The company is continuing to pursue its research and development targets, including the validation of recombinant beta interferon production methods, as well as developing new genetic engineering technologies for the cloning and production of cytokines" said Dr. Yoram Karmon, president and chief executive officer.

The company recently announced that the Licensing Authorities in the United Kingdom approved commencement of clinical trials of Recombinant Beta Interferon (RBIF). This is an important milestone for the company, since this is the first such approval granted to it for RBIF. The clinical trials are expected to continue for two years establishing the safety and efficacy of RBIF for the treatment of Hairy-Cell Leukemia.

NEW CASTLE, PA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Galaxy Cheese Co. (NASDAQ: GALX) -- manufacturer of FORMAGG(R), the no-cholesterol, premier cheese alternative -- today announced financial results for the company's second quarter and first six months of fiscal year 1991. For the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, the company reported net sales of $5,586,126, an increase of 10 percent over sales of $5,057,874 for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1989. The company reported a net loss of $40,612 or $0.01 per share vs. net income of $141,060 or $0.03 per share in the comparable period of 1989.

In June 1990, the company experienced a work stoppage by approximately one-half of its hourly production work force that lasted until mid-August. By mid-August 1990, all hourly positions had been filled through the hiring of replacements and the return of most of the workers who had walked out. "While the work stoppage and related activities did not have a substantial effect on sales volume for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1990, the company incurred in excess of $155,000 in related costs and expenses for the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, due to the temporary work stoppage and related activities," stated Peter J. Perfetti, vice president and chief financial officer. Since mid-August, when the work stoppage ended, production efficiencies have improved, and security, consulting and legal costs have been significantly reduced. The company continues to incur some legal expenses associated with the related legal proceedings.

For the first six months of fiscal 1991, revenues were $10,824,061, compared to $9,332,013 in the six-month period a year ago. The company recorded a net loss of $30,498 or $0.01 per share, vs. net income of $53,276 or $0.01 per share in the first half of the prior fiscal year.

Galaxy Cheese Co. manufactures FORMAGG(R), the premier line of cheese alternatives, in over 30 varieties, made from pure skim milk protein, and canola and soybean oil. FORMAGG(R), developed in response to the public's increasing demand for more health-conscious products, contains no cholesterol, lactose or butterfat. These products are lower in calories, saturated fat, and higher in vitamins, calcium and other minerals than conventional cheese. Galaxy Cheese Co. also produces and sells two all-natural, soy-based cheese alternatives under the brandnames SOYCO(TM) and SOYMAGE(TM).

ATLANTA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Theragenics Corp., (NASDAQ: THRX), an Atlanta-based cancer therapy company, announced today that, for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, revenues increased to $267,000, a 48 percent gain on the $180,000 in revenues recorded for the same quarter last year.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the company recorded revenues of $882,000, a 140 percent improvement on the $367,000 collected during the same period in 1989.

The company had a net loss in the current year's third quarter of $173,000, or $(.02) per share, compared to a loss of $378,000, or $(.05) per share, for the third quarter of 1989. For the first nine months of 1990 the company had a net loss of $423,000, or $(.04) a share, compared to a loss of $1,354,000, or $(.17) a share, for the comparable period last year.

President and CEO John V. Herndon attributed Theragenics' accelerated revenue growth to enhanced sales of the company's Theraseed implant treatment for prostate cancer. Theraseed, a nonsurgical, outpatient procedure which employs Palladium 103 seeds to selectively eradicate cancerous tissue, has emerged as an alternative to surgery and external radiation regimens and is now also being used to treat other cancers, including head, neck, pancreas and lung.

Herndon said, "The third quarter results reflect our continuing strong sales growth during 1990. The results also confirm that Theragenics is indeed adding major clinics and hospitals to our client list at a more rapid rate than ever before in our history. I am very confident both of these trends will continue."

BILLERICA, MASS. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Gerald S. Eilberg, chief financial officer of National Datacomputer, Inc. (NDI) announced today the results of its third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990.

Eilberg reported that revenues for the quarter were $615,360 as compared with revenues of $1,020,422 for the same period in 1989. The net loss for the quarter before adjustments was $256,640 vs. $574,782 for the third quarter of 1989. Non-recurring adjustments totalling $170,000 brought the net loss in the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 to $426,640. These adjustments comprised overhead absorption rates to take a conservative accounting approach to inventory valuation.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, revenues were $2,129,174 with a net loss of $1,006,641 before adjustments and $1,410,216 after adjustments. This compares to revenues of $3,843,256 and a net loss of $1,120,112 for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989. Eilberg also reported that the cost reduction program discussed in the second quarter release was continuing as shown by selling and general and administrative costs in the third quarter decreasing 24 percent from the second quarter. This comes after a second quarter where these same expenses decreased 36 percent from the first quarter.

Norman Mackinnon, president of NDI stated that "the company's cash position continued to be a problem in third quarter but we are hopeful that our disciplined "hands-on" management and prioritizing of our funds will begin to produce greater sales in the fourth quarter and beyond. These efforts have already resulted in better bottom line results when you consider that in the 13 quarters since the company went public in June 1987, this quarter, although lower in sales, was the third best from a profit and loss standpoint."

National Datacomputer, Inc. designs, manufactures, markets and services rugged programmable handheld computers, data collection devices, peripherals and software, and communication options designed for people who need the power of a PC in the field rather than at their desk. MINNEAPOLIS (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Going-out-of-business sales are officially under way at 85 remaining Salkin & Linoff junior department stores and specialty shops in the upper Midwest.

The stores being liquidated trade under the names Bostwicks, S&L, Nina B. Stevensons, Hurrah!, Morrey A and Wrangler Wroost, and are located in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota. In addition to merchandise inventories, store fixtures and equipment, liquidator Buxbaum Ginsberg & Associates, Encino, Calif., is offering leases on the 85 units as well as 18 locations that were previously closed.

Ninety additional units stretching from Maine to California were recently sold to Retail Holdings, a newly formed Minneapolis-based company backed by Chicago Holdings. Retail Holdings, which will operate the units under the Hurrah! name, acquired the inventory, fixtures and leases of the stores in a deal negotiated through the efforts of Baxbaum Ginsberg executive VP Paul Buxbaum and Salkin & Linoff trustee Molly Shields.

Salkin & Linoff has been operating under Chapter XI bankruptcy protection since last February. Stores operating under the Peck & Peck name were sold to Pranges earlier this year.

The liquidation sale marks the end of a 69-year era for Salkin & Linoff, which was established in 1921 in Elkton, S.D. with a one-room store that served the town's 1,800 farmers, cowboys and other residents. Some 42 mini department stores under the S&L were added in the years to come.

In 1945, the company purchased the Bostwick department store in Janesville, Wisc., followed by acquisitions of the Stevensons and Peck & Peck women's apparel chains in 1956 and 1976, respectively. Apart from expanding its acquired operations, the company also launched the Nina B juniors concept in 1965, Morrey A and Wrangler Wroost in 1969, and Hurrah! in 1971. At its peak, the Minneapolis-based company operated some 250 stores under its various nameplates, with over 1,800 employees.

According to Buxbaum, the liquidation sale should be concluded by the end of this year.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Royal Insurance reported a pre-tax statutory loss of $58.6 million for the first nine months of 1990, compared to a loss of $76.9 million for the same period in 1989. After federal income taxes, a net loss of $50.9 million was shown compared to a $72.9 million loss for the first nine months of 1989. Written premiums declined to $1.55 billion from $1.69 billion. The underwriting loss rose to $382.1 million from 1989's nine months loss of $363.0 million, and the combined ratio before dividend worsened to 124.6 from 121.1. Pre-tax investment income, excluding capital gains and losses, increased 11.2 percent to $259.2 million.

William E. Buckley, Royal's chairman and chief executive officer, said results were affected by the continuing industry down cycle and by adjustments the company has made in its geographic distribution and product mix. "While financial results remain disappointing, we are encouraged by the progress we've made in achieving our strategic objectives, especially our ability to obtain adequate prices in some lines and to increase our average premium per policy," Buckley said.

At the same time, in London, England, the parent company, Royal Insurance Holdings plc, announced its worldwide results for the first nine months of 1990. Total written premiums increased by $390 million to $6.27 billion. The worldwide underwriting loss was $861.5 million, compared to $422.5 million for the first nine months of 1898, while investment income increased by $48.7 million to $669.5 million. A pre-tax loss of $157.1 million compared to a nine months 1989 profit of $207.7 million, and the net after-tax loss totaled $148.8 million versus a $151.9 million profit for the previous period.

CLIFTON, N.J. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Vertex Industries, Inc. (NASDAQ: VETX) today announced results for fiscal 1990, ended July 31.

"While revenues remained essentially flat, the company was able to reduce its net loss by more than 20 percent through a reduction in cost of sales and research and development. In addition, lower interest rates and the absence of a loss due to the divestiture of Dicom in fiscal '89 had a favorable effect. We expect improvements in our financial performance as our Bar Code products and software gain wider acceptance, our Debit Card Systems enter new marketing areas and both these segments of our business experience increases in sales," James Q. Maloy, chairman and president, said.

Revenues for fiscal 1990 ended July 31 were $3,508,471, compared to $3,539,970 for the previous year. The company's net loss for fiscal 1990 was reduced by more than 20 percent to $269,449, or 15 cents per share, from $339,368, or 20 cents per share, reported last year.

Vertex Security Access/Attendance Systems are installed in 14 New York City high schools and one junior high school. Further orders are pending, waiting for the city to resolve its budget problems. Discussions are being held with several other school systems regarding purchase and installation of the product.

In addition, Vertex has furnished 500 Debit Card Systems to a major supplier of baggage cart services at domestic airports, and will supply an additional 500 systems to this customer in the current fiscal year.

Also, CTSI, a Vertex subsidiary, has sold 75 of its Bar Code Labeling Systems (Model 2400) to The Mayo Clinic. This is in addition to the 100 furnished to Abbott Laboratories.

CLEVELAND (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - On Nov. 18, 1987, the Perry Nuclear Power Plant was declared in commercial operation and available to provide electricity to some seven million people in northern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. Three years later, the Perry Plant has established a record of being a safe, reliable, and environmentally compatible electric generating facility.

During three years of commercial operation the Perry Plant has:
-- generated 21,699,456,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity, enough electricity to power almost two million homes;
-- been available to generate electricity 71.4 percent of the time;
-- generated tens of millions of dollars in personal property tax dollars with the majority of funds going to local schools;
-- produced 67.8 percent of the electricity theoretically possible if the plant were operating at 100 percent of capacity every day of the year;
-- received consistent good marks for plant performance in the NRC Systematic Assessment of Licensee Performance (SALP) report;
-- produced as much electricity as approximately 30 million barrels of foreign oil.

"Looking back at three years of operation I think our records speak for themselves," says Michael Lyster, vice president -- Perry Nuclear.

"Bottom line, they indicate solid performance in the majority of areas, and consistently improving performance in others."

The Perry Plant currently is in its second scheduled refueling/ maintenance outage and is expected to return to service in December.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 7) PR NEWSWIRE - Cosmetics, fragrance and skin care firm Max Factor & Co. is providing a form of protection for the American armed forces of Operation Desert Shield by donating more than $800,000 worth of one of the soldier's most-requested items: sunscreen. Today, a shipment of 67,000 bottles of Max Factor's Pure SPF Invisible Face Protector will leave for the Persian Gulf to be distributed free-of-charge through the Army and Air Force Exchange Service.

A special two-ounce unbreakable plastic bottle of Pure SPF Invisible Face Protector has been manufactured by Max Factor specifically to meet the needs of the U.S troops in the Middle East. Available to the general public in a unisex glass bottle with pump, this non-greasy alcohol-free fluid provides all-day protection (SPF 12) against harmful ultraviolet rays.

With daytime temperatures in the Saudi Arabian desert as high as 130 degrees, cooling in the evenings to only about 85 degrees, the use of sunscreen by our military personnel is a necessity, not a luxury, according to Max Factor President Allan Kurtzman.

Kurtzman points out that there's a growing body of evidence to support the fact that severe sunburns and even skin cancer are real possibilities when you're exposed to the sun. "With the protection of a product like Pure SPF, our servicemen and women can be exposed to the sun 12 times longer than they ordinarily could, without burning," Kurtzman says.

Independent health expert Mary-Ellen Siegel, author of "Safe in the Sun" and "The Cancer Patient's Handbook" agrees, "Under the intense desert conditions our troops are now facing, the risk of developing skin cancers including malignant melanoma (a form of skin cancer that can spread throughout the body) is extremely high," Siegel says. "Yet many people don't realize that it isn't only desert sun that is dangerous -- all of us are at risk as we walk down the street in our home towns even during the fall and winter months. This is because incidental, not just intentional, exposure to sunlight without protection can cause premature aging of the skin and, potentially, skin cancer. Hopefully, efforts like Max Factor's will make our whole generation more aware of the need to use suncreen on a daily basis."

GOTEBORG, SWEDEN (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Volvo Group today issued the following interim report for the nine months ended Sept. 30.

Operating income for the first three quarters of 1990 was SEK 1,192 M (4,809). Income in the year-earlier period included profits amounting to SEK 863 M from companies that have now been divested. The decrease in earnings was attributable primarily to the reduced demand in Volvo's three most important markets -- the United States, Sweden and Great Britain -- to depressed margins and to lower utilization of capacity. Foreign exchange rate movements that were unfavorable to Volvo, as well as continuing higher development costs for Volvo's products of the nineties, were also contributing factors.

Income was charged a total of SEK 2,450 M for restructuring costs. These provisions represent a charge of approximately SEK 1,700 against operations in Sweden. Of the provisions, approximately SEK 1,500 M pertains to the car operating sector, and approximately SEK 400 M to trucks and buses. The remaining SEK 550 M is related primarily to the writedown of certain general group assets. Volvo's holdings in shares in associated companies contributed SEK 844 M (712) to earnings. In calculating Volvo's share of Procordia's income for the third quarter of 1990, merger and restructuring costs in Procordia which are considered as directly attributable to the merger with Pharmacia's and Provendor's operations have been offset against Volvo's portion of shareholders' equity in Procordia and accordingly are not included in Volvo's share of income in Procordia.

Net interest income amounted to SEK 135 M (564) but was lower than a year earlier due to an increase in interest-bearing liabilities. Changes in foreign exchange rates resulted in a gain of SEK 56 M on long-term loans in foreign currencies, compared with a loss of SEK 73 M in the 1989 period.

Volvo's consolidated loss for the first three quarters of 1990, after financial income and expense, amounted to SEK 193 M (income of SEK 6,170 M), based on unaudited figures.

During the first three quarters of 1989 sales of real estate produced extraordinary income amounting to SEK 385 M.

Volvo Group sales during the first three quarters of 1990 amounted to SEK 62,436 M (65,790). Excluding the Provendor Group, the decrease in sales was 2 percent. Sales in markets outside Sweden amounted to SEK 51,096 M (52,800), equal to 82 (80) percent of total sales.

Volvo's sales in the Nordic countries decreased to 43,000 (57,000) cars despite an increase in Norway. In Western Europe outside the Nordic area deliveries declined to 135,000 (143,000) units. Deliveries increased in Italy and Spain while sales in Great Britain decreased to 56,000 (67,000) cars. Volvo sold 78,000 cars in the weaker North American market, 10 percent fewer than in the corresponding period last year. Volvo's share of the market was slightly smaller in the Nordic countries and Great Britain, as well as in North America. The trend of sales in Japan and Southeast Asia continued to be very favorable.

Volvo delivered 284,000 (311,000) cars to customers during the first three quarters of the year. Of these, 127,000 (146,000) were in the 700 series, 56,000 (67,000) in the 200 series, 96,000 (98,000) were Volvo 300/400s, and 5,000 were the recently introduced Volvo 940/960s.

As a result of the lower volume of sales, coupled with cutbacks in production and higher product development costs, the cars operating sector showed a small loss for the first nine months of 1990.

Demand for heavy trucks in Europe during the first three quarters was on the same level as last year. The total markets in Germany, Switzerland and Austria increased appreciably, while demand in Great Britain and Sweden, large Volvo markets, declined significantly. Price competition continued to be severe throughout Europe and the industry's profit margins were further reduced. The total market in North America continued to shrink and price levels were low. Demand in Brazil, as well as in most of the markets in Asia, was firm.

Volvo's deliveries of trucks totaled 39,300 vehicles, approximately 10 percent fewer than in the corresponding period a year earlier. The decrease was attributable to the market in North America and in some countries in Europe, while deliveries to other market areas rose considerably, more than doubling in Latin America, the Middle East and Eastern Europe. Volvo's share of the market for heavy trucks was higher in North America and Brazil but decreased slightly in Europe.

Up to and including the third quarter, order bookings were unchanged in Europe but declined in North America. Orders received from other areas increased sharply, with especially large increases in orders from Iran, Southeast Asia and Brazil. Overall, order bookings were slightly higher than during the corresponding period in 1989. The order backlog at the end of the third quarter was marginally higher than a year earlier.

Income for the first three quarters was distinctly lower than during the 1989 period, partly due to losses incurred on North American operations and substantially higher product development costs.

The number of Volvo and Leyland buses and Bus chassis delivered was lower in the first three quarters of 1990, compared with 1989 deliveries. Order bookings were lower, notably in Volvo's domestic markets in the Nordic countries as well as in Great Britain. The decrease was offset to some extent by a favorable trend of orders in South America. Volvo Buses' share of the number of heavy buses registered in Western Europe was unchanged.

Volvo Buses reported substantially lower earnings than in the first three quarters last year, due partly to losses on operations in Great Britain.

Sales of marine engines were higher, despite continued weakness in the North American market. The decline in sales in the U.S. was partially offset by higher sales in Western Europe -- notably in Great Britain and Spain -- and in Japan.

During the latter part of the third quarter, Volvo partially made up for the lag in deliveries of industrial engines that had taken place during the first half of the year. Order bookings for both marine and industrial engines were higher than in the year-earlier period. Earnings were lower.

Orders for commercial aircraft engines continued to be substantial, while maintenance operations for the military increased. Income was considerably lower than during the first nine months of 1989, primarily as a consequence of postponed deliveries by partners to manufacturers of commercial aircraft, and of the lower exchange rate for the U.S. dollar.

The Provendor Group -- the former food operating sector -- was transferred to the Procordia Group on July 1, 1990. Provendor's sales and earnings are included in Volvo's consolidated accounts for the first six months of 1990.

Gross capital expenditures for property, plant and equipment during the first three quarters of 1990 amounted to SEK 3,658 M (1989: SEK 3,699 M, excluding Provendor). At Sept. 30, 1990, total value of Volvo's holdings of listed shares amounted to SEK 26,300 M, representing a reserve of approximately SEK 9,800 M relative to book value. This reserve was SEK 7,100 M in the middle of November.

Volvo's report on 1990 operations will be released March 5, 1991. This report has not been reviewed by AB Volvo's auditors.

OKLAHOMA CITY (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Hadson Energy Resources Corporation (NASDAQ: HERC) and Baruch-Foster Corporation (AMEX: BFO) today jointly announced the execution of a definitive merger agreement pursuant to which Baruch-Foster Corporation (BFO), a Dallas-based oil and gas concern, would merge with BFC Acquisition, Inc., an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Hadson Energy. The terms of the agreement provide for cash consideration of $6.24 per share or approximately $16.9 million to be paid to BFO's stockholders at the effective date of the merger. The agreement is subject to approval by the stockholders of BFO and certain other conditions and additionally provides for a closing date of no later than Jan. 31, 1991. Pursuant to the agreement, BFO has placed an oil price swap at $25.35 per barrel for calendar year 1991 with a financial institution which effectively provides BFO a degree of price protection in the event crude oil prices fall below current levels.

Baruch-Foster President, Malcolm E. Wilson, stated, "During the past year, a great deal of effort has gone into this process. The board of directors and I are confident that we have been able to realize a fair value for the company on behalf of our stockholders through this agreement. We are pleased with the outcome of our negotiations."

William C. Rankin, chief financial officer for Hadson Energy stated, "We are pleased to make this announcement to our shareholders. This acquisition represents a significant boost to our domestic operations. We anticipate favorable increases in operating cash flows and earnings as a result. Additionally, the oil price swap has reduced our risk in the near term to oil price volatility. Based on initial estimates, this acquisition will increase our reserve base by approximately 2.3 million barrels of oil and 9.5 billion cubic feet of gas."

Hadson Energy is an independent energy company engaged internationally in crude oil and natural gas exploration, development and production.

NORTH TONAWANDA, N.Y. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Paul H. Taylor, president of Taylor Devices, Inc. (NASDAQ: TAYD), today said audited results show the company made a near-record net profit of $231,856, or 8 cents per share, on sales of $4,900,766 for the fiscal year ended May 31, 1990. This compares with a loss of $7,989, or 1 cent per share, on sales of $5,250,057 for the previous fiscal year.

"Last year's large earnings, in face of lower sales, resulted from higher profit margins on our basic line of shock absorbers...increased engineering research fees...and increased sales in a new market for heavy-duty commercial applications," Taylor commented.

"The first quarter of the new fiscal year, ended Aug. 31, 1990, showed a loss of $10,746, after charge-off of a commissioned in-depth study of management by outside university business administration experts. Last year a profit of $81,623 on slightly lower sales volume realized from commercial deliveries," Taylor said.

"The outlook for the year, however," he continued, "is for an upturn in earnings based on increased demand for our latest defense aerospace products specified on new systems on which we have established higher profit margins; a potential large increase in sales for our Pnushok (Airshock) products through our affiliate, Tayco Technologies, on computer and photocopying equipment. Initial production orders on substantial volume requirements are already in production," Taylor concluded.

SPRINGFIELD, MA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Monarch Capital Corporation (NYSE: MON) today announced a special charge of $103 million pre-tax against third quarter earnings for anticipated losses on the disposal of its real estate assets.

Monarch Capital Corp. (MCC) on Feb. 12, 1990, had reported a charge for then-expected losses of $59 million pre-tax on the sale of its real estate portfolio. MCC said the additional writedown reflected a substantial further decrease in market value of its real estate based on the significant decline in real estate values, particularly in the Northeast.

Net Loss of $67.8 Million; Income from Continuing Operations Up The real estate writedown, amounting to $68.7 million after-tax, brought results for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 to a net loss of $67.8 million, or $10.23 per share, compared with net income of $1 million or $.05 per share for the 1989 third quarter. Income from continuing operations was $0.9 million or $.03 per share, up from $0.4 million or a loss of $.05 per share in the 1989 third period.

MCC said it has suspended the dividend on its preferred stock. MCC noted that if on the record date for a stockholders meeting six or more quarterly preferred dividends remain unpaid, preferred stockholders will be entitled to elect two of MCC's directors.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, MCC reported a net loss of $64.2 million, or $9.92 per share, compared to net income of $11 million or $1.33 per share for the same period in 1989. (The 1989 nine months' results included $6.7 million of income from Monarch-Narragansett and the company's real estate operations, which are now presented as discontinued operations. Income from those discontinued operations for the 1989 third quarter was $0.6 million.)

Net assets of discontinued operations, reflecting the special charge for anticipated real estate losses, were $40.4 million, compared with $137.7 million at Dec. 31, 1989. The 1989 results have been reclassified to reflect the results of discontinued operations.

Income from continuing operations for the nine months ended Sept. 30 was $4.4 million or $.35 per share, compared with $4.3 million or $.33 per share for the 1989 nine months.

1990 were $5.4 million, compared with $6.2 million for the 1989 period. Profits were improved due to lower operating expenses and claims experience, offset by a $3.1 million increase in reinsurance costs.

Disability income sales were $23.1 million for the 1990 nine months, against $27.9 million for the 1989 nine months.

Pre-tax earnings from other operations, including MCC's supplemental insurance business, were $2 million for the third quarter, up from $1.8 million in the 1989 third quarter. MILWAUKEE (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Allis-Chalmers Corporation today reported a net loss of $19,000 in the third quarter of 1990 compared with net income of $74,000 in the same period of 1989.

The 1990 loss was primarily attributable to costs incurred by the company in its program to identify and evaluate candidates for acquisition. The necessity to assure liquidity emphasizes the company's need to continue to pursue, in a prudent manner, its acquisition strategy and increase its operating base.

The company's operations are B.R.B. Industries (BRB), a Hoboken, N.J. manufacturer of molded fabric products, and Houston Dynamic Service, Inc. (HDS), a machine repair subsidiary in Houston. BRB, which serves the apparel and lingerie markets and the home sewing and notions industries, was acquired on Dec. 20, 1989, and its results are included in 1990 only.

Third quarter sales were $3.4 million in 1990, up from $962,000 in 1989, mainly because of the acquisition of BRB.

Third quarter gross margin as a percentage of sales increased to 34.5 percent in 1990 from 29.8 percent in 1989 as a consequence of the generally higher margins in the molded fabric products business. Compared with the second quarter of 1990, gross margin improved, mainly due to slightly higher sales and reduced costs at BRB and a more favorable mix of higher margin business at HDS.

For the first nine months of 1990, Allis-Chalmers reported a net loss of $54,000 compared with net income of $74,000 in the corresponding period of 1989. Sales were $9.8 million in 1990 and $2.8 million in 1989. The results for the 1990 period reflect the factors which affected the third quarter results as well as increased administrative expenses compared with 1989.

GAITHERSBURG, MD (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Oncor, Inc. (NASDAQ: ONCR) "is experiencing record 1990 gains in revenues as new DNA product introductions achieve quick market acceptance," Stephen Turner, chairman, said today.

"And as a result we have decided to write-off in the third quarter ended Sept. 30, earlier-stage inventory related to our new clinical products which include the B/T Gene Rearrangement Test System, the In- Situ Chromosome Analysis Test System and the Human Papillomavirus (HPV) Test System, thus creating the foundation for a profitable 1991. The ramp-up of sales continues in the fourth quarter with October sales of $320,000 being the largest one month recorded in the history of the company," Turner added.

Turner said that "coupled with these third-quarter write-downs, increases in R&D expenses related to the company's new In-Situ Chromosome Analysis Test System, and costs associated with the initiation of a development program for DNA-based solid tumor diagnostics, resulted in a deficit for the quarter.

"Oncor is the first company to develop and market DNA probes that allow for the specific identification of all 24 human chromosomes for use in detecting genetic abnormalities. We are also developing DNA-based solid tumor diagnostic systems of which the first products will be for the detection of breast, colon bladder and prostate tumors," he added.

"The actions taken in the third quarter combined with increased sales from new products now in the marketplace, will result in improved gross profit margins in 1991," said Turner.

For the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, Oncor had sales of $696,192 compared with sales of $650,883 for the same three-month period in 1989. A 63 percent increase in research and development expenses in the third quarter and a $250,000 one-time write-down of earlier-stage inventory associated with the development and start-up of the company's new clinical products, resulted in a net loss for the quarter of $982,798, or 14 cents per share. This compares to a net loss of $439,691, or 8 cents per share in the 1989 third quarter.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, Oncor had a 14.3 percent increase in sales to $2,124,794 from $1,858,933 for the same nine-month period in 1989. The net loss for the 1990 nine-month period was $1,758,126, or 24 cents per share, on a weighted average of 7,276,000 common shares outstanding, compared with a net loss of $1,294,197, or 25 cents per share, on a weighted average of 5,191,000 common shares outstanding in 1989.

Oncor, Inc. was the first company to manufacture and market DNA probes for tumor analysis. The company today develops, manufactures and markets nucleic acid (DNA/RNA) probes, reagents and instrument systems for the early detection and characterization of molecular diseases, including cancer and genetic disorders.

PEAPACK, N.J. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Fedders Corporation (NYSE: FJQ) today announced it is ending assembly of room air conditioners at its Orangeville, Ontario, facility while continuing to use the site as a distribution center. Fedders, Inc., the Canadian subsidiary, continues to operate its sales office in Mississauga, Ontario, and will supply customers with products from Fedders' two other room air conditioner manufacturing facilities.

Sales of the Orangeville plant represented less than 10 percent of the total sales of Fedders Corporation in 1989. Costs associated with the elimination of assembly operations at Orangeville will be reported with the fourth-quarter financial results.

The company attributed the assembly shutdown to a protracted strike. Approximately 136 employees are affected, most of whom have been on strike since May 7, 1990. At that time, members of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of Canada rejected the company's proposed contract to replace the agreement that expired on March 31, 1990. MINNEAPOLIS (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Varitronic Systems, Inc. (NASDAQ:VRSY) reported today that net sales for the first quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990, were $10,013,000, which represented an increase of 2 percent over net sales of $9,815,000 in the first quarter of last year. Net income for the quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990, was $800,000, compared with net income of $2,000 in the comparable period of the prior year. Earnings per share were 22 cents for the first quarter of fiscal 1991, with 3,638,000 weighted average shares outstanding during the quarter. In the comparable period last year, there were 5,388,000 weighted average shares outstanding, and earnings were less than one cent per share.

For the quarter ended Oct. 31, 1990, machine sales were up 11.8 percent and sales of consumable supplies increased 4.9 percent over the same period last year. The combined increase in machine revenue and consumable supply revenue of $625,000 was partially offset by a $427,000 decrease in sales of accessory products.

Sales of accessory products have declined due to the Company's decision to offer certain of these products, such as font cards and font modules, free of charge with the purchase of a lettering machine or Typestyler(TM). Including complementary accessories at no charge with a machine purchase has had the impact of increasing machine sales while providing greater value to the customer.

"We are pleased with the increase in machine sales in the first quarter," said Scott Drill, chairman and CEO. "It clearly illustrates the effectiveness of our current marketing programs and promotions. The majority of the first quarter sales growth came from our PosterPrinter(TM) product line which has been the key to our successful combination selling program. Through this program, we provide incentives to our dealers who sell two or more of our products to a single end-user. A professional looking chart, sign or banner can easily be produced when the PosterPrinter is used to enlarge an orginal document created with one of our lettering systems or the Typestyler.

"Our balance sheet at Oct. 31, 1990, is very strong with cash of $3.8 million, no debt and stockholders' equity of $20.2 million, which represents a book value of $5.54 per common share."

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - American Real Estate Partners, L.P. (NYSE: ACP) today reported third-quarter and nine-month financial results.

In announcing the company's financial results, Chairman of the Board Benjamin D. Fein stated that earnings before property transactions and the amount of cash flow generated from day-to-day operations increased for the quarter and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, from the comparable periods of 1989. However, Fein noted that, while net earnings increased for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, from the comparable period in 1989, net earnings decreased for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, from the comparable period of 1989 since losses were recorded for financial statement purposes as a result of the sale, during the quarter ended June 30, 1990, of certain real estate tenanted by the Western Union Corporation for less than the book value of such properties for financial reporting purposes. Fein also noted that while losses were recorded on the Western Union sales, these properties and all other properties sold during the 1990 periods were sold for net proceeds in excess of the appraised value of the properties at the time of the exchange in 1987.

American Real Estate Partners is a master limited partnership engaged in acquiring and managing real estate with a primary focus on office, retail and industrial properties.

PHILADELPHIA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Until recently, when a mother, school nurse or coach watched a child fall down and knock their teeth out, all they could do was wipe the tears and prepare for the large dental bills it would take to fill the gaps.

Since teeth die within 15 minutes of an accident, it was almost impossible to get to a dentist fast enough.

Dental bills ($10,000 or more), as well as associated bridgework, pain and lawsuits, can be avoided by using a new first aid product, the Emergency Tooth Preserving System. The system, based on 25 years of dental trauma research, can, for 12-24 hours, store, preserve and help save most of the millions of teeth knocked out each year.

Dr. Henry J. Rankow, president of the Pennsylvania Association of Endodontics, said, "The Emergency TPS is FDA-approved and has been evaluated and recommended for use by Clinical Research Associates and the Emergency Research Council Institute, leading independent dental and medical product testing laboratories."

It is being used by all U.S. Olympic Teams and most professional sports teams including the Philadelphia Eagles and New York Yankees. It was used to save three athletes' knocked-out teeth at this year's Goodwill Games.

The Emergency TPS's patented design facilitates lay use and its special preserving fluid and engineered net create the optimum environment in which to store, replenish and protect knocked-out teeth until a dentist can replant them.

Research has shown that one out of every 200 school-aged children and athletes both amateur and professional, have teeth knocked out each year.

Dr. Paul Krasner of Philadelphia, a specialist in tooth injury and the product's inventor, said, "Many institutions and businesses experience lawsuits related to knocked-out teeth; the Emergency TPS provides the best protection against them."

"Since the Emergency TPS is the only product designed to store knocked-out teeth, it best complies with the recommendations of the American Dental Association for the storage of knocked-out teeth," Krasner said.

Since teeth can be knocked out anywhere, the Emergency TPS is recommended to be available at all schools, hospitals, dentists' offices, ambulances, sports teams' training bags, first aid kits and day-care centers. Since 30 percent of all teeth are knocked out while children are at home, the system should also be located there.

SEATTLE (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Garuda Indonesia has announced orders for nine 747-400 and 16 737-300 airliners, Boeing Commercial Airplane Group said today. The announcement carries the 737-300 model over the 1,000-order mark and makes the 747-400 the most-ordered type of 747.

The Jakarta-based carrier today signed contracts for three of the 747-400s and eight 737-300s, with a total value of $700 million. In addition, the airline made public a 1989 order for six 747-400s and eight 737-300 twinjets. Taken together, the orders are valued at around $1.8 billion.

Garuda currently operates six 747-200 aircraft and six leased 737-300s, with two more leased -300s to come.

The new 747-400s will serve routes to the major cities of Europe, the Middle East, North America and Japan, while the 737s will serve major domestic trunk routes among the 17,500 Indonesian islands.

The 737-300s will be powered by CFM56-3 engines from CFM International, and the 747-400s by CF6-80C2 engines from General Electric.

Boeing has now received orders for 394 of the 747-400s, one more than the total for all types of 747-200s. The world's largest, most modern and longest-range jetliner, the 747-400 incorporates technical advances in aerodynamics, structural materials, avionics and engines. In addition, a redesigned interior presents a roomier look and has larger stowage bins for carry-on items. Orders for the 747 family now have reached 1,118.

The Boeing 737-300 is the best-selling model of the new-generation 737 twinjet series, becoming one of the few airliner variants to exceed 1000 orders. Orders for the 737-300 now total 1,001. Altogether, 737 family orders are now 2,880.

For 1990, Boeing has announced 483 orders for all types of jetliners with an approximate value of $42.85 billion.

HAMILTON, BERMUDA, (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Sea Containers Ltd. (NYSE: SCR), lessor of marine cargo containers and ferries and ports operator, announced today that net earnings for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990 were $24.3 million on revenue of $121.5 million. Earnings per common share were $4.42 For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, net earnings were $339.5 million ($45.95 per common share), however, these amounts include a capital gain of $290 million arising form the sale of some of the company's container, ferry and port assets earlier in the year. Excluding this gain, net income for the nine months was $49.5 million and after deducting $8.2 million of preferred share dividends, earnings on common shares were $41.3 million. The company forecast earlier in the year that it would earn $47.4 million on common shares for the full year 1990 and James P. Sherwood, president, said that it now looked likely net income on common shares would be within 10 percent of this target. The fourth quarter is not a strong earnings period for ferries, ports and hotels and currently very high fuel costs will cause hovercraft operations to underperform. Sherwood said that the company was unable to reassess as yet is earnings per common share forecast for 1991 because the budgeting process was not complete, but he said it was likely the company would earn more than the $47.4 million on common shares originally forecast for 1990, assuming there is no adverse change in business conditions form those currently prevailing. Comparison of 1990 earnings with 1989 are not meaningful because of the asset sales.

Sherwood pointed out that in 1990, the average number of common shares outstanding for purposes of calculating earnings per common share should be 6.65 million. Assuming no new common shares are issued in 1991, the average number of common shares outstanding in 1991 for purposes of calculating per share income will be 4.9 million, so if the company were top earn $47.4 million on common shares in 1991, its net income per common share would be $9.67. The reduction in average shares arises from purchases of common shares by the company and its subsidiaries earlier this year. Shares so purchased by subsidiaries remain outstanding and voting but are not counted in computation of earnings per common share.

Sherwood said the company's marine container leading business was performing well, with utilization and rates firm. Operation "Desert Shield" is stimulating container demand as earlier predicted. Refrigerated container utilization has been edging upwards. Container repair depot income was down somewhat in the quarter, reflecting less containers currently available for repair or refurbishment but this is an indicator of a strong underlying lease market. The company's two new standard dry cargo container factories are now producing units in volume and leases have been concluded for all production until well into 1991. The company is still bearing a higher overhead cost in its Container division that would be normal, but as new containers flow into service no additional overhead is being created so incremental profitability of new containers is exceptionally high. The company sold its standard dry cargo container fleet, having an average age of 8 years, earlier this year and is replacing it with a brand new fleet which will have substantially lower repair costs. The company decided to keep its worldwide network of offices and agents in place during the new container build-up period, thus the higher than normal overhead expense. The company expects to purchase more than $100 million of new containers in 1991.

Ferries and ports have performed well this year, although higher than expected fuel costs and the impact of high interest rates on U.K. tourist travel have somewhat dampened earnings. Higher fuel costs should be recovered through higher fares for 1991. The company's revolutionary car-carrying catamaran, "Hoverspeed Great Britain," continued to set records when it made the crossing from mainland Britain to the Isle of Man in 1 hour and 30 minutes on Nov. 6.

The Hales Trophy for the Blue Riband of the Atlantic will be presented to the company in a ceremony aboard the ship at Tower Bridge in London on Nov. 19. All the start up costs of the operation of this first vessel have been charged to provisions. The second vessel will enter service on the mainland Australia-Tasmania route in mid-December and bookings are excellent. The third and fourth vessels will commence operation on the Dover, England to Calais and Boulogne, France routes in time for the peak season of 1991, replacing two of the company's aging hovercraft which will be retired. Sherwood said that valuable experience had been gained through trial operation of the first ship of the Portsmouth, England to Cherbourg, France route this year and as a result a number of improvements have been made to the units following in the series.

Sherwood said that the asset sales earlier in the year had greatly increased the company's financial strength and that a number of interesting investment opportunities in or relating to the container leasing and ferries businesses were under active investigation.

PHOENIX, ARIZ (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - The Keebee Corp. (OTC "Pink Sheets"/Bulletin Board: KEBE) today announced the following arrangements.

First, Keebee has agreed to acquire for $5 million to be paid over a five-year period, 250,000 tons of separated ore concentrates. Keebee intends to purchase and process the material. Keebee believes that this material contains precious metals which Keebee will be able to recover and sell profitably. The new improved technology for the extraction and recovery of these metals will be used on an environmental clean-up project which will produce, as a by-product, iron hydroxide which can be used by the agricultural community to enhance depleted soils. However, it is too early to project the value of the precious metals or the cost of separating them from the ore.

Second, Keebee has cancelled the agreement announced in June 1990 wherein Keebee issued 33,750,000 shares of its common stock in exchange for two debentures with face amounts of $50 million each. The reason for the cancellation was the failure of the two companies issuing the debentures to provide financial statements indicating that such issuers had sufficient net worth to be able to pay the principal and interest due on the debentures. The 33,750,000 shares have been returned to Keebee.

First quarter revenues were $2,208,742, up 85 percent from $1,193,310 in the 1989 first quarter. Net income rose 21 percent, to $259,733, or $.06 per share, as compared with $214,312, or $.05 per share in 1989. The company anticipates that it will continue to expand its installed base by fine-tuning its program with current customers and by introducing its new AccuBalance(TM) five-step quality assurance program. A test program with Montgomery Ward was recently expanded from 17 systems to 40; additional discussions with large tire retailers in both the U.S. and abroad are progressing well, according to Newton.

NEPTUNE, N.J. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - USLIFE Corporation (NYSE: USH) today hosted a meeting at its operations center in Neptune, N.J. for more than 50 securities analysts, portfolio managers and other members of the financial community who closely follow this major life- insurance holding company. The purpose of this second annual meeting was to provide the attendees with a current status report on the Corporation's positive financial position and investment strategy in light of frequent media reporting on solvency problems being experienced by some insurers within the life insurance industry.

In his opening remarks, Gordon E. Crosby, Jr., chairman of the board, president and chief executive officer of USLIFE, stated: "One of our principal objectives today is to put our own operations in perspective and, thereby, distinguish and separate USLIFE from our more troubled peers. While we do have our share of challenging opportunities, our overall financial and management strengths are formidable and give us very valid reasons to demonstrate why we are different."

Complementing Crosby's remarks, other members of the company's senior management discussed the high quality of the bond and real estate portfolios, the adequacy of reserves, and the stock repurchase program initiated in 1981.

Specifically, USLIFE invested assets totaled $3.6 billion as of Sept. 30, 1990. Fixed income investments account for 97 percent, or $3.5 billion, of invested assets, including $2.7 billion in bonds and redeemable preferred stocks, $444 million in mortgages and $289 million in policy loans. The remaining 3 percent is for investments in real estate ($50 million), joint ventures and other long-term investments ($28 million), and equity securities ($25 million). Of total invested assets, only 1.1 percent are either defaulted bonds or delinquent mortgages. USLIFE substantially increased its investment grade bonds to 93 percent of its total bond portfolio as of Sept. 30, 1990 as compared to 83 percent on Dec. 31, 1989. USLIFE invested assets as of Sept. 30, 1990 included approximately $184 million book value of less than investment grade securities with a market value of approximately $124 million. Approximately $40 million in book value of these securities, or about 1 percent of invested assets, were classified as "problem securities." Of that group, only $21 million with a market value of $9 million were in default or bankruptcy as of Sept. 30, 1990.

In the real estate market, USLIFE's exposure is comparatively modest with real estate investments amounting to approximately $50 million and a mortgage portfolio totaling $444 million which, collectively, represent approximately 14 percent of total invested assets and considerably below the industry average of 30 percent. Foreclosed real estate in these portfolios amounted to $32.5 million of book value, or less than 1 percent of invested assets, as of Sept. 30, 1990. Mortgages delinquent 60 days or more or in foreclosure amounted to $17.9 million, or 4 percent of the mortgage portfolio.

USLIFE has limited new mortgage investments to fully occupied general-purpose properties and, therefore, has little or no exposure to construction loans, land acquisitions, speculative developments or management-intensive specialty businesses such as hospitality or health care.

With new mortgage lending activity sharply curtailed for some time, USLIFE's existing portfolio is well-seasoned and geographically diversified on a national scale with no undue concentration by region or metropolitan area.

The USLIFE stock repurchase program was extended by the board of directors on Nov. 13, 1990 for a one-year period through October 1991. Through Nov. 9, 1990 USLIFE repurchased an additional 1,350,100 shares of its common stock at a total cost of $48.4 million. Treasury stock purchases commenced in 1981 and since that time USLIFE has acquired 10.4 million shares of its common stock to date for a total cost of $329.8 million with an average cost per share of $31.67 as compared to book value per share of $58.81 as of Sept. 30, 1990. Cumulative purchases represent more than 46 percent of the 22.2 million common shares outstanding when the program commenced in 1981.

Other presentations at this meeting included status reports on USLIFE's life insurance subsidiaries plus current marketing strategy, marketing results, new product introductions, as well as a discussion of life insurance industry sales trends.

WESTFIELD, NJ (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - E'town Corporation (NASDAQ-NMS: EWAT), announced today that the company's board of directors increased its quarterly cash dividend from $.74 to $.75 per common share and declared a 3-for-2 stock split of E'town common stock.

The fourth quarter cash dividend $.75 per common share will be paid Dec. 21, 1990, to holders of record on Dec. 7, 1990. The 3-for-2 stock split will be effective Jan. 18, 1991, to holders of record on Jan. 4, 1991.

DANVILLE, VA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Dibrell Brothers Incorporated (NASDAQ-NMS: DRBL) (Dibrell), a wholesale supplier of tobacco leaf for the cigarette industry, said today that the final purchase price of the Brazilian tobacco operations it acquired from R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company (RJRTC) was in dispute, and that RJRTC had filed suit to enjoin the release of an independent audit confirming a final and fair valuation of the assets purchased.

According to Dibrell Chairman, Mr. Claude B. Owen, Jr., Dibrell purchased the Brazilian leaf and cigarette manufacturing operations from RJRTC in early April, 1990 and simultaneously sold the cigarette business to Philip Morris. The purchase agreement was for Dibrell to pay $9 million, plus up to $41 million for the tangible net worth of the company as determined by Ernst & Young in a final audit of the closing balance sheet. On receipt of Ernst & Young's determination, the agreement stipulated that RJRTC would reimburse Dibrell within five business days for any difference between RJRTC's valuation and that made by Ernst & Young.

"All parties anticipated that RJRTC would reimburse some of the money to Dibrell," said Mr. Owen. "Apparently, due to large losses in RJRTC's Brazilian cigarette operations, resulting in part from certain Brazilian Government economic initiatives, Ernst & Young has determined that the tangible net worth is substantially less than was represented on RJRTC's closing balance sheet." He added, "According to RJRTC's complaint, the tangible net worth is some $35 million less."

The complaint filed by RJRTC in Superior Court, Forsyth County, North Carolina alleges that the valuation of the assets does not use the valuation accounting method required by the purchase agreement, and that it would result in a financial windfall for Dibrell. It also charges that Ernst & Young acted improperly and unfairly in valuing the property, encouraged by Dibrell. "We believe that RJRTC's case is totally without merit and we intend to pursue this litigation vigorously," said Mr. Owen.

"We have successfully done business with RJRTC for many years on the basis of mutual confidence and a handshake. It is incredible that they have now taken this exraordinary legal action against Ernst & Young in order to delay repayment to Dibrell of the amount due us under the contract."

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Frederick's of Hollywood Inc. (AMEX: FHO) today reported the second consecutive year of record high earnings and sales.

Net earnings for the year ended Sept. 1, 1990, advanced 39 percent to $4,242,000, equal to $.75 per share, from $3,043,000, or $.54 per share, for the prior fiscal year. Sales for fiscal 1990 rose 23 percent to $98,573,000 from $80,073,000 a year ago.

For the fourth quarter ended Sept. 1, 1990, net earnings increased 37 percent to $1,066,000, equal to $.19 per share, from $777,000, or $.14 per share, for the corresponding prior year period. Sales for the three month period rose to $24,067,000 from $19,266,000 for the prior year's fourth fiscal quarter.

Earnings per share amounts for both prior year periods have been adjusted to reflect a 3-for-2 stock split, effected in the form of a stock dividend effective May 15, 1990.

George W. Townson, chairman and chief executive officer, said both the Frederick's of Hollywood retail store network and mail order subsidiary showed strong gains for the year. The Frederick's stores posted a 41 percent increase in operating profits for the year, on a 21 percent sales increase. Comparable store sales rose 12 percent. During the year, 25 new Frederick's stores were opened, and six were closed.

Townson stated that the mail order subsidiary for fiscal 1990 recorded a 38 percent increase in operating profits on a 30 percent sales improvement. More than 25 million catalogs were distributed throughout the year.

"Proceeding into the first quarter of the new fiscal year, we are experiencing a slower rate of sales growth, due largely to general uneasiness in the consumer sector," said Townson. "We are closely monitoring inventories and expenses to keep pace with current business conditions. Today's economic environment notwithstanding, we are confident of achieving another successful year," Townson added.

At fiscal year end, the company operated 178 specialty boutique stores in 37 states and a mail-order division serving customers in all 50 states.

MINNEAPOLIS, (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Life USA Holding, Inc. today reported results for the third quarter of 1990 and for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990. Life USA consolidated net income for the third quarter was $810,553, compared with $1,367,898 for the same quarter last year. Total nine-month consolidated net income was $4,557,630, compared to $1,811,956, for the same period last year.

Total consolidated revenues of the company increased by 49 percent to $22,064,013 for the third quarter of 1990, compared with total consolidated revenues of $14,765,016 for the third quarter of 1989. Total nine-month consolidated revenues were $60,897,295, compared with $48,319,372 of revenues for all of 1989.

The company's total consolidated assets were $135,527,129 at the end of the third quarter of 1990, compared with total consolidated assets of $23,072,089 at the end of 1989. In the third quarter, capital surplus increased from $15,193,374 to $19,690,434.

During the third quarter, the company's subsidiary, LifeUSA Insurance Company (LifeUSA) and Transamerica agreed to end their current exclusive reinsurance arrangement, effective Jan. 1, 1992, or sooner, at the option of LifeUSA. The company anticipates announcing agreement soon with a number of major national and international reinsurers, to form a "pool" of reinsurance to support the growth of LifeUSA in the future.

Chairman Robert W. MacDonald said, "We believe the new reinsurance arrangements will be very beneficial to LifeUSA's long-term growth. Currently, LifeUSA is well positioned for a continuation of sales growth in the fourth quarter. The Universal Annuity Life policy, which has already doubled life production, promises to show even stronger growth. Due to a shift in marketing emphasis to life insurance, which takes a longer period of time to generate income, the company anticipates a loss in the fourth quarter of 1990. However accelerated recruiting and sales efforts during the final quarter should favorably impact sales results now and into 1991."

LifeUSA's third quarter collected life and annuity premiums were $149,490,039 compared to $88,794,496 for the third quarter of 1989. Total life and annuity premiums for the first nine months of 1990 were $426,099,041, compared with $283,181,634 for all of 1989.

The number of agents representing LifeUSA is currently more than 17,000 agents nationwide.

The company's stock is not publicly traded. The company currently has more than $1.3 billion of life insurance in force.

MADISON, NJ (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Schering Corporation, a subsidiary of Schering-Plough Corporation (NYSE: SGP), and Enzon, Inc. (NASDAQ: ENZN), announced today that they have signed an agreement to develop a longer-acting form of Schering-Plough's "Intron A" alpha interferon, using Enzon's proprietary protein-based drug delivery technology "Pegnology".

Under the agreement with Enzon, Schering-Plough will be responsible for conducting and funding the clinical studies and obtaining regulatory approval, and will have exclusive worldwide marketing rights to the product.

"Intron A" is a genetically engineered anticancer and antiviral agent, approved in 57 countries and marketed in 43 countries for 16 disease indications. In the United States, "Intron A" is approved for use in hairy cell leukemia, AIDS-related Kaposi's sarcoma and condylomata acuminata (venereal warts). An advisory panel to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) in July 1990 recommended approval of "Intron A" for the treatment of chronic non-A, non-B hepatitis.

The agreement provides that Enzon will receive sequential payments, totaling about $6 million, tied to achievement milestones in the product's development program. Enzon is currently in the process of scale-up manufacturing of PEG-alpha interferon. Preclinical testing, prior to filing an Investigational New Drug Application with the FDA, is being conducted by Schering-Plough.

Enzon's drug delivery technology involves chemically attaching polyethylene glycol (PEG) to enzymes, proteins and certain other biopharmaceuticals, thereby improving certain therapeutic effects of these compounds. This process has been applied to a wide variety of polypeptides, including enzymes, interleukins, growth hormones, monoclonal antibodies and interferons.

Enzon, located in South Plainfield, N.J., is a leading biopharmaceutical company developing improved therapies for life-threatening diseases through the application of "Pegnology" to enhance the delivery of protein-based drugs.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - AIM Capital Management Corp. announced today several proposals involving four American Insured Mortgage Investors (AIM) Limited partnerships it manages, including one to reduce their current asset management fees.

The disclosure was made in a letter being sent to unitholders of the partnerships, which also contains other proposals on which they will be asked to vote at a special meeting. No data for the special meeting has been set.

Included in a proposed amendment to the partnership agreements aimed at protecting the AIM partnerships from "reorganization transactions," including roll-ups. This amendment will prohibit such transactions unless approved by a super-majority of 80 percent of the unitholders.

Other amendments would limit for five years, except for cause, the removal of the managing general partner and the termination of the advisory agreement with the advisor to the AIM Partnerships. However, the limitation for Integrated Resources, Inc., the parent of AIM Capital, the current managing general partner of the AIM Partnerships, would be for only 12 months in order to allow Integrated to seek a qualified purchaser.

Under its proposal, AIM Capital would cut the current annual asset management fee for each partnership to 0.95 percent. Fees currently in effect are 1.75 percent of invested assets for American Insured Mortgage Investors; 1.50 percent for AIM 85; 1.25 percent for AIM 86; and 1.25 percent for AIM 88.

"The fee reduction will help increase the return of unitholders on their partnership interest," said Stephen D. Weinroth, chairman.

The proposals are designed to allow AIM unitholders to retain the benefit and value of their current partnership investments in the face of a hostile exchange offer by affiliates of CRI, Inc., to roll-up the partnerships, and to help facilitate the orderly sale to a qualified purchaser of the managing general partner and the advisor of the AIM Partnerships.

In the letter, Weinroth also reconfirmed that Integrated continues to seek a qualified buyer for the managing general partner and advisor of the AIM Partnerships. He stated that Integrated, currently in Chapter 11, was engaged in discussions concerning the sale of those units.

Revenues for the quarter were $4,952,000 as compared to $5,470,000 for the third quarter of 1989. The current quarter reflects a continued decrease in permanent placements prevalent in the sluggish Northeast market partially offset by temporary help revenues of approximately the same as the third quarter of 1989.

"The loss for the current three month period was primarily due to several factors including the substantial decrease in permanent placement revenues, the write-off of costs related to the reorganization of certain operations which is expected to improve operating results in future periods, and costs related to new and expanded operations including Fisher Todd, Winston Advertising and Winston New Jersey," according to Sy Kaye, Winston's president and chief executive officer.

MOUNT LAUREL, NJ (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Marlton Technologies, Inc. (AMEX: MTY) today reported net income of $1,141,676, or $.34 per share, for the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared with a net loss of $270,908, or $.08 per share for the same period of 1989. For the nine months, net income was $1,095,481, or $.33 per share in 1990, as compared with a net loss of $866,509, or $.26 per share in 1989.

The company pointed out that for the periods ended Sept. 30, 1990, non-operating income increased by approximately $1,636,000, primarily due to the sale of its Audio Information Sciences, Inc. (AIS) common stock, and a gain on the redemption of its AIS Class B preferred stock. It also pointed out that 1990 financial results included the performance of Sparks Exhibits Corp., its 100 percent owned subsidiary, for the two month period (August and September) after its acquisition. For those two months Sparks had sales of $1,206,617, and net income of $130,744.

The company also stated that it intends to pursue the acquisition of companies in lines of business similar to or complementary to Sparks trade show and exhibit business, and to continue to explore other business opportunities. The company reported that its strong cash position and the availability of its large federal tax loss carryforward should facilitate the implementation of a carefully planned acquisition program.

CHARLOTTE, NC (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - CCAIR, Inc., doing business as USAir Express (NASDAQ: CCAR), today announced a net loss for its first fiscal quarter ended September 30, 1990 of approximately $1,286,000 or $(.22) per share. For the comparable period in 1989, the Company reported a net loss of approximately $1,799,000 or $(.32) per share. Total operating revenues increased approximately $1,199,000 or 8.1 percent in the three month period ended September 30, 1990 over the three month period ended September 30, 1989 and total operating expenses increased approximately $41,500 or .2 percent in the three months ended September 30, 1990 as compared to the three month period ended September 30, 1989.

The Company's increased revenues are primarily attributable to its increased share of joint fare revenue received as a result of the settlement with USAir regarding the division of joint fare revenues under the Service Agreement. The Company's bankruptcy proceeding necessitated a decrease in scheduled flights during the first quarter. As a result of the schedule reduction, the Company's aircraft were underutilized, but still generated fixed expenses, which contributed to the Company's first quarter loss. The Company's first quarter results were also impacted by substantial increases in fuel costs and the lack of growth in the airline industry as a whole.

Kenneth W. Gann, newly appointed President and CEO, expects significant improvements in the operation of the airline with the November 1, 1990 implementation of a reduced flight schedule, which, he believes, matches the current market potential. The new schedule is operating at a 46.1 percent load factor with a 99.5 percent completion and 92.1 percent on-time record for the first 14 days of November.

The Company is in the process of developing a plan of reorganization and the Bankruptcy Court has granted an extension to file the reorganization plan by December 11, 1990.

NORTHBROOK, IL (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Woodhead Industries Inc. (NASDAQ-NMS: WDHD) today reported net income for the fiscal year ended Sept. 29, 1990 of $5,020,000, a 17 percent increase from $4,300,000 in the previous year. Excluding an after-tax charge of $297,000 for the settlement of a lawsuit, net income was 23.7 percent higher than in fiscal 1989.

Earnings per share rose 15 percent to a record-high $1.56 from $1.36 in the previous year. Sales for the 1990 fiscal year reached a record $72,168,000, up from $71,443,000 in the 1989 fiscal year.

Alan Reed, chairman and chief executive officer, said the increased earnings were primarily due to improved margins and the company's continued focus on higher-profit, value-added products.

Reed noted that the 1990 sales gains were achieved despite the fact that in recent years, Woodhead divested or discontinued the sale of less profitable or commodity-type products that formerly contributed more than $12 million in annual sales.

"These sales have been replaced by sales of more profitable products with considerable future growth potential," Reed said.

For the fiscal fourth quarter, Woodhead had net income of $1,319,000 for a record $.42 per share compared with $1,125,000 or $.35 per share in the year-ago period. Sales for the 1990 fiscal fourth quarter were $17,130,000 compared with $17,030,000 in the 1989 fiscal fourth quarter. Net income as a percentage of sales increased to 7 percent, up from 6 percent last year.

For the fifth consecutive year, Woodhead is reporting increases in return on assets: 12.6 percent compared with 10.3 percent in 1989, and return on equity: 18.4 percent compared with 17.7 percent in 1989. The company's total debt has been reduced from $15.9 million in fiscal 1988 to $153,000 at the end of fiscal 1990.

Reed noted that with the aggressive marketing of new products in domestic and global markets Woodhead is looking forward to another year of growth and profitability.

On another matter, the company also announced today the consummation of the acquisition of Advanced Interconnect Inc., a privately held manufacturer of premium-quality custom cable assemblies located in Uxbridge, Mass. With annualized sales of approximately $5 million, Advanced Interconnect's focus on narrow segments of growth in the high- tech electronics markets has earned it a reputation for quality, service and innovation that adds a significant new dimension to Woodhead Industries' potential for the coming year.

Woodhead Industries Inc., headquartered in Northbrook, Ill., develops, manufactures and markets premium quality, Safety Yellow(R) specialty electrical devices and mechanical motion control products for industrial applications.

HOUSTON (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - GTE Corp. (NYSE: GTE) and Contel Corp. (NYSE: CTC) announced today that they have selected Atlanta as the headquarters location for the companies' combined mobile-cellular business, following completion of the proposed merger.

Also, GTE will establish a support staff in Atlanta for the GTE Telecommunications Products and Services (TP&S) organization, which was formed earlier this year with Terry S. Parker as president.

Representatives from both companies examined the current GTE and Contel Cellular (NASDAQ: CCXLA) headquarters cities of Houston and Atlanta, respectively, for about six weeks. The study team concluded that Atlanta offered more advantages, in terms of office space and lease commitments, based on projected growth and needs.

GTE will continue to maintain a presence in Houston through its GTE Mobilnet Texas region operation.

As previously announced, the combined cellular operations of GTE and Contel will become part of TP&S. TP&S consists of GTE Government Systems, GTE Information Services, GTE Mobile Communications and GTE Spacenet. GTE Airfone, also part of the group, will report to Parker.

"It is too early to say how many and which GTE or Contel employees will be part of the cellular-headquarters staff in Atlanta," Parker said. "Much work remains in finalizing our staffing and other transition recommendations, and then implementing them once the merger is complete, which could be as late as the second quarter of 1991. We do not expect any employee relocations before then."

Cellular Business to Serve 51 Million POPs

Upon completion of the proposed merger, which requires stockholder approval and regulatory review, the combined cellular business would rank as the second largest U.S. cellular-telephone operation, serving about 51 million "POPs" (the population of a market area multiplied by a company's percentage ownership in the cellular system serving that market).

GTE Mobile Communications provides mobile-cellular telecommunications services and products in 46 metropolitan-service areas and nine rural-service areas in 13 states. It has approximately 700 employees in Houston; 350 of them are in the mobile-cellular headquarters operation and 200 work in GTE Mobilnet's Texas region.

Contel Cellular, which provides mobile and portable-telephone services in 36 metropolitan markets in the U.S., has approximately 350 employees in its Atlanta headquarters.

GTE subsidiaries operate in 46 states and 41 countries, with combined revenues and sales of $17.4 billion and net income of $1.4 billion.

Contel, a company with $3 billion in annual revenues and sales, provides a broad range of telecommunications products and services.

TOKYO, JAPAN (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Honda Motor Co. Ltd. (NYSE: HMC) today announced its unaudited consolidated financial results for the fiscal second quarter and half-year ended Sept. 30, 1990.

Honda's consolidated net income for the fiscal second quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990 totaled Y21.9 billion ($159 million), increasing by 25.6 percent over the corresponding three-month period last year. Net income per Common Share for the quarter under review amounted to Y22.22 (16 cents) compared to Y17.76 for the same period a year ago. Net income per American Share, each representing two Common Shares, was Y44.44 (32 cents) compared to Y35.52 for the corresponding three months last year.

Second quarter earnings rose because of increased automobile revenue and a reduction in non-operating expenses due to elimination of foreign exchange losses.

Consolidated net sales for the quarter amounted to Y1,019.3 billion ($7,387 million), a 14.5 percent rise over a year ago thanks mainly to increased automobile revenue and the weaker yen.

However, consolidated operating income fell due to higher depreciation costs and increased selling, general and administrative expenses resulting from intensified competition in major automobile markets, totaling Y47.2 billion ($343 million), a 14.0 percent decline from last year's second quarter.

Reviewing the second quarter by product sector, motorcycle revenue totaled Y96.8 billion ($702 million), increasing by 29.2 percent mainly due to favorable overseas sales. Automobile revenue advanced by 11.2 percent, to 725.4 billion (5,257 million), owing to favorable sales in Japan and North America, improved model mix and the weaker yen.

Power product revenue rose by 2.9 percent, amounting to Y23.5 billion ($171 million), thanks to increased revenue from European and North American sales. Parts and other revenues totaled Y173.5 billion ($1,257 million), up 24.0 percent due to increased sales of parts worldwide.

For the first half-year ended Sept. 30, 1990, consolidated net income totaled Y45.4 billion (330 million), a 39.3 percent increase over the six months ended Sept. 30, 1989. Higher revenue from automobile sales and lower non-operating expenses as a result of eliminated foreign exchange losses were the major factors for the rise in earnings.

Net income per Common Share amounted to Y46.11 (33 cents) compared to Y33.32 for the corresponding six months a year ago. Net income per American Share, each representing two shares of Honda Common Stock, totaled Y92.22 (67 cents) compared to Y66.64 for the same period ended September last year.

SCOTTSDALE, AZ (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Giant Industries Inc. (NYSE: GI) announced today that it has increased its estimate of proved coal seam gas reserves located in the San Juan Basin to 32.4 BCF, an increase of 104 percent over last year's reserve estimate of 15.9 BCF. Based on current prices and available Federal Income Tax Credits, the present value of future net revenue from these reserves is estimated to be approximately $50 million. This figure includes approximately $29 million in benefits from Federal Income Tax Credits. The company retained Miller and Lents Ltd., an independent consulting firm, to assist in preparing the coal seam gas reserve estimates and valuation.

With recently enacted legislation, Federal Tax Credits on coal seam gas were extended two years for both drilling qualified coal seam gas wells and for using the tax credit. Coal seam gas wells spudded before Dec. 31, 1992 will generate Federal Tax Credits through Dec. 31, 2002.

In light of the Federal Tax Credit extension, Giant is re-evaluating the timing of its coal seam gas drilling program with increased emphasis on capturing this opportunity. The company's current plans for 1991 include drilling 30 new coal seam gas wells, 40 new oil wells and reworking 40 existing oil wells. Giant continues to seek undeveloped acreage and is actively acquiring existing production where it believes enhanced value can be created through future development.

Giant has pioneered the development of shallow coal seam gas wells in the southwest portion of the San Juan Basin. Until Giant's development of coal seam gas wells in the area, the southwest portion of the San Juan Basin was not considered to have commercial coal seam gas reserves.

Giant Industries Inc. is primarily a refiner and marketer of petroleum products, supported by natural gas and crude oil exploration and production. It is the largest, most sophisticated refiner and one of the leading independent crude oil producers in the Four Corners area of the southwestern United States.

TROY, MI (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Energy Conversion Devices Inc. ("ECD") (OTC: ENER) today reported its operating results for the three months ended Sept. 30 1990.

The company reported new business agreements which result in the expansion of marketing and production capabilities through joint ventures and licensing agreements to further commercialize ECD's technologies.

Ovshinsky, president and chief executive officer, summarized the company's recent commercial activities by noting that Ovonic Battery Company, Inc. ("OBC") entered into an important royalty-bearing license agreement with Gates Energy Products, Inc. ("Gates") in batteries, and ECD has expanded its Soviet joint venture to include the manufacture of batteries. Gates and Sovlux have joined Hitachi-Maxell Ltd. of Japan and Varta Batterie AG of Germany as OBC licencees.

Ovshinsky further noted that ECD has now received a total of approximately $10 million from its Soviet joint venture partner in connection with the photovoltaic and battery agreements.

Under the license agreement with Gates, ECD/OBC have granted Gates a nonexclusive, royalty-bearing license to make, use and sell small portable batteries for consumer and OEM applications worldwide. The agreement provides for certain lump sum payments as well as running royalties. Gates is the largest portable rechargeable battery company in North America.

Under the recently expanded agreement with its Soviet joint venture partner, OBC granted the joint venture, Sovlux, an exclusive, 3 percent royalty-bearing manufacturing license for the U.S.S.R. and non-exclusive sales rights worldwide under ECD's proprietary Ovonic metal hydride batteries. The Soviet partner is contributing its existing battery manufacturing facilities and know-how to Sovlux and will fund Sovlux's new battery manufacturing operation. In October 1990, ECD received $1,150,000 for battery equipment for the Sovlux joint venture.

OBC is also supplying negative electrodes to a battery manufacturer in Hong Kong for manufacture into batteries and is negotiating additional licenses. OBC is also in active negotiations with automotive companies in the United States, Japan and Europe to scale-up its proprietary batteries for use in electric cars.

Ovshinsky also noted that he was extremely pleased that the company's Soviet partner has now paid in full $8.7 million for the two megawatt proprietary photovoltaic production equipment ECD is constructing for the 50-50 Sovlux joint venture. He noted that the parties are now discussing plans to construct a large-volume (100-150 megawatt), fully automated photovoltaic plant to achieve economies of scale thereby reducing the cost of solar energy so that it can become competitive with conventional fuels such as coal, gas and oil, as well as uranium.

During the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, ECD and its consolidated subsidiaries, which exclude ECD's subsidiaries, OIS Optical Imaging Systems, Inc. ("OIS") and United Solar Systems Corp. ("USSC"), ECD's joint venture with Canon, Inc. of Japan had total revenues of approximately $3,168,000. ECD's business agreements to license and develop new products and production technology generated revenues of approximately $1,729,000. Product sales, including machine-building contracts, were approximately $941,000, and other income was approximately $498,000.

The decrease in the consolidated loss for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, to $1,179,000 compared to the $1,302,000 loss for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1989, is a result of additional revenues from business agreements, increased product sales and reduced expenses, due principally to funding of photovoltaic expenses in 1990 by USSC, partially offset by the gain on the sale of OIS common stock in 1989 and an additional expense for 1990 related to certain obligations.

Contributing to the improved operating results are revenues from Inland Steel in the area of magnets and superconductivity. Under the superconductivity program, ECD, using its proprietary fluoroxide ceramic materials technology, is developing and further optimizing high- performance, high-temperature superconducting materials. ECD and Inland Steel are currently in discussions to expand both the superconductivity and magnet programs.

ECD's operating results for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990 and 1989 are as follows:

ENERGY CONVERSION DEVICES INC.

	Three Months Ended Sept. 30, (Unaudited) (In Thousands)
	1990	1989
REVENUES
Revenues from business agreements	$ 1,729	$ 667
Product Sales including machine building contracts	941	802
Other	498	223
Gain on sale of OIS Common Stock and Option		2,268
TOTAL REVENUES	$ 3,168	$ 3,960
OPERATING EXPENSES	$ 4,347	$ 5,262
NET (LOSS)	$(1,179)	$(1,302)
NET (LOSS) PER SHARE	$ (.19)	$ (.21)

The increase in revenues from business agreements from $667,000 in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1989, to $1,729,000 in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, was primarily due to agreements in 1990 with Gates in batteries and with Inland Steel in the areas of magnets and superconductivity. Included in the first-quarter results is approximately $1,000,000 of license fees from the Gates agreement with the balance of the amounts due to be recognized over the next several years.

Product sales increased from $802,000 in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1989 to $941,000 for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, due to machine-building contract in 1990 with ECD's joint venture partner in the U.S.S.R. and increases in sales in 1990 of X-ray mirrors, partially offset by the fact that 1989 included ECD's photovoltaic operations and product sales. USSC, whose financial statements are not consolidated, assumed these photovoltaic operations effective July 6, 1990.

ECD, based in Troy, is the pioneer in amorphous and synthetic materials technology. The company and its subsidiaries form joint ventures, license technology and manufacture and sell products in the fields of energy, information and synthetic materials based upon technology ECD and its subsidiaries have developed. ECD's photovoltaic and battery products are environmentally safe and address such environmental problems as atmospheric pollution, protecting the ozone layer, reducing hazardous waste and the greenhouse effect.

DETROIT (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - General Motors (NYSE: GM) has announced plans to sell North American-produced GM passenger cars and commercial vehicles in Yugoslavia beginning early in 1991. This will represent the first official effort by any U.S.-based manufacturer to export vehicles to Yugoslavia.

In a formal ceremony scheduled for 9 a.m. Friday, Nov. 16, Sead Dizdarevic, president of Sarajevo, Yugoslavia-based YK, will meet with GM International Export Sales (IES) Executive-in-Charge Dale R. Hermiller to officially sign the paperwork, and to place an initial order for 450 new 1991 North American-produced GM vehicles.

Beginning in January 1991, Dizdarevic will sell and service Chevrolet Corsica, Pontiac Grand Prix and Bonneville, and Cadillac Sedan DeVille models.

"Our target is to sell 1,000 vehicles next year from the Sarajevo dealership," said Dizdarevic. He added that the Sarajevo dealership will employ sales and service personnel dedicated to the GM North American vehicle business.

"The Yugoslavian market is just opening and we're proud to be the first North American car company to establish a presence," said Tom Olmsted, IES' director of European Marketing Operations.

Near future plans for YK include opening additional sales and service outlets beginning next spring specifically for GM North American vehicles. The service outlets will be located in the Yugoslavian cities of Split, Zagreb and Belgrad.

Dizdarevic emphasized his interest in providing quality service outlets to support his new Yugoslavian customers. In addition to the four YK sales and service locations, he intends to establish a network of 17 service outlets within a year.

"We're very pleased to be able to officially move into the Yugoslavian market with our North American products," stated Hermiller. "This is a very positive indication of the changes taking place in Eastern Europe which are opening up new business opportunities."

Last year, about 300,000 new cars were sold in Yugoslavia. YK estimates approximately 25 percent of those vehicles were imported.

WALTHAM, Mass. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Hologic, Inc. (NASDAQ: HOLX) today announced that net income for the fourth quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, increased 96 percent to $820,989 or 20 cents per share (on a fully diluted basis), compared with net income of $419,608, or 14 cents per share, for the fourth quarter of 1989. Fourth quarter revenues increased 57 percent to $5,461,610 from $3,485,756 for the same period a year ago.

For the year ended Sept. 30, 1990, Hologic reported net income of $2,628,043 or 74 cents per share (on a fully diluted basis), an 87 percent increase from $1,402,890 or 48 cents per share, for fiscal 1989. Total revenues grew 77 percent to $20,438,582 for 1990, up from $11,519,388 in 1989.

The provision for income taxes for fiscal 1990 increased to an effective tax rate of 30 percent, compared with an effective tax rate of 17.3 percent for fiscal 1989, due primarily to the reduction of the availability of net operating loss carryforwards.

"We look forward to an exciting year in 1991 during which initial shipments of two new products are planned," said S. David Ellenbogen, chief executive officer and president. "Shipments of our new QDR-2000 system with lateral scanning capability are scheduled to begin in the second quarter of the fiscal year and the release of pre-production Computed Equalization Radiography (CER) systems are targeted for mid-year with production systems scheduled later in the year. The QDR-2000 is our flagship product in bone densitometry which offers significant new diagnostic capabilities. The CER system is a new product designed to obtain chest X-rays films of higher image quality than conventional methods.

"While we expect first quarter bone densitometry revenues will be equal to or lower than the first quarter of fiscal 1990, we expect the full year to be improved over 1990 due to the introduction of the QDR-2000 which has a higher unit price than our other bone densitometry systems. The uncertainty in the first quarter is due to a continued slowing of orders from Europe after a very strong sales year in Europe in 1990 and some delays in orders from customers awaiting the availability of the QDR-2000. However, our major distributors have provided us with indications that orders over the full year will be satisfactory.

"Orders received from U.S. customers have increased during the last several months and we expect this trend to continue through the year. Per unit revenues on U.S. direct sales are higher than those on sales through distributors. Increased sales are forecasted in Asia due to the opening of a second distribution channel, Yokogawa Medical Systems, in Japan. In addition, we expect expanded and strengthened distribution in other foreign markets through both General Electric and Siemens."

Hologic, Inc. develops, manufactures and markets proprietary X-ray systems. The company's QDR-1000 X-ray bone densitometers are used for the precise measurement of bone density to assist in the diagnosis and monitoring of osteoporosis and other metabolic bone diseases. Osteoporosis, a condition characterized by decreased bone density and increased risk of fractures, occurs primarily in older women.

CHULA VISTA, CA (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Rohr Industries (NYSE: RHR) reported earnings per share of 26 cents on record sales of $320.7 million for fiscal year 1991's first quarter, which ended Oct. 28. It was Rohr's third consecutive profitable quarter since suffering an unexpected loss in the first quarter of last year.

Sales increased 37 percent over fiscal 1990 first quarter's $234.5 million. Fourth quarter 1990 sales were $318.8 million.

The company's operating margin was 5.9 percent of sales for the second consecutive quarter. Operating income was $19.0 million for the first quarter and $18.8 million for fourth quarter 1990.

The industry is scheduled to deliver nearly 800 commercial aircraft this year. Rohr believes the industry will average 500 deliveries per year in the 1990s about 25 percent more than the 1980s' average.

Contributing to increased commercial sales were deliveries for the Pratt & Whitney PW4000, General Electric CF6-80C, and CFM International CFM56-5 nacelle and the McDonnell Douglas MD-11 pylon programs. The Federal Aviation Administration certified the MD-11 Nov. 8 enabling McDonnell Douglas to begin customer deliveries.

Pricing changes led to improved operating results in supplying Grumman F-14 fighter inlets and nacelles. The company expects improved pricing for Boeing 757 struts (pylons) beginning in January 1991 and Boeing KC-135 nacelles a year later. Negotiations are underway for a May 1991 follow-on contract for the McDonnell Douglas MD-80 airliner.

Two new facilities were opened during the first quarter. Rohr Europe, a subsidiary, opened a facility that more than doubles the unit's building space in Toulouse. Separately, a new subsidiary, Rohr HTA Inc., opened a facility in Texas to fabricate components from advanced metals for aerospace applications. HTA stands for high-temperature aerostructures.

Rohr designs, integrates, manufactures and supports aircraft engine nacelle systems and components for commercial, military and business aircraft. Rohr, headquartered in Chula Vista, Calif., has facilities in the United States and Europe.

MANDALUYONG, Metro Manila (NOV. 14) PR NEWSWIRE - Dennis R. Belmonte, president and chief executive officer of Benguet Corporation, reported that consolidated net income for the third quarter amounted to P20,800,000 (US$800,000), or P0.18 (US$0.007) per share, a decline of 3 percent compared to the earnings of P32,800,000 in the second quarter of this year, and by 64 percent compared to the earnings of P57,700,000 in the third quarter of 1989. Net income for the nine-month period amounted to P176,800,000 (US$6,800,000) or P1.56 (US$0.41) per share, 37 percent lower than the P259,900,000 earnings for the same period last year.

Although consolidated net earnings for the quarter are lower, operating income actually improved from the operating loss reported for the second quarter of the year. This year's to date earnings came principally from the Dizon mine and from the sale of the company's investments in shares of stock, partly offset by losses from Benguet and Paracale gold operations.

The Dizon Mine contributed P98,500,000 (US$3,800,000), an increase of 136 percent from the earnings of P41,700,000 for the same period in 1989. For the nine-month period, earnings were P238,300,000, compared to the earnings of P192,100,000 last year. Lower production output due to the hard-to-grind ore currently being mined will soon be resolved with the construction of the crushing and screening plan scheduled for completion by December of this year.

Despite the damage caused by the earthquake of July 16 this year, the loss from mining operations at the Benguet Gold Operations was reduced by 62 percent to P22,200,000 (US$880,000) during this third quarter, compared to the loss of P59,300,000 for the same quarter in 1989 partly because of the higher price of gold and of lower operating costs and expenses. For the nine-month period, losses were lower by 14 to P73,800,000 (US$2,900,000) this year from P85,900,000 for the same period in 1989.

The Masinloc Chromite Operation generated earnings of P2,100,000 (US$80,000) this quarter representing a 316 percent increase from last year's income of P500,000 despite an 18 percent decline in shipments. For the nine-month period earnings likewise increased to P10,400,000 (US$410,000) from P600,000 in 1989, as the average cost of chromite shipped per tonne decreased to US$68 from US$75 in 1989.

The Paracale Gold Operation generated net earnings for this quarter of P3,300,000 (US$126,000) compared to the loss of P14,000,000 in the same period in 1989 brought about by the increase in gold prices, as well as a non-recurring adjustment in the prior quarters' depletion rate booked in the accounts this quarter. However, for the nine-month period, losses amounted to P34,800,000 (US$1,400,000), slightly better compared to the losses of P36,600,000 for the same period in 1989.

Losses from metal (gold and copper) trading amounted to P14,800,000 (US$580,000) this quarter compared with earnings of P36,900,000 mostly for gold traded in the same quarter last year. This quarter's losses were from the termination of copper hedging contracts for 3,306,900 pounds of copper. For the nine-month period, losses from metal trading amounted to P22,700,000 (US$880,000) compared to the earnings of P96,000,000 in 1989 for the same period.

Benguet Management Corporation (BMC), a 100 percent-owned subsidiary, and its subsidiaries reported a consolidated loss of P15,000,000 (US$500,000) for the third quarter, and P28,000,000 (US$1,100,000) for the nine-month period compared to earnings of P4,100,000 and P47,500,000 for the same respective periods in 1989. Losses were mostly from Philippine Cocoa Estates Corporation, a 59.5 percent owned subsidiary of BMC.

TULSA, OK (NOV. 15) PRWIRE - Hawkins Energy Corp. (NASDAQ: HECI) today reported revenues of $1,560,000 for the third quarter of 1990; this is a 14 percent increase over the pro forma results during the third quarter of 1989. The increase in revenue for the three month period primarily resulted from a 456 percent increase in compressor sales and rentals that offset a 30 percent decrease in oil and gas sales. Net income of $19,000 (1 cent per share) was reported for the third quarter of 1990 compared with a pro forma net loss of $229,000 (7 cents per share) for the third quarter of 1989. For the first nine months of 1990, revenues were 12 percent higher than the same period of 1989.

Thomas F. Ostrye, the company's president, said that he was pleased with the increased revenue coming from the company's gas compression operations. "The company is postured for significant growth in all of its business sectors," Ostrye said.

Hawkins Energy Corp. was formed in December, 1989, after limited partners in ten oil and gas drilling partnerships approved the exchange of partnership units for common stock. The pro forma results reported for 1989 reflect the financial consolidation of separate business entities, each with its own restrictions and objectives.

oil and gas production and the remanufacturing, sales and leasing of gas compressors through its wholly owned subsidiary, Equity Compressors Inc. Hawkins Energy's common shares are listed on NASDAQ under the symbol HECI. The company currently has 3,282,864 outstanding shares of common stock.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - MCI Communications Corporation (NASDAQ-NMS: MCIC) today announced a realignment to better address the competitive marketplace and to posture the company for future growth in the 1990s.

The restructuring creates a new Consumer Markets unit; consolidates the present seven domestic divisions into four larger business divisions within a new Business Markets unit; and forms a new Network Services organization to meet future network operations and service requirements related to both markets. MCI's International Division will continue to guide the company's aggressive marketing of global voice, data and messaging services.

"MCI has successfully restructured its organization several times before to capitalize on opportunities in the telecommunications industry. Today's announcement reflects an organizational flexibility that allows us to achieve operating efficiencies to meet challenges we see ahead," Bert C. Roberts Jr., president and chief operating officer, said today.

"These shifts are driven by our recognition of the changing economic conditions that most businesses are experiencing and the competitive marketplace which demands a new market driven organization structure in order to grow marketshare," he said. "Change has been a hallmark of MCI and we are once again proving our willingness to change the way we do business to win new marketshare."

At the same time, he said, "although MCI anticipates that its future growth will exceed that of the overall market, the downturn in economic conditions, the overall cost of restructuring, intense competition in the market and the costs of assimilating Telcom-USA, are negative constraints on the company's financial performance for the next several quarters."

Roberts added that the restructuring of the organization could result in a displacement of approximately 1,500 people over the next six months.

TULSA, OKLA. (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - BancOklahoma Corp. (NASDAQ: BOKC) announced today that it has begun discussions with George Kaiser concerning his acquisition of the interest in Bank of Oklahoma, N.A., to be retained by the company after Kaiser purchases the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.'s interest in the bank.

Kaiser previously has announced his agreement with the FDIC to purchase the Bank of Oklahoma preferred stock owned by the FDIC which is convertible into 99.99 percent of the common stock of Bank of Oklahoma. Current discussions between Kaiser and BancOklahoma concern his acquisition of the 0.01 percent interest in Bank of Oklahoma that BancOklahoma would hold after the conversion of the Bank of Oklahoma preferred stock.

No terms or conditions for the acquisition of BancOklahoma's interest have been established, and any agreement must be approved by banking regulators and by BancOklahoma's shareholders.

The FDIC acquired its equity interest in Bank of Oklahoma in 1986 when it injected $130 million of capital into Bank of Oklahoma, Oklahoma City, which was merged into Bank of Oklahoma as part of that transaction. Last year, the FDIC announced its desire to sell its interest. In August of this year, it accepted bids, and Kaiser's bid was selected out of this process. The FDIC has agreed that a bank holding company formed by Kaiser may make available a limited amount of its common stock for the purpose of acquiring BancOklahoma's interest in Bank of Oklahoma.

Bank of Oklahoma is the largest bank in Oklahoma, with assets of $1.8 billion and 14 locations in the Tulsa and Oklahoma City metropolitan areas.

(NASDAQ: BKNT), an Atlanta-based chain of 75 specialty women's apparel stores, and Heirlooms Inc. the company's Philadelphia-based majority owned manufacturing subsidiary of women's apparel, expects to report a consolidated loss for the third quarter ended Nov. 3.

Last year, the company reported consolidated third quarter net earnings of $23,000 or $.01 per share.

Management did not disclose the amount of the anticipated loss, but expects to report a year-to-date loss for the nine months ended Nov. 3.

For the six months ended Aug. 4, the company reported consolidated earnings of $296,000 or $.09 per share.

Operating results were on plan through August 1990. The company experienced a sharp decline in planned sales revenues during the months of September and October attributable to the decline in general economic conditions brought on by the Mid-East crisis as evidenced by rising oil prices and reduced consumer spending.

Management is taking the necessary action during this period of uncertainty to reduce expenses and control inventories, for both the fourth quarter and fiscal year 1991 in anticipation of flat or declining sales revenues.

SPRINGFIELD, IL (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Horace Mann Educators Corporation (HMEC), an insurance holding company, reported earnings before interest, taxes and amortization (EBITA) of $17.5 million for the third quarter ended Sept. 30 1990, an increase of $3.8 million over the third quarter 1989.

EBITA for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, is ahead of the prior year for all businesses, but primarily for property/casualty and life. Year-to-date EBITA of $54.2 million increased $20.3 million from the prior period. Reductions to indebtedness under HMEC's bank credit agreement continue ahead of schedule.

Paul J. Kardos, president and chief executive officer, stated: "We are pleased with the results which continue to be strong despite the numerous difficulties facing the insurance industry today."

Results from HMEC's agent recruiting efforts began to be realized during the third quarter. The Horace Mann agency force experienced growth in each month of the quarter.

Property and casualty results continue improvement over the prior year. The prior year includes higher than usual losses as a result of Hurricane Hugo. More normal weather-related losses were experienced during the current quarter. As a result, the combined loss and expense ratio to premium (statutory basis) improved from 108.7 percent for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1989, to 103.9 percent for the current quarter.

The year-to-date property and casualty combined ratio is 102.6 percent. The Horace Mann property and casualty combined ratio is significantly better than the industry average. Through the six months ending June 1990, the industry average combined ratio was 109.6 percent, which compares to 102.0 percent for Horace Mann.

The 5 percent growth in life insurance in force over the prior year and improved retention of annuity business has resulted in the consistent earnings in these businesses.

For the third quarter 1990, interest expense on long-term debt was $13.6 million, of which $9.8 million was cash interest expense, and the amortization of intangible assets related to the leveraged buyout was $4.9 million.

HMEC is an insurance holding company primarily engaged through its subsidiaries in providing personal lines of property/casualty and life insurance, annuities and group life and health insurance products. HMEC's business originated in Springfield, Ill., in 1945. HMEC markets its products through its agency force, primarily to teachers and other employees of public

DETROIT (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - First of Michigan Capital Corporation, whose principal subsidiary is First of Michigan Corporation, reported that consolidated net income for the fiscal year ended Sept. 28, 1990, was $3,872,089, or $1.54 per share, compared to $1,668,655, or 68 cents per share for the 1989 fiscal year. Revenues were $44,428,454 compared to $37,641,524 in the prior year.

For the three months ended Sept. 28, 1990, First of Michigan Capital Corporation earned $126,230, or 4 cents per share on revenues of $9,980,605. Fourth-quarter net income for fiscal 1989 was $465,139, or 19 cents per share on revenues of $10,025,297.

John G. Martin, president and chief executive officer, reported that the increase in revenues for the 12-month period includes a gain of $5,062,352 related to the sale of a security held in the company's investment account. In addition, he said that increases in interest income and revenues from stock commission business and mutual fund sales also contributed to the increase in 12-month revenues. Partially offsetting these increases were declines in revenues from the sales of new issue stocks, limited partnership interests and municipal and corporate trading activities. Martin said that revenues decreased for the quarter because of lower revenues from principal activities which again were partially offset by increases in interest and agency commission revenues.

Martin also reported that net income for the 12-month period includes an unusual gain of $2.4 million (97 cents per share), after taxes and other expenses related to the sale of a security held in the investment account. He also said that net income for the 12-month and three-month periods was increased by $470,000 (19 cents per share) and $208,000 (9 cents per share), respectively, due to the utilization of a net operating loss carryforward caused by the discontinuance of a wholly owned subsidiary.

Martin also indicated that, because of industry conditions, the results for the 12-month and three-month periods are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the upcoming fiscal year.

Martin reported that First of Michigan Corporation continues to be the strongest of any Michigan-based broker-dealer, with total capital at an all-time high of more than $27.5 million.

Martin also reported that the consolidated earnings for the three months ended Sept. 28, 1990, includes Smith, Hague & Co., Incorporated, which was merged with First of Michigan Corporation effective March 30, 1990.

IRVING, TEXAS (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - Michaels Stores Inc. (AMEX: MKE) reported today that its net income for the third quarter ended Oct. 28, 1990, totalled $578,000, or 6 cents per share, a 77 percent increase over its $326,000, or 3 cents per share, net income for fiscal 1989's comparable period. The specialty retailer's sales for the latest quarter increased 19 percent to $85.4 million, from $72 million a year earlier.

For the nine months, Michaels' net income amounted to $1,039,000, or 10 cents per share, on sales of $228.6 million. This compares with earnings of $946,000, or 9 cents per share, in the comparable 1989 period, when sales were $185.7 million.

Noting that it continues experiencing healthy sales levels, the company nevertheless attributed its third quarter profits principally to pricing, purchasing and inventory management controls implemented earlier in the quarter.

According to President Donald G. Thomson, "Michaels plans to continue improving its balance sheet while aggressively managing costs and simultaneously increasing sales." Thomas explained, "Given current market conditions, in addition to the better operational controls, we're placing our sales emphasis on current stores rather than on opening new stores."

During the recent quarter Michaels opened six stores, bringing new stores opened during 1990 to 17. Third quarter sales at the 109 stores in operation during 1989 and 1990 increased from $68 million to $72 million, or 6 percent. For the first nine months, same store sales increased 8 percent.

For the first nine months of fiscal 1991, net sales increased 9 percent to $374.6 million from $343.9 million for the first nine months of fiscal 1990. The first nine months of the current fiscal year resulted in a net loss of $259,000 or 1 cent per share, compared with earnings of $12.5 million or 62 cents per share in the same period last year.

In commenting on the results, Richard C. Anderson, president and chief executive officer of the direct merchant clothing firm, said that at the beginning of August, the company experienced a fall-off in demand similar to that which others have reported. "However, this was followed by a strong response to our children's catalog, the September issue and the new merchandise offered throughout the quarter. Although this substantial rise in demand was encouraging, we were not able to translate it into sales because of inventory shortages," said Anderson.

"The added costs associated with the large increase in lost sales and making shipments at our expense to fill the higher than normal level of backorders, as well as lower gross profit, contributed to the third quarter's earnings drop as it did in the previous quarter," said Anderson.

The decrease in gross margin in the third quarter, 40.1 percent of net sales compared with 42.9 percent in the same period last year, was due to lower initial markups on regular catalog merchandise and higher markdowns on liquidations of excess inventories. Liquidations as a percentage of sales were relatively the same in the quarter just ended as in the similar period last year.

Selling, general and administrative expenses rose 23 percent in the third quarter because of an increase in the number of catalogs mailed, higher shipping and handling costs associated with relatively higher lost sales and backorders, and a $2.0 million, or 6 cents per share, one-time charge for the cost of relocating the company's Chicago office to Dodgeville. As a percentage of sales, SG&A was 39.7 percent in fiscal 1991, compared with 35.7 percent in fiscal 1990.

Third quarter ending inventory was $101.7 million, down from $120.4 million at the same time last year.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - The Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) today placed Action Savings Bank, S.L.A., Somers Point, N.J., in receivership and chartered a new federal mutual institution to take its place.

The new institution, Action Federal Savings Bank, will assume certain assets and liabilities of the old thrift, and will operate in conservatorship under the management of the Resolution Trust Corporation.

The receivership did not result in any interruption of Action Savings's day-to-day operations. The institution will remain open for business as usual. Holders of insured accounts are not affected by the takeover, which was approved by OTS to protect insured depositors and the interests of the thrift insurance fund. Deposits remain insured to the $100,000 legal limit.

OTS initiated the receivership because Action Savings was operating in an unsafe and unsound condition in that it had insufficient capital, with no prospect of replenishment without federal assistance.

Action Savings's condition is due primarily to an overwhelming level of non-performing assets resulting from poor underwriting and a depressed local real estate market.

More than 50 percent of the thrift's portfolio is composed of high-risk assets including land, construction and commercial real estate loans, many of which are no longer generating earnings.

As of Sept. 30, 1990, Action Savings had troubled assets of $87.5 million, or 33.4 percent of total assets, and delinquent loans of $57.87 million, or 22.1 percent of assets. As of the same date, the institution had an operating loss of $22.37 million and a net loss of $18.55 million. The institution is insolvent in that it has negative tangible capital.

Action Savings Bank, S.L.A., was a state-chartered stock association. Shareholders will retain no interest in the new institution.

As of Sept. 30, 1990, Action Savings Bank, S.L.A., reported assets of $261.97 million, liabilities of $261.14 million and tangible capital of negative $210,000 for a tangible capital-to-assets ratio of negative 0.08 percent.

SAN FRANCISCO (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - BEI Electronics Inc. (NASDAQ: BEII), a San Francisco-based diversified technology company, achieved record sales for fiscal 1990 ended Sept. 29, Peter G. Paraskos, president and chief executive officer, announced today.

Sales were $93,438,000, up 28 percent from the $73,039,000 reported for fiscal 1989. Net income was $6,773,000 compared to $6,920,000 posted in the prior fiscal year. Earnings per share for fiscal 1990 were $1.00 compared to $1.30 recorded one year ago primarily due to the increased number of shares outstanding after the July 1989 initial public offering.

For BEI's fourth fiscal quarter sales were $34,289,000, up 46 percent from the $23,488,000 reported in the prior year. Net income was $1,898,000 compared to $2,355,000 posted in the fourth quarter of fiscal 1989. Earnings per share for the fourth quarter were 28 cents compared to 35 cents in the same period of fiscal 1989.

The results of the fourth quarter and fiscal 1990 include three months of sales from the four recently acquired divisions of the Systron Donner Co. and six months of sales from the encoder business which was acquired from Litton Industries earlier this year.

"The slight decline in net income for fiscal 1990 reflects the shipment delays experienced by BEI Defense Systems Co. and the costs associated with the reorganization, consolidation and interest expense connected with the assimilation of two major acquisitions," he said. "BEI Defense Systems Co. has experienced shipment delays on its HYDRA-70 rocket motors due to technical and financial problems of suppliers the company is required to use the Government " Paraskos said. "The Defense Systems Co.," he added, "is diligently working to correct these supplier problems."

"BEI's Fiscal 1990 results were also adversely impacted by the establishment of a reserve to cover the anticipated settlement of claims stemming from a government investigation of BEI Defense Systems Co. that originated with a present and a former employee of Defense Systems." Paraskos further stated that, "the company believes the reserve established is sufficient to achieve a settlement of those claims."

"BEI ended fiscal year 1990 with a record backlog of over $131 million," Paraskos noted, "and should have a good base for solid performance during fiscal 1991."

"Looking to the future, the two acquisitions which were completed during fiscal year 1990 provide BEI with promising new technologies for growth and business diversification opportunities, including commercial and industrial applications, and the ability to achieve product and marketing synergies and increased productivity through economies of scale," Paraskos said.

BEI Electronics designs, manufactures and markets electronics, ordnance, motion control systems and components, precision accelerometers, rate sensors and inertial measurement systems, pressure transducers and fluid handling products for use in military, commercial, industrial and aerospace applications. The company has major operations in California, Arkansas, Texas and Massachusetts.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - United States Banknote Corporation (AMEX: UBK) today reported net income for the third quarter (ended Sept. 30) of $239,000, compared to a loss of $190,000 for the third quarter of 1989. When adjusted for preferred stock dividends, the company ended with a net loss of 3 cents per share versus a net loss of 4 cents per share for the 1989 quarter. Revenues for the third quarter were $33.5 million compared to $13.3 million for 1989s comparable period.

Results for 1990 reflect the merger of International Banknote Company, Inc., with U.S. Banknote Company L.P. Results for 1989, which are operating results for U.S. Banknote Company L.P., have not been adjusted. The combined company is the largest private printer of stamps, banknotes, travelers checks, food stamps and stock certificates in the United States. Revenues for the year ended Dec. 31 are expected to be in excess of $125 million.

Net income for the first nine months of this year was $4.2 million compared to a net loss of $162,000 for the equivalent 1989 period. On a per-share basis, the company reported a nine-month net profit -- again, reflecting preferred-stock dividend adjustments -- of 62 cents for 1990, versus a net loss of 3 cents for the 1989 period.

United States Banknote specializes in a type of printing called "security" printing. Security printers use a type of engraving called intaglio, which is used in the production of stock certificates, currency, travelers checks and other documents of value. The company is also the world leader in holography, producing all of the 3-dimensional holograms used in the Visa, MasterCard and Euro-Card credit cards.

During the third quarter, the company realized $6.5 million from the auction of a portion of proofs of postage stamps as well as banknotes dating back to 1810. The proceeds were used to prepay bank debt of $2 million maturing on Dec. 31, 1990, and $4.5 million maturing on Dec. 31, 1991. "One of the primary elements of our business plan is to reduce our merger debt as rapidly as possible," said Weissman. An auction of banknote proofs is scheduled at Christie's for Nov. 28, 1990, with others planned in 1991 and 1992.

(NYSE: CHX), an East-Texas based chicken firm, today reported record net sales of $720.6 million for the fiscal year ended Sept. 29, 1990, an increase of 9.0 percent over net sales of $661.1 million for the previous year. Net income for the year totaled $15.6 million, or 69 cents per share, compared with net income of $20.3 million or 90 cents per share for fiscal 1989.

For the quarter ended Sept. 29, 1990, the company reported net sales of $191.3 million, an increase of 8.1 percent over net sales of $177.0 million for the comparable period in 1989. Net income for the quarter totaled $3.6 million, or 16 cents per share, compared with net income of $4.2 million, or 19 cents per share for the same period last year. Net income for the quarter and fiscal year ended Sept. 29, 1990 includes a benefit of $2.1 million resulting from the company's reversal of deferred income taxes previously provided on undistributed earnings of the company's Mexican subsidiaries.

According to Lonnie A. "Bo" Pilgrim, chairman and chief executive officer, "The company's historic growth and improved performance in the prepared foods-further processing operation generated the record production volumes and revenues this year. Lower earnings were caused by lower poultry prices offset by improved earnings from the company's prepared foods-further processing operation. Our emphasis for the next two years will be fine-tuning our operations to maximize profits."

HOUSTON (NOV. 15) PR NEWSWIRE - National Asset Bank (a bank in liquidation) (NASDAQ: NABK) today announced its results of operations for the three and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990.

For the three and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the bank recorded net decreases in net assets of approximately $906,000 and $5 million, respectively compared to net decreases in net assets of approximately $10 million and $26.8 million for the three and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989, respectively. The decrease in net assets in the nine month periods ended Sept. 30, 1990 and 1989 included liquidating distributions of approximately $6.2 million and $12.4 million, respectively. As of Sept. 30, 1990, the net assets of the bank totaled approximately $58 million, or $1.40 per share of common stock, compared to approximately $63 million, or $1.52 per share, as of Dec. 31, 1989.

Net expense from the liquidation of assets of the bank for the three month periods ended Sept. 30, 1990 and 1989, were approximately $595,000 and $3.8 million, respectively. The liquidation of assets for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, resulted in net income of approximately $2 million compared to a net expense of approximately $14.1 million for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989. Included in income for the nine month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, was a net unrealized gain of approximately $3.3 million that was due to a one-time nonrecurring increase in the fair value of the bank's assets from the elimination of the 12-1/2 percent management and servicing fee previously payable to First Interstate Bank of Texas N.A. (FI) under a management and servicing agreement (the "management agreement") with such entity that was terminated in April 1990.

The termination of the management agreement has reduced the overall administrative costs of collections of the bank as a percentage of total collections. Although there can be no assurances with respect to such matters the bank currently anticipates that the additional costs that are expected to be incurred by it in the management and servicing of its own assets should be less than the 12-1/2 percent management fee that was previously payable to FI under the management agreement.

For the three and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the bank had cash receipts of approximately $1.2 million and $12.7 million, respectively, compared to cash receipts of approximately $6.3 million and $18.5 million for the three and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989, respectively.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - Saudi and U.S. forces began a joint military exercise Thursday deemed non-provacative but dubbed "Imminent Thunder," maneuvers in the Persian Gulf region that will be a major test for land, air, and sea units.

Scheduled to end the day President Bush arrives in the Red Sea town of Jeddah for a Thanksgiving Day visit with U.S. forces, the exercise will include a mock amphibious assualt about 100 miles south of Kuwait and a link up of Marines and Saudi troops about 25 miles from the border.

The exercise will include Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps units along with Saudi Air Force, navy and marine units. Nearly all Air Force units in the region will have some role in the exercise.

The Pentagon did not specify the size of the U.S. military force involved and left it to Saudi Arabian officials to disclose their own participation levels. But officials said 1,000 Marines and 1,100 U.S. aircraft will participate as will 16 Navy ships.

Defense sources said the most foward unit was a small Marine combat group equipped with tanks. It will work a little more than 25 miles south of the Kuwati border with a Saudi unit to make sure that allied forces successfully linkup and operate together.

Described by Pentagon spokesman Pete Williams as the "most comprehensive, most ambitious" exercise so far in Saudi Arabia, the operation will feature an amphibious landing roughly near the town of Jubail, a port and industrial facility on the gulf coast.

Pentagon officials would not discuss intelligence aspects of the operation, but it is believed that electronic eavesdroppers would watch for the Iraqi reaction to the exercise. U.S. and Saudi units will also work to test their command, control and communication abilities. Iraqis in Kuwait were expected to be straining to learn what they could of the operation.

The amphibious exercise was the third to be conducted by Marines in the region. Two previous operations have taken place on beaches outside the gulf in Oman.

Williams said the operation "is not necessarily to bring all of this stuff to one place. For example, the Army's participation in this exercise will be largely a command post exercise. There will be no Army troops involved. One of the reasons you do this is to test your command and control and communications systems."

He said air support would not all fly in one area at one time but "will all be trying to communicate in a vary coordinated way so it will test in a very strict way their ability to command, control and coordinate all of these various air assets. ... The whole network will be connected up."

While the exercise was billed as a way to improve amphibious warfare skills and to train in joint and combined operations, it appeared to carry a warning to Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

Asked if the intent was to deliver a message to Saddam, whose troops overran Kuwait Aug. 2 and so far has ignored ten United Nations resolutions to withdraw, Williams said, "I will let people in the region draw their own conclusions from it."

The Marine unit taking part in the amphibious assaulat is part of the 4th Marine Expeditionary Brigade, and the land-based unit that will link up with a Saudi force is part of the 1st Marine Expeditionary Brigade. Air Force F-15s form the 1st Tactical Fighter Wing, stealth fighters form the 37th TFW, A-10 tank-killer jets from the 23rd and 354th TFWs, AWACs radar command and control planes from the 552nd wing and tankers will also participate.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The Republican National Committee laid off about 25 percent of its workforce Thursday in a post-election "restructuring."

In a brief statement, the committee said the roughly 75 cutbacks were part of "organizational changes to gear down from a midterm election and gear up for the 1992 cycle." It said the reduction was the same as one the committee had in 1987, following the last midterm election.

The RNC has about 300 full-time employees. In addition, an unspecified number of part-time employees reportedly were being cut. Mary Matalin, chief of staff for the RNC, said the laid-off employees would be paid through the end of the year. Party officials denied that the cutbacks were related to the GOP's performance in last week's election.

Overall, the party lost one Senate seat and nine House seats in the balloting. While that was far below initial party hopes, the midterm performance was better than usual for a party controlling the White House. In announcing the layoffs, Matalin said "all RNC employees are to be congratulated on jobs extremely well done."

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - President Bush, fulfilling a campaign pledge to clear America's polluted skies, signed a historic clean air bill Thursday that will require deep and costly cuts in urban smog, acid rain, toxic hazards and ozone depletion.

As he placed his signature on the legislation, a difficult compromise between economic and environmental interests that will touch virtually every major industry, Bush called it "truly a red letter day for all Americans" concerned about cleaner air.

"This bill means ... a cleaner America," he declared before an array of administration, congressional and industry and environmental officials who helped make the signing possible.

"Virtually every person in every city and every town will enjoy its benefits," Bush said. "It is simply the most significant air pollution legislation in our nation's history and it restores America's place as the global leader in environmental protection."

The bill largely follows the outlines of the clean air plan Bush sent to Capitol Hill last June - an initiative cited as the key factor in breaking the 13-year stalemate in Congress over strengthening and updating the 1977 Clean Air Act.

Approved 89-10 by the Senate and 401-25 by the House last month, the new law will tighten pollution controls over the next two decades at a vast array of industrial and commercial facilities, ranging from steel mills to power plants to the corner dry cleaner and gasoline station.

It also forces car makers to build less-polluting automobiles and the oil industry to make cleaner-burning "reformulated" gasoline, a double whammy expected to raise the cost of driving.

In signing the bill despite warnings that it will cost thousands of jobs and accelerate the nation's economic downturn, Bush pointed to the thickening air pollution that is exacting an even more fearsome toll in disease and premature death for an estimated 50,000 Americans a year.

"We all had tough choices to make," he said. "Some said we went too far and others said we didn't go far enough. But despite our differences, we all agreed on the goal: clean air for all Americans. And we agreed on the means: a new Clean Air Act."

Environmental organizations and businesses continued to debate the merits of the bill as Bush signed it into law.

"While business supports the act's clean air objectives, its costs to American consumers and workers cannot be sugar coated," said William Fay, administrator of the Clean Air Working Group, a coalition of 2,000 businesses.

But Jay Hair, president of the National Wildlife Federation, said: "We greet this long overdue initiative with a sense of pride in the environmental community and in the people of this country who have declared their inalienable right to clean air."

Bush's support for tougher clean air laws was a major break with President Ronald Reagan, who steadfastly opposed such legislation. The final bill emerged from 15 months of tortuous congressional deliberations marked by intense regional conflicts - especially over acid rain - and a titanic lobbying war between industry and environmental groups over how far and fast the nation should go in reducing pollution.

The legislation, which is slightly tougher and more expensive than Bush had proposed, seeks by the turn of the century to:

-Halve sulfur dioxide emissions from 111 coal-burning power plants in the Midwest, Southeast and Appalachia that have been identified as the major cause of acid rain damaging lakes, streams, forests and buildings in the Northeast and Canada. It is the first U.S. effort to combat acid rain.

-Achieve a 75 percent cut in 189 toxic or cancer-causing chemicals now routinely emitted by 250 different industrial sectors, including garbage, hospital and toxic waste incinerators. The bill gives new teeth to the previously ineffectual federal program to cut the 2.4 billion pounds of deadly air pollutants discharged by industry each year.

-Eliminate chlorofluorocarbons and three other widely used industrial substances that erode Earth's protective ozone layer. The phaseout schedule is slightly more aggressive than that required under an international treaty to protect Earth's ozone layer.

-Clean up most of the 96 cities where smog now exceeds federal health limits. The dirtiest nine of the 96 would have slightly longer to come into compliance with Los Angeles, the nation's smoggiest city, having until 2010. The bill tightens emission limits on big factories and extends controls to smaller facilities such as gasoline stations and print shops in the most polluted areas. It also counts on reduced smog- forming and carbon monoxide emissions from cars.

Administration officials say that when fully implemented in 2005 the bill is expected to cost $25 billion a year. Industry officials put the cost at $51 billion annually. Currently Americans spend $32 billion a year on clean air.

BOSTON (NOV. 15) UPI - Toys modeled after the sewer-dwelling Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and incorrigible cartoon character Bart Simpson may top your child's holiday wish list, but they could also lead to serious injury, a consumer advocate warned Thursday.

Attorney Edward Swartz released his 19th annual list of "ten worst toys," cautioning parents that some of the most popular toys on Christmas and Hanukkah lists "have the potential to kill or injure" children, who already suffer an estimated 600,000 toy-related injuries each year. The ten "worst" toys are:

- "Batman Batmobile" by Toy Biz Inc., comes equipped with hidden rocket launchers that fire two concealed plastic play rockets. A child could be injured falling on the Batmobile's plastic fins, Swartz said.

- "Assorted Small Wooden Toys" by L'Arbre A Jouer, distributed in the United States by FAO Schwartz, contains several small parts that children could choke on, he said.

- "Kaboom the Balloon Busting Game" by Just Toys Inc., contains contradictory instructions which increase the risk of a serious eye injury or choking.

- "The Real Ghostbusters' Ecto-Goggles" and "Ecto-Popper" by Kenner uses air pressure to discharge four soft foam pops, but could be used to fire other objects, Swartz said. The toy is particularly inappropriate because eyes should not be the focus for playthings, he said.

- "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles Pizza Thrower," by Playmates Toys Inc. rotates 180 degrees and adjusts for high or low trajectory blasts, but the temptation to shoot the pizza discs at people or animals may prove too tempting for children, Swartz said.

- "Crazy Hammer" and "Crazy Axe" distributed by Fine World International Trading Corp. are both heavy and hard enough to cause serious injury, he said.

- "Bart Simpson's Hang Arounds" by Spectra Star, a 13-inch lightweight nylon doll is recommended for hanging from bicycle handlebars, where it could easily become entangled in the bike parts and cause an accident, Swartz said.

- "Voice Changer Megaphone" by Boxer and distributed by Fine World

International Trading Corp., a battery-operated play megaphone amplifier, could lead to serious hearing impairment if played too close a child's ears, Swartz said.

- "Honey Pot Bear Stuffed Animal," a Nisbet bear made in England by Tide-Ridder Inc. comes with what Swartz condemned as an unnecessarily heavy crockery pot strung on a removable loop around the bear's neck. Children could also easily remove the bear's bow tie and its tight, sturdy elastic band.

- (tie) "MP5K Crossbow Target Game Set," Chap Mei item No. 7837, is propelled by a rubber band that could snap and cause an eye injury, and its darts have removable plastic tips.

- (tie) "Motorized Attack Force Weapon Set" by Esquire/Nichols, which Swartz described as a "little international terrorist kit" includes a knife, replica pistol and machine cap gun, which could cause hearing loss, eye injury or other accidents, and be mistaken for the real thing.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - David Hampton, whose arrest after posing as actor Sydney Poitier's son inspired the Broadway hit "Six Degrees of Separation," was arrested again on charges he used a toy gun to beat a taxi fare, court papers revealed Thursday.

The 26-year-old man was arrested Oct. 10 on the Upper East Side, the same neighborhood where he stole money from wealthy Manhattanites by convincing them he was Poitier's son, had become a college chum of their children and needed to borrow a few dollars.

Hampton, who told police he lives at the exclusive address of 820 Fifth Ave., served 21 months for second-degree attempted burglary in the 1983 case. The incident inspired playwright John Guare to write the current hit play "Six

In a police complaint filed in the most recent case, Hampton is accused of exiting a taxi at 92nd Street and Lexington Avenue after refusing to pay the fare.

He then pulled out "what appeared to be a small black handgun, pointed it directly at the cabbie through the open driver's window and said, 'Don't move "' said a Manhattan Criminal Court complaint. A witness quickly called 911 and reported seeing a man with a gun.

Police officers nearby responded to the call and apprehended a fleeing Hampton at 86th Street and Lexington Avenue. He was arrested on misdemeanor charges of menacing, theft of services and criminal possession of a weapon in the fourth degree.

Ever since the Broadway play inspired by his masquerade opened, Hampton has haunted its creators, demanding "some sort of acknowledgement." Several months ago, he crashed a Tavern on the Green party celebrating the production's success and demanded to speak with Guare and producer Bernard Gersten. He was asked to leave and he did so. Poitier has six daughters but no sons.

MIAMI (NOV. 15) UPI - Leaders of its Eastern Airlines' unions said Thursday that the carrier's reprieve in bankruptcy court has bought it a little more flying time but they doubt it will be enough to keep the airline alive. "I think it's just prolonging the agony. It's like a death watch going on," said Charles Bryan, president of the International Association of Machinists.

The airline won a reprieve from liquidation late Wednesday when federal bankuptcy Judge Burton Lifland said it could withdraw $15 million from an escrow fund to meet operating expenses. The judge said another $15 million could be withdrawn Dec. 3 if the airline meets operating projections.

E.J. Breen, a spokesman for Eastern's division of the Air Line Pilots Association, said the first $15 million was already spoken for to pay travel agents' commissions on tickets and to meet the Nov. 15 payroll. "That money is all gone," Breen said. "I think they're going to get two weeks out of it and then probably shut it down.

"They've lost $1.6 billion since March 4, 1989, and they were in bad shape before that. They need a major financial infusion and there's nobody out there who's going to give it to them.

"My feeling is that the body is still twitching but the plug has been pulled and Judge Lifland was not in the mood to sign a death certificate last night."

Unsecured creditors wanted Eastern liquidated immediately because it has failed to meet financial projections since court-appointed trustee Martin Shugrue took over in April. Shugrue argued that the carrier had a "reasonable prospect" of reaching self-sufficiency by February or March.

Lifland said he had heard no credible argument for liquidation and that there was a major public interest in preserving Eastern's 18,000 jobs and maintaining competition in the airline industry.

But the judge agreed that under bankruptcy proceedings, Eastern's assets belonged to the creditors. Eastern has been operating under Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection since March 9, 1989.

Shugrue, in a statement distributed to employees Thursday, said he was confident the airline would survive. He called the action of the creditors' committee "reckless and shameful" and said it could discourage passengers from booking Eastern.

"They have set back our efforts. Ironically, their actions could cause Eastern Airlines to spend more funds from escrow accounts than would otherwise have been needed," he said.

Shugrue said in court that the airline expected losses of $134 million between October and March 1991. The losses could mount to $163 million under a worst-case scenerio, he said. He added that if the airline was liquidated today, the unsecured creditors could expect only about $40 million, or two cents on the dollar.

"It's a shame he (the judge) is allowing more money to be poured down into this thing and lost," Bryan said. Bryan said Lifland appears to be looking after the interest of holiday passengers. "That's not what his job is. His job is to decide what's best for the estate. The unsecured creditors are the owners of Eastern. We (the employees) are one of the biggest unsecured creditors. It will further reduce our claim."

The airline owes employees for unused vacation time, deferred holiday pay and for claims that are legally unresolved, Bryan said. He predicted the airline would lose much more than Shugrue expected.

"It was a million dollars a day last summer when load factors were 60, 70 percent," he said. "Fuel costs have gone up. Load factors have gone down. They've got to be losing $2 million or $3 million a day." Eastern said its load factor for October was 55.02 percent.

CAPE CANAVERAL, FL (NOV. 15) UPI - The shuttle Atlantis's crew strapped aboard for a sky-lighting nighttime takeoff Thursday to carry a Pentagon spy satellite into orbit in the seventh and last top-secret shuttle mission.

Ending an era of clandestine shuttle operations, Atlantis and its five-man crew were scheduled to thunder away from the Kennedy Space Center shortly before 7 p.m. EST, sources said, four months behind schedule because of an elusive hydrogen fuel leak that grounded the ship in July.

With the shuttle fueled and ready for takeoff, the only question mark was the weather, with forcasters calling for a 60 percent chance of high winds or rain that could force a delay. Earlier, engineers fixed a balky shuttle cooling system at the launch pad to keep the ship on track for liftoff.

Commander Richard Covey, 44, an Air Force colonel, and Navy Cmdr. Frank Culbertson, 41, the co-pilot, Army Maj. Charles Gemar, 35, Air Force Lt. Col.

Carl Meade, 39, and Marine Corps Col. Robert Springer, 48, began strapping in aboard Atlantis shortly after 4 p.m.

The flight marks the seventh and last fully classified Department of Defense shuttle mission currently planned by NASA and the Defense Department. Two more Air Force shuttle missions are planned next year, but the payloads of both have been declassified, a move that will eliminate the need for elaborate security procedures at NASA and save the Air Force $80 million a year, according to a Pentagon source who asked not to be named.

The goal of Atlantis's flight is still classified, but the shuttle was thought to be carrying a spy satellite that may be used to support Desert Shield operations in the Persian Gulf region after the spacecraft is checked out, a procedure that typically takes a month or more.

Reporters and outside space experts, drawing on a variety of sources, speculated before launch that Atlantis's payload was either a photo-reconnaissance satellite or an electronic eavesdropping spy station capable of intercepting military communications.

While details about the satellite could not be immediately confirmed, NASA Administrator Richard Truly said last month Atlantis was scheduled "to fly a crucial, particularly these days crucial, national security mission," strongly hinting the payload will be used in the Iraqi crisis in some fashion.

Atlantis's landing date will not be revealed until 24 hours before touchdown at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. But sources who requested anonymity said the mission is scheduled to last three days, 23 hours and 55 minutes.

Symbolically, the end of classified shuttle operations reflects a Pentagon shift away from NASA's manned spaceplane in favor of unmanned rockets like a $173 million Titan 4 launched Monday that successfully boosted a military satellite into orbit.

By relying on fleets of Titan 4s, Delta 2s and Atlas 2 rockets, the Air Force will be relatively immune to the long launch delays that would be associated with the loss of another shuttle because of active production lines supplying a steady stream of launchers for Defense Department use.

Col. Frank Stirling, Titan program manager, said the United States' ability to launch high-priority payloads, crippled by the Challenger disaster, has been restored and that the Defense Department now has independent access to space.

"We have made a phenomenal recovery over the past several years with not only the Titan 4 program but also the medium launch vehicles, the Delta and Atlas programs, which have contributed considerably to our nation's restoration of space access," he said after the Titan launch Monday.

"There is not the same concern about putting all of our eggs in one basket. The concern the DOD had with the space shuttle program is that we had a four-orbiter fleet with no follow-on production or industrial base capability to provide any additional orbiters should we lose one or damage one.

With the Titan 4 program, however, "we have a continuing production line," Stirling said. "In that sense, a loss of one vehicle, as was the case with the shuttle, would not be the same situation with the Titan," he said. "Should we ever have a problem with a vehicle, we would still be able to recover and continue operations."

SAN DIEGO (NOV. 15) UPI - A federal judge rejected a plea Thursday to free a Cuban counterintelligence agent who is attempting to defect to the United States but faces deportation on allegations he is a national security risk.

Juan Manual Rodriguez Camejo, who claims he is no longer working for the Cuban government, was hoping to be released on bail while he pursues political asylum.

But U.S. District Judge Judith Keep deferred ruling on Rodriguez's bid to be released until after the Board of Immigration Appeals rules on the matter. Both parties in the case will now submit briefs to the administrative board by Nov. 20 in Arlington, Va., court officials said. No hearing before the board has yet been set. The asylum appeal, meanwhile, could take more than a year to decide.

Rodriguez, 40, was jailed at the Metropolitan Correctional Center after he and his wife, Mimna Montes de Oca Aldavert, 30, and daughter, Paola, 6, were arrested while trying to cross the U.S.-Mexican border illegally with a group of Mexican Oct. 29.

His wife and child were released on $2,000 bail each and are now living with Rodriguez's father-in-law in Beverly Hills while they too fight deportation.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service refused to grant bail to Rodriguez on allegations he is still a Cuban agent and poses a threat to national security.

Rodriguez has admitted he was a counterintelligence officer in Cuba and helped break up a CIA spy ring in 1987 by working as a double agent. However, he insists he is disillusioned with the Castro regime and is a genuine defector.

He had previously attempted to defect by contacting American diplomats in West Germany and authorities at the San Ysidro Port of Entry near San Diego. Rodriguez's lawyers have said he should be granted asylum because he is considered a traitor in Cuba.

Last week, an immigration judge agreed to set bail for Rodriuguez at $7,500, but the INS won a stay of the bail order from the Board of Immigration Appeals on Friday.

(NOV. 15) UPI - The United States could boost its total deployment in the Persian Gulf to more than half a Million, if all reservists under a new order by the Pentagon are sent to the region. Defense Secretary Cheney Wednesday authorized the activation of up to 72-thousand-500 more reservists to support Operation Desert Shield.

An Oregon State University administrator reportedly has escaped from Kuwait, where he had been in hiding since Iraq invaded more than three months ago. Oregon State announced in a statement Wednesday that Ernest Briskey made his way to Jordan earlier this week and contacted U-S officials. He plans to fly home Friday.

Eastern Airlines has been saved from liquidation. A federal bankruptcy judge in Washington late Wednesday evening allowed the beleaguered carrier to take 30-Million dollars from an escrow fund to meet its operating expenses... despite arguments from Eastern's UNsecured creditors that the airline should be liquidated.

Government researchers are denying charges they deliberately withheld life-saving information from AIDS patients. The National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases says it reported in June that adding steroids to standard drug treatment can cut in half the number of pneumonia deaths among AIDS patients.

The son of Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan Junior was jailed Wednesday in Alexandria, Virginia, on rape charges. Broadcast reports say Robert Lujan allegedly raped a woman early Sunday after she woke up and allegedly caught him burglarizing her suburban Washington, D-C, home. Police tracked him down by handing out composite sketches.

A jury in Livingston County, Missouri, has recommended the death penalty for a 69-year-old woman in the murders of four transient farm workers. The jury recommended life without parole on a fifth count. Faye Copeland was convicted on Saturday of five counts of first-degree murder. The victims' bodies were found last year buried in shallow graves or dumped in wells on farms in northwestern Missouri.

A Los Angeles man was sentenced to 25 years to life in prison Wednesday for poisoning his nine-year-old son with insecticides as part of a murder-suicide plan. 38-year-old Ronald Rennie pleaded guilty last month to first-degree murder. His son, Christopher, died during a 1988 Father's Day weekend visit to his father's townhouse.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - Eastern Airlines won a reprieve from liquidation Wednesday evening when a federal bankuptcy court allowed the beleaguered carrier to take more money from an escrow fund to meet its operating expenses.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Burton R. Lifland ruled that a total of $30 million could be withdrawn from the account in two increments of $15 million.

The first $15 million will be available immediately.

In his summation Lifland said the case was delicately balanced.

Lifland, who is overseeing Eastern Airlines' bankruptcy proceedings, heard arguments from unsecured creditors that Eastern should be liquidated immediately. But the company's court-appointed trustee said the carrier could be self-sufficient by early next year.

The judge issued his ruling at about 11:25 p.m. EST, after a marathon 8 1/2-hoursession in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in lower Manhattan.

''It is clear that there is a reasonable basis to come to the business judgment with respect to not liquidating the airline,'' Lifland said.

He added that he had heard no credible argument by the unsecured creditors committee that Eastern's assets should not be preserved on an ongoing business basis.

He said there was a major public interest at stake when considering liquidation. He cited Eastern's 18,000 jobs, the communities it serves and the ''danger of concentration'' that could occur if competition was lessened in the airline industry.

But he agreed with the creditors committee argument that, under bankruptcy proceedings, Eastern's assets belonged to the creditors.

''Nevertheless, I am not at all certain that the creditors committee has exercised better business judgment than the trustee,'' he said, referring to the court-appointed bankruptcy trustee Martin R. Shugrue.

Shugrue appeared as a witness at the hearing on a motion by Eastern's unsecured creditors committee that the airline should be liquidated.

The motion, which was filed Tuesday, said Eastern had failed to meet financial projections since Shugrue took over in April.

The creditors said losses for June through October totaled $370.8 million, whereas Shugrue had projected red ink of $197.1 million.

The judge said the $30 million was ''not necessarily the harbinger of huge losses.''

Shugrue last week asked for another $30 million this month and $40 million in mid-December from the escrow fund, which was set up from Eastern's asset sales including Latin American routes and the Northeast-corridor shuttle. He said Miami-based Eastern was making gains in winning back business travelers but that the airline needed more money to keep operating.

Some $257 million for unsecured creditors remains in the escrow fund.

Eastern has been operating under Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection since March 9, 1989.

Laymers for the creditors committee argued that fuel prices are unstable and could easily shoot up further if war broke out in the Middle East, invalidating Shugrue's projections.

''The trustees's plan is based on the premise of oil prices dropping and the competition twiddling its thumbs,'' said Joel Zweibel, lead attorney for the creditors.

Zweibel said liquidation now would leave at least some money to fund a shutdown.

If liquidation were delayed, Zweibel said, there is ''a very serious risk there will not be enough cash to fund a shutdown in an orderly fashion.'' He said an orderly shutdown would be possible now.

Zweibel also pointed out that the travel industry currently is in recession, with many carriers reporting significant declines in traffic.

Attorneys for Eastern countered that the airline now is meeting revenue projections.

Shugrue said while projections had not been met in September or October, the airline was poised to exceed projections in November and December.

Responding to questions from trustee's attorney Derek Palmer, Shugrue said a total of $80 million would be needed from the escrow fund between now and January. In addition to the $30 million granted, he said Eastern would need $40 million Dec. 26 and another $10 million in ''very early January.''

He added the airline is replenishing the escrow account by selling additional assets, which would result in a balance of $317.8 million in the account at the end of February.

Shugrue said the airline was projecting a jet fuel price of 91 cents a gallon in 1991.

(NOV. 13) UPI - Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, a staunch supporter of the U.S.-led multinational force in the Persian Gulf, said Thursday he had asked President Bush to postpone any military action against Iraq for three months.

Mubarak, speaking to reporters after returning from Damascus where he talked to Syrian President Hafez Assad, said he requested the delay in any strike to give Iraqi President Saddam Hussein time to change his mind and withdraw from Kuwait.

Mubarak's statement sent U.S. crude oil prices surging by about $1 a barrel in the last 15 minutes of trading on the New York Mercantile Exchange. Traders said they felt that Mubarek made the comment to keep from looking like a hawk in the event hostilities should break out and that it signaled that war was even more imminent.

Mubarak made his peace call as a joint U.S.-Saudi amphibious operation began in Eastern Saudi Arabia, near the border of Iraqi-occupied Kuwait.

The exercise, dubbed ''Imminent Thunder,'' was to run through Nov. 21 and was to involve 16 ships, about 1,000 Marines and 1,100 aircraft.

Earlier in Damascus, Mubarak and Assad issued a joint communique that hopes of an early Arab summit on the gulf crisis and accused Iraqi leaders of foiling a peaceful attempt to solve the standoff by setting conditions for any peace meeting.

But Mubarak and Assad left the door open for a peaceful solution when they said in a joint communique issued after Mubarak's two-day visit that they would continue consultations with other Arab leaders ''to preserve the interests and unity of the Arab nation.''

''To give a further chance to the Iraqi president to reconsider his position, and in order to avert a destructive war, I have asked President Bush and his secretary of state to postpone the military option for three months,'' Mubarak told reporters in Cairo.

The Egyptian leader said Bush was in any case working to persuade the U.N. Security Council to endorse any military option, so that if a strike became necessary, it would be carried out under "the umbrella of the United Nations."

''The two leaders gave due attention to King Hassan's call for an Arab summit '' said the communique, issued after Mubarak and Assad held three rounds of talks. ''But because of what has been issued directly from Baghdad, setting preconditions, it makes it difficult if not impossible to hold such a summit.''

The statement said Iraq's refusal to withdraw from Kuwait made any compromise impossible.

''The two leaders expressed their regret at Iraq's foiling of any peaceful settlement aimed at the restoration of the situation before Aug. 2,'' the communique said.

The toughly worded statement came as Soviet envoys continued their shuttle diplomacy while Bush tried to mollify members of Congress angered over the U.S. troop buildup in the gulf.

A majority of Arab states voted in Cairo to support U.N. sanctions on Iraq and resolutions calling on Baghdad to withdraw its occupation troops from the emirate. The meeting also sanctioned the dispatch of Egyptian, Syrian and Moroccan troops to the Gulf to deter further Iraqi aggression.

Baghdad Radio reiterated Thursday Iraq's position that the country's leadership would be willing to attend any new Arab summit, ''provided the resolutions passed at the Cairo summit are declared null and void.''

Both the Soviet Union and China, permanent members of the U.N. Security Council, have backed Hassan's call for an Arab summit. Of the 21 members of the Arab League, only Jordan, the Palestine Liberation Organization and Mauritania gave immediate backing to the summit call.

But Arab radio stations monitored in Cairo said Yemen and Sudan had also agreed to an Arab summit, and there were signs that Libya, Tunisia and Algeria would join those in favor.

Saudi Arabia dampened hopes the summit would take place when its foreign minister, Prince Saud al Faisal, told reporters in the United Arab Emirates Wednesday that Iraq should first accept U.N. resolutions calling for its withdrawal from Kuwait before any summit could be held.

Saud echoed the sentiments of the pro-Kuwaiti Arab camp when he said that if Iraq failed to agree to a troop withdrawal, then any Arab gathering would be a ''waste of time.''

Mubarak himself last month rejected a Soviet proposal for an Arab summit, saying that any gathering without a specific agenda would evolve into a shouting match between pro-Kuwaiti and pro-Iraqi delegates. Iraqi delegates were reported to have thrown plates at Kuwaiti delegates at an Arab gathering after the invasion of Kuwait.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - Cable News Network asked the Supreme Court Thursday to immediately lift a restraining order barring the network from broadcasting tapes of telephone conversations between former Panamanian dictator Manuel Noriega and lawyers defending him against drug trafficking charges.

The network, in an emergency appeal addressed to Justice Anthony Kennedy, asked the high court to decide whether a federal judge's temporary injunction last Friday barring CNN from broadcasting the tapes for ten days and ordering that they first be reviewed by a federal magistrate violate its First Amendment right to freedom of the press.

Kennedy then gave Noriega's lawyers and the Justice Department until noon Saturday to file responses to the appeal. A decision by the high court would come sometime after that. The injunction was upheld last Saturday by the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

CNN attorney Terry Bienstock said at a hearing last week that the network has at least seven tapes of Noriega's telephone conversations from the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Miami.

Noriega's lawyers, who contend the tapes were illegally made by the government without their knowledge, claim Noriega's Sixth Amendment right to a fair trial and the sanctity of attorney-client communication should take precedence over the free press issue.

"Gagging CNN will neither cure nor avoid any breach by the prosecution," the network wrote the high court. "It will serve only to punish a news medium, which has faithfully executed its constitutional role by reporting on criminal proceedings and allegations of unlawful governmental action."

CNN is requesting that the restraining order barring it from airing the tapes be lifted and that the high court then formally review the decision of the 11th Circuit Court.

Despite the temporary order from U.S. District Judge William Hoeveler, CNN aired a portion of the tapes last Friday, putting itself in possible contempt of court.

The network claims that at least one tape includes conversations between Noriega and his lawyers, although what has aired to date was a discussion between Noriega and a secretary for one of his attorneys.

In an agreement reached Monday, CNN said it would stop airing the tapes until the high court could rule on the issue. In return, Hoeveler issued a stay on the contempt proceedings and on his order that the network turn over the tapes for review by a federal magistrate.

A three-member panel of the 11th Circuit wrote that CNN had "shackled the district court by refusing the court's reasonable request to review the audio tapes."

"While appealing to our nation's judicial system for relief, CNN is at the same time defiant of that system's reasonable directions," wrote the 11th Circuit, seated in Atlanta, where CNN and its parent company, Turner Broadcasting System Inc., is based.

CNN claims that even were a magistrate to determine that the tapes would not harm Noriega's chance for a fair trial and allow them to be aired, requiring that they first be reviewed is unconstitutional prior restraint against the media.

The case marks the first time in 14 years that a federal appeals court has upheld a prior restraint keeping a media group from publishing or broadcasting information.

One of the last major battles involved the 1971 Pentagon Papers, when the high court ruled that the right to publish documents involving the Vietnam War outweighed national security concerns.

A brief filed with the court Thursday by publishers of The New York Times, Miami Herald, Washington Post and other major newspapers asked the court to side with CNN.

"Not once in its history has this court affirmed the issuance of a prior restraint on the publication or broadcast of news," the group argued. It said the 11th Circuit's decision was "clearly wrong; more importantly, however, unless reviewed by this court, it threatens to make the prior restraint once again an acceptable judicial tool."

Noriega signed a waiver allowing the federal prison to monitor some of his telephone conversations, but his lawyers contend the waiver does not extend to their discussions with the former Panamanian strongman.

The battle between the First and Sixth Amendments is being waged in the backdrop of what the dispute ultimately will do to the government's vaunted prosection of Noriega, who was forcibly taken from his homeland after the U.S. invasion of Panama last December.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The government, in a reflection of changing U.S. tastes, is proposing a change in the milk support price formula that would give less value to butterfat and more to skim milk, officials said Thursday.

The proposed change coincides with a major re-evaluation of the milk marketing order system, established in 1933. Marketing orders set the minimum price for milk in a region.

In recent years, butter has constituted the major surplus product purchased by the government to prop up milk prices. The government bought the equivalent of 8 billion pounds of milk during the 1989-1990 marketing year under the dairy support program.

Dairy herds produced 147.2 billion pounds of milk during the same period.

''Paying farmers less for butterfat in the milk they sell to processors will recognize the lowered value of butterfat in today's marketplace caused by consumers' changing preferences,'' said Daniel Haley, head of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

The change in the formula is contingent upon producer approval, which will be gauged through referendums and polls of marketing cooperatives. Major sectors of the dairy industry approved the shift in value when comments were gathered at a hearing last summer.

Milk marketing orders cover the major population centers in the continental United States, except for California.

At present, milk is given a value based on its butterfat content. Milk with more than 3.5 percent fat is given a higher price. Milk with a lower percentage is given a lower price. The differentials are adjusted for each one-tenth of a point change in fat content.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The joy found under the Christmas tree this year could turn to tragedy for thousands of children because their parents are unaware of hazards associated with many toys, government and consumer experts warn.

From January 1989 through September 1990, 33 toy-related deaths were reported to the Consumer Product Safety Commission and, says spokeswoman Anne Pavlich, "we get our figures only from certain sources. It's never a total."

In addition, according to 1989 data from the National Electronic Injury Surveillance System, 148,000 people were treated in U.S. hospitals for toy-related injuries, 83 percent of those age 14 or younger.

Many of those deaths and injuries could have been avoided, the experts say, if parents had chosen the toys more carefully, heeded age recommendation labels or monitored the use and condition of the toys as children play with them.

Swallowing or choking on small parts, falls on or against toys, lacerations or punctures from sharp edges, playing with more sophisticated toys meant for older siblings and playing with broken toys are common causes of injuries.

Pavlich said infants and very small children are most at risk for toy related deaths and most often by choking or suffocating on small toys or parts. Of the 33 child deaths recorded by the CPSC, nine choked on balloons, four on small balls amd two on marbles. Accidents involving tricycles or riding toys resulted in five deaths, three of those involving motor vehicles.

Toy chests caused five of the deaths when children using them had their necks pinned by the lids or became trapped inside. Demonstrating further that toys can result tragedy even when used as intended, Pavlich noted one infant suffocated when his bib became entangled in a cribmobile, and two older children were strangled or hanged by the straps on other toys, a toy guitar and a laser gun.

While parental awareness remains the front line of preventing such tragedies, the government and consumer groups are pushing for higher product safety standards for toy manufacturers, importers and retailers.

But lack of government muscle and funding has largely left the American toy industry to set and police its own standards while foreign firms, who manufacture a large portion of toys sold here, remain unaware of even those federal regulations that exist.

In fiscal 1989, the CPSC recalled 198 toys for dangers ranging from choking hazards to excessive lead in paints to sharp edges or points. "But recalls never work that well," says , says Lucinda Sikes staff attorney for the U.S. Public Interest Research Group, a consumer organization that will be releasing its annual update on toy safety next week.

The CPSC agrees that its recalls have little effect because parents rarely hear about them, and even though recalled toys may be removed from store shelves, those already sold usually remain in use.

The government agency's regulations prohibit small parts (choking size) on toys for children under age three, sharp edges or points on toys intended for children age eight and younger, and set safety specifications for several toys and childrens products such as pacifiers, lawn darts, toy caps and kites.

Other standards and much of the safety labeling are voluntarily set by the toy industry and Sikes says her consumer group is particularly concerned with labeling as an effective warning for parents.

"It seems as though toys are better labeled this year," Sikes said, especially those with small parts that are labeled for youngsters over age three. "The problem is that they don't say why."

Parents who think of their offspring as intellectually ready for "older toys" may not realize an age label is intended to warn of choking or other hazards.Or, says Sikes, "they may be buying it for an older child and they won't know to keep it away from the younger child."

Sikes adds that "labeling isn't enough" and applauds the law recently approved by Congress that mandates civil penalties against toy manufacturers, importers or retailers who make or sell toys violating the CPSC regulations.

"Before, you could keep them on the shelves until you were found out," she said, and then only face mandatory removal of the offending toys. "... I think these things are going to make incentives for the toy companies to abide by the law."

OAKLAND, Calif. (NOV. 15) UPI - Sandy Alderson, the architect of the Oakland Athletics, Thursday was named UPI's American League Executive of the Year in voting by a nationwide panel of baseball writers.

Alderson, the A's vice president of baseball operations, received 14 votes to capture the award for a record third straight year. Larry Himes of the Chicago White Sox collected 5 votes, while Hank Peters of Cleveland and Lou Gorman of Boston each had 1.

Oakland has rolled to three American League titles in as many seasons and averaged 102 wins a season.

''The real difficulty (in baseball's current economic environment) is developing any consistency,'' Alderson said. ''With the volatility in the marketplace, it's hard to sustain anything over a long period of time. It's hard to keep a team together.''

The A's have managed to keep their club together, but it hasn't come without a large price tag. Alderson signed slugger Jose Canseco to baseball's largest contract - $23.5 million over five years - and the club's overall payroll (reportedly $22.2 million) is among the highest in the major leagues.

''Next year, I suspect, we'll have the highest payroll in baseball and that's not including everyone who was on this year's team,'' Alderson said. ''Once you get to that level, it really pushes the limits of your capacity to compete.''

It also makes a team's farm system all the more important. A team needs a source of inexpensive, young talent.

''When the Haas family bought this team, the farm system was a shambles,'' Alderson said. ''The organization takes a great deal of pride in how we rebuilt that system. You have to have currency to trade with other teams. If you don't have a good farm system, the only other way you can replenish your team is through free agency and that's been proven to be an ineffective way to build a team.''

Trading is something Alderson knows a thing or two about. Over the last three years, he's been one of baseball's craftiest dealers bringing the A's Dave Parker, Bob Welch and Rickey Henderson. Alderson says he takes the greatest pride in the deal for Welch, who this week won the Cy Young Award.

''I look at that trade as a watershed for us,'' he said. ''It led to appearances in the 1988, '89 and '90 World Series and caught the imagination of our players and fans. It gave us a sense that we could accomplish something.''

This year, Alderson dealt for National League batting champ Willie McGee and left-handed slugger Harold Baines during the stretch drive.

''What tends to happen is that as the season goes along you observe where the team is heading,'' Alderson said. ''You look for an opportunity (to improve your team) and hope one develops.''

And while some in the baseball community believe Alderson generally gets the best of his deals, the A's executive says he trades ''value for value.''

''There are only 25 other teams to deal with,'' Alderson said. ''So you can't ruin your trade market by making deals that don't help both teams.''

Alderson also traded away some talent over the last two years to accumulate a large number of choices in this June's draft.

''That was by design,'' he said. ''We went into that draft looking to stock our system with good, young pitching talent. And that's what we did.''

Among those drafted and signed was Texas high school pitching sensation Todd Van Poppel, who appeared headed for a collegiate career at the University of Texas.

While Alderson has enjoyed enormous success, he also has experienced some disappointments. The A's were swept in this year's World Series and lost the 1988 Fall Classic by a 4-1 margin to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

(NOV. 15) UPI - The cause of the crash of an Italian airlines D-C-9 in Zurich Switzerland, Wednesday is still NOT known. Authorities continue to sift through the wreckage of the Alitalia jetliner, which crashed in rainy weather just before landing at Zurich. Police say they fear all 40 passengers and six crew members were killed. So far, rescuers have recovered the bodies of 10 of the victims.

Pan Am Corporation and U-A-L Corporation have agreed to terms for the sale of Pan American World Airways' highly coveted U-S-London routes. The deal also includes the sale of other Pan Am assets to United Airlines. Lawyers for Pan Am and U-A-L met late into the night Wednesday to beat a midnight deadline for drafting final documentation for the proposed 400-Million-dollar deal.

In New Zealand, the death toll rose to 14 in the country's worst mass slaying.

Police say they found the bodies of two 11-year-old girls in a house set ablaze by a gunman who killed 11 other people and wounded two more Wednesday in the retirement village of Aramoana. Authorities are trying to piece together a profile of the killer, identified as 33-year- old David Gray, who hours later was shot and killed by police.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - The dollar posted moderate gains across the board Thursday in range-locked New York trading, but currency dealers said that was mostly on the back of German mark gains against most other units.

''It's been the mark against everything,'' said Francoise Soares- Kemp, a vice president for treasury operations with Credit Suisse. She said the market was focused on so-called cross trading between non- dollar currencies.

A lot of that action was in response to expectations that the German central bank, the Deutsche Bundesbank, was shortly to raise its key interest rates in a move intended to quash unification-fueled inflation.

In late New York trading, the dollar was quoted at 1.4750 German marks, up from 1.4715 marks Wednesday, and at 129.60 Japanese yen, up from 129.

Soares-Kemp said the dollar was, however, getting some support from economic and political disarray in the Soviet Union, where food shortages, nationalist agitation and government paralysis were worsening.

That threat to the government of President Mikhail Gorbachev has brought some purchases of the U.S. dollar as a safe-haven, or shelter currency, as has the continuing crisis in the Persian Gulf.

''On the other hand,'' Soares-Kemp said, ''we're expecting the Federal Reserve to announce a discount (interest rate) cut.'' Market expectations of an easing move by the U.S. central bank undermines the dollar.

Other New York dollar rates: 1.2508 Swiss francs, up from 1.2465; 4.9830 French francs, ahead from 4.9675; and 1,113 Italian lire, up from 1,110.26.

The British pound retreated to $1.9575 from $1.9604.

In Europe, the dollar closed higher in lackluster trading but dealers said the gains were small and likely to be short-lived. The mark is expected to gain sharply if the Bundesbank raises its central interest rates.

''Basically, the dollar sentiment is very negative still,'' said Laudy Bahl, corporate dealing chief for the Bank of Tokyo Ltd. in London, but said traders were wary of getting short on dollars close to the weekend.

In Frankfurt, the dollar closed higher at 1.4785 German marks against 1.4735 at the close Wednesday. It also was higher in Zurich, at 1.2522 Swiss francs compared with 1.2475 at Wednesday's close.

Elsewhere, the dollar also recovered from its early weakness, closing higher in Paris, Brussels and Milan at 4.9765 French francs from 4.9740; 30.4450 Belgian francs vs. 30.44, and 1,112.35 Italian lire from 1, 112.50.

Bank of America dealer Andy Baxter said dollar gains on Continental exchanges stemmed from the weakness of the French, Belgian and Italian currencies vs. the Deutsche mark rather than on its own strength.

In London, the pound eased to $1.9605 vs. $1.9620, mostly as a result of the surge by the German mark.

Players tuned out continuing turmoil in the ruling Conservative Party, opting to await Tuesday's vote in Parliament by Conservative members as to whether Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher should be replaced.

In Tokyo, the dollar drifted higher against the Japanese yen amid jitters over the Gulf crisis and U.S. interest rates. The dollar finished at 129.30 yen, ahead from Wednesday's 129.05 yen.

In Zurich, gold closed lower at $378.50 an ounce vs. $384.50 Wednesday, and in London declined to $379.25 an ounce vs. $384.25. Traders cited lower oil prices, the dollar's recovery and reported heavy gold sales.

Silver closed lower in Zurich at $4.15 an ounce vs. $4.20 and also was lower in London at $4.18 per ounce vs. $4.22 at Wednesday's close.

Republic National Bank in New York closed cash gold at $379.25 an ounce, up from $377.50 Wednesday. The New York Commodity Exchange settled contract gold at $379.10 an ounce, ahead from $377.60.

Republic closed cash silver at $4.125 an ounce, up from $4.18. Comex silver ended at $4.117 an ounce, down from $4.175.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - Stocks closed lower in moderate trading Thursday, done in by traders and investors taking profits after the rally of the last few sessions and by weakness in the bond market.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 24.25 Wednesday, lost 14.60 to close at 2545.05.

Among broader market gauges, the New York Stock Exchange composite index lost 1.56 to 173.12. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index fell 3.38 to 317.02. The price of an average share lost 27 cents.

Declines led advances, 898-594, among the 1,972 issues crossing the Big Board tape. Volume totaled 151,370,000 shares, down from the 179, 310,000 traded Wednesday.

Opened lower, stocks drifted with modest losses for most of the day on profit taking. The NYSE's blue chips scored a net gain of 116 points Friday, Monday and Wednesday, backing off just a few points Tuesday.

Computerized sell program took prices down sharply in the last half- hour before the market recovered about 10 points of the loss.

''We had some programs come in on light volume towards the end of the day,'' said Jim Andrews, first vice president in charge of institutional trading at Janney Montgomery Scott Inc. in Philadelphia. ''People had been bottom-fishing (bargain-hunting), seeing what they could add to their portfolios, but then profit taking came in and the programs knocked us down.''

The market's rally was fueled by expectations the Federal Reserve would move to lower interest rates in the next few days to try and bolster the sagging economy.

As the central bank did Wednesday, the Fed added funds to the banking system. While this did not provide conclusive proof that the Fed has lowered rates, market-watchers said it was a step in the right direction.

Short-term rates were again unusually high, as they were Wednesday. So the Fed may have simply been seeking to bring these rates back into line rather than signaling a rate drop, analysts pointed out.

''Bonds pressured stocks, too,'' Andrews said. ''They're getting a little nervous there (that) we haven't seen more of an easing yet. We need a meaningful easing here.''

After the bond market had staged a healthy rally in recent sessions, December Treasury bond futures were down 10/32 in late trading Thursday, pushing yields higher.

Andrews said the stock market's selloff caught him unawares, adding that he expected prices to hold at somewhat higher levels. ''I'm surprised to see us do what we did here. I thought we would consolidate in the 2550-2560 range (on the Dow industrials), then have a nice move to 2600 and (to) 2700 before year-end,'' said Andrews.

''It doesn't mean it can't still happen, but it's just a question of looking at the next few days and seeing what happens.''

On the trading floor, Schering-Plough was the most active issue, unchanged at 43 3/4.

Motorola followed, plunging 3 3/4 to 52 1/4, reportedly because of a downgrading of the stock by a Merrill Lynch electronics analyst. The analyst was also said to cut earnings estimates for the company, citing increased price competition in the cellular telephone market.

BankAmerica was third, down 1/8 to 23 3/4. The southeastern regional bank NCNB was also active, tumbling 1 1/8 to 23 1/4.

Among the blue chips, IBM lost 7/8 to 112 5/8, AT&T eased 5/8 to 33 1/8, American Express lost 5/8 to 21 5/8, Woolworth fell 5/8 to 29 and General Motors lost 5/8 to 39 1/4.

Elsewhere, Tambrands plunged 5 1/8 to 82. Analysts reportedly cut earnings estimates after a meeting with company officials late Wednesday.

The grocery chain A&P sank 2 7/8 to 38 3/4 after hitting a new 52-week low, also after a disappointing analysts' meeting with the company.

And Borden tumbled 2 to 27 3/4, saying earnings growth in the fourth quarter would be ''uncertain.''

Volume of NYSE-listed issues, including trades in stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 182,174,410 shares, compared with 214,698,420 shares traded in the previous session.

Prices fell in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

The Amex Market Value index lost 1.18 to close at 296.69. Declines led advances, 300 to 244, among the 770 issues traded. The price of an average share fell 4 cents. Composite volume totaled 12,277,000 shares vs. 13,511,600 traded Wednesday.

Fruit of the Loom led the Amex issues, off 1/8 to 6 3/8.

The National Association of Securities Dealers composite index fell 2.41 to 354.46.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - A variety of events were planned around the country for the American Cancer Society's 14th annual celebrity-studded Great American Smokeout to encourage smokers to abstain for at least 24 hours.

The smokeout officially began at midnight.

On Wednesday in New York Rapper L.L. Cool J playfully punched out a mock six-foot pack of cigarettes, and wrestler Tito Santana helped strangle a similar pack in a ''tug of war.''

Even New York Mayor David Dinkins, a reformed heavy smoker, got into the act, describing how he quit 28 years ago after reading about a link between butts and bronchitis.

''I have not, I am pleased to report, smoked since,'' he bragged, after being presented a certificate of appreciation for the city's anti- smoking efforts, namely banning cigarette ads on city owned billboards and subways and taxis.

Cancer Society spokesman David Lehman said a Gallup organization survey showed 17.9 million smokers participated last year, and about 5.2 million stayed off the entire day.

Actress Carol Channing said she was smoking three packs a day when she quit eight years ago.

''I couldn't get in the bathtub without a cigarette and an ashtray,'' she said. ''I remember how people who smoke smelled when I kissed them. Like an old sewer.''

She pooh-poohed weight gain after quitting, even though she put on 12 pounds.

''It came right off,'' she said. ''My emotions came alive,'' she added, describing nicotine as ''a suppressant for everything.''

Joyce Randolph, Trixie Norton of the old ''Honeymooners'' show, said she brought greetings from Art Carney and Audrey Meadows.

''Art stopped smoking years ago and Audrey is trying to,'' she said. ''Of course you know we lost Jackie (Gleason) to cancer.''

Rocky Aoki, owner of the Benihana chain of restaurants and a speedboat racer who ''started smoking as a kid in Japan,'' said he quit and encourages his 2,000 employees to follow suit, because, he tells them, they will ''have more energy and less absenteeism.''

(NOV. 15) UPI - President Bush tried to mollify members of Congress angered over the troop buildup in the Persian Gulf, but some members planned to try to block any offensive moves, while the latest round of shuttle diplomacy went no where.

Bush assured congressionial leaders Wednesday the U.S. military position in Saudi Arabia was defensive and most heeded his call, ruling out an in immediate special session of Congress.

But liberal members were not convinced and in what is believed to be an unprecedented step, 33 Democratic members of the House of Representatives, led by Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., say they will seek a federal court order to prevent Bush from taking offensive military action without consulting Congress first.

After a briefing by Secretary of State James Baker, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., emerged to say he was ''increasingly concerned that President Bush is preparing to take this country unilaterally into war in the Persian Gulf, without the approval of Congress and without the support of the American people.''

Kennedy, when asked if a declaration of war would pass in Congress, replied: ''Not after the hearings and not after a week's debate. There's not the slightest question in my mind. It would not, and I don't believe it's justified under the circumstances.''

The lawsuit, set to be filed Tuesday, challenges the president on constitutional, not political grounds. The plaintiffs contend that only Congress, not the president, can declare war.

Senate Democratic leader George Mitchell said ''extensive discussion'' of additional moves through the United Nations, where the United States may seek a resolution authorizing the use of force against Iraq.

In the Middle East, Egypt's President Hosni Mubarak and Iraqi and Soviet envoys shuttled around Arab capitals Wednesday to discuss a call for an Arab summit on the Persian Gulf crisis.

Pro-Kuwaiti states such as Saudi Arabia said a new summit as proposed by Morroco's King Hassan II could only succeed if Iraq recognized resolutions passed at an Arab gathering in Cairo on Aug. 10, eight days after Iraq invaded Kuwait.

The Cairo summit sanctioned the dispatch of Arab troops from Egypt, Syria and Morocco to the gulf to deter further Iraqi aggression.

Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Saud al Faisal told reporters in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates, that Iraq should accept resolutions calling on it to withdraw from Kuwait and restore exiled Kuwaiti Emir Sheikh Jaber al Ahmad al Sabah to power before a new summit could be considered.

''Only if Iraq accepts the resolutions of the Cairo summit can the summit called by King Hassan of Morrocco be fruitful and positive,'' Saud was quoted as saying.

Despite recent indications Iraq is willing to sacrifice for the sake of peace, Baghdad said it will only attend a summit if it can have a say in the agenda and that the order sanctioning the dispatch of Arab troops to the gulf is rescinded.

Mubarak last month rejected a Soviet call for a new summit, arguing that if there was no specific agenda it might evolve into a shouting match between pro-Iraqi and pro-Kuwaiti delegates.

Egypt has not officially responded to Hassan's summit call and only three members of the Arab League - the Palestine Liberation Organization, Jordan and Mauritania - have accepted.

Mubarak arrived in the Syrian capital Damascus after talks in Sirte with Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi, Cairo Radio said, and later met Syrian President Hafez Assad in Damascus.

Iraqi First Deputy Premier Tahar Yassin Radamadan said Wednesday after talks in Rabat with Hassan that Baghdad wants a summit to cancel the resolutions approved in Cairo that approved the sending of Arab troops to Saudi Arabia, Baghdad Radio said.

Two Soviet envoys arrived in the Middle East, Cairo Radio reported, on missions to achieve a peaceful settlement of the standoff.

On the first leg of his tour, Alexander Belonogov, a former Soviet ambassador to Egypt and now a deputy foreign minister, was in the Yemeni capital Sanaa. Vladimir Petrovsky, another Soviet deputy foreign minister, was in in Rabat for talks with Hassan. Petrovsky was also to visit Libya, Algeria and Tunisia.

On the hostage front, the Voice of America broadcast a message to U.S. nationals still held in Iraq and Kuwait that a special plane will leave Kuwait and Baghdad on Sunday.

The message asked U.S. nationals, including those of Arab origin, to get in touch with U.S. missions in Baghdad and Kuwait for further details.

Meanwhile, Defense Secretary Dick Cheney authorized the activation of up to 72,500 more National Guard and Reserves troops Wednesday to support operations in the Persian Gulf theater.

The authorization is not a call-up, but enables the military to dip further into reserve forces if necessary.

If all reservists were activated and deployed to the Gulf region it could push the total U.S. deployment in the region - currently more than 230,000 troops - to perhaps 500,000 soldiers.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - Assets of the nation's 523 money-market mutual funds fell by $1.23 billion to $417.1 billion in the latest reporting week, the Investment Company Institute said Thursday.

In the week ended Wednesday, the Washington-based institute said, broker-dealer fund assets fell by $356.7 million to $164.97 billion, assets of general purpose funds declined by $153.2 million to $148.63 billion and institutional fund assets decreased by $724.4 million to $103.49 billion.

''Yields offered by money-market funds kept drifting down, leading to some narrowing of the yield differentials favoring money-market funds over competing investment vehicles,'' explained Jacob Dreyer, the organization's vice president and chief economist.

''However, this narrowing was not nearly significant enough to prompt large repositioning of assets,'' he said. ''On the other hand, a much better tone of the stock and bond markets last week has probably caused some flow of assets from short-term into long-term funds.''

The Investment Company Institute, a national association of the American investment company industry, reports the assets of money-market funds to the Federal Reserve Board each week.

The Donoghue Organization, of Holliston, Mass., said average seven- day simple yields were 7.34 percent, down from 7.38 percent the previous week, and 30-day simple yields were 7.40 percent, down from 7.42 percent.

The average maturity of fund portfolios was unchanged at 49 days.

The Bank Rate Monitor, of North Palm Beach, Fla., gave average rates as follows: money-market deposit accounts, 5.85 percent, down from 5.86 percent the previous week; Super-Now accounts, 4.96 percent, up from 4.95; six-month certificates of deposit, 7.39 percent, down from 7.41; 1-year CDs, 7.47 percent, down from 7.50 percent; 2 1/2-year CDs, 7.57 percent, down from 7.60; and five-year CDs, 7.78 percent, down from 7.79.

The average rate for a one-year, adjustable-rate mortgage was 8.08 percent, down from 8.16 percent the previous week.

The average rate on a 15-year, fixed-rate mortgage fell in the latest week to 9.61 percent from 9.65 percent. The average rate for a 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage eased to 9.94 percent from 9.96 percent.

The average rate for a four-year automobile loan rose to 12.23 percent from 12.22 percent last week.

(NOV. 15) UPI - Lawyers for Pan Am and U-A-L beat a midnight deadline and came to terms on the sale of Pan American World Airways' U-S to London routes and other Pan Am assets to United Airlines. The deal is worth 400 Million dollars.

A U-S bankruptcy judge in New York Wednesday night saved Eastern Airlines from liquidation when he allowed the carrier to take more money from an escrow fund to meet its operating expenses. The money will be withdrawn in two increments of 15 Million dollars.

The foreign secretary of the Philippines says his government favors a five-to-seven-year phase down of the U-S-run Subic Bay Naval Base beginning next year when its lease expires. But he said NO agreement has been reached with the United States.

Police in Switzerland say that all 40 passengers and six crew members were killed when an Italian airlines D-C-9 from Milan crashed just before landing at Zurich's international airport. The plane exploded on a wooded hill.

The son of Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan Junior is expected to be arraigned Thursday morning on charges of rape. Police say the rape allegedly occurred early Sunday when the UNidentified victim awoke to find an intruder in her apartment in suburban Washington, D-C.

Police in New Zeland found the bodies of two youngsters today in a house set on fire by a gunman who killed 11 other people and wounded two more. Police still are trying to piece together a profile of the killer, who was shot to death by police.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (NOV. 15) UPI - A strong earthquake rocked the Indonesian island of Sumatra Thursday with tremors reaching Malaysia, prompting thousands of office workers to rush out of buildings into the streets.

Although the quake caused tremors in Malaysia's capital of Kuala Lumpur 235 miles north, officials said there were no immediate reports of casualties or major damage in either of the Southeast Asian countries.

Frightened residents of the North Sumatran provincial capital of Medan rushed out of shaking homes and buildings, police said.

The tremors jolting Kuala Lumpur lasted for about 30 seconds and were felt in several other cities, said a spokesman at Malaysia's Meteorological Services Department.

''Thousands of office workers scurried out of high rise buildings,'' he said.

Steve Duthie, a reporter for The Asian Wall Street Journal working in a 20-story building, said, ''I was wobbling and felt dizzy while the blinds at the windows were swinging.''

Agus Trisutanto, a scientist at the Meteorogical Institute of Jakarta, said the quake registered 6.2 on the Richter Scale and struck Sumatra at 9:34 a.m. The epicenter was 37 miles southwest of Medan.

Japan's Methrological Agency reported the quake had a magnitude of 7.2. The U.S. Geological Survey in Colorado said it measured 6.9 and was located 945 miles northwest of Jakarta, the capital.

''We have not received any reports of casualty or damage so far,'' said Trisutanto.

It was the second time in less than four years that tremors in Malaysia followed an earthquake in Sumatra. The same phenomenon occurred April 25, 1987 after a quake measuring 6.6 in the same Indonesian island.

(NOV. 15) UPI - Six straight road appearances might scare some hockey teams, but the Chicago Blackhawks stand fearlessly in first place.

''We play a smarter game on the road,'' defenseman Chris Chelios said Wednesday night after the Blackhawks opened the six-game trip with a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Red Wings.

The victory enabled the Blackhawks, 13-6-2 and 28 points, to move past idle St. Louis, 13-4-1 and 27 points, into first place in the Norris Division.

''At home, we come out like we have something to prove and we're more free-wheeling, but on the road we're more consistent in what we do on the ice.''

Chicago is unbeaten in its last five games (3-0-2), has a 3-0-1 record in its last four road contests and has allowed only four goals in its last three games away from home.

Detroit's Shawn Burr, who missed a chance to tie the game at 2 when he hit the crossbar in the third period, said Chicago's tight checking frustrates the opposition.

''It seems like they could get a holding penalty on every play, but they don't and it's tough to break free and get something started,'' Burr said.

Detroit missed an excellent opportunity to get an early jump on the Blackhawks when Jocelyn Lemieux was given a major penalty and a game misconduct for high-sticking Brent Fedyk at 2:07 of the first period.

The Red Wings got a two-man advantage at 3:16 when goalie Ed Belfour was penalized for delay of game when he shot the puck into the stands, but Detroit managed only one shot on goal during the five-minute power play.

''We played the puck outside at the point, but we don't have a take- charge guy,'' said Detroit Coach Bryan Murray of the Red Wings' power- play woes. ''Everyone's waiting for the other guy to do something.'' Detroit was unsuccessful in five power-play opportunities.

Chicago opened the scoring at 10:11 of the first period when Michel Goulet deflected Steve Larmer's shot past goalie Tim Cheveldae from the edge of the crease during a power play.

Rookie defenseman Frantisek Kucera gave the Blackhawks a 2-0 advantage with a power-play goal at 4:43 of the third period. It was the first NHL goal for Kucera, who assisted on Chicago's other two goals.

Detroit defenseman Yves Racine, playing his first game since being recalled from Adirondack on Sunday, converted a pass from Steve Yzerman on a 3-on-1 break at 6:31 of the third period.

Jeremy Roenick scored an empty-net goal with 1:16 left to give the Blackhawks a 3-1 lead, but Detroit's Bob Probert scored from a goalmouth scramble at 19:05 to cut the margin back to one.

''I was pleased with our overall defensive play,'' said Chicago Coach Mike Keenan. ''We were being patient and we didn't give up too many opportunities until the last minute.''

Belfour stopped 20 shots as he increased his league-leading victory total to 12.

''He's making the critical saves,'' Chelios said. ''That's what the great goalies do.''

Elsewhere, Hartford downed Boston 3-1, Toronto topped Washington 5-3, Pittsburgh defeated Winnipeg 6-4, Edmonton nipped Vancouver 5-3, and Los Angeles dropped Buffalo 4-2.

-- AROUND THE NHL --

Whalers 3, Bruins 1

At Hartford, Conn., Yvon Corriveau, Ron Francis and Dean Evason scored goals within 1:48 of the third period for all of the Whalers scoring. After managing just three shots in the second period, the Whalers' splurge came on three of their first four attempts in the third period. The Bruins had their four-game unbeaten streak end but remain atop the Adams Division on the strength of a 6-2-2 run since Oct. 25.

Maples Leafs 5, Capitals 3

At Toronto, Dave Reid scored twice, including his fifth short-handed goal in four games, to lead the Maple Leafs past the Washington Capitals. Reid opened the scoring at 8:37 of the first period with Washington on the man-advantage. His second score came at 12:57 of the third and gave the Leafs a 5-3 lead.

Penguins 6, Jets 4

At Winnipeg, Manitoba, Kevin Stevens and Bob Errey scored goals in the opening 1:48 and goaltender Tom Barrasso stopped 42 shots, including 19 in the third period, to lead Pittsburgh past Winnipeg. Pittsburgh scored on two of its first three shots, and four of its first seven.

Oilers 5, Canucks 3

At Edmonton, Alberta, Mark Messier set up two goals and scored into an open net to help the Oilers snap a nine-game losing streak. Messier was playing his first game since injuring his left knee on Oct. 16. The Oilers managed only one victory without Messier.

Kings 4, Sabres 2

At Inglewood, Calif., Wayne Gretzky scored one goal and assisted on another to trigger a three-goal outburst in the second period that carried the Kings to a club-record eighth straight victory at home. Dale Hawerchuk and Donald Audette scored third-period goals for the Sabres to make it close.

(NOV 15) - U.S. crude oil surged nearly $1 a barrel in the final minutes of trading Thursday as a jumpy market interpreted a statement by Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak as indicating a war in the Middle East was near.

The benchmark West Texas Intermediate crude for December delivery ended the day down 4 cents from Wednesday on the New York Mercantile Exchange at $31.12 a barrel, after having traded as high as $31.85. Volume Thursday was a heavy 110,020 contracts.

''There was a tremendous amount of trading at the close,'' said Stephanie Rzasa, a trader at Dean Witter Reynolds International Energy Futures Group in New York.

Rzasa said prices zoomed from about $30.15 to $31.50 a barrel in the last 15 minutes before settling back. About 75 cents of the rise was compressed into two minutes of trading, she said.

Shortly before the market closed, stories hit the trading floor of Mubarak saying he had asked President Bush to postpone for three months military action to force Iraq out of Kuwait.

Mubarak told reporters after returning from talks in Damascus with Syrian leader Hafez Assad that he requested the delay in any strike to give Iraqi President Saddam Hussein time to change his mind and withdraw from Kuwait.

But ''the market interpreted the statement as Mubarak as possibly covering himself from looking like a hawk in case there is an attack. It interpreted the statement to mean war is more imminent than thought,'' said Thomas Blakeslee of Pegasus Econometrics Group in Hoboken, N.J.

This triggered, he said, a wave of profit taking on ''short'' positions, which traders had staked out earlier in anticipation of lower prices.

Even though the market was spooked by the Mubarak story, traders said they expected WTI prices to again test the $30-a-barrel support level on Friday or on Monday, when trading of the December delivery contract expires.

If the $30 level is breached, they said the December contract could fall as low as $27 a barrel before it expires.

Until midday, Merc crude prices were supported by the start of a huge joint U.S.-Saudi amphibious operation in eastern Saudi Arabia, near the border of Iraqi-occupied Kuwait, and by a statement by Mubarak accusing Iraq of foiling hopes of working out a peaceful settlement at an early Arab summit.

But downward pressure exerted by the weight of ample world supplies began to be felt as afternoon trading progressed, with the Merc hitting new lows on the day of $30.10 a barrel. ''There was a steady erosion'' until near the end, said Rzasa.

Products ended the day narrowly mixed on the Merc. December heating oil was up 0.03 cent to 86.67 cents a gallon, while unleaded gasoline fell 0.23 cent to 80.16 cents a gallon.

Blakeslee saw significance in gasoline moving up for a time through the $4 barrier in the ''crack spread'' between the wholesale price of gasoline and the price of crude from which is it is made. He said this should encourage refiners to increase production.

On the European spot market, where crude is bought and sold for cash, Britain's widely traded North Sea Brent gained 13 cents to $31.60 a barrel.

United Arab Emirates' Dubai light - the key OPEC crude from the Middle East shipped mainly to the Far East - climbed 25 cents to $27.30 a barrel.

HELSINKI, Finland (NOV. 15) UPI - A Soviet hijacker gave himself up to Finnish police Thursday after forcing a civilian domestic Soviet airliner with 72 people on board to land at Helsinki's Vantaa airport, police said.

Police said the 31-year-old man had threatened to blow up the Tupolev aircraft during a flight from Moscow to Leningrad early Thursday unless the captain diverted the aircraft to Sweden.

Police who searched the aircraft at Helsinki, where the plane landed instead, said they found no explosives.

All 66 passengers and six crew aboard the aircraft, which included two American citizens, a Canadian and a Briton, were reported safe and were expected to continue their disrupted journey to Leningrad later in the day.

Neither the names of the passengers and crew, nor the hijacker were released.

Police said the hijacker had given himself up to police immediately upon landing in Helsinki and had asked for asylum. The reason for Thursday's hijacking remained unclear.

Thursday's hijacking was the fourth to Helsinki of a Soviet domestic airliner this year. Two of the hijackers have been returned to the Soviet Union to face trial, while a third awaits the decision of the Finnish courts on a Soviet extradition request.

Two other hijackings have taken place to Sweden this year. One of those who hijacked a plane to Sweden has been returned to the Soviet Union, the other was deemed unfit to serve a sentence in a Soviet jail and is serving a sentence in Sweden.

He will be extradited to the Soviet Union after serving that sentence.

MANILA, Philippines (NOV. 15) UPI - Super typhoon Mike dealt severely damaged Cebu city, the country's second most important commercial center, and a senator Thursday likened the damage to the blast of an atomic bomb.

The military office said 103 people were killed, 84 missing and presumed dead, and 107 injured when Mike slammed into the central Philippines Tuesday with peak winds of 150 mph.

News reports put the death toll at more than 250 and included a report by radio station DYHP of 116 deaths in Cebu island. However, DYHP said only seven bodies had been recovered among the fatalities, mostly victims of landslides.

Officials said they expected the toll of lives to go up once damaged communications to isolated communities were restored.

''It was like we were hit by an atomic bomb,'' said Senator John Osmena, who returned to Manila Thursday after a tour of Cebu, where he once served as mayor.

''There is no electric post standing, no tree stands, no light, no water, no telephone, no gasoline,'' Osmena said.

He said he had been trying to get in touch with officials in Manila to order the suspension of school classes in Cebu to enable some 100,000 students from all over the region to go to their respective homes and allow officials to undertake rehabilitation measures swiftly.

Cebu is the heart of communications, commercial and transport operations in central and southern Philippines. Airlines from Japan and Singapore fly directly to Cebu, famous for its golden beaches and one of the few thriving urban centers in the nation hard hit by the Gulf crisis and political and economic uncertainties.

Mike, the strongest typhoon to hit the country in nine years, was the latest in a string of calamities to hound President Corazon Aquino this year. The country earlier was hit by drought, monsoon floods and a devastating earthquake that killed 1,600 people.

Aquino has declared an emergency in 31 of the country's 73 provinces ravaged by the typhoon.

Officials said Mike walloped the string of central islands producing rice, coconut and sugar before leaving the country Wednesday and heading toward Vietnam with vastly weakened center winds.

The Social Welfare department said more than 1 million people were evacuated to town halls, schools and churces at the height of the storm. More than half a million of these people lost their homes. Hundreds of government buildings also were destroyed.

The Philippine Navy said 57 vessels seeking shelter in the region's ports sank and 28 others ran aground, including the research vessel Calypso operated by French Oceanographer Jacques Costeau who was not in the country. The Calypso's crew were unharmed, the Navy said.

The Navy said 46 of the ill-fated vessels sank in the Cebu port. A Korean vessel rammed the base of the 60-meter bridge linking Mactan International Airport to Cebu city, damaging the span.

The damage prevented authorities from transporting gasoline from Mactan depots to Cebu, paralyzing transport in the city.

In Negros island, officials said they expected sugar production would be reduced by 10 percent.

#90319u0364 11/15/1990 ~United Press International

MANILA, Philippines (NOV. 15) UPI - Foreign Secretary Raul Manglapus said Thursday the Philippines favors phasing out U.S. control of the Subic Bay Naval Base over a period of five to seven years starting in 1991 when its lease expires.

Manglapus also told a news conference the Philippines planned to take ''sovereign control'' of Clark Air Base and four smaller facilities upon the termination of the 1947 treaty covering the strategic installations on Sept. 16, 1991.

However, Manglapus stressed no agreement has been reached with the United States.

A second round of bases talks closed last week and discussions were expected to resume next month. Both U.S. and Philippine negotiators were hopeful an agreement would be hammered out by January.

Chief U.S. Negotiator Richard Armitage has proposed a 10-to-12-year phase out of its facilites to run at the end of the current leases and a limited presence after the transition period.

''The 10 to 12 years would fall within our consideration, but our preference is five to seven years,'' Manglapus said.

''We are taking control of all facilities except Subic,'' said Manglapus. He referred to ''sovereign control'' and said ''American personnel will continue to operate some facilities which are so sensitive.''

Clark, home of the 13th Air Force, and Subic, a repair and logistics center for the Seventh Fleet, are the oldest and largest U.S. overseas bases.

Manglapus said during the transition period he expected the United States to begin training Filipino personnel who would eventually take over commercial operation of the facilities that would continue to be made available to the United States.

Manglapus indicated that in the case of Subic, the Americans will be allowed to use the facilities from five to seven years after September 1991 and the Filipinos will take over after that period.

U.S. embassy spokesman Stanley Schrager said he considered Manglapus's statement a Philippine counter-offer. ''That is what negotiations are all about,'' he said.

A Philippine statement at the close of the second round of talks saying Manila would yield operational control of the facilities to the Americans while taking sovereign control was regarded by diplomatic observers as a good sign the two panels may be close to an accommodation.

Manglapus indicated during his news conference that only the Camp John Hay rest and recreation facility in the mountain resort of Baguio would revert to the Philippines in September 1991.

He said the Philippines had been assured by the United States it would no longer insist on ''unhampered'' use of the facilities, a provision he said was inserted in the bases pact in 1983.

Any arrangement between the two countries however requires approval by the Philippine Senate, where majority of the members regard the bases as a remnant of American colonial rule and a diminution of national sovereignty.

Washington provides the Philippines $481 million in aid annually for use of the facilities, manned by some 40,000 troops, defense department employees and dependents.

MOSCOW (NOV. 15) UPI - A Leningrad pipe fitter accused of firing shots at a Red Square parade last week has told investigators that he intended to assassinate President Mikhail Gorbachev, the KGB said Thursday.

The KGB also disclosed that Alexander Shmonov, who is being held in custody of the security police, stood only 150 feet away from Gorbachev and other Soviet leaders when he allegedly fired two shots during the Revolution Day celebrations. Earlier reports said 650 feet separated the gunman from the president.

Police Sgt. Andrei Mylnikov, who claims to have helped disarm the gunman at the annual Nov. 7 parade, said that Shmonov stated during a preliminary interrogration: ''I wanted to kill Gorbachev.''

KGB Col. Pyotr Sokolov said that Shmonov had written a note describing his intentions, which was found in his pocket after the incident in which two shots were fired at Red Square in the heart of Moscow.

''The note was prepared in advance in case of his death during the assassination attempt,'' the official Tass news agency said. ''In the note Shmonov explictly set out his criminal intentions as regards the Soviet president.''

Shmonov, desribed over the weekend as an anti-Communist active in radical political causes, had prepared for the alleged assassination attempt for two years and practiced rapid-fire target shooting, Tass said.

Gorbachev, Russian Federation leader Boris Yeltsin and other dignitaries had just led a civilian march across Red Square and returned to their viewing stand atop the mausoleum of Soviet state founder Vladimir Lenin when two shots rang out.

Shmonov, 38, has been charged with trying to commit a terrorist act under a criminal code that specifies assassination of ''a state or social figure or representative of authority.''

''The KGB investigator (Sokolov) believes that the terrorist act could have had very serious consequences,'' Tass said. ''At the time of the shooting, Shmonov was only 46 meters away from the mausoleum, and his rifle was loaded with .16-caliber bullets.''

The assertion contradicted earlier published claims that the weapon lacked the capacity to reach Gorbachev because the gunman stood too far from the president.

Soviet newspapers have thrown themselves into a frenzied competition to produce details of the sensational incident on the anniverary of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution, publishing a number of conflicting reports in the past week.

The weapon fired at Red Square was initially described as a sawed-off shotgun, but more recent accounts called it a double-barreled hunting rifle.

Some reports have said that police grabbed the weapon and jerked it upward just as two shots were fired, but others said the shots were fired just before the gun was seized. No one was reported hurt in the incident.

The Sovetskaya Rossiya newspaper said Saturday that Shmonov had distributed ''anti-Communist leaflets'' in Kolpino, the city near Leningrad where he worked at a giant factory.

Tass, however, said that since spring he circulated ''leaflets and letters threatening Soviet state leaders,'' raising the question of why authorities allowed such activity to continue for six months.

Sergei Ovchinnikov, another Moscow policeman who claims to have helped disarm Shmonov, described him earlier this week as ''dark- complexioned, unshaven and nervous'' at the time of the shooting.

PHILADELPHIA (NOV. 15) UPI - A sacred Zuni Indian artifact has been returned to its rightful owners by a Philadelphia anthropology museum, museum officials said Wednesday.

The Zuni war god, a two-and-a-half foot tall carved wooden image of a man's face, was hand-carried to a reservation in New Mexico by tribal officials this week, said Pam Kosty of the University Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology.

The artifact is the 41st war god to be returned to the Zunis since 1978, when the tribe began an organized effort to recover the totems from museums and collections across the country.

Museum associate director Gregory Possehl said the museum has had the 100-year-old artifact, used in annual Zuni religious rites, since 1902. After the rite, the war gods are left in shrines to deteriorate, said Possehl, and Zunis believe their removal could cause earthquakes, fires and other calamities.

"We have seen photographs were there were tens of these war gods in various repositories on Zuni lands," said Possehl. "They looked like they were free for the picking, so people took them home and they made their way into museums.

"In the Zuni way that is a sacrilege," Possehl said. "They (the tribe) present a very strong case that these items should be returned to their shrines."

The war god was repatriated to the Zuni reservation by Zuni Bow Priest Perry Tsadiasi, who performed a special ceremony Monday at the museum before taking the artifact back to its home.

Possehl said this is the first time the museum has returned an artifact to a native group, and may not be the last under a new federal law. The law will require museums across the country to inventory their holdings and inform Native American tribes of their inventory. The tribes will then be able to request the return of remains and other items.

"It would be my presumption that since we're a very old institution and have a rich holding of Native American materials, we will be approached for repatriation," Possehl said. Museums have five years to complete their inventories.

(NOV. 15) UPI - Sunny skies and record warm temperatures spread across the Great Plains, Midwest and eastern United States Thursday as fog socked in New Orleans and the Pacific Northwest remained soggy and cool.

Indian summer was expected to send temperatures soaring into the 70s as far north as Chicago and throughout the South and Middle Atlantic states as clear skies prevailed throughout the huge area.

Temperatures rose quickly through the morning in Indiana and were expected to hit record highs, while forecasters predicted temperatures in the 70s and windy weather for Missouri.

Showers continued in the already sopping Pacific Northwest with southerly winds reaching 20 mph, while to the south, partly cloudy skies and local fog covered Southern California.

The thermometer dipped down into the mid 30s during the night in Denver where clear skies prevailed, and morning clouds covered south Texas, where highs were expected to touch 80.

Small craft advisories were in effect along the western coast of Florida from Cape Sable to Tarpon springs and off the coast of New England from the Merrimack River in Massachusetts to Watch Hill, R.I., due to high winds and rough seas.

Dense fog blanketed the New Orleans metropolitian area south of Lake Pontchartrain with visibility in the city's airport reported near zero.

Along the East coast, warm weather extended from the South through New England with temperatures expected to reach 70 in Baltimore and in Boston, where the day's record of 71 degrees has stood since 1956.

BATON ROUGE, LA (NOV. 15) UPI - Louisiana State football coach Mike Archer said Thursday he will resign after the final game of the season Nov. 24 against Tulane, ending speculation he would be fired.

Archer, whose team is 4-5 in the current season, said he made the decision about 3 a.m. Thursday morning and was not pressured to quit.

''I must emphasize I was under no political pressure to resign,'' Archer told a news conference. ''This is a decision that has been reached today between myself, my family, the chancellor and the athletic director.''

The announcement came a day after two Baton Rouge television stations reported they had learned Archer would be fired after the Tulane game.

Chancellor William Davis and Athletic Director Joe Dean denied a decision had been made and said the reports forced the issue.

''The reporting of rumors as absolute fact by some news media has created a series of circumstances in which Coach Archer feels he can no longer be effective as head coach and perform his duties as leader of the LSU football program,'' Davis said.

Both he and Dean issued statements saying they regretted the fact Archer was leaving, and reiterated previous statements they had made no decision to fire him. They said their evaluations of Archer and the football program would not have been made until the end of the season.

Archer, in his fourth season after succeeding Bill Arnsparger, sounded resigned to his fate on a radio talk show Wednesday night. During the show he related how LSU Sports Information Director Herb Vincent told him during practice a television station was going to report he would be fired.

The report said the decision to fire Archer was made after LSU's 24-3 loss to Alabama.

Archer said he was not contacted about the report by Dean, who had steadfastly denied a decision already had been made to fire him.

''It doesn't make you feel very good. It doesn't make you feel like you're appreciated, but I guess that's the way we do things around here, '' Archer said on the air. ''I told our football theam that their big thing is that if I'm the coach, fine, if not, they've got to go on and play Mississippi State and Tulane and win for themselves and for LSU. It doesn't make it any easier, but sometimes those things happen in sports.''

Archer, 38, has compiled a 26-17-1 record at LSU. He was the youngest head coach in NCAA Division I-A play when he took over the team from Arnsparger.

LSU football has steadily declined under Archer, dropping from the Southeastern Conference championship and a 9-3 record in Arnsparger's last season in 1986 to a 4-7 mark last year. The Tigers currently are 4- 5.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - A $6.8 billion U.S. court claim against the bankrupt Wall Street firm Drexel Burnham Lambert, copies of which were released Thursday, detailed an alleged conspiracy to ''capture'' savings and loan institutions and foist worthless ''junk'' bonds on them for huge illicit profits.

The sweeping accusations were contained in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court claim filed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Resolution Trust Corp., which the U.S. agencies announced late Wednesday after the court's close.

While directed at Drexel, the 239-page document focuses closely on dealings involving Michael Milken, the former junk-bond magnate who faces up to 28 years in prison at his sentencing next week for insider trading, and S&L operators like Charles Keating Jr., set for trial on racketeering charges.

In brief, the government claim alleges Drexel and others ''sought to create an illusion of value in junk bonds'' - high-risk corporate bonds used to finance leveraged buyouts and takeovers. Their risk was supposed to be offset by high interest rates - but some bonds later proved worthless.

Drexel spokesman Stephen Anreder said Wednesday, when the government announced its claim, that the troubled firm was ''a convenient scapegoat for the S&L crisis.'' Drexel would focus on what he said were the federal government's regulatory lapses in its defense, according to Anreder.

''I have a feeling what they've done is taken a lot of old allegations, formed them up and called it a grand conspiracy and multiplied it by three,'' saidattorney Richard Davis of Weil Gotshal & Manges, Drexel's law firm in its bankruptcy proceedings.

In February, Drexel Burnham Lambert Group Inc. filed for Chapter 11 federal bankruptcy protection after it was unable to raise enough fresh capital to recover from junk-bond losses and legal penalties. Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. the firm's main securities subsidiary, filed bankruptcy papers in May.

''I think it's a long way from just putting something down on a piece of paper to be able to prove something in court,'' Davis said, adding: ''There are a lot of reasons why that market went south, not the least of which were government policies and regulators.''

The government alleges Drexel persuaded, coerced or bribed thrift operators to take on large investments in junk bonds. Also, the firm financed and aided in the acquisition, expansion and looting of thrifts by allies like Keating, former head of California's Lincoln Savings and Loan Association, and David Paul, who headed Miami's failed CenTrust Savings Bank.

In one instance involving Lincoln and another thrift, ''Drexel helped Keating with his own fraudulent scheme, which involved siphoning money out of Lincoln into its parent company and eventually into his own pocket'' by creating false profits for Lincoln, the government claim said.

The claim, filed on behalf of 41 institutions, charges Drexel is to blame for $330 million in losses sustained by these failed thrifts, which ''continue to hold junk bonds with an original cost of over $2.5 billion on which they will certainly lose additional hundreds of millions of dollars,'' according to the government.

Failed S&Ls concerned in the case also include: Columbia Savings, Englewood, Colo.; Gibraltar Savings, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Imperial Savings Association, San Diego; and MeraBank of Phoenix.

The claim is to be pursued by lawyers from the FDIC and the RTC working with the New York law firms of Cravath, Swaine & Moore and Thacher, Proffitt & Wood.

The U.S. claim alleges that ''Drexel and its co-conspirators targeted the S&Ls because federal deposit insurance enabled the S&Ls to amass an enormous pool of capital.'' It also hits corrupt thrift operators, whose ''overarching goal '' the government said, was to ''share in the plunder of their own institutions.''

The claim hinted other targets could emerge, saying: ''At this early stage ... it is not possible to separate the co-conspirators from the victims with certainty.''

Capital provided by Drexel at high interest rates ''forced the burdened S&Ls to invest in highly speculative investments, including but not limited to junk bonds,'' the claim says.

This was ''the foreseeable result of Drexel's financial tactics'' and led to further S&L losses, the government asserted.

Pointing to Drexel's April 1989 guilty plea to felony charges of securities violations and to Milken's April 1990 guilty plea on conspiracy, fraud and other charges, the agencies charged ''Drexel and its co-conspirators were involved in a broad pattern of market manipulation and securities fraud.''

The most serious allegations concern Drexel, Keating and Lincoln Savings. The government took over the thrift in 1989 at a cost to taxpayers of about $2 billion - the biggest single disaster so far in the unfolding S&L catastrophe.

''Drexel enabled Keating to obtain control of Lincoln, provided Keating with kickbacks and assisted Keating with his illegal schemes, in exchange for which Keating caused Lincoln to invest heavily in junk bonds underwritten by Drexel and participate in a variety of other (Drexel) schemes,'' the claim said.

Among other alleged violations, the government said, ''Drexel assisted Keating in orchestrating a complicated fraud involving CenTrust, Lincoln and others,'' in which Lincoln-held stock was transferred to American Continental Corp., Lincoln's Phoenix-based parent, at an artifically low price, giving American Continental a $22.67 million profit.

The federal agencies said Lincoln, as of the court filing, had sustained losses on junk bonds of at least $32 million and still held Drexel junk bonds that it had purchased for just over $300 million.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The Justice Department Thursday announced it had returned a record 134 indictments in fiscal 1990 against individuals and corporations accused of violating environmental laws.

Attorney General Dick Thornburgh said the department surpassed by 33 percent its indictment rate in 1989. The department prosecuted 95 percent of those cases and settled out of court the remainder.

''During (1990) 78 percent of our indictments were against corporations and their top officers,'' Thornburgh said. ''More than half of the individuals convicted for environmental crimes this year were given prison sentences and 84 percent of these are actually serving real jail time,'' he said in a statement.

Over the last eight years, the department has obtained 517 plea agreements and convictions and secured more than $56 million in criminal fines for environmental crimes, the department said.

Thornburgh planned the joint announcement with Environmental Protection Agency Administrator William Reilly to coincide with President Bush's signature Thursday of a sweeping clean air law.

''I am particularly pleased that the president's proposal for felony provisions under the Clean Air Act was approved by the 101st Congress, because criminal provisions put the teeth into environmental enforcement,'' he said.

''Criminal sanctions are among the most effective deterrents against those who would violate our nation's environmental laws,'' Reilly said.

The Justice Department's Environment and Natural Resources Division employs 25 attorneys - a record number - who work exclusively on criminal environmental cases.

ROCKVILLE, MD. (NOV. 15) UPI - Makers of electric blankets and computer terminals should be encouraged to reduce the devices' electromagnetic fields due to safety questions, a Food and Drug Administration advisory panel said Thursday.

However, the panel concluded there was not enough evidence to support a recent call by 18 members of Congress to attach labels to all electric blankets warning that their use may be hazardous to pregnant women and children.

''It is too soon to regulate, but I also think it is too soon to walk away,'' said panel member Mary Moore, a radiology expert from Camden, N.J. Moore was referring to the debate over whether low-level electromagnetic fields created by household appliances, video display terminals and electric power lines may boost the risk of cancer, miscarriages and other health problems.

The 10-member committee said it agreed with the FDA's current tactic of persuading manufacturers of electric blankets and VDTs to voluntarily reduce the strength of the electric and magnetic fields generated by the devices.

Alan Andersen of the FDA's Center for Devices and Radiological Health told the committee that the three U.S. firms that produce electric blankets have all agreed to lower the device's magnetic fields. Technically, it will be harder to lower the blanket's electric fields, he added.

About 4 1/2 to 5 million electric blankets are sold in the United States each year, David McGoldrick of Sunbeam-Northern, which makes such blankets, told the committee.

''We took the action because we are aware of the controversy not because we thought the blankets were unsafe,'' McGoldrick said. ''They provide millions of American's with warmth and a good night's sleep.''

About half of VDT manufacturers have agreed to work on lowering the electrical and magnetic fields of those devices, which are used by workers in everything from banking to word processing, Andersen said.

Although all electrical appliances from shavers to washing machines generate electrical and magnetic fields, Andersen his office is particularly concerned about electric blankets and VDTs because of the power of the fields they generate, how close users are to those fields and how long users are typically exposed.

A motion that would have stated there is no scientific evidence of public health risk from low-level electromagnetic fields did not clear the committee, failing on a 5-5 vote.

That motion was proposed by panel member Edgar Dally, vice president of a CTI Cyclotron Systems, a Berkeley, Calif., firm that makes medical devices that generate intense electromagnetic fields.

Calling the studies that have suggested a link between electromagnetic fields and health woes ''flaky'' and unscientific, Dally said: ''This whole thing is getting out of control. The potential for mass hysteria is there.''

Julia Worden, a panel member and vice president of Continental X-Ray Corp., in Chicago, agreed.

''I'm convinced there is no reason to believe there is any harmful effect from low-level electromagnetic fields,'' Worden said. ''People are worrying about something they don't need to worry about.''

Two scientists who serve on the Electric Utility Health Sciences Committee said their reviews of scientific studies found no link between low-level electromagnetic radiation and health problems, and also turned up no mechanism on how such radiation could inflict damage on living creatures.

But Andersen said the scientific data that has accumulated in the past several years suggesting electromagnetic fields may be a health hazard ''is past the point of being able to discount that information.''

Until more research is conducted, Andersen said he would neither encourage nor discourage consumers from using electric blankets or VDTs. ''It's your call,'' he said.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - Donald J. Trump and holders of bonds for his Taj Mahal casino, with a default deadline hours away and bankruptcy looming, made a last stab Thursday at negotiating an agreement on restructuring the debt.

There was little likelihood Trump, burdened with debt and strapped for cash, would be able to make a $47 million interest payment due at midnight on the $675 million casino bond issue, sources in the negotiations said.

But the self-professed master of the ''art of the deal'' pursued talks with a steering committee of owners of the bonds on a restructuring pact that, despite a default, could mean Trump would swap an equity stake in the underperforming Atlantic City casino for debt relief.

Late Thursday, negotiations continued between Trump and a steering committee representing many bondholders, according to a source at Rothschild Inc., the New York investment bank advising Taj Mahal bondholders.

Trump Organization spokeswoman Norma Foerderer declined to make any comment.

Trump confidently presided over the April 2 opening of the Taj Mahal - built at a cost of $1 billion - and said then it would resist any economic downturn. But gambling revenues have failed to meet financing and other expenses since then.

If a technical default occurs, it will be the second such event for Trump in five months. In June, he missed a scheduled interest and principal payment on bonds for his Trump's Castle casino, which faces its own troubles as a result of declining revenues.

A $65 million loan from his banks enabled Trump to make good on that payment of $42 million - but, given his present indebtedness of over $3 billion and tight credit conditions, a second such rescue seemed unlikely.

Sources said earlier it seemed probable the Taj Mahal would go into bankruptcy either voluntarily, for protection from creditors under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, or involuntarily, through a creditor court filing.

But if Trump could find common ground with his bondholders, represented by a New York investment bank and a law firm, talks might be able to continue under the auspices of federal bankruptcy court. The casino could emerge from that ''consensual'' bankruptcy relatively quickly, sources said.

''He's going to default because he doesn't have the money, but the question is can we reach an agreement which would be a consensual one,'' said Robert M. Miller, an attorney of the law firm of Berlack, Israels & Liberman, which is representing Trump's mainly institutional bondholders.

Miller, reached while the talks were in progress at Trump Organization offices in midtown Manhattan, said he was ''cautiously optimistic.''

But if Trump and his investors didn't cut a deal, Millere said, ''the casino would likely fall into a much longer, contentious bankruptcy.''

While both sides would stand to lose in hostile bankruptcy proceedings, most analysts say Trump risks more. In a similar case, entertainer Merv Griffin lost control of his Resorts International casino in Atlantic City to bondholders - although he later bought back in for a significant minority stake.

Trump initially offered bondholders a 19.9 percent stake in the Taj Mahal if they would accept more bonds in place of the interest payment, bring down the interest rate on the bonds to 9 percent from 14 percent and extend the bonds' repayment date to the year 2000 from 1998.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - President Bush said Thursday the U.S. stand against Iraq has harmed an already struggling American economy and that he is worried a protracted showdown in the Persian Gulf could hurt it further.

In an interview with Cable News Network, Bush also said that though he is concerned about the deteriorating economic situation, he is hopeful that if a recession does occur it will be over in ''six months at most'' - unless the shock to oil prices brought on by the crisis continues.

Bush maintained in his remarks to the network that the nation had yet to technically enter a recession, but he came the closest yet to acknowledging such an economic downturn is in the offing, if not already arrived.

''I think is some regions you can make the case that technicalities or not there's some recession,'' Bush told CNN. ''In some areas it's doing quite well. I am concerned about it.''

His comments came at the close of a second day of meetings with bank regulators, administration economic officials and other industry analysts who were summoned to the White House to discuss the nation's worsening economic plight, especially in light of the tremendous U.S. military buildup underway in the gulf since Iraq invaded Kuwait Aug. 2.

Pointing specifically to spiraling oil costs he said were the result of speculation rather than actual shortages, Bush stressed his concern about the weakening economy and the effect a protracted U.S. presence in the gulf might have on it.

''I do think that the Iraq situation, with this speculative effect on the price of oil, has complicated and worsened our own economy,'' he said. ''I think they are related, and I think, I am worried about the economic slowdown and I'm worried about a continuation in the gulf of this kind of a standoff right now, you might say, adversely affecting our economy further.''

Noting his own discussions earlier in the day, however, he held out optimism and said he wanted to offer some reassurance to Americans.

''I'm not an economist,'' he said. ''But most seem to feel that if we have a recession that meets these technical terms (two consecutive quarters of negative growth), that it will not be deep and that we'll come out of it relatively soon - six months at most.''

''I'd like to think that is true,'' he said, but the Iraqi situation could complicate the picture.

''The oil question that comes from (Iraqi President) Saddam Hussein's taking over of Kuwait is a big question mark here,'' he said. ''That is the major question mark in terms of the depth of the slowdown or recession.''

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The rapid deployment of U.S. military personnel to the Persian Gulf area, and the announcement that the number could double by early next year, dwarfs the buildup of U.S. military involvement in Vietnam between 1960 and 1973.

Some 230,000 Americans are engaged in Operation Desert Shield, the U.S. show of force in and around Saudi Arabia in response to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait. President Bush announced last week that as many as 200,000 more U.S. troops would be sent to the Middle East.

When President John Kennedy took office in 1961, there were 685 American military personnel in South Vietnam. In 1962, the number of U.S. advisers in South Vietnam increased to 12,000 and by 1963 to 15, 000. By the time Kennedy was assassinated in 1963 there were 16,000 involved in what he had called a ''very important struggle.''

It was under President Lyndon Johnson that the first American combat troops splashed ashore at Da Nang in 1965. Two Marine battalions totaling 3,500 men landed to defend the airfield at Da Nang after the Vietcong attacked U.S. installations. By year's end, U.S. troop strength had reached 200,000.

That number more than doubled in two years to 500,000 in 1967 and rose to 540,000 in 1968 following the Tet offensive when North Vietnamese and Vietcong launched a massive attack on South Vietnam. Approximately 5,000 Americans, 10,000 communists and 40,000 civilians died as a result of the offensive.

Mounting opposition in the United States to a war on the other side of the world eventually forced Johnson out of office - but not before the conflict became an American war with 550,000 U.S. troops in South Vietnam.

Under President Richard Nixon, the process of American withdrawal and ''Vietnamization'' began.

Nixon withdrew 60,000 American troops in 1969. By 1971, U.S. troop strength in Vietnam was down to 140,000.

The last American troops left March 29, 1973 - and some 590 American prisoners of war were released by April 1, though many remained unaccounted for.

U.S. battle deaths numbered 47,752, total war-related deaths 58,022. Another 303,704 were wounded.

(NOV. 15) UPI - Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak says the United States should postpone military action against Iraq for three months to give Saddam Hussein time to change his mind and withdraw from Kuwait. Mubarak talked to reporters in Cairo after his two-day visit to Damascus, Syria, and on the day U-S and Saudi Arabian forces began a week-long exercise dubbed ''Imminent

Thunder.''

About one-thousand U-S Marines, 16 warships and 11-hundred aircraft were joined by Saudi air force, navy and marine servicemen today in an exercise that included a practice beach landing. Pentagon sources say the most-forward unit in the operation will be a small Marine combat unit equipped with tanks about 25 miles south of the Saudi border with Kuwait.

The Senate ethics committee opened its hearings on the so-called ''Keating Five'' today, and Chairman Howell Heflin of Alabama told the senators that Americans believe the lawmakers traded their ''honor'' and ''good names'' for cash. The five are accused of using their influence in behalf of Charles Keating Junior, operator of a California savings- and-loan that failed to the tune of about two-BILLION dollars. The senators involved are Democrats Alan Cranston of California... Dennis DeConcini of Arizona... John Glenn of Ohio... and Donald Riegle of Michigan and Republican John McCain of Arizona.

Millions of Americans are trying to stay away from that old devil nicotine today... the 14th annual ''Great American Smoke-out'' sponsored by the American Cancer Society. In Willmar, Minnesota, a bank was giving out free cold turkey sandwiches to anyone who turned in their cigarettes. In New York City, cowboy Mark Allen showed smokers a novel way of giving up the weed. He removed cigarettes from his mouth with a bullwhip.

The Republican National Committee laid off about 25 percent of its work force today in what officials termed a ''re-structuring'' after the mid-term elections. The committee said in a statement that about 75 jobs were cut in gearing down from the mid-term balloting and gearing up for the 1992 presidential election cycle. The committee has about 300 full- time employees.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (NOV. 15) UPI - Turning night into day, the shuttle Atlantis thundered into orbit atop a sky-lighting pillar of flame Thursday to launch a Pentagon spy satellite in the seventh and last top- secret shuttle flight.

Ending an era of clandestine shuttle operations, Atlantis and its five-man crew took off from the Kennedy Space Center at 6:48 p.m. EST under a cloak of secrecy, four months behind schedule because of an elusive hydrogen fuel leak that blocked a launch in July.

The $2 billion space shuttle climbed through a clear night sky atop a 600-foot jet of flame from its solid-fuel boosters, generating enough light to read the small print in a newspaper 3 1/2 miles away. Launch came two minutes later than originally expected.

''Roll program, Houston!'' commander Richard Covey radioed mission control as the shuttle wheeled about to line up on the proper trajectory.

Joining Air Force Col. Covey, 44, for the mission were Navy Cmdr. Frank Culbertson, 41, the co-pilot, Army Maj. Charles Gemar, 35, Air Force Lt. Col. Carl Meade, 39, and Marine Corps Col. Robert Springer, 48.

Eight and a half minutes after liftoff, Atlantis slipped into its planned preliminary orbit after a flawless ride to space.

''Spectacular!'' radioed Covey to mission control.

''Main engines have cut off as planned. Atlantis now 768 nautical miles downrange,'' said NASA commentator Jeffrey Carr. ''The powered phase of flight was picture perfect.''

While radio traffic between Atlantis and mission control was blacked out, reporters were able to monitor a backup UHF radio channel from the orbiter to listen in on the crew during ascent.

The flight marks the seventh and last fully classified Department of Defense shuttle mission currently planned by NASA and the Defense Department.

Two more Air Force shuttle missions are planned next year, but the payloads of both have been declassified, a move that will eliminate the need for elaborate security procedures at NASA and save the Air Force $80 million a year, according to a Pentagon source who asked not to be named.

The goal of Atlantis's flight is still classified, but the shuttle was thought to be carrying a spy satellite that may be used to support Desert Shield operations in the Persian Gulf region after the spacecraft is checked out, a procedure that typically takes a month or more.

Reporters and outside space experts, drawing on a variety of sources, speculated before launch that Atlantis's payload was either a photo-reconnaissance satellite or an electronic eavesdropping spy station capable of intercepting military communications.

While details about the satellite could not be immediately confirmed, NASA Administrator Richard Truly said last month Atlantis was scheduled ''to fly a crucial, particularly these days crucial, national security mission,'' strongly hinting the payload will be used in the Iraqi crisis in some fashion.

Atlantis's landing date will not be revealed until 24 hours before touchdown at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. But sources who requested anonymity said the mission is scheduled to last three days, 23 hours and 55 minutes.

Symbolically, the end of classified shuttle operations reflects a Pentagon shift away from NASA's manned spaceplane in favor of unmanned rockets like a $173 million Titan 4 launched Monday that successfully boosted a military satellite into orbit.

By relying on fleets of Titan 4s, Delta 2s and Atlas 2 rockets, the Air Force will be relatively immune to the long launch delays that would be associated with the loss of another shuttle because of active production lines supplying a steady stream of launchers for Defense Department use.

GDANSK, POLAND (NOV. 15) UPI - Lech Walesa, the Solidarity founder who is running for president, said Thursday if elected he would fire some advisers of Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki as ''inexperienced boy scouts'' but would continue his rival's basic economic austerity plan.

In an interview with United Press International, Walesa sought to dispel concerns of both the Polish and foreign business communities that he might try to unravel the economic stabilization plan of Finance Minister Leszek Balcerowicz.

The program, begun Jan. 1, tamed hyperinflation by cutting government spending and imposing stiff penalty taxes on wage increases, but at the cost of a 40 percent drop in Poles' standard of living.

Inflation, which had dropped to about 2 percent a month this year, has begun creeping up again recently, reaching 5.7 percent in October, government figures show. Wages have jumped 20 percent since August.

Unemployment has risen sharply as industries try to become self- sufficient after the loss of state subsidies, and, after a year of relative labor peace, protest strikes for higher pay are growing.

''There are strikes in Krakow and other places and nobody can put them under control,'' Walesa said, referring to a public transport walkout in its third day that has crippled the southern Polish city.

Walesa accused Maziwiecki's chief advisers of coping badly with the worsening situation. ''They are inexperienced boy scouts, not politicians,'' he said. ''They see only one move ahead of them, but they should see three or four. ... They only believe in themselves and that's all.''

Walesa's critics suggest that his support of pay raises and his promise to find jobs for the unemployed endanger the government economic plan, which has the support of the International Monetary Fund, and even threaten to destabilize the country.

But the founder of the Solidarity trade union movement, seeking to assure Western governments and investors, said he supports the bulk of the Balcerowicz plan and may even want him to stay on as finance minister.

''Balcerowicz is trying to close various plants and to fire the workers, and I agree with it. He is right,'' Walesa said. ''But we should not only close the plants but open new ones, and those operating ineffectively will close by themselves.''

In other words, Walesa said, free-market rules should be applied to the plants rather than a flat government order to shut down.

''The main direction Balcerowicz has taken I approve. There is no other way out,'' he said, but he noted that Balcerowicz's plan counted on help from other Western countries to help Poland out of its economic difficulties.

But the help has not been as great as expected because of a variety of factors including the recession and increased aid to the Soviet Union. ''We have to correct Balcerowicz's plan,'' Walesa said.

Mazowiecki and Walesa are the chief contenders among six candidates for president in the Nov. 25 election. If no candidate receives 50 percent of the vote, a run-off would be held Dec. 9.

Walesa was stoical about a possible low voter turnout, saying he would have no choice but to accept it. ''But privately I must say I would not like to be a 50 percent president.''

And if he loses?

''With a bow of my head I will receive a win or a defeat,'' Walesa said. ''But I will do everything to win.''

The latest betting odds show Mazowiecki's chances have improved slightly with a 50-50 chance of winning, but Walesa still leads with an 80 percent chance.

If Walesa does win, he said he does not expect to make everybody happy. ''There will be a lot of trouble'' because of the economic situation, he said. ''People will curse me and it will be a hard time.''

(NOV. 15) UPI - Arab and Soviet envoys pressed their shuttle diplomacy Thursday to sound out prospects of an Arab summit on the Persian Gulf crisis, and Moscow reiterated its demand that Iraq get out of Kuwait to avoid all-out war.

Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak held a second round of talks in Damascus with his Syrian counterpart, Hafez Assad, Damascus Radio said. One Egyptian government official said Mubarak is trying to avert a military conflict while at the same time ensuring an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait.

Although Egypt and Syria have not said so openly, both have privately rejected an Iraqi suggestion that they attend the emergency Arab summit proposed by Morocco's King Hassan, and Baghdad Radio Thursday repeated Iraq's willingness to attend, provided the anti-Iraq resolutions passed at the last summit in Cairo on Aug. 10 ''are declared null and void.''

A majority of Arab states voted at the Cairo summit to support United Nations sanctions against Iraq and to back resolutions demanding that Baghdad end its occupation of Kuwait, which it invaded Aug. 2 and later annexed. The meeting also sanctioned the dispatch of Egyptian, Syrian and Moroccan troops to the gulf region to discourage further Iraqi aggression.

Both the Soviet Union and China, permanent members of the U.N. Security Council, have backed Hassan's call for an Arab summit. Only three of the 21 members of the Arab League - Jordan, the Palestine Liberation Organization and Mauritania - gave immediate backing to the summit call.

But Arab radio stations monitored in Cairo said Yemen and Sudan also agreed and there were signs Libya, Tunisia and Algeria would follow suit.

A Soviet envoy, Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Petrovsky, meeting in Rabat, Morocco, with Hassan, issued another blunt warning to Iraq that it must pull its troops out of Kuwait to prevent war, state-owned Rabat Radio reported Thursday.

''The Soviet Union warned Iraq that war would erupt in the gulf unless it withdrew its troops from Kuwait immediately,'' the radio report said. ''(Petrovsky) said the situation in the gulf was approaching the danger point and said the military solution cannot be avoided except through the Iraqi unconditional and immediate troop withdrawal from Kuwait, and the restoration of the legitimate Kuwaiti government.''

Petrovsky, who was later scheduled to visit Libya, Tunisia and Algeria, said Hassan's call for an emergency summit had Soviet support and that Arab nations themselves have the best chance to persuade Iraq to pull out peacefully, according to the Rabat Radio report.

Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's special Middle East envoy, Yevgeny Primakov, was reported to have issued a similar warning to Iraq after talks last month in Baghdad with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, the state-owned radio said.

A second Soviet envoy, Alexander Belonogov, arrived Thursday in Cairo from the Yemeni capital Sanaa for talks with Egyptian leaders, Cairo Radio reported.

Saudi Arabia dampened hopes for a summit when its foreign minister, Prince Saud al Faisal, said Wednesday in the United Arab Emirates that Iraq should first accept U.N. resolutions calling for its withdrawal from Kuwait before any summit could be held.

Saud echoed the sentiments of the pro-Kuwaiti Arab camp that if Iraq failed to agree to a troop withdrawal, then any Arab gathering would be a ''waste of time.''

Mubarak himself last month rejected a Soviet proposal for an Arab summit, saying that without a specific agenda the meeting would degenerate into a shouting match between pro-Kuwaiti and pro-Iraqi delegates. Iraqi delegates were reported to have thrown plates at Kuwaiti delegates at an Arab summit after the invasion of Kuwait.

Egyptian Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Boutros Ghali arrived Thursday in Beijing for a three-day official visit. Egyptian officials said he would remind Chinese leaders that only a complete Iraqi withdrawal can achieve peace in the volatile region.

Meanwhile, Amman radio Thursday quoted German Chancellor Helmut Kohl as saying the danger of war would lessen if Iraq freed all remaining hostages, and Denmark said it was assured by Iraq that 16 of its 38 nationals in Iraqi custody would be freed soon.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - Two men hired by the New York Daily News as replacement drivers during the bitter strike say they quit their jobs because they were being used as ''bait'' for attacks by striking workers, The New York Times reported Thursday.

The men said some workers carried video cameras with orders to get any evidence of violence to use in court against strikers.

''We were bait,'' Jim McCully of Clarksville, Tenn., told the Times. ''The bottom line was that we were supposed to be cheese for the rats.''

The development came as Daily News management said it invited the city's other major metropolitan dailies and news magazines to join a public campaign condemning violence by striking members of unions employed at the paper.

A representative of the striking unions said they would hold the publications ''legally responsible for disseminating a false charge.''

The 21-day-old strike has been punctuated by attacks on delivery trucks and skirmishes between strikers, replacement drivers and security guards as the Daily News continues to publish.

The Times said the replacement workers were hired through Securex, a Kentucky security company, to drive delivery trucks and collect money from news dealers.

McCully and another unidentified worker that the Times described as a 21-year-old Army veteran from the Lexington, Ky., area, were interviewed by the paper in separate phone interviews.

''I felt that we were being used as meat so I got out of there. I think they did us dirty,'' the second man said.

Asked to comment on the charges, Daily News spokeswoman Lisa Robinson said, ''I really won't speak to specifics of our security. We have security because of violence.

''We have hired vendors from around the country. ... We told them to avoid confrontation, not to carry weapons.''

McCully said the pay was to be about $700 a week for a 12-hour day, 84-hour week. The job was to last 120 days, with a $1,500 bonus for anyone completing the full tour.

McCully said that at their orientation session on Nov. 3, Bill Mills, the operations director for Securex, said: ''Your job is to get documentation on film of union members breaking your necks. We need the evidence so we can go to court and freeze the assets of the union.''

He said during the orientation, ''They didn't use the word 'scab' until the third day. I didn't relish getting out there for $700 to have my head cracked by a gang of irate - understandably irate - strikers.

The two men said they managed to scrape together enough money to quit and make it home but added that other recruits did not have enough money to leave.

(NOV. 15) UPI - New season, same old story.

''The story of the game was our defense,'' Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski said.

The Blue Devils, runner-up to Nevada-Las Vegas in last year's NCAA Tournament, opened the 1990-91 season with an 87-74 victory over Marquette Wednesday night in the first round of the Big Apple National Invitation Tournament.

Duke advanced to the second round against Boston College Friday night. The tournament concludes in New York Nov. 23.

Defense, long a Duke trademark, was in full force in Durham, N.C. The No. 6 Blue Devils forced 30 turnovers in dismantling the Warriors.

Marquette twice made a big push for the lead, but Duke's defense rose to the moment. In particular, reserve guard Bill McCaffrey, who finished with 19 points and 2 steals.

''I thought McCaffrey was outstanding,'' Marquette Coach Kevin O'Neill said. ''He was the difference in us not being able to get ahead.''

Duke also received excellent play from point guard Bobby Hurley, who had 12 points, 4 assists and 4 steals.

''I thought he played a great second half,'' Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski said. ''He had three fouls (in the first half) and played the whole second half without any fouls.''

Duke forward Christian Laettner scored 24 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. He struck at the start of the second half, scoring 8 points to give Duke a 57-40 lead with 14:22 left. The Wariors pulled to 57-50 before Laettner and Hurly tightened the noose in the last seven minutes.

Marquette was led by forward Ron Curry, who scored 24 points, 21 in the second half.

''Curry was just great,'' Krzyzewski said. ''He had a terrific game.''

The Razorbacks scored 10 straight points to lead 47-32 at halftime. For Vanderbilt which shot 23 percent in the first half, Bruce Elder scored 19 points.

At Norman, Okla., the Sooners rattled New Orleans with punishing defense and ran off 16 striaght points in the first half to put the game out of reach. Terrence Mullins scored 16 points for Oklahoma, one of six Sooners in double figures. The Privateers committed 32 turnovers.

At Chestnut Hill, Mass., Boston College rallied behind two freshmen and recovered from a 16-point halftime deficit. Center Billy Curley finished with 16 points, 8 rebounds and 6 assists and Howard Eisley scored 18 points. Boston College finished in the Big East cellar last season with a 1-15 record. Elliot Perry led Memphis State with 19 points and Russell Young added 16.

FORT LEE, VA (NOV. 15) UPI - An Army reservist whose lawsuit alleges President Bush is conducting an illegal military buildup in the Persian Gulf stayed behind for medical reasons this week as his colleagues in the 1450th Transportation Company shipped out to the Middle East.

But despite a widely publicized lawsuit against Bush, Michael Ange may have to follow his fellow Army National Guardsmen once medical tests are completed on an ulcer he believes should prevent him from being deployed.

Ange is hospitalized at the Kenner Army Community Hospital while the tests are being completed. Officials said the examination is being stepped up because of his unit's deployment.

On Tuesday, Ange failed to persuade a U.S. District Court judge in Washington to issue a temporary restraining order preventing his deployment. A date to hear the lawsuit was set for Dec. 10.

Ange, of Greenville, N.C., has worked during the past year to obtain a medical discharge from the reserves, claiming his ulcer and a bad knee hamper his ability to fight.

But he said earlier this week his lawsuit is not a back-door attempt to receive a discharge. Reception among his peers has been mixed. "The man's a coward," said Lt. Mark Greene, 27, from Mooresville, N.C. "That's plain and simple what it boils down to... I could line guys up and down that sidewalk and you'd hear the same thing."

But Bartt Winebarger of Todd, N.C., said Ange is simply acting on his convictions. "I think he's just speaking up for what he believes," Winebarger said. "That's what he's supposed to do."

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA (NOV. 15) UPI - Federal Prime Minister Ante Markovic denounced the three main Yugoslav republics Thursday for violating federal laws and resisting reforms, charging their actions could lead to the ''disintegration of the country or the imposition of a dictatorship.''

Markovic, 65, leveled his strongest criticism to date of the leaders of Serbia Croatia and Slovenia in a 100-minute address to a joint session of the federal Parliament in which he appealed for support for his program to convert Yugoslavia to a Western-style democracy.

The year-old program has lost considerable steam, mostly due to moves by the nationalist regimes in Croatia and Slovenia and Serbia's communist government to cripple Markovic politically. The republics fear a loss of power and the creation of a strong central administration if his reforms succeed.

The Parliament's Federal Chamber, the term of which expires Dec. 31, approved Markovic's call for an extension so it can consider additional elements of his program and to prepare for multi-party parliamentary elections, expected in January.

Markovic devoted the first half of his address to enumerating acts by the three republics that subverted federal authority and undermined reforms, noting that his government has filed charges against them in the Constitutional Court.

He cited Slovenia's bid to assume control of military units on its territory, Croatia's imposition of a moratorium on privatization and Serbian protectionist measures ''endangering the unified Yugoslav market, cutting it into pieces, and ... endangering the standard of living of consumers.''

The actions of the republics, he said, ''threaten the suspension of the (political) system, leading to a complete blockade of the reform process, and in the end, to the collapse of the system itself.''

''The desires to bring the system to suspension obviously lead to its erosion, to collapse, or the alterative - disintegration of the country or the imposition of dictatorship,'' Markovic warned.

''It is high time that we face the fact that abroad today they see us as one of Europe's major crisis points and ... there are assessments that Yugoslavia is on the verge of disintegration and civil war,'' he said.

The republics' resistance, which has impeded economic restructuring and helped push inflation since January to 108 percent, sharpened after Markovic in July formed his Alliance of Reformist Forces to fight elections for republic assemblies and the federal Parliament.

The opposition is especially intense in Serbia, whose ruling communists have been waging a smear campaign against Markovic, apparently worried about their prospects on Dec. 9 when the republic holds its first multi-party elections since the communist takeover of Yugoslavia in 1945.

Communist-controlled Serbian television and radio blacked out Markovic's speech, saying it was ''not of interest'' to the 10 million people of the largest Yugoslav republic. The address was carried live by the networks of the other five republics.

Markovic also used his address to review his 1991 economic plans, which he called crucial to Yugoslavia's future.

He said he will maintain the convertible dinar at 7:1 to the German mark and a tight money supply to keep inflation at 1.5 percent monthly.

The federal government also plans to accelerate privatization of state firms, create securities and money markets, and conduct a massive overhaul of the politically manipulated, loss-plagued banking system, Markovic said.

SAN FRANCISCO (NOV. 15) UPI - A federal appeals court Thursday temporarily lifted an embargo placed on importation of tuna from Mexico because it uses a netting system that kills dolphins.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals stay order would allow Mexico to resume shipping tuna to the United States.

''We are very disappointed in the panel ruling,'' said Josh Fluom, attorney for the Earth Island Institute. ''It will allow Mexico to avoid entirely the consequences of the kill requirement.''

On Oct. 19, the Earth Island Institute won an embargo on yellowfin tuna importation caught in nets set over dolphins.

The Justice Department challenged the ruling stating it has disrupted international relations between the U.S. and Mexico, affecting drug interdiction efforts, oil sales and other bilateral agreements.

Floum said Congress knew the potential for an embargo to anger Mexico when it passed the law limiting the dolphin kill.

Dolphins, which are air-breathing, generally swim above schools of tuna. That allows fishing fleets to capture tuna by netting above dolphins. The dolphins, once entangled in the nets, often drown.

The institute sought and won a court order to force the Commerce Department to enforce requirements of the 18-year-old Marine Mammal Protection Act of 1972.

Earth Island contended fleets from Mexico, Panama, Venezuela, Ecuador, Costa Rica and Vanuatu, a Pacific Islands nation formerly called New Hebrides, had to reduce their dolphin kill rate to not more than twice the U.S. rate by the end of 1989.

Panama has not met the kill requirements and continues to be embargoed, Fluom said. Ecuador stopped setting nets on dolphins and the U.S. found Venuzuela met the kill levels.

Costa Rica and Vanuatu were not embargoed.

Dolphins killed by foreign fleets in 1987 was over 100,000, according to the lawsuit.

The appeal court agreed to hear the appeal on an emergency basis with oral arguments set for the week of Feb. 11 in San Francisco.

Signing the order were Judges Thomas Tang, Jerome Farris and Alex Kozinski.

STUTTGART, Germany (NOV. 15) UPI - Daimler-Benz AG, Germany's largest corporation, Thursday reported an improvement in group net earnings but said that a continued decline of the U.S. dollar would hurt the company's domestic production.

The company said its nine-month group earnings were $880 million compared with $846 million in the 1989 period last year.

Group sales climbed 6 percent to $41 billion) during the same period, an interim report stated.

The board of directors of Daimler-Benz said in the report that the sinking dollar could have a negative impact on the competitiveness of goods produced at the company's domestic production sites.

Reduced sales of Daimler products made in Germany could lead to local layoffs, the report said.

Daimler's automobile subsidiary, Mercedes-Benz AG, accounted for 70 percent of sales, the report said.

The company's electronics subsidiary, AEG AG, contributed claimed 14 percent of sales, the Munich-based aviation firm Deutsche Aerospace AG 12 percent and the services company Daimler-Benz Interservices 4 percent, the report said.

The boost in the group's profits was largely attributed to increased sales of Mercedes vehicles. Mercedes-Benz registered a 6 percent increase in sales to $29 billion compared with the first nine months of 1989.

Auto sales in Japan climbed 25 percent to 28,000 automobiles, while domestic sales rose slightly to 186,000 units this year from 183,350 cars sold in 1989.

Total automobile sales are expected to reach 570,000, compared with 542,200 in 1989, the report said.

MEXICO CITY (NOV. 15) UPI - The government submitted its 1991 budget to the congress Thursday, proposing to increase public spending to $70 billion, 5 percent more than last year.

A Planning and Budget Ministry spokesman said the federal budget for 1991 would be set at 204 trillion pesos ($70 billion), with spending increases focused on education, food subsidies and health services.

About 4.5 percent of the budget will be spent on agriculture and ranching activities.

A Finance Ministry spokesman said the budget includes a 35 percent to 36 percent income tax reduction for people earning less than $400 a month, or four times the minimum wage.

The spokesman said the government would aim to increase its income from taxes by clamping down on tax evasion and increasing levies on imported cars and annual car tax.

The 15 percent value-added tax and 2 percent manufacturers tax will remain in place.

SAN FRANCISCO (NOV. 15) UPI - Advanced Micro Devices Inc. and Applied Materials Inc. announced holiday-season layoffs Thursday in the midst of slow growth and falling prices in the semiconductor industry.

Advanced Micro Devices, a major chip manufacturer based in Sunnyvale, Calif., said it would lay off 200 workers Dec. 30 and make further job cuts in the first quarter to reduce costs.

Applied Materials, of Santa Clara, Calif., which makes equipment for manufacturing semiconductors, said it would lay off 250 to 300 workers Nov. 29 slash executives' salaries 10 percent and impose a worldwide hiring freeze to cut costs.

The two companies said the layoffs were needed to adjust to sluggish growth in the computer chip business heading into next year.

''We clearly are looking at a period of less-than-robust growth for the semiconductor industry,'' said AMD spokesman John Greenagel. ''We are determined that we have to get more done with fewer people.''

Applied Materials said chip makers have cut back on capital expenditures because of fears about the direction of the economy.

''Clearly, we are impacted by a growing hesitation on the part of many of our customers to commit to large new equipment purchases,'' said Jim Bagley, president and chief operating officer of Applied Materials.

The semiconductor business has cooled down from its days of double- digit growth in the 1980s. Many analysts expect worldwide semiconductor sales to remain relatively flat this year at about $49.5 billion and to show only single-digit growth in 1991.

Business has been particularly soft in the last two months, said Erik Jansen, an analyst with Robertson Stephens & Co. ''The business trends, the orders, are just not there like they should be at this time of year.''

Advanced Micro Devices has suffered from falling prices for so-called commodity computer chips, everyday chips used and manufactured by a number of different companies. The company posted a loss of $17.8 million on declining sales of $254.2 million in the third quarter.

Applied Materials said last month it would post lower-than-expected earnings for the quarter ended Oct. 28 because of delays in large shipments to two customers.

(NOV 15) - Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, a staunch supporter of the U.S.-led multinational force in the Persian Gulf, said Thursday he had asked President Bush to postpone any military action against Iraq for three months.

Mubarak, speaking to reporters after returning from Damascus where he talked to Syrian President Hafez Assad, said he requested the delay in any strike to give Iraqi President Saddam Hussein time to change his mind and withdraw from Kuwait.

Mubarak's statement sent U.S. crude oil prices surging by about $1 a barrel in the last 15 minutes of trading on the New York Mercantile Exchange. Traders said they felt that Mubarek made the comment to keep from looking like a hawk in the event hostilities should break out and that it signaled that war was even more imminent.

Mubarak made his peace call as a joint U.S.-Saudi amphibious operation began in Eastern Saudi Arabia, near the border of Iraqi- occupied Kuwait.

The exercise, dubbed ''Imminent Thunder,'' was to run through Nov. 21 and was to involve 16 ships, about 1,000 Marines and 1,100 aircraft.

Earlier in Damascus, Mubarak and Assad issued a joint communique that hopes of an early Arab summit on the gulf crisis and accused Iraqi leaders of foiling a peaceful attempt to solve the standoff by setting conditions for any peace meeting.

But Mubarak and Assad left the door open for a peaceful solution when they said in a joint communique issued after Mubarak's two-day visit that they would continue consultations with other Arab leaders ''to preserve the interests and unity of the Arab nation.''

''To give a further chance to the Iraqi president to reconsider his position, and in order to avert a destructive war, I have asked President Bush and his secretary of state to postpone the military option for three months,'' Mubarak told reporters in Cairo.

The Egyptian leader said Bush was in any case working to persuade the U.N. Security Council to endorse any military option, so that if a strike became necessary, it would be carried out under ''the umbrella of the United Nations.''

''The two leaders gave due attention to King Hassan's call for an Arab summit '' said the communique, issued after Mubarak and Assad held three rounds of talks. ''But because of what has been issued directly from Baghdad, setting preconditions, it makes it difficult if not impossible to hold such a summit.''

The statement said Iraq's refusal to withdraw from Kuwait made any compromise impossible.

''The two leaders expressed their regret at Iraq's foiling of any peaceful settlement aimed at the restoration of the situation before Aug. 2,'' the communique said.

The toughly worded statement came as Soviet envoys continued their shuttle diplomacy while Bush tried to mollify members of Congress angered over the U.S. troop buildup in the gulf.

A majority of Arab states voted in Cairo to support U.N. sanctions on Iraq and resolutions calling on Baghdad to withdraw its occupation troops from the emirate. The meeting also sanctioned the dispatch of Egyptian, Syrian and Moroccan troops to the Gulf to deter further Iraqi aggression.

Baghdad Radio reiterated Thursday Iraq's position that the country's leadership would be willing to attend any new Arab summit, ''provided the resolutions passed at the Cairo summit are declared null and void.''

Both the Soviet Union and China, permanent members of the U.N. Security Council, have backed Hassan's call for an Arab summit. Of the 21 members of the Arab League, only Jordan, the Palestine Liberation Organization and Mauritania gave immediate backing to the summit call.

But Arab radio stations monitored in Cairo said Yemen and Sudan had also agreed to an Arab summit, and there were signs that Libya, Tunisia and Algeria would join those in favor.

#90319u0773 11/15/1990 ~United Press International
(NOV. 15) UPI - Egypt and Syria dashed hopes Thursday for an early Arab summit on the Persian Gulf crisis, accusing Iraq of foiling a peaceful settlement crisis by setting conditions for any meeting.

But Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak and his Syrian counterpart, Hafez Assad, left the door open for a peaceful solution, and Arab and Soviet envoys pressed their shuttle diplomacy to sound out prospects of a summit.

Mubarak and Assad said in a joint communique in after two days of talks in Damascus, Syria, that they too would continue consultations with other Arab leaders ''to preserve the interests and unity of the Arab nation.''

But they emphasized that ''because of what has been issued directly from Baghdad, setting preconditions, it makes it difficult if not impossible to hold such a summit.''

Iraq has said it would attend an emergency Arab summit, urged by Morocco's King Hassan, only if the anti-Iraq resolutions passed at the last summit in Cairo on Aug. 10 ''are declared null and void.''

A majority of Arab states voted at the Cairo summit to support United Nations sanctions against Iraq and to back resolutions demanding that Baghdad end its occupation of Kuwait, which it invaded Aug. 2 and later annexed. The meeting also sanctioned the dispatch of Egyptian, Syrian and Moroccan troops to the gulf region to discourage further Iraqi aggression.

The Mubarak-Assad statement also said Iraq's refusal to withdraw from Kuwait made any compromise impossible. ''Statements given later by Iraqi officials, in which they stress the insistence of the Iraqi leadership to refuse any withdrawal from Kuwait, and the continued annexation of Kuwait are not constructive,'' it said.

Only three of the 21 members of the Arab League - Jordan, the Palestine Liberation Organization and Mauritania - gave immediate backing to the summit call. But Arab radio stations monitored in Cairo said Yemen and Sudan also agreed and there were signs Libya, Tunisia and Algeria would follow suit.

A Soviet envoy, Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Petrovsky, meeting Thursday in Rabat, Morocco, with Hassan, issued another blunt warning to Iraq that it must pull its troops out of Kuwait to prevent war, state- owned Rabat Radio reported Thursday.

''The Soviet Union warned Iraq that war would erupt in the gulf unless it withdrew its troops from Kuwait immediately,'' the radio report said. ''(Petrovsky) said the situation in the gulf was approaching the danger point and said the military solution cannot be avoided except through the Iraqi unconditional and immediate troop withdrawal from Kuwait, and the restoration of the legitimate Kuwaiti government.''

Petrovsky, who was later scheduled to visit Libya, Tunisia and Algeria, said Hassan's call for an emergency summit had Soviet support and that Arab nations themselves have the best chance to persuade Iraq to pull out peacefully, according to the Rabat Radio report.

Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's special Middle East envoy, Yevgeny Primakov, was reported to have issued a similar warning to Iraq after talks last month in Baghdad with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, the state-owned radio said.

A second Soviet envoy, Alexander Belonogov, arrived Thursday in Cairo from the Yemeni capital Sanaa for talks with Egyptian leaders, Cairo Radio reported.

Saudi Arabia dampened hopes for a summit when its foreign minister, Prince Saud al Faisal, said Wednesday in the United Arab Emirates that Iraq should first accept U.N. resolutions calling for its withdrawal from Kuwait before any summit could be held.

Saud echoed the sentiments of the pro-Kuwaiti Arab camp that if Iraq failed to agree to a troop withdrawal, then any Arab gathering would be a ''waste of time.''

Mubarak himself last month rejected a Soviet proposal for an Arab summit, saying that without a specific agenda the meeting would degenerate into a shouting match between pro-Kuwaiti and pro-Iraqi delegates. Iraqi delegates were reported to have thrown plates at Kuwaiti delegates at an Arab summit after the invasion of Kuwait.

Egyptian Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Boutros Ghali arrived Thursday in Beijing for a three-day official visit. Egyptian officials said he would remind Chinese leaders that only a complete Iraqi withdrawal can achieve peace in the volatile region.

Meanwhile, Amman radio Thursday quoted German Chancellor Helmut Kohl as saying the danger of war would lessen if Iraq freed all remaining hostages, and Denmark said it was assured by Iraq that 16 of its 38 nationals in Iraqi custody would be freed soon.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 15) UPI - A former aerospace research company executive was indicted Thursday on charges he allegedly exported restricted information on the ''Star Wars'' weapons system to Japan.

The seven-count indictment charges Ronald Hoffman, 51, of Los Angeles, with illegally exporting technical data relating to arms, ammunition and implements of war and lying on export control documents.

Hoffman also was charged with violating the Anti-Apartheid Act for attempting to sell computer software technology to an undercover U.S. Customs Service agent posing as a South African businessman last June.

The Anti-Apartheid Act prohibits the export of certain weapons to South Africa and is aimed at ''helping to bring an end to apartheid,'' Assistant U.S. Attorney William Fahey said.

If convicted, Hoffman faces a maximum of 10 years in prison and a $1 million fine on each count.

Hoffman, a former general manager at Science Application International Corp. of Los Angeles, was arrested June 14 after he attempted to export software information on the Strategic Defense Initiative to the undercover agent.

Hoffman, who is free on $500,000 bail, is the first person ever accused of illegally exporting information pertaining to the Star Wars program and is only the second to be charged with violations of the Anti-Apartheid Act, Fahey said.

The indictment alleges that, from 1986 to 1990, Hoffman was paid hundreds of thousands of dollars to export computer technology relating to the SDI program to Nissan Motor Co., Mitsubishi Corp. and the Toshiba Corp., all Japanese concerns.

Fahey said that some of the data could be used in satellite development for commercial purposes, but that a portion of the information passed on by Hoffman is applicable solely to the weapons system program.

Fahey said that the data could be used to identify a missile by its exhaust and has applications in the design, engineering and development of ''spacecrafts, launch vehicles, guided missiles and rockets.''

Hoffman worked for SAIC from 1978 to January 1990, and was partially reponsible for developing and upgrading the data in question. He also owned a firm called Plume Technology Inc. through which he allegedly exported the data to Japan and other countries.

An affidavit released in June said that authorities had seized information from Hoffman indicating he had ''proposed sales to companies in Israel, West Germany and Italy.'' Fahey, however, refused to comment Thurdsay on that part of the investigation.

Hoffman's attorney, Mark Beck, said his client intends to contest the charges.

''The items in question did not require a license (to be exported) and ... Mr. Hoffman did not intend to violate the law,'' Beck said.

Beck described the data as ''cutting edge technology which could be considered commonplace and easily accessible (in the scientific world).''

Although the material is not considered ''classified,'' Fahey said it is ''shared with substantial restrictions within the military branches (of the government).''

The indictment alleges that Hoffman, in exporting the data to Nissan in 1986, received a $56,000. He allegedly collected $150,000 for two more sales to Toshiba in 1986 and 1987.

In 1989, Hoffman also allegedly exported additional software to Mitsubishi, receiving more than $335,000 for the sale, the indictment said.

Charges were not brought against any of the companies.

During the sting operation, Hoffman allegedly exported the software to Bonn, Germany, in exchange for a $150,000 payment from undercover agents. He was told by federal agents that the information would be passed to a South African aerospace firm by middlemen in Bonn.

NEW DELHI, INDIA (NOV. 15) UPI - Nobel laureate Mother Teresa received the 1990 Soviet Land Nehru award Thursday for her contribution to the ''cause of humanity''.

Vice President Shankar Dayal Sharma presented the award to the 80- year-old Roman Catholic nun for her charitable work among the poor.

Mother Teresa called on the people to serve those who live and die in poverty and hunger.

''Love always began from the home and the family. Pray that we may be asked to love each other irrespective of nationality, color or religion, '' she told the gathering.

The Soviet consulate in the eastern West Bengal state capital of Calcutta last month announced the Soviet Land Nehru award for her contribution to the ''cause of humanity''.

The Soviet Land is a magazine published in all major Indian languages by the Soviet Embassy in New Delhi.

All previous recipients were either communists or closely associated with various Soviet-sponsored organizations.

The award carries a cash prize of $5,550 and a two-week visit to the Soviet Union.

Mother Teresa, who received the 1979 Nobel Peace Prize for her charity work, has had coronary problems for several years. Surgeons in late 1989 implanted a pacemaker in her chest.

Last April, citing poor health and advanced age, Mother Teresa announced her intention to step down as head of the Missionaries of Charity, an order she founded. However, she was re-elected five months later to another six-year term as head of the charity.

(NOV 15) - Sunny skies and record-warm temperatures spread across the Great Plains and Midwest Thursday as fog socked in New Orleans and rain soaked Hawaii.

Temperatures were unseasonably warm over the nation's midsection, ranging mostly in the 60s and 70s, and high-temperature records for Nov. 15 were broken or tied across much of Michigan and Wisconsin, the National Weather Service said.

Gusty winds blew across Wyoming during the morning hours but diminished by early afternoon. Afternoon wind advisories were posted for northern Texas, the eastern half of Kansas, northern Missouri and northern Indiana.

Winds gusted to near 50 mph at Emporia, Kan., the NWS said.

Locally heavy rain caused minor flooding on the islands of Hawaii, and more than 8 inches of rain fell during the past 24 hours at Mountainview and other locations near Hilo.

Rain was scattered over southwestern North Dakota and dampened the northern coast of Washington state. Snow whitened the Montana rockies.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 p.m. EST ranged from 29 at Yellowstone, Wyo., to 86 at Harlingen, Texas.

The mercury dipped into the mid-30s overnight in Denver, where clear skies prevailed, and morning clouds covered south Texas.

Small craft advisories were posted along the western coast of Florida from Cape Sable to Tarpon Springs and off the coast of New England from the Merrimack River in Massachusetts to Watch Hill, R.I., due to high winds and rough seas.

Dense morning fog blanketed the New Orleans metropolitian area south of Lake

Pontchartrain, and the city's airport reported near-zero visibility.

LINDSAY, OK (NOV. 15) UPI - A minor earthquake measuring 3.6 on the Richter scale jolted an area about 30 miles south of Oklahoma City Thursday, the National Earthquake Information Center said.

The quake was felt at about 5:45 a.m. around Lindsay and Rush Springs, said Waverly Persons, a geophysicist at the center in Boulder, Colo. "A few things were shaken off the shelves and that's about it," he said. "It was not large enough to cause any major damage or injury."

The area has a history of earthquakes, the last in 1981 measured 3.5 on the Richter scale, he said. Persons said it was unlikely there would be any after shocks with such a minor disturbance. "These are usually isolated events," he said. Persons said there are no major faults in the area.

SOFIA (NOV. 15) UPI - Bulgaria's ruling Socialists expressed ''deep alarm'' Thursday at plans by opposition groups for three days of anti-government rallies, warning the protests could lead to chaos and violence.

''For us there is no doubt that the street protests ... are aimed at further aggravating the political atmosphere in this country, undermining civil peace and paralyzing the work of Parliament,'' the ruling council of the renamed Communist Party said in an appeal published in the party newspaper Douma.

It accused the main opposition coalition, the Union of Democratic Forces, of trying to overthrow Bulgaria's democratically elected government by ''plunging us into a state of disorder and chaos.''

''The (BSP) is appealing to you in order to voice its deep alarm at the current situation in the country, at the attempts by certain circles to use out-of-Parliament pressure as the principle means in the struggle for power,'' the statement said.

The appeal came as opposition leaders made final preparations for rallies scheduled to begin throughout the country Friday and culminate with a mass demonstration Sunday in the capital.

Opposition leaders said the rallies will press demands for the resignation of the all-Socialist government, which they blame for Bulgaria's worsening economy.

In another development, the Interior Ministry said unknown assailants tried to set fire late Wednesday to the front entrance of the building where Socialist Prime Minister Andre Loukanov lives, the official news agency BTA said. There were no reports of injuries or serious damage.

''This act is yet another indication of the rising extremist forces interested in destabilizing the country and breaking civil peace,'' the ministry said in a prepared statement.

UDF President Peter Beron, in an interview published Thursday in the opposition newspaper Democratsia, said four parties within the coalition are prepared to form a new government immediately if the Socialist Cabinet resigns.

''Such a government will start from scratch, from a point of a complete mess '' Beron said. He said radical Socialists and leaders of other democratic parties would be asked to serve in a UDF-led government.

Democratsia also carried appeals by other opposition leaders for broad participation in the weekend rallies to protest the Socialist government's paralysis and ''economic sabotage.''

Bulgaria's communists, by purging their ranks of hard-liners and making an early commitment to reform, avoided the fate of their counterparts in other Eastern Europe countries and won a decisive victory in historic parliamentary elections in June.

But despite their early victories, these reborn Socialists have come under increasing pressure in recent weeks as social and economic conditions worsened. The lines at grocery stores and gasoline stations are longer than in the darkest days of authoritarian rule, and even electricity is being rationed at two-hour intervals.

Last week, the Socialists' slim majority in Parliament was erased when 16 Socialist legislators declared they would vote according to their consciences, rather than by party line.

(NOV. 15) UPI - Italy has sent teams of aviation experts and police to Switzerland to help Swiss authorities find out what caused an Alitalia D-C-9 to crash near Zurich, killing all 40 passengers and six crew members aboard. The airline says six of the passengers were Americans. The jet crashed and burned on a thickly wooded hill five miles north of Zurich's airport last night.

News reports from the Philippines say more than 250 people were killed this week when Typhoon Mike blasted the central islands with 150 mile an hour winds. A senator said the damage was like the blast of an atomic bomb. More than one-half Million homes were destroyed, as were hundreds of government buildings.

The Soivet K-G-B says a man accused of firing shots at a Red Square parade last week has told investigators that he intended to assassinate President Gorbachev. The K-G-B said the man was only 150 feet away from Gorbachev and other Soviet leaders when he allegedly fired two shots during the Revolution Day celebrations.

Eastern Airlines received a new lease on life late last night. A federal bankruptcy judge ruled that Eastern can make two 15 Million dollar withdrawals from an escrow account to meet its operating expenses. The decision saves Eastern from liquidation. The ruling came in New York after an eight-and-one-half hour session.

Pan Am Corporation says it will release details later today of its 400 Million dollar deal to sell its U-S-to-London routes and some other assets to United Airlines. The deal was reached last night in New York, shortly before a midnight deadlline set by boths sides last month.

The defense attorney representing a Cuban immigrant accused of setting the Happy Land Social Club fire that killed 87 people in New York in April is due to announce today whether he will use an insanity defense. Judge Burton Roberts had set a deadline of today for all medical experts to complete their evaluations of Julio Gonzalez.

Police in Alexandria, Virginia, last night arrested the son of Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan. Robert Jeffrey Lujan was charged with the rape of a woman who said she awoke Sunday to find a man in her apartment. Lujan is scheduled for arraignment today.

The Chinese Foreign Ministry has announced a new restriction on news reporting that bars coverage of state banquets for visiting foreign dignitaries. A spokeswoman called the move a ''reform.'' The policy apparently means that if an American president visits China, the White House press would NOT be allowed to cover the state banquet.

JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA (NOV. 15) UPI - Gunmen fired AK-47 rifles on a sleeping family near the troubled eastern Zonkwezizwe squatter camp Thursday, killing four adults and wounding two others and two children in the latest surge of factional black violence in the area, police said.

A patrol arrested five men with two loaded AK-47s and a pistol shortly before finding the victims of the attack, which took place soon after midnight, a police spokesman said.

The attackers surrounded the people's sleeping quarters, a mini-bus and a tent before opening fire and raising the death toll in the area to 16 since Monday the spokesman said.

Three women and a man died instantly and the wounded included two women, an 8-month-old shot in the head and a 4-year-old shot in the right leg, the spokesman said.

''This is part of the ongoing violence here,'' he said.

Battles in the squatter camp and the adjoining Katlehong township began Monday when Zulus and Xhosas clashed with firearms and machetes. At least five people died in one clash and seven in another early Tuesday.

The fighting evidently was sparked by a politically motivated rent boycott in which Zulus refused to participate, police said.

Officers said the internecine strife is the worst in Katlehong since Xhosa supporters of the African National Congress and Zulus of the Inkatha Freedom Party clashed in townships surrounding Johannesburg for six weeks in late summer.

Some 800 people died in the earlier clashes, the worst urban violence in the country's history. The bloodshed ended after authorities imposed tough emergency measures.

ALEXANDRIA, VA (NOV. 15) UPI - A judge Thursday revoked bail for the son of Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan Jr. and ordered him held in jail after a woman said he broke into her apartment during the weekend, threatened her with a shotgun and raped her.

Robert Jeffrey Lujan, 28, was held in the Alexandria City Jail after his arraignment. A judge revoked his $2,000 bail after a prosecutor said Lujan was a danger to the community. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Friday.

The younger Lujan, who was arrested Wednesday, was convicted on a cocaine charge in 1983 and has been treated for an alcohol problem. "My son has had a drinking problem for some time," the interior secretary said. "Whatever happened grew out of that problem. My son said both he and the woman had been drinking."

The incident that led to the arrest occurred early Sunday when the unidentified victim said she awoke to find an intruder in her apartment, which is in the same high-rise luxury condominium where Lujan lives with his parents.

"Jeff indicated to Secretary Lujan and his wife (Jean) that whatever did occur was consensual," Steven Goldstein, the secretary's spokesman, said. "They feel the anguish any parent would under similar circumstances." Manuel Lujan told

The Washington Post: "He met her after they were both drinking and he visited her at her apartment. She invited him over."

Goldstein said the woman told police that Jeff Lujan threatened her with a shotgun. The younger Lujan told his father that was not true, said Goldstein, who described the alleged victim as an "older woman."

Police tracked down Jeff Lujan, who works as an independent house painter, by distributing composite sketches in the neighborhood. Officers went to the family's apartment at about 6 p.m. Wednesday. He was arrested a short time later.

In 1983, the younger Lujan was arrested in New Mexico, and was convicted and served a brief sentence at a federal facility in Pennsylvania for selling a small amount of cocaine, Goldstein said.

Manuel Lujan was elected to represent New Mexico's 1st congressional district in 1968 and held that seat through January 1989. The Republican's district included Albuquerque, the state's largest city.

The Lujans have three other grown children: a son in Albuquerque, a daughter in Ohio and a daughter in a Virginia suburb of Washington. The arrest occurred five days before the Lujans' 42nd wedding anniversary.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (NOV. 15) UPI - Two European executives of the recently privatized Argentine telephone system pledged Thursday to crack down on the black market in phone line installations that sell for thousands of dollars apiece.

In interviews with United Press International, the new executives also ruled out an immediate role for Bell Atlantic in the phone system.

Bell Atlantic, based in Philadelphia, won a bid to run the northern half of Argentina's phone system. The company lost a chance to sign the contract when it failed to make a verbal commitment before an Oct. 4 deadline to come up with the $2.3 billion in debt paper it originally said it could offer.

Bell Atlantic executives have threatened to sue Argentina to regain a role in the telephone system, which previously was a state entity.

President Carlos Menem privatized the system Nov. 8, selling the northern half to a consortium led by Stet of Italy and France Telecom, and the southern half to Telefonica of Spain and allied investors.

Stet-France Telecom replaced the Bell Atlantic group.

The European groups have pledged to pay $600 million in cash and $5 billion in debt paper for 60 percent interest in the company and operating control. They also committed themselves to invest $4.7 billion in the new system over a period of seven years.

Dominique Saint Jean, president of the northern half of Argentina's phone system that was bought by a French-Italian consortium, said Bell Atlantic had not approached the Europeans about entering into any joint venture.

''We respect Bell, but have no contact with them at this time,'' Saint Jean said.

''We don't need them. We are a consortium that has already been defined. We have our partners. We have our financing. We have our managers, and we have experience,'' he said.

Saint Jean, 42, was an executive of France Telecom based in Paris before taking up his assignment to run the northern half of Argentina's phone system, now known as Telecom Argentina.

Libertador Calogiuri, a former Rome-based executive of Stet who is now vice president of Telecom Argentina, said the new managers will crack down on the illegal selling of phone lines by employees, a common practice in Argentina for decades.

Argentines now pay between $2,500 and $4,000 on the black market to get a phone line installation in the absence of normal channels.

''What was done in the past (selling lines on the black market) will not take place now, because we will be very severe,'' Calogiuri said.

He said Stet and France Telecom, as part of their offer, agreed to guarantee jobs for the 21,000 employees in the northern sector, although he estimated that only half that number was needed to service the 1.5 million telephones in the region.

As the number of new phone lines grow dramatically over a period of years as expected, the excess employees will be utilized in new operations, he said.

Calogiuri said the first priority of Telecom Argentina will be to complete the installation of 60,000 lines that Argentines bought on an old installment plan but never received.

The second priority, he said, will be to repair an estimated 200,000 to 300,000 lines that now are either damaged or out of service.

Saint Jean said about 40 executives and technicians from France and Italy were investigating the Telecom sector and drafting an investment plan that will need three months to prepare.

Once the plan is adopted, he said, it will take 1 1/2 to two years for investments in new facilities to be completed.

Eventually, the number of foreign experts in the Telecom Argentina firm will be ''around 15,'' he said.

Robert Jeffrey Lujan was arrested last night in Alexandria, Virginia, and charged with breaking into a woman's home and raping her Sunday. JERUSALEM (NOV. 15) UPI - Despite heavy security and widespread curfews, Palestinians in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip celebrated Thursday the two-year anniversary of the declaration of a Palestinian state.

No serious incidents were reported as Palestinians handed out balloons, set off fireworks and raised outlawed Palestinian flags to mark the occasion.

In East Jerusalem, police fired tear gas and rubber bullets to disperse crowds of people celebrating the day on Salah ed Din Street, the main commercial area. One policeman was slightly hurt by a stone.

The army increased patrols in the territories and put more than 550, 000 Palestinians under curfew to prevent violence and demonstrations. The entire Gaza Strip was declared a closed military zone and curfews imposed on at least 13 refugee camps, towns and villages, including Gaza City.

Troops confiscated identification cards of people breaking the curfew and fined them $250. However, few people ventured from their homes.

In the West Bank, Nablus, the largest city, was put under curfew as well as three other cities and nine refugee camps. Bethlehem and other three other towns were declared closed military zones.

In addition, Palestinians from the territories were barred from entering Jerusalem.

The precautions were taken to prevent violence of the annivesary of the symbolic Nov. 15, 1988, declaration of an independent Palestinian state.

However, the mood in the territories was festive, resembling national days in many countries. In Jerusalem's walled Old City, balloons and streamers adorned buildings and fireworks exploded in the narrow streets. On a dome of the Holy Sepulchre, an outlawed Palestinian flag fluttered throughout the day.

Shops in the territories, which usually close at 1 p.m. in observance of a partial commercial strike, were open the whole day for the anniversary.

Most Palestinians stayed home from their jobs in Israel and schools were closed.

In the Bureij refugee camp in Gaza, the army destroyed three houses belonging to the families of three men suspected of killing an Israeli soldier in Septemeber.

(NOV. 15) UPI - The shuttle Atlantis is flying what NASA Administrator Richard Truly has described as a ''crucial, national security mission.'' The shuttle lifted off earlier this evening from Cape Canaveral, Florida, on the seventh and what sources say will be the last top-secret shuttle flight. A Pentagon source says two more Air Force shuttle missions are planned next year but the payloads of both have been declassified. The source says the move would eliminate the need for elaborate security measures and save 80-Million dollars a year.

Witnesses say the priests, their housekeeper and her daughter were slain by men dressed in military uniforms.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - Business inventories increased 0.5 percent in September while sales fell 0.5 percent, the Commerce Department said Thursday, as America's recessionary economy limped along.

The data were in line with economists' forecasts.

''The report was generally another signal of recession,'' said Norman Robertson, chief economist at Mellon Bank in Pittsburgh. ''I think a recession has started.''

The drop in September sales was the largest since a 1 percent decline in April and the first since a 0.4 percent slide during July, a government spokesman said.

''It's not surprising to find weakness in sales and not surprising to find some unintended buildup of inventories,'' Robertson said. ''Businesses will move quickly to avoid any imbalance and avoid the huge buildup of stock that has been associated with severe economic downturns.''

But he added: ''I don't think the numbers indicated a sign of major deterioration in the inventory situation.''

In August, the nation's stockpile of unsold goods edged up a revised 0.7 percent and sales gained 2.1 percent, according to the data compiled by the department's Census Bureau.

The government said sales totaled $548.74 billion in September, adjusted for seasonal factors, and business inventories totaled nearly $811.5 billion during the month.

''It does confirm that growth is slow,'' but not in recession, countered economist Jean Sundrla at Evans Economics in Washington. She believes the downturn will begin in the first three months of 1991.

''This has been one of the most highly publicized recessions in history,'' Sundrla said. ''If anyone gets caught with high inventories that's their fault at this point.''

''This recession has the potential to be a mild recession - but a very long one,'' she added.

Compared with September 1989, inventories climbed 2.8 percent while sales were up nearly 4 percent.

By category, manufacturers' inventories increased 0.6 percent in September after inching up 0.3 percent in August, while retailers' inventories gained 0.4 percent in September after climbing 1.6 percent in August.

Wholesalers' inventories increased 0.4 percent in September after dipping 0.3 percent in August.

On the sales side, manufacturers' sales fell 0.7 percent in September after jumping 3.3 percent in August. Retailers' sales advanced 1.3 percent in September after being unchanged in August.

Wholesale sales dropped 1.8 percent in September after increasing 2.1 percent in August.

The government also said that the inventory to sales ratio, which tracks goods delivery time, hit 1.48 in September after scoring 1.46 in August, also adjusted for seasonal factors.

But Robertson said the ratio was ''well below levels normally or usually associated with recessions.''

MONROVIA, IN (NOV. 15) UPI - The principal can pack a pistol at Monrovia Elementary School if he wishes, the school board decided.

The board had told Principal Michael R. "Rob" Finchum a month ago to stop carrying a gun to school but the Wednesday decision effectively allows him to resume doing so. The board voted 3-1 to reject a proposal to ban firearms on school property without the board's permission.

Finchum started carrying the gun on school grounds in February with secret permission of the board and the district superintendent after he said he had been threatened by a disgruntled parent.

The arrangement was disclosed last month by a new school board member, Kenneth W. Brown, who argued that any gun in school is dangerous. Brown was not at Wednesday's meeting. The son and daughter of the parent who Finchum said had threatened him no longer are in Monrovia schools.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The Food and Drug Administration should be given more power to punish generic drug firms that are sloppy or dishonest to prevent the kind of wrongdoing that has occurred in the past, a panel said Thursday.

The Blue Ribbon Committee on Generic Medicines, an independent panel set up by the Generic Pharmaceutical Industry Association in February, issued a report outlining changes aimed at averting further problems in the industry.

For nearly two years, the FDA's generic drug division has been embroiled in a scandal stemming from bribery convictions of FDA employees and company officials, as well as revelations of other serious wrongdoing among manufacturers.

Generic drugs are supposed to be chemically equivalent to brand-name drugs with expired patents. Generic medications, which are generally cheaper than brand-name products, account for as much as one-third of the U.S. prescription drug market.

About 250 products made by 27 generic firms were recalled and more than 100 drug approvals have been or are in the process of being withdrawn, the FDA said. Among the offenses uncovered were instances of companies trying to pass off brand-name drugs as their own generic formulas to win FDA approval.

"We believe the FDA is now on top of the problem," said Lewis Engman, a Washington lawyer who headed the panel and former chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. In its 107-page report, the expert panel made more than 30 recommendations to prevent another scandal.

Specifically, the seven-member committee recommended Congress grant FDA additional power to: bar generic drug officials who commit certain offenses from further business ventures with products regulated by FDA, impose civil fines, seize profits resulting from criminal misconduct and require firms whose employees have engaged in misconduct related to drug approval to prove all their products are safe and effective.

Also, the committee recommended that the FDA make changes in its generic drug review and approval process, which currently gives an advantage to the first company to submit an application regardless of its initial scientific merits.

One way to create "a more level playing field" would be for the FDA to hold an informational meeting with generic drug manufacturers before a patent on a brand-name drug expires, and to review all qualified applications simultaneously, Engman said.

Finally, the panel told the generic pharmaceutical industry that it should set up a model code of conduct for its members, and also encourage reporting of adverse drug reactions to the FDA by such methods as a telephone "hotline" for consumers.

"The committee believes generic medicines make a major contribution to consumers. The committee recognizes that its recommendations may increase some companies' costs, but nonetheless believes that the increased benefit to the public associated with a reliable supply of generic medicines justifies the additional expense," the report said.

Bill Grigg, a spokesman for the FDA, said the agency is reviewing the panel's recommendations, but said they appear to be "a reasonable attempt to reveal the problems of the industry and seek some solutions."

On Wednesday, the FDA announced it was immediately requiring all laboratories that test generic drugs to ensure they are equivalent to brand-name drugs to keep samples of all drugs they test for five years so the FDA can check the tests.

(NOV. 15) UPI - American Marines launched a practice beach invasion Thursday along the Saudi Arabian coast, apparently near the Kuwaiti border, as Egypt and Syria accused Iraq of foiling a peaceful settlement of the Persian Gulf crisis by setting conditions for an Arab summit.

The Pentagon said the beach drill, dubbed ''Imminent Thunder,'' involved 16 ships, about 1,000 Marines and 1,100 aircraft and is to continue through Nov. 21.

They declined to say where in the Persian Gulf it was taking place but it was believed to near Iraq-occupied Kuwait.

The Pentagon also said U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines would exercise with Saudi air, naval and marine units to ''conduct Desert Shield training in joint and combined operations for participating forces and to enhance amphibious warfare skills.''

The remarks directed at Iraq by Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak and his Syrian counterpart, Hafez Assad appeared to dim the chances for an Arab summit to deal with the Persian Gulf crisis, but other Arab and Soviet envoys pressed their shuttle diplomacy to sound out prospects of a summit.

Mubarak and Assad said in a joint communique after two days of talks in Damascus, Syria, that they too would continue consultations with other Arab leaders ''to preserve the interests and unity of the Arab nation.''

But they emphasized that ''because of what has been issued directly from Baghdad, setting preconditions, it makes it difficult if not impossible to hold such a summit.''

Iraq has said it would attend an emergency Arab summit, urged by Morocco's King Hassan, only if the anti-Iraq resolutions passed at the last summit in Cairo on Aug. 10 ''are declared null and void.''

A majority of Arab states voted at the Cairo summit to support United Nations sanctions against Iraq and to back resolutions demanding that Baghdad end its occupation of Kuwait, which it invaded Aug. 2 and later annexed. The meeting also sanctioned the dispatch of Egyptian, Syrian and Moroccan troops to the gulf region to discourage further Iraqi aggression.

The Mubarak-Assad statement also said Iraq's refusal to withdraw from Kuwait made any compromise impossible. ''Statements given later by Iraqi officials, in which they stress the insistence of the Iraqi leadership to refuse any withdrawal from Kuwait, and the continued annexation of Kuwait are not constructive,'' it said.

Only three of the 21 members of the Arab League - Jordan, the Palestine Liberation Organization and Mauritania - gave immediate backing to the summit call. But Arab radio stations monitored in Cairo said Yemen and Sudan also agreed and there were signs Libya, Tunisia and Algeria would follow suit.

A Soviet envoy, Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Petrovsky, meeting Thursday in Rabat, Morocco, with Hassan, issued another blunt warning to Iraq that it must pull its troops out of Kuwait to prevent war, state-owned Rabat Radio reported Thursday.

''The Soviet Union warned Iraq that war would erupt in the gulf unless it withdrew its troops from Kuwait immediately,'' the radio report said. ''(Petrovsky) said the situation in the gulf was approaching the danger point and said the military solution cannot be avoided except through the Iraqi unconditional and immediate troop withdrawal from Kuwait, and the restoration of the legitimate Kuwaiti government.''

Petrovsky, who was later scheduled to visit Libya, Tunisia and Algeria, said Hassan's call for an emergency summit had Soviet support and that Arab nations themselves have the best chance to persuade Iraq to pull out peacefully, according to the Rabat Radio report.

Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's special Middle East envoy, Yevgeny Primakov, was reported to have issued a similar warning to Iraq after talks last month in Baghdad with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, the state-owned radio said.

A second Soviet envoy, Alexander Belonogov, arrived Thursday in Cairo from the Yemeni capital Sanaa for talks with Egyptian leaders, Cairo Radio reported.

Saudi Arabia dampened hopes for a summit when its foreign minister, Prince Saud al Faisal, said Wednesday in the United Arab Emirates that Iraq should first accept U.N. resolutions calling for its withdrawal from Kuwait before any summit could be held.

Saud echoed the sentiments of the pro-Kuwaiti Arab camp that if Iraq failed to agree to a troop withdrawal, then any Arab gathering would be a "waste of time.''

Mubarak himself last month rejected a Soviet proposal for an Arab summit, saying that without a specific agenda the meeting would degenerate into a shouting match between pro-Kuwaiti and pro-Iraqi delegates. Iraqi delegates were reported to have thrown plates at Kuwaiti delegates at an Arab summit after the invasion of Kuwait.

Egyptian Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Boutros Ghali arrived Thursday in Beijing for a three-day official visit. Egyptian officials said he would remind Chinese leaders that only a complete Iraqi withdrawal can achieve peace in the volatile region.

Meanwhile, Amman radio Thursday quoted German Chancellor Helmut Kohl as saying the danger of war would lessen if Iraq freed all remaining hostages, and Denmark said it was assured by Iraq that 16 of its 38 nationals in Iraqi custody would be freed Friday.

#90319u1026 11/15/1990 ~United Press International

LONDON (NOV. 15) UPI - Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher went on the defensive Thursday in her battle to retain control of the ruling Conservative Party, saying she was considering changes in Britain's widely unpopular poll tax.

Former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine is trying to unseat Thatcher in a party vote next Tuesday by appealing to Conservatives' concerns about their re-election prospects in polls that must be called by mid-1991.

Heseltine has hit hard on Thatcher's resistance to plans by the other 11 nations of the European Community to unify markets and nations, and her government's poll tax, a levy denounced as inequitable because it is a flat fee on the people unrelated to income.

Thatcher sought to outflank him, saying in Parliament in her first public comment on the challenge that she may adjust some aspects of the poll tax. Heseltine has said the poll tax bite could be halved if funding for schools were switched from local government to the central government. Thatcher told Parliament that this idea would only push up the income tax.

Heseltine was not present in the chamber, but Paddy Ashdown, leader of the Liberal Democrats, asked the prime minister about the challenge, demanding to know why she was still in office when she had said five years ago that she planned to step down in five years.

''I confess that this is not the foremost thought in my mind,'' Thatcher replied in a determined voice. ''After three general election victories, leading the only party with policies clearly carried out, I intend to continue.''

Heseltine's name was officially forwarded Thursday to the Conservative Party by two colleagues - Neil MacFarlane and Peter Tapsell - to meet a noon deadline for challenges.

Backers of Thatcher and Heseltine are now trying to attract the 372 conservative members of Parliament who are eligible to vote and political analysts say it will be difficult to assess the closed-door debate before the secret ballot.

But several members have publicly backed Heseltine and one opinion poll said most people favored him for leader.

''I wish the prime minister would take a note of what many people are saying and retire gracefully,'' said MacFarlane, a former sports minister.

In announcing his challenge Wednesday, Heseltine said as prime mininster he would review the poll tax, Many polls have found most undecided voters favoring Neil Kinnock, leader of the main opposition Labor Party, because of the tax.

Peter Emery, a Conservative member of Parliament who favors Heseltine, said, ''There are a vast number of people - every member of Parliament's postbag has shown this - people who say that we will never vote conservative again as long as Mrs. Thatcher is leader.''

The Conservative division is the deepest since Thatcher's 1975 ouster of Edward Heath for party leadership. Geoffrey Howe, who resigned as deputy prime minister Nov. 8, angrily told Parliament Tuesday that Thatcher's approach to the EC could isolate Britain economically and politically from the European mainstream.

Meanwhile, the government announced Thursday that unemployment had reached 6 percent, the highest level in 13 months. One economist called the figure ''highly embarrassing'' for the Thatcher government, but another noted that the figure reflected a way of holding down inflation.

Bookmakers have Thatcher the 2-1 favorite and Heseltine at 7-4, but the former defense minister could undermine her 11 years in Downing Street if there are enough protest votes against her.

Thatcher needs 214 Conservative votes, or 15 percent more than the majority, to win. Heseltine says he has the support of more than 100 members and if there are abstentions to bring the anti-Thatcher camp to more than 158, then the vote goes to a second round Nov. 27.

At this point, another contender could enter the fray as a compromise candidate agreeable to both sides, as well as to those firmly committed against Heseltine. The speculation is that Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd is the stalking horse candidate, despite his tepid denials.

The Independent newspaper printed a survey Thursday showing Labor's 14 percentage point public approval rating nationwide would fall to 5 points if Heseltine became leader.

A string of conservative by-election defeats has shown that repugnance for Thatcher's perceived imperious leadership style is an issue. The survey revealed that 57 percent of 1,084 people polled by The Independent said they believe Thatcher is devious and 64 percent found her uncaring.

Heseltine scored 34 and 21 percent on those categories, respectively, but Thatcher was viewed as stronger and cooler than her challenger.

The Independent poll found 60 percent think a leadership challenge would clear the air and be positive and only 25 percent shared the view of Thatcher loyalists that the dispute should be avoided while Britain is facing severe problems, such as the Persian Gulf crisis.

The Independent said the poll was only a ''snapshot of public opinion,'' but indicated ''the public mood can offer little comfort'' to Thatcher.

LONDON (NOV. 15) UPI - Stock prices closed slightly higher in moderate trading Thursday on the London International Stock Exchange as opinion polls indicatedPrime Minister Margaret Thatcher's chances of fending off a challenge to her leadership had improved.

Stocks also finished higher in Frankfurt. Trading was light.

In London, the blue-chip Financial Times 100-stock index, which fell 10.0 points Wednesday, rebounded 14.0 points to 2,060.0. The narrower top 30 industrial average gained 16.4 points to 1,599.6.

Volume amounted to around 434 million shares, higher than the 345 million that changed hands Wednesday.

Analysts said the market was boosted by a poll that suggested Thatcher has a good chance of surviving as leader of the ruling Conservative Party.

Michael Heseltine, a former defense secretary under Thatcher, announced Wednesday that he planned to challenge her for the leadership of the Conservatives in the House of Commons.

The challenge, analysts said, brings to a head growing disenchantment with Thatcher among Conservative members in Parliament.

Analysts said stocks also gained following two Department of Employment reports showing unemployment and average earnings were in line with market expectations.

Unemployment in Britain reached 6 percent of the total working population in October, surging to its highest level in 13 months, according to provisional estimates by the Department of Employment. The September rate was 5.9 percent.

The number of unemployed last month rose by 32,000, the largest monthly increase in more than four years. Total unemployment was 1.7 million people - a level analysts said confirms Britain is in a recession.

''The unemployment figures were actually quite encouraging, in a perverse way '' said Chris Dillow, a Nomura Research economist.

He said he believed the figures show companies were cutting costs by shedding jobs rather than by holding wages down.

The practice will help combat Britain's inflation rate, which at more than 10 percent is one of the highest in Europe, analysts explained.

Meanwhile, the government reported the underlying annual rate of increase in average earnings in Britain rose to 10.25 percent in September from a revised 10 percent in August.

Average earnings as a whjole rose a seasonally adjusted 0.7 percent in September from August and were up 9.6 percent from September 1989.

Productivity in manufacturing fell 0.7 percent in September and was down 0.8 percent from a year ago.

Action on the London exchange Thursday focused on the insurance sector, whose issues recovered from recent setbacks. Commercial Union added 10 cents to $8.74 and General Accident gained 26 cents to $8.28 amid hopes for increased premiums.

Among other widely traded shares, Burton jumped 23 cents to $1.50, spurred by market speculation that a takeover bid would be made for the struggling retail group and by news of the departure of its chairman, Sir Ralph Halpern.

Boots, the pharmacy group, added 16 cents to $6.15 following analysts' favorable comment on its earnings.

But Wellcome, the pharmaceutical giant, plummeted $1.12 to $7.25 after reporting pretax profits rose 11 percent, below market expecations.

In Germany, prices on the Frankfurt Stock Exchange closed higher on light volume.

The closely watched German Stock Index, which gained 3.32 points Wednesday, tacked on another 14.96 points to 1,421.19.

Analysts said stocks reacted favorably to earnings results released over the past several days by leading companies such as Siemens, Daimler-Benz and byseveral key construction companies.

On the local economic front, economic advisers to the German government cautioned that a large budget deficit caused by the growing cost of German unity might force the authorities to raise taxes.

The board of four experts warned extensive government borrowing will burden the federal budget with high interest payments, which can only be covered by an increase in government revenue.

Chancellor Helmut Kohl's conservative-led government has repeatedly said it would not raise taxes to pay for the mounting bill of rebuilding the crumbling eastern German economy.

The experts said in their annual assessment of economic trends that the western German economy will continue to boom, while the situation in eastern Germany will worsen until the middle of next year. At that point, productivity and consumption will pick up again, they predicted.

(NOV. 15) UPI - Chances for an early Arab summit on the Persian Gulf crisis are fading rapidly as the leaders of Egypt and Syria accuse Iraq of trying to sabotage the meeting even before it begins. Egypt's Hosni Mubarak and Hafez Assad of Syria charge that Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein is stonewalling any peace initiative by setting pre-conditions for peace talks. The joint communique was issued at the end of a two-day visit by Mubarak to Syria.

The rapid deployment of U-S troops to the Persian Gulf region dwarfs the movement ot American forces to Vietnam. About 230-thousand Americans are in the Gulf region now, with that number expected to nearly double by early next year. In 1961, there were 685 military personnel in South Vietnam. It was NOT until 1965 that the total number went to 200- thousand, and it did NOT reach 500-thousand until two years later.

PRAGUE, CZECHOSLOVAKIA (NOV. 15) UPI - Secret police never considered manipulating anti-communist dissidents to overthrow the country's aging Communist Party leadership, it was reported Thursday.

The report by two Prague newspapers contradicts generally accepted theories that last November's Velvet Revolution, which overthrew 42 years of Communist rule, was actually an attempted Communist putsch that turned sour.

Thursday's report quotes the general military prosecutor, Miroslav Krizenecky, who says that as late as Nov. 23 Lorenc wanted to use force against the protestors. The next day Lorenc and Defense Minister Miroslav Vacek tried to persuade the politburo to use the army against the protestors.

Lorenc was arrested two weeks ago and taken to Prague for questioning.

Saturday marks one year since Czechoslovak riot police and anti- terrorist commandoes attacked 10,000 peaceful student demonstrators in downtown Prague, sparking a week of mass protests that brought down Communist rule in Czechoslovakia.

As with any momentuous occurrence, there is no shortage of theories as to what really happened.

A parliamentary commission turned in a half-finished report on the revolution and a second commission of the federal Parliament is conducting its own investigation of the events leading up to the revolution.

A special presidential commission investigating the army's role in the revolution reported last month that Vacek and his chief of staff, Gen. Antonin Slimak, had prepared a plan and tried, with Lorenc, to persuade the politburo to let them use troops and tanks on the demonstrators.

Havel has since fired Vacek but Slimak has remained in office.

The students were marching on Nov. 17, as they had for many years, to commemorate the 1939 killing by Nazi invaders of student Jan Opletal, an officially sanctioned hero for communists and dissidents.

Arriving at Opletal's gravesite in the Vysehrad cemetary, the students decided to continue marching on to Wencelaus Square in downtown Prague.

Some say it was a spontaneous decision, others that it was a clever ruse by secret police ''agents provocateurs.'' Whatever the case, the students continued their march along the Vlatava River until they were confronted by several thousand police in riot gear, including anti- terrorist ''red beret'' troops.

The subsequent beatings injured 54 seriously and sent 561 people to hospital. The following evening Vaclav Havel and other dissidents and signers of the Charter 77 human rights document met in Havel's Prague apartment to form Civic Forum.

Within three weeks, Civic Forum had lead the country to overthrow the communist government and last Dec. 10 the Communists finally yielded power.

The most radical conspiracy theory yet published is by Miroslav Dolejsi, a former political prisoner who spent 18 years in prison, six of them in uranium mines.

Dolesji, in a 3-part article in a Prague tabloid last month, said there was no revolution, merely a long and carefully orchestrated campiagn set in motion by a conspiracy involving the Soviet KGB, the CIA, Israel's Mossad intelligence service, Masonic lodges, Zionists and ''Jewish trade unions'' in Sweden and the United States, masterminded by President Reagan and Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev in 1987.

He said Eastern Europe's dissident groups were composed entirely of Communist sleeper agents.

''All the dissident groups in all these countries were established and controlled by the Communist Party, who expelled from the Party, persecuted or imprisoned them with only one aim - to make these people popular and known.''

Theories abound, but it is uncertain that anyone will ever find the whole truth.

''If we don't learn anything in the first two or three months after the event, we can not learn anything,'' said prosecutor Krizenecky.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The alcohol and tobacco industries should be required to pay for advertising discouraging teen drinking and smoking, and if their ads continue to try to lure youth by 1992, all product advertising should be banned, a national panel recommended Thursday.

"What we found should not come as any great surprise - that alcohol and tobacco are the drugs of choice by far and that they are gateway drugs to other substances," said Rep. Mike DeWine, R-Ohio, a member of the National Commission on Drug-Free Schools co-chaired by Education Secretary Lauro Cavazos and outgoing National Drug Control Policy Director William Bennett.

The commission's recommendations come as surveys find drug use by young people is declining and federal anti-drug spending is increasing. "Now is precisely the wrong moment to be complacent about any success. National resolve must not slacken," the report said.

"The commission supports all efforts to reduce the illegal use of alcohol and tobacco and to counteract the adverse effects of alcohol and tobacco promotion and advertising on youth," it said.

The commission said Congress should require the alcohol and tobacco industries to turn over a portion of their advertising and promotion budget to an independent agency to develop "counteradvertising" aimed at curbing drinking and smoking by underage youth.

Also, by 1992, if an independent agency has determined the alcohol and tobacco industries are still targeting youth and glamorizing use of their products, "Congress should consider enacting a ban on advertising and promotion of either or both of these products," the report said.

The commission also recommended higher excise taxes on alcohol and tobacco products to fund alcohol and tobacco prevention, treatment and health programs. The new budget package did hike those taxes, but the intended use is federal deficit reduction. The industries, predictably, raised Cain over the recommendations.

"Overall, the premise they're taking on advertising is flawed because they're making the statement that alcohol targets youth and that is obviously incorrect," said Jeff Becker, vice president of The Beer Institute.

Janet Flynn of the Distilled Spirits Council of the United States said the report "falls into the anti-alcohol rhetoric that leads to misdirected and inefficient policy recommendations. The report is nothing but a recitation of all of the fallacious anti-alcohol messages given by those who oppose the responsible use of alcohol."

And The Tobacco Institute said the commission "would be hard-pressed" to prove cigarette advertising is aimed at teens. And it rejected the idea of paying for counteradvertising.

"Before they reach into the private sector pocketbook to create a propaganda campaign ... I think they ought to take a second look at what they're proposing," said Thomas Lauria, a spokesman for The Tobacco Institute.

But DeWine said the industry spokespersons are flat wrong. "We found, as a matter of fact, that the alcohol and tobacco industries are targeting youth," DeWine said.

"The only dispute within the commission was that some members wanted to go all the way and say that advertising ought to be banned. Other members took the position that, yes, it's a problem, but we don't want to get into that recommendation. Basically, we took the middle ground," he said. Other commission recommendations included:

- States should raise taxes on cigarettes and alcohol beverages, "especially beer," ban cigarette vending machines and prohibit alcohol and tobacco advertising and promotion at all state colleges and universities, including at sporting events.
- Schools should concentrate prevention efforts in the elementary grades.
- Communities should keep school buildings open beyond regular school hours.
- Parents should make it clear to family members and friends that underage youth may not use alcohol or tobacco in the home.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The cutting torches have already begun to destroy Soviet armored vehicles, in anticipation of what a senior administration official described Thursday as the "most ambitious arms control treaty in history."

The Conventional Forces in Europe treaty between the 16 NATO nations and the six Warsaw Pact countries is to be signed at the summit of 34 countries belonging to the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe this weekend in Paris.

It will limit the most lethal kinds of weapons in the area "from the Atlantic to the Urals," roughly in the area bordered by the English Channel in the west the Alps in the south, the Baltics in the north and the foothills of the Ural Mountains in the East. That area has been, in the last 40 years, the most heavily armed 2.5 million square miles on Earth.

A senior administration official described the completed CFE treaty as "the most ambitious arms control treaty in history, a tremendous accomplishment." Some arms will remain, but at levels that are lower than present and which put the NATO countries and the Warsaw Pact at numerical equality. The new levels, which will have to be reached in about 3 1/2 years, are:

- Battle tanks, 20,000 for each side.
- Artillery, 20,000 for each side.
- Armored combat vehicles, such as armored personnel carriers, 30,000 for each side.
- Combat aircraft, 6,800 for each side.

- Attack helicopters, 2,000 for each side.

A senior administration official, briefing reporters at the White House, said that the Soviets, who have had an overwhelming numerical superiority in most of these weapons, have already begun cutting up their older tanks.

But, in a move that may bring questions in the ratification process in the U.S. Senate, they have begun to move some of their tanks east of the Urals where they would not be counted in the totals. The Soviets have told the U.S. negotiators that this is where their most pressing defense needs would arise, a presumed reference to nationality conflicts and a potential threat from China.

A State Department official said, "Our main aim was to remove weapons from the center of Europe, where there always is a potential danger of confrontation. We would also like to see them destroyed, but the Soviets have been very frank about telling us where the tanks are going and what will be done with them. Some of them will be converted to civilian purposes, such as tractors, and others will be destroyed."

The official said that the United States has similar rights under the treaty and could move some of its equipment back to the United States, or sell tanks or give them away to allies outside of Europe. This process has already begun with the delivery to Egypt, at yard-sale prices, of outmoded M-60 tanks that had been based with U.S. forces in Europe.

U.S. Armored vehicles temporarily transferred from Europe to Saudi Arabia in the gulf crisis will count against the total allowed NATO in Europe, since it is assumed they will return when the crisis is over.

The conspicuous omission in the treaty is a limit on the number of troops for each side, a matter that consumed years of painstaking negotiations in Vienna. An agreement had been reached earlier this year on mutual limits of 195,000 troops for each side. But events, including the unification of Germany, outpaced the abilities of the U.S. and Soviet negotiators to write the treaty.

So the manpower issue was put aside and will be dealt with in the subsequent negotiations, to be known as CFE 2. Those talks will begin almost immediately after the signing, in the coming week, of the CFE treaty in Paris.

The negotiators spent months working out the precise details of verifying the treaty by outside inspection teams, and calculating how the Warsaw Pact can split up its allotment of tanks and other weapons. For example, Bulgaria will be allowed 235 combat aircraft, while the Soviet Union will be permitted 5,150.

U.S. officials said that some of the bitterest negotiations involved arguments between the Soviets and their former allies about how the total number of permitted weapons would be split up between them.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 15) UPI - Three former Lockheed Corp. employees who claimed they were fired for reporting problems with the giant C-5B military cargo plane were awarded more than $45 million in punitive and other damages Thursday.

A Superior Court jury that had deliberated since Nov. 5 following a six-week trial agreed the men were wrongfully terminated by Lockheed in October 1985.

Clyde Jones Jr., Terrence Schielke and Thomas Benecke, were awarded a combined $45 million in punitive damages, $230,000 in lost earnings and $136,500 for emotional distress.

The men said they uncovered problems in the manufacturing of the main airframe of the C-5B, and took their concerns to top Lockheed management during 1984 and 1985.

Lockheed executives said the three men were fired because they had not followed proper procedures for reporting program irregularities, delayed making their reports and accused management of a cover-up.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - Los Angeles Kings left wing Luc Robitaille Thursday was suspended by the NHL for four games as a result of his match penalty for attempting to injure Edmonton's Craig Simpson in a game last Saturday.

Under NHL rules, the suspension will take effect next Thursday unless the Kings notify the league by Friday they waive the right to appeal. In that case the suspension takes place immediately.

NHL executive vice president Brian O'Neill said Robitaille tried to retaliate for an earlier check by Simpson.

''In considering this incident it is clear that Robitaille acted out of retaliation for a previous check and it is also clear he struck the Edmonton player with considerable force even though no injury resulted,'' O'Neill said. ''In addition, the act was deliberate and therefore the match penalty was the appropriate penalty.''

LEXINGTON, KY (NOV. 15) UPI - Alydar, forever linked with Affirmed in thoroughbred racing's greatest rivalry, was put to death Thursday after fracturing his leg while recovering from surgery.

The 15-year-old stallion was destroyed by lethal injection at 8 a.m. EST at Calumet Farm and buried later in the morning on the sprawling grounds where he was born and became one of racing's finest sires.

Calumet Farm announced the death in a one-sentence statement, saying the runner-up to to Affirmed in each of the 1978 Triple Crown races broke his right femur.

Two days earlier, Alydar fractured the cannon bone in his right hind leg when he kicked his stall door and went into shock. Drs. William Baker and Larry Bramlage operated Wednesday and placed the horse in a fiberglass cast. His condition at the time was pronounced guarded. However, after sustaining another injury to the same leg Thursday there was no hope.

"Everything went so well (Wednesday) that we were optimistic we could get him through," Bramlage said. "He began resenting the sling last night and was tranquilized.

"Today, it was either maintain him in a tranquilized state - and he was starting to show signs of colic - or wean him out of the sling. Fifteen minutes after (the sling) was off, he slipped and fell, breaking his right femur." A Calumet spokeswoman said Alydar was buried near two Triple Crown winners - Whirlaway and Citation.

The death marked yet another sorry chapter to horse racing in 1990, a year blackened by the death of Go For Wand and two other horses at the Breeders' Cup, the end of the Sunday Silence-Easy Goer rivalry, widespread injuries, and protracted debate over the drug Lasix.

Alydar, a son of Raise a Native-Sweet Tooth, was foaled on March 23, 1975. He was trained by John Veitch and ridden by Jorge Velasquez. He captured 11 stakes before retiring to stud at Calumet in 1979. Alydar won 14 of 26 starts, earned $957,195 in purses and was elected to racing's Hall of Fame in 1989. In all, he won 14 of 26 starts, finishing out of the money only twice.

While Affirmed got the better of him on the track - beating him seven of ten times - Alydar proved the superior horse in the breeding shed, siring such stakes winners as Alysheba, Easy Goer, Turkoman and Criminal Type.

Affirmed won the Triple Crown a year Seattle Slew and five years after Secretariat. His triumph was all the more momentous because of Alydar, who lost the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes by a total of less than two lengths.

"It was heartbreaking because the horse kept trying so hard and kept coming back and kept getting beat," Velasquez recalled recently. "But we always thought he was the best, and at least he proved it as a stud." Alydar was the only horse ever to finish second in all three Triple Crown races.

The Belmont was a classic, with Affirmed and Alydar dueling neck and neck down the stretch. At one point, Alydar inched past Affirmed for the first time in the Triple Crown, but Affirmed jockey Steve Cauthen went to his whip and regained the lead. They hit the wire with Affirmed winning by a head.

The ten races between Alydar and Affirmed covered a total of 10 5-16 miles. Affirmed finished ahead of Alydar by a total of 4 1/2 lengths. In 1986, Affirmed was moved from Spendthrift Farm to Calumet, where he was placed in the paddock adjoining that of his old rival.

CHICAGO (NOV. 15) UPI - The National Safety Council Thursday said traffic accidents during the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday might claim 380 to 480 lives.

The holiday period begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 21, and ends at 11:59 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 25.

The NSC said an additional 17,000 to 22,000 people might suffer disabling injuries during the holiday period.

Last year, 406 people died and some 18,400 suffered disabling injuries during the Thanksgiving period.

The council advised motorists to have vehicles inspected before long trips; wear seat belts which they say could save 12,000 lives a year; designate a driver who will refrain from drinking alcohol, and allow extra travel time and slow the travel pace in poor weather.

LONDON (NOV. 15) UPI - A ''golden curtain'' may divide the Warsaw Pact nations and Western Europe and become a source of instability unless the West provides money and expertise to bolster the economies of emerging democracies in the East, a research group said Thursday.

The Saferworld Foundation, an independent British-based thinktank, also accused Western European nations of failing to plan for new security threats, and called for East-West integration to be overseen by the Conference for Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE).

''The CSCE should provide the overall structure of pan-European decision-making on security issues,'' it said. ''It should be the structure which specifically addresses the risk of war, co-ordination of arms control regimes, mediation, peacekeeping, and collective security.''

The 139-page report, titled ''European Security: The New Agenda,'' recommended that the West increase its economic aid to the emerging democracies and write off some debts.

''Realistically, foreign debts at present levels can never be fully repaid,'' Saferworld Research director Paul Eavis concluded. ''The most rational solution for both debtor and creditors in extreme cases, therefore, would be some write-off of debt.''

The group warned of an emerging East-West poverty-wealth divide.

''A golden curtain could replace the Iron Curtain,'' said Saferworld, a group established in April 1989 to promote safer and cheaper defense policies and greater cooperation among governments over new threats to security.

It also identified pollution and environmental degredation as a source of political unrest in Eastern Europe.

''Protests against environmentally damaging projects and industries, combined with wider disatisfaction at the suffering caused by environmental degradation was and is a significant element in the political reform movements in Eastern Europe,'' the report said.

''Without active measures, environmental problems are likely to be a significant factor behind social unrest, and hence political instability,'' it explained.

The report called for developed countries to help clean up the East, where it said money spent would be up to 12 times more effective than in the cleaner West.

It recommended that European military forces should be focused towards defensive fighting, with NATO confined to countering any residual threat from the Soviet Union, but harboring no intentions of bringing now-friendly nations of Eastern Europe into the alliance.

''NATO should not extend security guarantees to Eastern Europe as this would clearly threaten the Soviet Union and increase the possibility that any conflict in Eastern Europe could escalate to wider European war,'' the study said.

''Military forces in Europe should be restructured, providing for ground and air defence but minimizing the ability for offensive operations,'' it said, recommending a move away from mobile ground forces and strike aircraft.

LONDON (NOV. 15) UPI - Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie said Thursday the multinational force arrayed against Iraq should wait one year for economic sanctions to have an effect, but that armed force would be justified in the ''final resort'' if peaceful means failed to resolve the Persian Gulf crisis.

Elsewhere in Britain, a group of five Britons, a Belgian, an Indian and a Ghanaiain prepared to fly Friday to Jordan and then to the Kuwaiti desert to set up a peace camp between Iraqi troops and the U.S.-led multinational force massed in the Saudi Arabian desert.

Also, British and U.S. officials said an American chartered flight is scheduled to leave Kuwait Sunday with an unspecified number of Western women and children.

The Voice of America and the British Broadcasting Corporation's World Service broadcast messages advising nationals to contact the American and British embassies in Kuwait City.

''At the end of the day, its their decision,'' a Foreign Office spokesman said about the 600 Britons remaining in the occupied emirate. ''Our advice to them is to come out.''

Runcie, speaking at a General Synod as the outgoing leader of the Anglican Church, said the public must discard romantic ideas that the bloodshed would be confined to soldiers in ''surgical strikes'' and ''clean'' operations.

''Let us be in no doubt whatever, that if it comes to war ... non- combatants will most certainly be killed and maimed and bereaved,'' he said. ''We must face the bleak, horrible fact that a war could not be confined to the professional soldiers, airmen and sailors.

''A year of sanctions would be far cheaper in every way than even a very short war,'' he said.

''Of one thing I am quite sure: whilst we must use every means short of war to enforce the U.N. (economic) policy, it would be foolish to rule out the use of force in the last resort,'' Runcie said.

An official for the Gulf Peace Camp said the group leaving Friday is an advance party and that about 100 other people had signed up to go when the camp is established.

He said the group was non-political and self-funded and that the venture had been cleared with Iraqi authorities and Kuwaiti officials of the government-in-exile. They were awaiting a response from Saudi King Fahd to a request that a second camp be created inside the adjacent kingdom, he said.

''The main aim is to remind the world leaders that there should be peace and no war,'' he said. ''It can help to stop the war, but of course it depends on the leaders.''

ATLANTA (NOV. 15) UPI - The number of Americans with the most common form of diabetes rose 17 percent between 1980 and 1987, with blacks and white men showing the most dramatic increases, government researchers reported Thursday.

The number of Americans with Type 2 or non-insulin dependent diabetes climbed from an estimated 5.8 million people in 1980 to 6.8 million in 1987, the latest year for which figures were available, the federal Centers for Disease Control said.

Type 2 diabetes is caused by an inability of the body to properly control the amount of sugar in the blood. Although the condition often can be controlled by changing the diet, it can produce serious side effects such as blindness and organ damage.

Figures were not included in the study on the incidence of another form of the disease called Type 1 or insulin-dependent diabetes, which is caused by the inability of the pancrease to produce the sugar-controlling hormone insulin.

The nation's aging population is responsible for about eight percent of the increase in non-insulin dependent diabetes, the CDC said. The other nine percent is attributable to increasing obesity and lack of exercise - the two main causes of the non-insulin dependent diabetes, the CDC said.

Diabetes in men jumped 33 percent during the seven-year period - from 2.1 million to 2.8 million cases, the CDC said. The number of cases for women remained about the same at 2.7 million, the agency said. During the period, the number of cases among black men rose 16 percent, according to the CDC. Cases among black women climbed 24 percent.

The best way to prevent the disease is avoiding a high-carbohydrate and fatty diet and maintaining a regular exercise regimen, said Dr. Jeff Newman, a CDC epidemiologist. People with a family history of diabetes are more susceptible to the disease, he said.

WATKINS GLEN, NY (NOV. 15) UPI - The owner of the nation's largest farm-animal sanctuary is promoting an Adopt-a-Turkey program for people interested in saving critters who have little to be thankful for on Thanksgiving.

Laurie Boston of the Farm Sanctuary in Watkins Glen said Thursday her Adopt-A-Turkey program provides "food for thought." She said most people are unaware that turkeys and other birds are not covered under the Humane Slaughter Act and can suffer horribly in slaughter houses.

The Farm Sanctuary, located in the Finger Lakes region, was created by Boston as a home for abused and neglected farm animals. Boston said people who qualify can adopt turkeys and keep them in their homes.

She said candidates have to pass an adoption application; only vegetarians need apply. Persons who do not want to house a turkey, however, can still sponsor one. Sponsors get a picture of their gobbler and may come to the farm and visit. "We want people to stuff squash instead of turkeys this year," she said.

DUESSELDORF, GERMANY (NOV. 15) UPI - A former West German diplomat who admitted that he was for almost 30 years one of the most important spies for communist East Germany was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Hagen Blau, a career diplomat in West Germany's Foreign Ministry, pleaded guilty to one charge of high treason and a second count of accepting bribes.

Blau, codenamed ''Detlev,'' told the court earlier that he met with his East German controls on at least 77 occasions, providing them with photographs of thousands of pages of top secret documents.

From 1968 to 1971, Blau worked in the Foreign Ministry in Bonn and had access to secret documents concerning then Social Democratic Chancellor Willy Brandt's ''Ostpolitik'' of detente with the East. He also worked in German embassies in London, Tokyo, Vienna and Colombo, Sri Lanka.

''Detlev'' kept a miniature camera in a wooden candlestick at home, transmitted messages in invisible ink and was so valued by his East German employers that he had been personally thanked by former East Germany's masterspy Markus Wol.

Blau was arrested April 17 after the fall of the communist leadership when many former agents surrendered to the Bonn government. Between 3,000 and 5,000 East German moles had reportedly worked their way into all branches of the West German government in the past.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - Consumer activists said Thursday if a proposal passes to streamline the nation's meat inspection system, they may urge Congress to move inspection duties from the Agriculture Department to another agency more committed to public health.

During a meeting called by the National Academy of Sciences, a coalition of consumer groups urged the Agriculture Department to drop the idea of proceeding with a streamlined inspection system for cattle. The system has been under consideration since 1984.

A panel of experts assembled by the academy gave a qualified endorsement to the new system in a report last Sept. 17. They suggested modifications to the system, including specific steps to control hazards, and said it should be used only in plants with a demonstrated record of quality control. In addition they urged fundamental changes in the meat inspection system so it would detect microbial or chemical contamination in meat.

The consumer advocates accused the Food Safety Inspection Service of being too willing to quickly implement the streamlined system, rather than doing the research to develop a trusthworthy system. They called for withdrawal of proposed rules to implement the streamlined system.

"Unless the department withdraws (the proposal) and demonstrates it has now begun a serious effort to meet the recommendations of (three Academy of Sciences reports), our Safe Food Coalition may feel compelled to call on Congress to remove meat and poultry inspection from the (department) and place it in an agency that has the commitment and the staff to run a public health-based program," said Carol Tucker Foreman.

Foreman, an assistant agriculture secretary during the Carter administration, spoke on behalf of a coalition of consumer groups, public interest groups and labor unions.

Tom Devine of the Government Accountability Project, another foe of streamlined inspection, also called for withdrawal of the regulations. Along with meat inspector Steven Cockerham, Devine said flaws in the system are going uncorrected.

Under streamlined inspection, which would be used only in large beef packing plants, the government would operate two inspection stations on slaughter lines, compared to the three now in place. Plant employees would have more responsibility for removing dressing defects. The inspection service says the changes would allow inspectors to devote more time to looking for "disease conditions with public health significance."

Lester Crawford, head of the inspection service, said at the meeting his agency intends "to take steps toward implementation" of streamlined inspection. "Frankly, we have not yet decided how big those steps should be," Crawford said.

In prepared comments, Crawford indicated the agency had focused too much on practical questions - how to implement its programs - and had slighted the necessity of documenting the worth of its programs.

"The best system in the world - in practice - isn't the best system if it can't be explained and supported in the premier public health journals in the nation and the world," Crawford said. "I think it can be and it will be." Congress created the federal meat inspection program in 1906 in response to public revulsion to revelations of unsanitary conditions in packing plants.

NEW YORK (NOV. 15) UPI - A forensic anthropologist assisting the exhumation of a possible saint in a lower Manhattan graveyard said Thursday he was ''encouraged but cautious'' that the remains the former slave have been unearthed.

For two weeks, workers have been digging up the grave believed to be the burial site of Pierre Toussaint, a native of what is now Haiti who died in 1853 after a life dedicated to caring for the sick and poor, including his former owners.

The exhumation, which began Nov. 1, on All Saints Day, in the graveyard adjacent to Old St. Patrick's Church in Little Italy, was described by church officials as a step towards the possible canonization of Toussaint.

If canonized, Toussaint would be the first black American saint.

James Taylor, director of the Metropolitan Forensics Anthropology team at Lehman College in the Bronx, said the remains of an elderly black man were discovered and removed Tuesday, and a day later, the skull believed to be that of an elderly black woman was found underneath the male's remains.

''We've found a black male who was tall for that period of time who appears to be elderly, so we're encouraged but cautious,'' Taylor said. ''We feel we might have found Pierre Toussaint but we'll continue to test to find out.''

The female skull found was believed to have been that of Toussaint's wife, who reportedly was buried with him and the couple's adopted daughter.

Joseph Zwilling, spokesman for the New York Archdiocese, which initiated the exhumation, said the fact that such a discovery was made where Toussaint was believed to have been buried was an ''encouraging sign.''

''They have no reason to believe it is not Pierre Toussaint,'' Zwilling said. ''The body was found in the proper place, in one of two grave sites that we believe might have contained his body.''

Taylor said he and several other forensic experts were asked by Westchester County Medical Examiner Millard Hyland to supervise testing of skeletal remains found during the exhumation process.

''We're mostly called in at the start of homicide investigations when there are skeletal remains of unknown persons,'' Taylor said, adding that his team tests for age, cause of death, race, sex, body height and weight, and other individual traits, such as a history of disease or injury.

''We're doing the same thing here,'' he said.

Taylor said he and a forensic dentist were set to examine this week's findings on Friday to determine the ages of the male and female when they died.

A complete report on the exhumation's findings was to be delivered to the Archdiocese, probably sometime next week, Taylor said, to assist church officials in deciding whether to recommend that Toussaint be canonized.

Archdiocese officials have stressed that the digging up of the remains does not guarantee that Toussaint will be become a saint.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The Senate ethics committee launched hearings into alleged influence-peddling by five senators on behalf of an accused savings and loan kingpin Thursday with a warning from the panel chairman that many Americans think the lawmakers traded their "honor" and "good names" for cash.

Robert Bennett, the panel's special counsel in charge of the investigation of the so-called Keating Five senators, outlined the case against a quintet accused of improperly exerting pressure on federal bank regulators for the benefit of S&L operator Charles Keating Jr.

The accused lawmakers - Sens. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., John Glenn, D-Ohio, John McCain, R-Ariz., and Donald Riegle, D-Mich. - have proclaimed that they are innocent of wrongdoing.

Bennett said it would be "grossly unfair" to accuse the five senators of causing the $2 billion 1989 failure of Keating's California-based Lincoln Savings and Loan, the biggest single collapse in the nation's S&L fiasco.

But Bennett asked the three Democrats and three Republicans of the ethics committee to determine whether the senators were "aiders and abettors to the end result ... by giving to Mr. Keating that aura of politcal muscle and invincibility which he, the grand manipulator, used so effectively in accomplishing his personal agenda at the expense of the public good."

Flanked by lawyers, aides and family members, DeConcini, Glenn, McCain and Riegle listened attentively from separate tables during the trial-like public hearing, unprecedented at a preliminary stage of an ethics probe.

Cranston, the No. 2 Democrat in the Senate leadership who announced last week he would not seek re-election in 1992, was absent from the proceedings. He announced Tuesday he would miss most of the hearings in order to undergo radiation treatment for prostate cancer.

Before a packed hearing room, the panel chairman, Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., said, "The American people are justly outraged by the savings and loan mess which may cost us hundreds of billions of dollars to clean up."

"Many of our fellow citizens apparently believe that your services were bought by Charles Keating, that you were bribed, that you sold your office, that you traded your honor and your good names for contributions and other benefits," he added.

Heflin also said that the committee would not release the preliminary report prepared for the panel in September by Bennett, which recommended that Glenn and McCain be exonerated and spared inclusion in the hearings.

Keating faces civil racketeering charges in California under a criminal fraud indictment stemming from the Lincoln collapse. He donated a total of $1.3 million in contributions to the five senators' re-election campaigns or other favorite causes.

The senators are accused of holding April 1987 meetings with federal bank regulators to blunt a long-running investigation of the Lincoln thrift and seek the scuttling of a rule limiting speculative and risky investments by thrifts. Bennett said the senators did not bring aides to the April 2 and 9 meetings and directed the head of the federal Home Loan Bank Board also to exclude aides from the two meetings.

Bennett said the five senators had differing degrees of involvement with Keating. He said DeConcini and Cranston were "by far the most active on Mr. Keating's behalf" and were "important players in Mr. Keating's strategy." The two continued to pressure regulators even after learning they would make a criminal investigation into Lincoln's practices.

Glenn, the first American astronaut to orbit the Earth, and McCain, a decorated former Navy pilot who was a prisoner of war in North Vietnam for 5 1/2 years, were described as the least active and, Bennett said, did not "play any meaningful role on Mr. Keating's behalf following the (April 1987) meetings."

Bennett said Riegle, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said told the committee he has "little recollection" of the incidents and claims a "minor and largely passive" role. But Bennett said "there is substantial evidence that Sen. Riegle played a much bigger role that he now recalls."

The senators have argued that their actions on behalf of Keating were merely service to a constituent. "Charles Keating was not the only constituent in this case," Bennett countered. "People who lost their life savings because of ... the looting of Lincoln were also constituents of at least some of these men. And the taxpayers who will have to pay for Lincoln's failure are also the senators' constitutents."

The hearings are being held to determine whether any of the senators should be formally accused of violating Senate rules governing conflict of interest and making contacts with regulators outside regular channels, which could lead to disciplinary action as severe as expulsion. None are accused of law-breaking.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 15) UPI - The head of the nation's Roman Catholic bishops wrote President Bush Thursday the United States could not morally go to war against Iraq now and expressed concern with the U.S. military buildup in the Middle East.

Archbishop Daniel Pilarczyk of Cincinnati, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said in a hand-delivered letter to the White House, that moving from a defensive to an offensive military posture "could well violate these criteria (for a moral war), especially the principles of proportionality and last resort."

Catholic and most Protestant teaching on war follows what is known as the "just war" tradition that allows war to be waged only under certain circumstances. For example, the use of force cannot be out of proportion to the harm caused, the war must discriminate between combatants and civilians and it must be waged as a last resort.

"The use of weapons of war cannot be a substitute for the difficult, often time-consuming and frustrating work of searching for political solutions to the deep-seated problems in the Middle East which have contributed to this current crisis," Pilarczyk wrote.

The letter to Bush was requested by the more than 300 Catholic bishops gathered in Washington for their annual four-day meeting. While the letter was a "president-to-president" letter, Pilarczyk said he was expressing the growing concern of his brother bishops, raised during a closed session of the prelates Wednesday afternoon.

The communication raises Catholic concern about the present U.S. military policy another notch from that expressed by Los Angeles Archbishop Roger Mahony just before the latest escalation began. But it does not put the bishops' conference into full-fledged opposition to the Bush gulf policy as a number of bishops had urged.

Mahony, who chairs the bishops' international policy committee, underscored Pilarczyk's concern, answering "no" to a question of whether the current U.S. build-up met the "just war" criteria and that he did not see any reason at this time to move toward an offensive policy.

The bishops' concern echoes that of a growing number of religious leaders. Most recently the Board for World Ministries of the United Church of Christ called on Bush to stop the escalation. "Cooling off the military presence will give diplomacy a chance to work," said the Rev. James Fletcher, of Portland, Maine, a trustee of the board.

Across the country, meanwhile, the Rev. Gabriel Habib, head of the Middle East Council of Churches, told the governing board of the U.S. National Council of Churches in Portland, Ore., that Bush should "talk to all the parties involved " including Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

"War can be avoided," he told the leaders of the council's 32 Protestant and

Orthodox church bodies. "Humanity is God's gift and should not be sacrificed by conflict between rulers."

Pilarczyk's letter strongly repeated earlier condemnations of Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait and for continued "worldwide peaceful pressure and action to deter Iraq's aggression and secure the peaceful liberation of Kuwait." But he noted that "clear moral criteria must be met" to justify the use of military force.

At the same time, Pilaraczyk also called for a national dialogue on the ethical dimensions of the Bush policy but, in answer to questions, said he did not have anything as specific as a special session of Congress in mind as a forum for that debate.

Mahony said the international policy committee will continue to monitor changes in the U.S. policy on a daily basis and continue to press its moral criteria on Bush and other policy makers.

(NOV 15) - Millions of Americans tried to stay away from old devil nicotine for 24 hours Thursday in the Great American Smokeout.

They turned their smokes in for free food, talked to buddies on the phone, chewed carrots and celery, went walking, running or swimming and tried to think positive thoughts as the hours ticked away and their lungs wondered where all that fresh air was coming from.

Sponsored by the American Cancer Society, the 14th annual smokeout was aimed at those diehards who keep on puffing in an era of increasing hostility, medical evidence and legal barriers.

In Willmar, Minn., Becky Tompt was trying to get through the day.

''When I sat down yesterday, I could only come up with one reason to keep smoking. The rest were bad,'' she said. ''The one reason to keep smoking was I like to smoke and that was it.''

Tompt was also lucky that she works in a bank that was giving out free cold turkey sandwiches to anyone who turned in their cigarettes.

Cancer Society spokeswoman Joanne Schellenbach said a Gallup survey showed 17.9 million smokers participated in the Smokeout last year, and about 5.2 million stayed off the entire day.

''The smokers are the stars today,'' she said. ''We try to encourage them to test their smoking habit. To see how far they can go without lighting up.''

In New York City, cowboy Mark Allen showed smokers a novel way of giving up the weed by removing cigarettes from his mouth with a bullwhip.

In Woburn, Mass., officials at a Commings Properties, a real estate company, used the day to hand out $500 bonus checks to 80 employees who had successfully completed the company's Smoke Enders program.

Since the program began seven years ago, the company has handed out about $200,000 in bonuses.

Operations Manager Gerry McSweeney said he was smoking two packs of cigarettes a day until he enrolled in the program in 1983.

''Having a smoke-free work environment definitely made it easier for me to quit,'' McSweeney said. ''Knowing that everyone in the office is working towards the same goal really helps.''

In Philadelphia, the Pep Boys auto part chain featuring a picture logo of its famous founders Manny, Moe and Jack, painted out Manny's cigar Thursday - after 50 years.

The Los Angeles Unified School District used the occasion to inaugurate its ban on campus smoking, except in designated areas. A full ban in the nation's second-largest school district takes effect in July.

In Texas, officials said the Smokeout was being aided by the state's cigarette tax of 41 cents a pack - the highest in the nation. And that doesn't count the 16-cent federal tax.

STERLING, VA (NOV. 15) UPI - Iran-Contra figure Oliver North said Thursday he is sending 100,000 Christmas care packages to U.S. troops serving in Operation Desert Shield.

North, a retired Marine lieutenant colonel convicted of three criminal charges in the Iran-Contra scandal, is president of the Freedom Alliance, which initiated project "Operation Homefront" to show support for Americans serving in the Persian Gulf region. The group said it is paying for the gift packages through individual and corporate contributions.

"Over 250,000 Americans are now deployed in the Persian Gulf. It is very important for the American people to demonstrate their support and appreciation for these brave men and women," North said.

"They need to know that we care and appreciate their willingness to put their lives on the line for us. That is why we began contacting Americans throughout the country, asking them to show their support for these brave men and women," he said.

Each gift package contains items such as lip balm, tooth brushes, tooth paste, deodorant, shampoo, bootlaces, skin lotion, playing cards, disposable razors, sun screen, eye drops, letter writing materials, and magazines.

It also has a Christmas card that reads "Dear American Hero: America is thinking of each and every one of you who are sacrificing so much to guard our freedoms. I hope this gift package helps make a tough mission a little easier for you. You are in my thoughts and prayers for all that you mean to us back home in America. God bless you."

North, whose organization is based in Sterling, served as a Marine during the Vietnam War. A former National Security Council staff member, North was convicted May 4, 1989, of three criminal charges stemming from his involvement in the Iran-Contra scandal. He was acquitted on nine other counts. However, two of the convictions were suspended and one overturned July 20, 1990, by a 2-1 vote of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington.

North was convicted of one count each of aiding and abetting the obstruction of Congress, destroying government documents and receiving an illegal gratuity in the form of a security system for his home.

But the appeals panel questioned whether North received a fair trial and suspended the convictions for obstructing Congress and accepting the gratuity pending a lower court decision on if North's televised testimony in 1987 before Congress hurt his chances for a fair trial. On Sept. 4, 1990, special Iran-Contra prosecutor Lawrence Walsh asked the appeals panel to reconsider its decision.

CHICAGO (NOV. 15) UPI - Soybeans rallied on short-covering in the wake of sharp losses earlier this week but grain futures were mostly lower Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

The soybean complex rebounded from Wednesday's contract lows. Most of the buying was based on hope that President Bush will announce a food aid package to the Soviet Union when on his European trip next week.

Gains in soybeans were limited by commercial selling and the weakness in grain futures.

Soybean oil was moderately higher in fairly active trading, but soybean meal sold off late in the day and was mostly lower at the close.

Wheat futures made contract lows at the final bell, pressured by ample supplies around the world. News the European Commission had offered the Soviet Union 900,000 tons of subsidized wheat and 500,000 tons of barley also weighed on Chicago wheat prices.

Corn futures were at or near session lows on the lack of export business and forecasts for good harvest weather in the Midwest. The late collapse in the wheat market also pressured corn.

Country movement was light to moderate.

At the close, corn was down 3/4 to 2 3/4, soybeans up 1/2 to 4 1/4, wheat down 4 to 7 3/4 and oats up 1 3/4 to 2 3/4.

Walesa said in an exclusive interview with United Press International that some of the government's top aides are what he called ''inexperienced boy scouts.'' Five days of intense political campaigning has begun in Great Britain that could turn Margaret Thatcher out as leader of the nation's Conservative Party, and possibly as prime minister. Former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine is running against his boss for the top party job. He is appealing to party members about chances for their winning elections that must be called by the middle of next year. Haseltine broke with Thatcher over her resistance to moves designed to unify the 11 other nations of the European Community.

Any so-called ''veil of secrecy'' about tonight's launch of the shuttle Atlantis is a fairly tattered piece of cloth by now. About the only thing NOT known is whether the 60 percent chance of high winds and rain will delay everything. Technicians are fueling the external tanks that will eventually put the spaceplane into orbit, carrying what is supposed to be a military satellite that analysts say will be positioned over the Persian Gulf. The one real secret is the exact moment of launch. It is now set for some time between 6:30 and 10:30 p-m, E-S-T, tonight.

The Senate Ethics Committee has opened trial-like hearings into activities of the so-called ''Keating Five.'' The five senators are NOT charged with breaking any laws but of bending Senate rules. Specifically, they are accused of improperly pressuring federal bank regulators looking into activities of financier Charles Keating and his failed Lincoln Savings and Loan. Its collapse produced a two-BILLION- dollar loss that taxpayers will eventually cover.

British unemployment is at its highest in 13 months. The government figures showing unemployment of six percent are considered ''highly embarrassing'' for Prime Minister Thatcher. BEVERLY HILLS, CA (NOV. 15) UPI - About 300 employees, representing nearly a third of the work force, at newly formed MGM-Pathe Communications have been fired by the company's new ownership in the past week, a spokesman said Thursday.

''The layoffs are very unforturnate, but they were made in order to avoid duplication of administrative functions,'' said spokesman Craig Parsons.

Pink slips were issued two weeks after Italian financier Giancarlo Parretti completed his $1.36 billion buyout of the legendary MGM-UA studio. The deal was financed partly by selling off home video and TV rights to its film library.

Analysts have been concerned Parretti had taken on so much debt and sold off such significant parts of the rights to clinch the deal that he might not have enough money to operate the studio at a competitive level.

The first round of layoffs came late last week, when 110 employees in the home video unit were dismissed. Much of that unit's work has been taken on by Time Warner Inc., since the communications giant put up $125 million toward the buyout in exchange for home video rights to the library and MGM-Pathe films.

MGM-Pathe began a second round this week that resulted in nearly 190 staffersgetting dismissals in a number of areas, including production, domestic television, accounting and syndication.

Parsons said no more layoffs are planned. ''This should be all the reductions for now,'' he said.

Parsons pointed out that the company's employment rolls had swollen to about 1,000 when Pathe's 200 staffers came aboard earlier this month. He said that some of layoffs included former Pathe employees.

''Rocky V,'' the studio's major film this year, is going into wide release Friday, but movie production at the studio had dwindled while the company was on the block for the past two years.

However, TV programming has remained stable and was reportedly unharmed by the layoffs. The unit currently produces four network series _ ''In the Heat of the Night,'' ''thirtysomething,'' ''The Young Riders'' and ''Against the Law.''

Paul March, entertainment industry analyst for the Los Angeles brokerage Bateman Eichler, Hill Richards, said some layoffs were to be expected because of the merging of duplicative functions.

But he also said he could not comment on the outlook for MGM-Pathe because Securities and Exchange Commission filings detailing the financing for the buyout have not yet become public.

JERSEY CITY, NJ (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Bel Fuse Inc. (NASDAQ:BELF) announced Friday that net earnings for the third quarter ended September 30, 1990, were $25,000, or 1 cent per share, compared with a net loss of $1,085,000, or 22 cents per share, for last year's third quarter as net sales rose to $9,731,000 from $7,179,000.

For the nine months ended September 30, 1990, net earnings amounted to $165,000, or 3 cents per share, on net sales of $28,274,000. This compares with a net loss of $1,209,000, or 25 cents per share, on net sales of $21,452,000 for the first nine months of 1989.

President Elliot Bernstein attributed the improvement in net sales for the third quarter and nine months primarily to strong demand for new magnetic products introduced during the past eighteen months. These products are used in television and computer networking applications.

Bernstein said that gross profit benefitted from higher production volumes and resulting efficiencies in the Company's Far East factories. He said that higher volumes also led to reduced losses at the gross profit level at Bel's domestic hybrid circuit operation. Pre-tax profits were negatively affected by these losses. Separation costs announced in May at the domestic hybrid facility and start-up expenses at the Company's new facilities in Ireland and France also reduced pre-tax margins.

Bernstein said that additional cost cutting steps are being taken at the domestic hybrid operation. ''We are committed to reducing losses at the domestic hybrid operation as soon as possible and continuing to improve the Company's overall financial performance,'' he said.

Company-wide backlog, which has fluctuated in the range of $10 to $12 million during the past year, currently stands at about $11 million, Bernstein said. As of the end of the third quarter, Bel Fuse reported working capital of $10.5 million, a current ratio of about 3-to-1, long-term debt under $300,000, and stockholders' equity of $27,975,000, or $5.78 per share. Bel Fuse and its subsidiaries are primarily engaged in the design, manufacture and sale of electronic components.

SAN DIEGO (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Maxwell Laboratories Inc. (OTC:MXWL) announced operating results for the first quarter ended Oct. 31.

Sales for the first quarter were $16,944,000, compared with $21,497,000 in last year's first quarter. Net income of $317,000, or 13 cents per share, compares with $927,000, or 38 cents per share, a year earlier.

As previously announced by the company, federal budget uncertainties during the quarter caused industrywide delays in defense funding that significantly impacted Maxwell's first-quarter sales and earnings. This resulted in a decrease in sales in the technology programs and services segment of the business.

The company does not expect these delays to have as great an impact on its earnings for the rest of the year. Sales and profits in the commercial, industrial and scientific products business segment increased slightly over the first quarter of last year.

The company's backlog at Oct. 31 remains strong at $111.2 million, of which $49 million is fully funded. This compares with backlog at Oct. 31, 1989, of $113.4 million, of which $54.2 million was fully funded.

Maxwell, located in San Diego, designs, develops and manufactures pulse power equipment and performs research and computer-based analysis for defense, energy, industrial and environmental markets.

The operations involved in the proposed purchase are Varian's Electro Optical Sensors business unit in Palo Alto, which manufactures night vision equipment, and three product lines sited in Santa Clara, Calif.

The product lines are cryopumps, used to create a vacuum environment; molecular beam epitaxy systems, which grow ultra-thin layers of high-purity materials on semiconductor wafers; and a vacuum systems operation, which produces equipment to coat magnetic disks for the computer industry.

The activities involved in the DKP transaction have combined annual sales in excess of $80 million, and employ approximately 500 persons. All are included in a group of non-core businesses and product lines which Varian indicated it would divest under a restructuring program announced in May.

Separately, Varian said it is proceeding with the negotiation of a final contract for the sale of another of its non-core units, RF (Radio Frequency) Subsystems, to Signal Technology Corp. of Weymouth, Mass.

Price and terms were not disclosed; however, the company noted that it expects to reach a satisfactory agreement and close the sale in the near future.

RF Subsystems, located in Beverly, Mass., produces RF signal processing components for various defense applications. It employs approximately 100 workers and has some $8 million in annual sales.

Another substantially larger Varian business unit located in Beverly, Crossed Field & Receiver Protector Products, is not involved in the transaction and will not be affected by the anticipated sale.

Varian Associates Inc., is a diversified international, high technology company with sales in excess of $1 billion annually. Headquartered in Palo Alto, it produces components for medical, communications, scientific, industrial and defense markets worldwide.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, revenues accelerated 123 percent to $2,457,734 compared with revenues for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989, of $1,102,377. Shannon Jenkins, president and chief executive officer noted that, ''Contributing to these quarterly results were the release and accelerated sales rate of version 3.0 of the company's best-selling CheckIt PC diagnosis software, and the international sales effort, which in the third quarter of this year began paying dividends.

''We are especially encouraged by these results in light of typically weak industry-wide summer sales.''

BROOKLYN, NY (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - The Brooklyn Union Gas Co. filed an application with the New York State Public Service Commission (PSC) to increase rates effective Oct. 1991, for its fiscal year 1992.

As previously reported in October, the PSC granted Brooklyn Union its first increase in base rates since September 1985. From the period 1985 to 1990, the company decreased base rates by $7.5 billion, principally as a result of stringent cost-control measures, corporate tax-rate reductions and decreases in cost of capital.

The purchased cost of gas to customers was also substantially reduced over that period resulting in significant reductions in total costs to its customers. The amount of the October rate increase was approximately $32 million.

Base rates were increased approximately 2 percent, and $12 million of credits, largely related to tax reductions, will be included in 1991 revenues. The allowed rate of return on utility common equity was set at 11.9 percent.

The November filing is for $102.5 million, or a 9.9 percent increase in revenues, and reflects a 13.4 percent return on utility common equity. However, the company proposes to offset this amount, in part, by utilizing $24 million in deferred credits resulting primarily from the company's efforts to reduce property and federal income taxes.

Brooklyn Union's rate application was required to recover higher labor and medical insurance costs, higher taxes, depreciation expenses, and costs associated with relocating the corporate offices.

Also, inflationary cost increases affecting other operating and maintenance expenses, and capital costs associated with expenditures necessary to upgrade the company's distribution system are included in the company's request.

The proposed increase will be subject to extensive study and public hearings by the PSC. Also, the company remains open to negotiations with the staff of the PSC to reach a rate-settlement agreement.

KANSAS CITY, MO (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Worldwide agricultural research goes high tech as SAZTEC International Inc. announces the signing of an agreement with Knowledge Access International for the conversion of one of the world's largest agricultural research document collections.

The document collection of the Consultative Group for International Agricultural Research (CGIAR), whose Secretariat is located at the World Bank, will be converted to electronic format by SAZTEC and published on compact disc read only memory (CD-ROM) by Knowledge Access International utilizing the KAware Disk Publisher(TM) and KAware(TM) Retrieval Software System.

The resulting library will be one of the world's largest agricultural document collections available on CD-ROM.

According to Gary N. Abernathy, vice chairman for SAZTEC, this project exemplifies the company's information management and conversion capabilities. ''This contract is another example of SAZTEC's ability to integrate both graphics and text into a data base for use on CD-ROM.

The results of this landmark conversion will be the largest CD-ROM library in the world dedicated to agricultural research,'' Abernathy said.

The research library will consist of approximately 25 CD-ROM discs containing the text and images from more than 5,000 documents representing close to a half million pages of information. The CD-ROM discs will be accessed in three different languages -- English, French and Spanish -- to help support its distribution to agricultural researchers worldwide.

The conversion process, according to Abernathy, will be completed in two phases, with the first phase completed by June 1991.

CGIAR is an informal association of 40 donor agencies established in 1971 to support agricultural research around the world.

Richard A. Hackborn, head of the newly formed Computer Products Organization, was promoted to an executive vice president. Robert J. Frankenberg, general manager of the Information Networks Group, was elected a vice president.

The dividend, the first of the company's 1991 fiscal year, is payable Jan. 16 to shareholders of record Dec. 26. As of Oct. 31, the end of HP's 1990 fiscal year, HP had approximately 244 million shares of common stock outstanding.

Hackborn, 53, has been a vice president of the company since 1983. For the past decade he has been responsible for HP's peripherals business, which includes printers, plotters, scanners and disk drives. Since October 1990, he also has had responsibility for personal computers. He is located in Boise, Idaho.

He joined HP in 1960 as a member of the technical staff in the central research laboratories in Palo Alto and then held management positions in marketing and engineering. Hackborn holds a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from the University of Minnesota and a master's degree in business administration from Santa Clara University.

Frankenberg, 43, is responsible for the overall direction and market acceptance of networking and office-systems product lines within the Computer Systems Organization. He joined HP in 1969 as a manufacturing technician in Cupertino, where he held a series of management positions in research and development.

In 1983, he transferred to Roseville to develop an operation for office systems. In 1987, when the expansion of that activity resulted in the creation of the former Information Systems Group, Frankenberg was named its general manager. He assumed additional responsibility for information networks in 1989.

Frankenberg holds a bachelor's degree in computer engineering from San Jose State University.

The elections bring the total number of HP executive vice presidents to six and vice presidents to 16. The company also has three senior vice presidents.

Higher sales in the company's facsimile equipment and supply operations resulted in increased revenues in the current quarter. The net loss in the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, increased due to higher selling, general, and administrative expenses incurred in expanding the retail operation and continued research and development costs associated with the company's portable facsimile machine, PF4003.

SAN DIEGO (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Cipher Data Products Inc., a subsidiary of Archive Corp., Friday announced details of a new product distribution program targeted at large value-added resellers.

Termed ''Master VARs'' within the industry, this fast-growing distribution channel resells medium- and large-scale systems into specific vertical markets. Master VARs also serve these markets by reselling through smaller value-added resellers.

In announcing the details of the new program, Cipher President Craig V. Turner explained: ''We will be dealing with Master VARs who specialize in the IBM AS/400 and RS/6000 platforms, which are ideally suited for Cipher's full line of half-inch open reel and 3480-compatible cartridge tape drives.''

Turner pointed out that three products provided through the Master VARs channel will feature the latest technological advances. Cipher's F880ES drive is a refinement of the industry's best-selling Phase-Encoded tape drive, the Microstreamer. It offers storage capacity up to 92 megabytes.

Ideal for most interdepartmental or corporate data interchange requirements, it is powerful enough to burst data as fast as 4 megabytes per second, depending on the operating system or file server.

The M995 Group Coded Recording (GCR) drive has a storage capacity of up to 270 megabytes and offers a choice of ANSI/IBM 1600/6250 recording densities in a compact 8-3/4-inch-high size. With an embedded SCSI interface and a 270-MB capacity, the drive achieves fast backup with a minimum of reel changes.

Both the F880ES and M995 drives were designed for VARs, who will add further integration for the IBM AS/400 and RS/6000 computer aftermarkets. The Cipher drives offer full IBM 9347 and 9348 compatibility.

Cipher's newest product, the revolutionary TapeXpress drive, will also be available through the Master VAR program. The TapeXpress drive is the lowest-cost IBM 3480-compatible cartridge tape drive available. It offers 18 tracks of read/write electronics as well as a fully integrated SCSI interface.

It is the first desktop 3480 tape drive and the fastest drive ever developed for a broad range of computer systems from microcomputers to mainframes. Using the standard 200- and 220-megabyte 3480-type cartridges, capacity can be increased up to 2.2 gigabytes without any operator intervention through the use of Cipher's Automatic Cartridge Loader.

The TapeXpress' performance is almost twice the speed of current reel-to-reel drives and six times faster than the 8mm helical scan devices on the market today. Pricing of the TapeXpress drive makes it particularly suitable for the value-added reseller market.

According to Ken Cruden, Cipher's vice president of marketing, seven Master VARs, strategically located throughout the United States, will be included in the program. Through this distribution channel, Cipher tape drives will be available to an additional 2,000 vertically oriented value-added resellers.

''While we are still engaged in discussions with several Master VARs,'' Cruden said, ''we have already signed agreements with such industry leaders as Dickens Data Systems, Datalink and General Business Technology (GBT).''

Dickens Data Systems, located in Norcross, Ga., is a leading reseller of the RISC System/6000 machine. Dickens' software developers have written UNIX drivers for use with Cipher tape drives to enhance data interchange and backup on RISC System/6000.

Datalink, with headquarters in Minneapolis, is the most successful regional high-technology distributor of computer peripherals in the Upper Midwest. Concentrating on OEMs and VARs serving the IBM RS/6000, Sun SPARC and DEC workstation markets, Datalink offers a full line of products and services to enhance the performance of these workstations.

GBT, based in Irvine, is a major supplier of state-of-the-art peripherals for the IBM AS/400 and System 3/X computers. For over a decade, GBT has provided IBM industry remarketers with innovative technology, permitting them to improve competitive positioning in their respective markets.

Cipher Data Products Inc. is a leading innovator and supplier of removable information storage solutions. Founded in 1968, the company designs, manufactures and markets a broad range of half-inch magnetic tape open reel and cartridge drive systems providing interchange, data backup and storage for a wide variety of computers.

Cipher is the choice of the world's leading computer companies and the largest supplier of phase-encoded tape drives to major computer systems companies. The company has headquarters in San Diego and is a subsidiary of Archive Corp. based in Costa Mesa.

LOS ANGELES (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Falling mortgage interest rates on fixed-rate home loans may help convince hesitant buyers to finally jump into the Southern California housing market, a leading mortgage broker said Friday.

Gloria Shulman, president and founder of Crestview Financial in Beverly Hills, added that interest rates on fixed-rate loans have dropped to 10.25 percent, lowest rate in two years.

''For all those homebuyers who thought they were priced out of the market, this may signal their chance to grab a piece of Southern California real estate,'' said Shulman. ''With the combination of falling prices and lower fixed-rate interest, many buyers will find qualifying easier.''

She added that lending institutions, which have been hurt by the slump in residential home sales, are eager to lend money. In addition, noted Shulman, variable rate mortgages also have dropped to the 7 percent range on many introductory packages.

''Although many prospective homebuyers have been waiting in the wings to see how far the market will drop, this low interest rate may be a sign that we are at or near the bottom,'' said Shulman. ''Locking in a loan at this rate can reap big dividends for home purchasers.''

SAN FRANCISCO (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Chalone Inc. (NASDAQ:CHLN) Friday reported the highest revenues in the company's history of $9.9 million for the nine month period ended Sept. 30, up from $8.8 million for the like period in 1989.

This 13 percent gain resulted from an increase in sales from two of the wineries, Chalone Vineyard and Carmenet, and sales of wines imported from Domaines Barons de Rothschild (Lafite) and the wines of Los Vascos from Chile. Revenues for the third quarter in 1990 were $3.6 million compared with $3.3 million for the like period in 1989.

For the quarter just ended, net earnings climbed 12 percent to $136,000 from $121,000 in the third quarter last year. This increase in profits can be attributed to higher sales at the four wineries and lower interest rates.

''Despite adverse weather conditions, we believe 1990 to be one of our best vintages,'' commented William Hamilton, executive vice president and chief financial officer. ''We expect a particularly strong fourth quarter because of wines released in September and October and heavy holiday sales.

MESA, ARIZ. (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - First American Health Concepts Inc. (NASDAQ:FAHC), which markets and administers third party discount vision care plans, Friday announced its first quarter earnings and the acquisition of several new sponsors.

J. Kent Massey, chairman and chief executive officer of FAHC, announced first quarter earnings of $30,000, or 1 cent per common share, for the three month period ended Oct. 31. This compares to $219,000, or 8 cents per share, for the like period a year ago. Gross revenues were $351,000 for the quarter ended Oct. 31, compared to $612,000 a year earlier.

Massey said the decline in revenue is primarily due to the loss of two significant sponsoring organizations in the company's Eye Care Plan of America during fiscal 1990. He noted the decline should be a short-term trend as he announced the signing of five large employer groups as sponsoring organizations in ECPA.

Massey announced Marriott Corp., the Coca-Cola Co., Ramada International Hotels and Resorts, Johnson-Yokogawa Corp., and Peter Kiewit Sons' Inc., have all recently become sponsors in ECPA, with membership to begin early next year.

Marriott Corp., the largest of the new employee groups, will enroll its more than 200,000 employees into the ECPA benefit in January 1991, Massey said.

FAHC's vision care plan members are enrolled by insurance companies, employers and other organizations which sponsor group insurance programs and offer the plan as a supplementary benefit. Sponsors of the plan also include financial institutions and associations which offer ECPA as an enhancement or incentive program.

Including other household members, approximately 16 million people have access to FAHC's nationwide network of licensed independent opticians, optometrists and ophthalmologists. Members may use their vision care plan cards to purchase eyewear at savings from 20 percent to 60 percent off retail prices.

Fourth-quarter net earnings totaled $202 million, or 83 cents per share, on approximately 244 million shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with net earnings of $246 million reported in the fourth quarter of 1989, or $1.04 per share, on approximately 238 million shares.

Net revenue for the fourth quarter totaled $3.6 billion, compared with $3.4 billion in the corresponding 1989 quarter. U.S. net revenue rose 1 percent, while net revenue outside the United States increased by 10 percent.

Orders for the fourth quarter totaled $3.5 billion, up 10 percent from $3.1 billion in the like period of 1989. U.S. orders totaled $1.6 billion, an increase of 3 percent. Orders from outside the United States totaled $1.9 billion, a growth rate of 16 percent.

Orders for MDIM were 7 percent higher than those in the fourth quarter of fiscal 1989, and 11 percent above those for the third quarter of fiscal 1990.

Within MDIM, orders for minicomputers -- the HP 9000 Series 800 minicomputers and the HP 3000 -- posted strong increases compared to both fourth-quarter 1989 and third quarter of 1990. Orders for HP Apollo 9000 Series 400 workstations, introduced in June, also grew at attractive rates.

Orders for medical products were up 4 percent compared with the like period of 1989 and 22 percent compared with third quarter 1990.

HP's cost of goods sold increased by 0.9 percentage points over the third quarter of fiscal 1990 and represented 53.6 percent of net revenue. The growth was due to the growing portion of HP sales, such as those to dealers and other volume purchasers, for which higher discounts are granted.

Discounts reduce HP's revenue and thus increase cost of goods sold when expressed as a percentage of net revenue.

KING OF PRUSSIA, PA (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - American Healthcare Management Inc. (ASE:AHI) Friday announced earnings of $686,000, or 5 cents per share for nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990.

This compared with a net loss in the same period last year of $6.1 million, or 51 cents per share. Prior-year results included a write down of assets and other charges that totaled $15.3 million, but did not reflect interest expense on a significant portion of AHM's indebtedness prior to July 1989.

Total revenues for the nine-month period increased 1.8 percent to $366.6 million from $356.0 million in the year-earlier period. Reported revenues included the operations of two hospital that have been sold. Excluding the contribution of these facilities, AHM's total revenues from continuing operations increased 14.6 percent in the first nine months of 1990 compared with the same period last year.

Revenue deductions for the nine-month periods of 1990 and 1989 totaled 43.1 percent and 40.3 percent of total revenues, respectively. The higher rate for the 1990 period reflected an increasing gap between the rate of increase in hospital charges and the amounts reimbursed by Medicare and Medicaid programs and changes in the company's methodology in recording discounts and bad debt reserves.

Total revenues for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, increased 5.7 percent to $118.5 million from $112.1 million in the same quarter a year ago. The net loss for the third quarter of 1990 was $255,000 or 2 cents per share. This included approximately $500,000 in relocation expenses during the third quarter in connection with the move of the company's headquarters to King of Prussia, along with severance payments related to eliminated positions.

The net loss for the third quarter of 1989 was $14.5 million, or $1.22 per share a year ago, which included the aforementioned write down of assets and other charges recorded.

American Healthcare Management Inc., headquartered in King of Prussia, owns or leases seventeen hospitals in ten states with approximately 2,203 licensed beds. AHM's common stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange under the WINCHESTER, VA (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - American Woodmark Corp. (NASDAQ:AMWD) Friday announced that sales for the second quarter ended Oct. 31 1990 increased slightly from the prior year period to $40,828,000.

The company experienced a net loss for the quarter of $338,000, or 5 cents per share compared to net income of $534,000, or 8 cents per share in the prior year.

The decline in income is principally attributable to higher manufacturing costs incurred in producing the company's expanded product line, to higher benefit costs and to increased distribution expenses, principally caused by higher freight and fuel costs.

Sales of the company's new semi-custom products and European styled frameless cabinets continued to grow during the second quarter. The company also continues to increase penetration of the important distributor category, as it obtained a number of new distributor accounts for both its American Woodmark and Timberlake products lines.

While these sales and developments are encouraging, the company expects overall cabinet industry market conditions to remain difficult until the general economy improves.

American Woodmark Corp. manufactures and distributes modular kitchen cabinets and vanities, serving both the remodeling and new housing construction market.

Its products are sold on a nationwide basis through a network of independent distributors and directly to home centers and builders. The company presently operates seven manufacturing facilities and nine distribution centers.9

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, MICH. (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Cross & Trecker Corp. Friday reported a net loss of $3.1 million, or 37 cents per common share, for the fourth quarter of fiscal 1990 ended Sept. 30.

This compares with a net loss of $1 million, or 8 cents per common share, in the fourth quarter of fiscal 1989. The net loss per common share in the 1990 quarter was increased by 12 cents with the effect of dividends on preferred stock issued by Cross & Trecker in November 1989. A foreign translation gain equal to $3.6 million, or 29 cents per common share, reduced the net loss in the fiscal 1989 fourth quarter.

Operating revenues in the fiscal 1990 fourth quarter were $104.5 million, compared with $105.6 million the previous year.

For the 1990 fiscal year, Cross & Trecker had a net loss of $7.7 million, or $1.02 per common share, on operating revenues of $430.9 million. This compares with a net loss in fiscal 1989 of $46.5 million, or $3.76 per common share, on operating revenues of $456.7 million.

The net loss per common share in fiscal 1990 was increased by 40 cents with the effect of preferred stock dividends. The net loss in fiscal 1989 included non-recurring charges of $25 million, or $2.02 per common share, related essentially to a major restructuring program. Results in fiscal 1990 do not include operations of three companies that have been sold as part of the restructuring program. These units contributed $63.5 million to revenues in the 1989 year and had an operating loss of $3.1 million.

Orders in the 1990 fourth quarter were $117 million. The total compares with a record $133 million a year ago and is the third highest level in Cross & Trecker history. For the fiscal 1990 year, orders were $437 million, compared with $454 million in 1989. The backlog on Sept. 30 was $277 million, up from $266 million the previous year.

AUSTIN, TEXAS (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Tracor Aerospace Inc., has been awarded a $400,000, 18-month contract by the U.S. Air Force Systems Command/Aeronautical Systems Division, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, for the research and development of a low-cost, laser-warning receiver system for aircraft.

Under the program, Tracor employees in Austin, Texas, will design, build and deliver a Prototype system that will alert tactical aircrews to the presence of laser signals, such as those originating from fire-control range finders or target designators.

''The significance of this award,'' said George R. Melton, Tracor Aerospace vice president and general manager, ''is that it enables us to apply our expertise in fiber optics and detection techniques to a new, low-cost laser-threat-warning system, meeting future needs of the U.S. Air Force. At the same time, it signifies Tracor's continuing success in the growing business area of electro-optics.''

Since 1989, $1.5 million in contracts has been awarded to Tracor for research, development, or production of laser-warning systems. Two research programs currently underway at Tracor are the Collective Opto-Electronic Detection and Analysis project from Wright Research and Development Center and the U.S. Navy Fiber Optic Coupled Laser Warning Receiver effort managed by the Naval Air Development Center.

In addition, Tracor continues to provide the portable Short Light Pulse Alerting Receiver and the Laser Alert Device for the Individual Soldier under other programs.

Since the company first identified opportunities in the electro-optics market, Tracor has made a significant investment in pursuit of laser warning and electro-optics business. Tracor Aerospace is a subsidiary of Tracor, an international technological products and services company with headquarters in Austin.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Air France announced Friday that it will increase flight frequencies to expand seating capacity on its subsonic North Atlantic routes by 7.5 percent.

In addition, Air France will add a second Concorde flight between New York and Paris four times a week during peak periods for business travel.

This expansion in the U.S. market, part of a company-wide strategy to shift capacity to routes with greater passenger volume and profitability, is intended to enhance the company's ability to compete with other international airlines.

While this has been the company's long-term strategy for the advent of the European Single Market by 1993, many changes have been accelerated due to the dramatic rise in jet fuel costs.

The expanded service for the United States market includes:

- daily service year-round between Newark and Paris (Orly airport), starting Jan. 1, 1991,

- daily service year-round between Washington and Paris, starting in June 1991 (5 nonstop, 2 via Boston), and

- a second Concorde flight between New York and Paris four times a week for peak business travel periods (April through June and Sept. 15 through Dec. 15). This Concorde flight will supplement the year-round daily departures from New York and Paris with a second flight that departs New York on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday and departs Paris on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday.

In addition, flights will be increased during peak travel periods, including:

- an increase from 6 flights a week to daily service between Los Angeles and Paris, starting April 28, 1991,

- an increase from 5 to 6 flights a week between Houston and Paris, starting June 23, 1991, and

- an increase from 4 to 5 flights a week between Miami and Paris, starting June 30, 1991.

While expanding service on high traffic routes, Air France will reduce service between New York and French provincial cities on Dec. 1, eliminating flights to Bordeaux, Lille, Marseille, Montpellier, Mulhouse, Nantes, Strasbourg and Toulouse. Air France's puchase of the French domestic carrier, Air Inter, earlier this year has facilitated easy connections through Paris to those cities.

Air France will continue service between New York and two provincial centers, Lyon and Nice: during the peak summer period, three flights a week to Nice and three to Lyon; off-peak, three flights a week (one to Nice, one to Lyon and one to both Nice and Lyon).

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Peter J. Guest, president of Galactic Resources Ltd. (AMEX/TSE/VSE/ME:GLC) announced 1990 nine months net income of US $3.68 million (US 9 cents per share), an increase of US $1.85 million over 1989 nine months net income of US $ 1.83 million (US 5 cents per share).

1990 nine month earnings include a gain of US $7.4 million, after tax, from the sale of 75 percent of the company's interest in the Far Southeast Project in the Philippines. A loss of US $3.20 million (US 7 cents per share loss), incurred in the 1990 third quarter, arose principally from operating losses including mine contract termination costs at Summitville.

1989 third quarter net income was US $1.38 million (US 4 cents per share). Cash flow from operations at producing mines was US $8.68 million for the nine months of 1990 and US $1.3 million for the 1990 third quarter vs. US $14.08 million and US $5.68 million, respectively, for the same periods in 1989.

1990 nine months operating income of US $9.53 million from the Ridgeway Gold Mine near Columbia, S.C., a partnership between Galactic Resources Ltd. (48 percent) and The RTZ Corp. PLC (52 percent), more than offset an operating loss at the 100 percent-owned Summitville Mine in Colorado.

Galactic Resources Ltd.'s share of Ridgeway's 1990 nine months gold production was 63,550 ounces versus 61,408 ounces for the same period in 1989. Ridgeway's operations continued to generally exceed planned performance. Galactic Resources Ltd.'s share of Ridgeway's gold sales was 63,066 ounces at an average price of US $417/oz. for the 1990 nine months compared to 60,583 ounces sold at US $387/oz. in the comparative period of 1989. Ridgeway's cash production cost for the nine month period was US $166/oz. vs. US $140/oz. for the 1989 nine months.

The Summitville Mine incurred a 1990 nine months operating loss of US $6.52 million vs. a loss of US $0.60 million for the 1989 nine months. Gold production declined to 17,964 ounces in the 1990 nine months vs. 26,904 ounces in the 1989 period. This was caused primarily by placement of only 310,000 tons of fresh ore early in the 1989 season and delayed placement of approximately 1,245,000 tons of ore, containing 48,000 ounces of gold, late in the 1990 mining season.

Summitville sold 17,073 ounces of gold in the 1990 nine months at an average price of US $376/oz. compared with 28,615 ounces in the same period of 1989 at an average price of US $411/oz.

Galactic Resources Ltd. produces gold at the Ridgeway Gold Mine in South Carolina with partner Kennecott Ridgeway Mining Co. (an indirect subsidiary of The RTZ Corp. PLC), at the Ivanhoe Gold Mine in Nevada held with joint venture partner Cornucopia Resources Ltd. as well as its wholly-owned Summitville Mine in Colorado.

Galactic Resources Ltd. also has precious metal development projects in California, Canada, and the Philippines. Galactic Resources Ltd. trades on the American, Toronto, and Montreal Stock Exchanges.

MANCHESTER, NH (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - EnergyNorth Inc. (NASDAQ:ENNI), the parent holding company of EnergyNorth Natural Gas Inc. and EnergyNorth Propane Inc., Friday announced higher earnings for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1990.

On a consolidated basis, earnings applicable to common stock were $3,995,000 for fiscal 1990 as compared to $3,622,000 for fiscal 1989, an increase of more than 10 percent. Earnings per share rose to $1.50 from $1.43, based on 2,657,000 and 2,539,000 weighted average shares outstanding in 1990 and 1989, respectively.

The primary reasons for the increase in earnings are customer expansion and weather that was colder than the previous fiscal year which resulted in higher volumes of natural and propane gas sold.

Natural gas volumes increased by almost two percent and retail propane volumes rose by more than 19 percent. At Sept. 30, 1990, EnergyNorth Natural Gas Inc. had 59,074 gas utility customers, an increase of 1.4 percent from last year. Retail propane customers increased by more than 12 percent from one year ago.

Although the weather in December 1989 produced record cold temperatures and resulting record sales for the company, temperatures in January, normally the peak month of the winter heating season in New England, were unseasonably warm. Overall, heating degree days for fiscal 1990 were 2.1 percent warmer than normal.

Total operating revenues for fiscal 1990 were $79,486,000 compared to $72,955,000 last year. Non-utility revenues from the sale of propane gas, gas heating equipment, and appliances increased to 11.8 percent of total revenues.

EnergyNorth Inc. is a public utility holding company headquartered in Manchester, N.H. The company distributes natural and propane gas to approximately 66,000 customers in southern and central New Hampshire. Through its subsidiaries, EnergyNorth also sells, rents, and repairs gas heating equipment and appliances.

TULSA, OK (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Questa Oil & Gas Co. (NASDAQ:QUES) Friday reported net earnings of $538,000, or 48 cents per share, for the third quarter ended Sept. 30.

That compares to earnings of $61,000, or 5 cents per share, for the third quarter of 1989.

The results were boosted by a net, after-tax profit of $513,000 on the sale of the company's working interests in 45 producing oil and gas wells. The sale, announced in October, was retroactive to Sept. 1, 1990. The $1.6 million cash proceeds were reduced by leasehold and exploration expenses that had been incurred on those properties, plus an estimated $264,000 in taxes.

The sale of the producing properties also dramatically increased the results for the first nine months of the year. Net income was $671,000, or 60 cents per share, compared to earnings of $155,000, or 13 cents per share, for the like period a year ago. Discounting the reserves sale, earnings have remained stable for the year.

Questa's operational results showed a 26 percent decrease in oil and gas sales for the third quarter, which is also attributable to the reserves transaction. Oil and gas sales totaled $394,000 for the third quarter of 1989, compared to $290,000 this year. However, revenues from management fees and administrative charges increased from $60,000 last year to $99,000 in the most recent quarter.

Questa has been actively exploring for oil and gas during 1990. In the first nine months of this year, it successfully completed all 10 wells it drilled, eight of them for natural gas and two for oil. It is the operator on eight of the 10 wells, in which it owns working interests ranging from 7.5 to 41.25 percent. In addition, in the third quarter the company acquired working interests of 18.75 to 25 percent in 10 oil wells and has begun drilling 18 offsets to those wells.

Based in Tulsa, Questa Oil & Gas Co. explores and develops oil and gas properties in the United States. It is presently in its tenth year of operations. The company is publicly held and its stock is traded on NASDAQ in the over-the-counter market.

NEWPORT BEACH, CA (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Pacesetter Business Properties (PSE:PBP) reported a net loss of $581,000, or 38 cents per share, on revenues of $2,598,000 for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared with a net loss of $658,000, or 43 cents per share, on revenues of $2,094,000 for the same period in 1989, Steven R. Strauss, president, Friday announced.

The 1990 results included the sale of one improved commercial lot and the resale of two small improved lots which had been repossessed between 1988 and 1990, while the 1989 results included no sales of real estate property.

The major reason for other changes in activity from 1989 to 1990 is the addition of interest and property tax expenses in 1990 related to the Corona improved industrial land now held for development and/or sale.

The pre-tax losses for Pacesetter Business Properties, which primarily develops commercial and industrial properties for long-term investment, include depreciation expense of $633,000 and $623,000 for the quarters ended Sept. 30, 1990 and 1989, respectively, on rental properties held by the company for investment.

In accordance with its strategy to generate additional cash to meet its cash requirements, on Aug. 31, 1990, the company sold certain of its notes receivable secured by real estate in a transaction which yielded net proceeds of approximately $965,000, of which $769,000 was utilized to pay off the outstanding amount of indebtedness and interest under the company's line of credit which was then terminated.

The company does not presently anticipate obtaining a replacement line of credit due to the substantial reduction in the balance in the company's notes receivables secured by real estate, which constitute the company's primary unencumbered assets.

Management fees have provided one source of cash to the company. However the company's management contract with Ahmanson Commercial Development Co., which had resulted in monthly management and other fees of $12,000 to $15,000, was terminated in September 1990. As a consequence of the contract termination, the company will no longer be receiving such management fees.

In October 1990 the company executed a 10-year lease for the 82,000-square-foot building which had previously been the remaining unleased space in a two-building office/research and development property located in Yorba Linda. The tenant improvements required by the lease will be funded by an increase in the construction loan secured by the property.

As a result of the construction period required to build out the tenant improvements and rent abatement provisions in the lease for several months subsequent to the tenant's occupancy, the company anticipates that actual rent receipts will commence in 1992.

As previously reported, Pacesetter Business Properties was spun off to its shareholders in a tax-free stock distribution by its former parent company, American Pacesetter, on June 30, 1988. Pacesetter Business Properties commenced operations on that date as a separate publicly held company.

NEWTON, MASS. (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Wedgestone Financial (NYSE:WDG) Friday reported a net loss for the three months and nine months ended Sept. 30 1990.

For the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, the trust reported a net loss of $5,665,000 (which includes $4,740,000 in additions to the allowance for losses), compared to a net loss of $951,000 (which included no such additions) during the same period in 1989.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, the trust reported a net loss of $7,904,000 (which includes $4,952,000 in additions to the allowance for losses), compared to a net loss of $2,826,000 (which included $1,500,000 in additions to the allowance for losses) during the same period in 1989.

The primary reasons for the three-month and nine-month losses were the additions to the allowance for losses and the continued high level of underperforming assets. The additions to the allowance for losses were necessitated by the deterioration in the estimated value of both properties securing loans and foreclosed properties. Underperforming assets represented 81 percent of the trust's total assets at Sept. 30, 1990, compared to 77 percent at Dec. 31, 1989, and 59 percent at Sept. 30, 1989.

At Sept. 30, 1990, the trust continued to be in default of certain previously modified covenants in its debt agreements and had made only $12,250,000 of the $18,000,000 in principal prepayments required by June 30, 1990. The aforesaid $12,250,000 included $2,000,000 paid during the first nine months of 1990. The trust is seeking waivers or further modifications of these provisions.

Wedgestone Financial is a publicly owned real estate investment trust specializing in short-term and intermediate-term mortgage loans, mainly to developers.

PONCE, PUERTO RICO (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - The board of directors of Ponce Federal Bank, F.S.B. (NASDAQ:PFBS) Friday announced results for the third quarter and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990.

For the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, the bank had a net loss of $4,536,663, or 88 cents per share, compared to year ago net income of $1,323,054, or 26 cents per share. For the 1990 nine month period, Ponce Federal reported a net loss of $3,923,684, or 76 cents per share.

The third quarter and nine month losses were primarily the result of a provision for loan losses in the third quarter of $4.1 million vs. $862,000 provided in the like 1989 quarter. The 1990 third quarter also reflects a mark-to-market adjustment of $651,772 charged against loans held for sale.

In the year ago nine month period, the bank had a net loss of $5,954,021, or $1.08 per share. (1989 per share figures have been adjusted to reflect the effect of a 5 percent stock dividend declared in December 1989.)

The loan loss provision in the 1990 third quarter reflects the bank's actual loan experience in the period and also takes into account the current economic conditions in Puerto Rico.

The third quarter provision brings the total provision for loan losses in the first nine months of 1990 to $9,281,953, compared to $11,416,882 provided in the comparable 1989 period.

Miguel D. Lausell, Esq., chairman of Ponce's board of directors, stated, ''The board of directors and the bank have been working diligently to assess the credit quality of its loan portfolio and to develop an operating strategy for 1991.

Ponce Federal Bank, F.S.B., with assets of $1.3 billion, is the second largest thrift institution in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. IRVINE, CALIF. (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - National Health Care Systems Inc. (NASDAQ:NHCS) reported revenues of $3.6 million for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, a 52 percent increase over last year's comparable quarter, and $10 million in revenue for the nine-month period, a 49 percent increase over last year at the nine-month period.

Increases in revenue are largely due to increased enrollment in the company's pre-paid dental plans operated by DentiCare, a wholly owned subsidiary. National Health Care has expanded its in-house sales force and stepped up its marketing efforts in order to increase enrollments from a high of 184,000 in September of 1989 to the current enrollment of 245,000, a 33 percent increase.

NHCS reported a loss of $372,000, or 9 cents per share, for the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, compared with a profit of $51,000, or 1 cent per share, for the same period last year. For the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, NHCS reported a loss of $58,000, or 1 cent per share, vs. a profit of $229,000, or 5 cents per share, for the prior comparable period.

The company previously reported two unrelated events which were primarily responsible for the losses for the period. First, DentiCare was required by California regulators to terminate its indemnity product lines due to disputed legal interpretations. Second, the company increased its cash reserve related to specialty referral claims by $207,000.

This was a result of a rapid increase in sales of specialty referral products during 1990.

National Health Care concurrently announced that they have secured additional borrowings of $583,000 under a promisory note from a financial lender, increasing their obligation to the lender to $1 million. The note is payable over a five-year period and bears an interest rate of 1 percent above the lender's prime lending rate. The funds will be used to capitalize future growth.

National Health Care Systems owns DentiCare, a capitated pre-paid dental plan operating throughout California. The company offers its pre-paid dental benefit packages to employer groups as well as to individuals and small groups as an alternative to indemnity insurance. DentiCare currently has over 2,000 contracting dentists and over 245,000 subscribers in their plans.

''Essentially, POP Radio is becoming a product line of ActMedia,'' explained Wayne W. LoCurto, ActMedia CEO and president. ''ActMedia has always had the dominant visual in-store media. Now POP Radio gives us the unique ability to combine sight and sound for maximum in-store impact.''

Founded in 1983, POP Radio is the largest in-store radio network, now in more than 13,000 food, drug and mass merchandising outlets, as well as home centers and toy stores. NEWBERRY, MICH. (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Newberry Bancorp Inc. (NASDAQ:NEWBA) (the ''Company'') announced its unaudited results from operations for the three months and nine months ended Sept. 30 (in $ thousands except per share and share amounts):

The company's net interest income rose from the year ago period because of an improved net interest margin and an increase in earning assets and deposits. Other income advanced as a result of both increases from operations at the bank subsidiary and an increase in securities gains to $39. Net loan charge-offs were $40 in the 1990 period vs. $3 in the 1989 period.

The sharp increase in other expense was mainly due to higher holding company expense including $15 in expense related to the proposed Equitec Savings Bank acquisition. The company reserved $100 against the deposit held by Equitec Financial Group in conjunction with the Equitec Savings Bank acquisition due to the filing of that company for Chapter 11 reorganization in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of California.

The company owns 100 percent of the Newberry State Bank, a Michigan FDIC-insured community bank located in the eastern upper peninsula of Michigan (in the city of Newberry). At June 30, 1990, the company had unaudited consolidated assets of $43,019,014.

OSHKOSH, Wi. (NOV 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Oshkosh Truck Corp. (NASDAQ: OTRKB) reported Friday a net loss of $2.8 million, or 31 cents per share for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1990 on shipments of $453.1 million.

The compares to the prior year net income of $12.8 million, or $1.43 per share on shipments of $427.2 million.

According to R. Eugene Goodson, chairman & chief executive officer, the loss was partially accounted for by previously reported inventory chargeoffs taken in the third quarter. Further inventory chargeoffs and actions in the fourth quarter resulted in an additional pre-tax charge of $2 million to profits.

A severe downturn in motorhome chassis sales following the August mid-east crisis was also a factor in the fourth quarter loss.

Oshkosh Truck has begun a major focus on its total cost structure and is implementing systems and processes to improve quality and productivity, Goodson indicated.

The company's Oshkosh, facility released over 200 hourly and salaried employees, resulting in a one-time charge exceeding $1 million in the fourth quarter. A temporary layoff of 40 hourly people has taken place at the company's chassis assembly plant in South Carolina. Total employment is currently 1,746 people.

''The company's balance sheet remains in excellent shape,'' stated Goodson. ''We have concluded the purchase agreement with Miller Trailers Inc. and expect to finalize the acquisition next month,'' Goodson added. Trailer sales are expected to add approximately $50 million to the company's annual shipments.

The company reported a funded backlog of $350 million as of Sept. 30, 1990. This compares to $375 million a year ago. In addition, the company has existing U.S. government contracts exceeding $1 billion of shipments during the next five years. These contracts contain options that could add another $1 billion of shipments.

Net loss for the fourth quarter fiscal 1990 was $3.2 million, or 36 cents per share on shipments of $100.5 million. This compares to net income of $1.2 million, or 14 cents per share on shipments of $111.7 million in the fourth quarter.

LAFAYETTE, LA (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - The Exploration Company of Louisiana Inc. (NASDAQ:XCOL) (the ''company'') Friday announces results for the three and nine months periods ended Sept. 30, 1990.

Gross revenues were $2,543,000 and $10,655,000, as compared to $2,319,000 and $6,563,000, respectively, for the corresponding periods a year ago.

Although revenues from oil and gas for the three months and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, increased to $2,141,000 and $5,504,000, in 1990 from $1,562,000 and $3,643,000, respectively, in 1989, the oil and gas revenues for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, do not reflect the full benefit of the acquisition of the additional interests in the existing wells in the Berry R. Cox Field because of their poor producing condition at the date of acquisition (Aug. 1, 1990).

However, expenses for the field do reflect the additional operating costs associated with the interests acquired. The previous operator had allowed gross production of the field to decline to only 8 MMCF per day as a result of shut-in wells, lack of required remedial work on several producing wells and failure to repair certain production equipment.

The company, as the new operator, immediately implemented a rehabilitation program and has increased production to 20,000 MCF per day (the limit of existing treatment facilities) and anticipates increasing gross production to approximately 30,000 MCF per day by year end and 45,000 MCF per day by the first quarter of 1991.

Third quarter 1990 oil and gas revenues also do not include revenues from the production of the new wells drilled in the Kenedy Field, which began producing on Oct. 15, 1990, after completion of new field gathering and pipeline facilities.

During the third quarter of 1990, the company entered into a new banking agreement which increased its borrowing facility from $25 million to $50 million and superseded the December 1988 loan agreement. As a result of this early debt extinguishment, the $183,000 of remaining, unamortized financing fees incurred in 1988 were expensed as an extraordinary loss.

The impact of the above was a net (loss) for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, of ($103,000) and net income for the nine months of $1,192,000, as compared to $317,000 and $1,065,000 for the same periods last year.

OAKLAND, CA (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - The Clorox Co. announced Friday it has selected Perryman, Harford County, Md., for the site of its new production and distribution center, valued at approximately $75 million.

The facility will utilize some of the most advanced production and distribution technology available.

When construction is complete in early 1993, the center initially will produce and distribute Clorox liquid bleach to the northeast United States. The facility is expected to be fully operational by 1995.

The Perryman center is expected to provide up to 100 jobs with an annual payroll and benefits of up to $4 million.

The Perryman facility will take over production capacity from two older East Coast plants in Frederick, Md. and Jersey City, N.J. Employees at those locations were informed Friday of company plans to transfer production and distribution activity over the next three to five years and close those plants.

According to company studies, the 26-year-old Frederick facility, which employs 35 people, is located too far from the company's primary customer base along north-south transporation routes. The Perryman site will allow the company to make round-trip customer deliveries within one day, something which is impossible to do from the Frederick location.

In addition, the new center could not fit on the present Frederick plant site.

The Jersey City operation, which has been at its present location since the mid-60s, also does not have the space needed to accommodate current and future expansion, including the modernization of production methods. Some 160 people now are employed at the Jersey City facility.

Established in 1913, the Clorox Co. operates 40 facilities throughout the United States and abroad. The company employs more than 5,500 people and is the world's largest producer of household bleach. The company also produces other household and cleaning products, specialty food products, charcoal briquets, bottled water, restaurant equipment and products for the food service industry.

Annual revenue exceeds $1.5 billion.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - B+H Maritime Carriers Ltd. (ASE: BHM) announced Friday that it intends to refinance its secured term loan. Under the terms of the proposed new $24.3 million financing, B+H Maritime would pay interest only for the initial 24 months of the six year loan.

Drawdown of the new loan is anticipated before year-end. The new loan, which will be secured by a first priority fleet mortgage on the Company's vessels, will replace a similar arrangement which was originally drawn down during 1989 following the Company's initial public offering and which was used to complete the Company's vessel acquisition program.

The deferment of loan repayments for 24 months is expected to increase Available Cash Flow and should permit some increase in the level of distributions to shareholders.

The company operates five handy-size dry bulkcarriers and four product tankers.

NORTH CANTON, OH (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Belden & Blake Energy Co. (AMEX:BBE) announced Friday that it has filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission a Supplement to the Belden & Blake Energy Co. Prospectus dated May 14.

The Supplement, dated Nov. 15, relates to an offering of up to 575,000 units to be issued in exchange for producing oil and gas properties and proven reserves.

The exchange offer will be made to Belden & Blake working interest owners and certain drilling programs formed by DeRand Corp. The general partners of the DeRand partnerships may elect to exchange the assets of up to 16 partnerships for Belden & Blake Energy Co. units. The offer will close on Dec. 21, or sooner if tenders of interest in excess of the available units are received by the company.

Henry S. Belden IV, co-general partner of the company stated, ''The oil and gas industry is highly cyclical. The current Middle East crisis has initiated a positive trend in the business cycle for the industry. This positive trend can be noted in BBEC's recently announced 1990 third quarter earnings of approximately $1.3 million in net income. With oil prices at their current high levels, we believe that the timing is ideal to consolidate small, fragmented oil and gas interests into an active, operating oil and gas company.''

NATICK, MA (NOV. 16) BUSINESS WIRE - Prime Computer Inc. announced that the United States Court of Appels for the 6th Circuit has issued an emergency stay of an injunction ordered yesterday by the United States District Court in Detroit until the 6th Circuit can hold a hearing on Prime's appeal of the injunction.

The injunction arose out of a lawsuit commenced in 1989 by Virtual Maintenance Inc. against Prime, alleging that certain of Prime's maintenance policies violated federal antitrust laws.

Prime believes that the injunction and the jury verdict in the case were wrong and Prime will file a motion in the trial court to reverse the jury verdict in the case and will also appeal the verdict if the effort in the trial court is unsuccessful.

The District Court's injunction affects Prime's maintenance policies for a limited number of 50 Series minicomputer customers using the Product Design Graphic system (PDGS), a software product developed by Ford Motor Co. that Prime has been licensed to market and support. The affected customers, who are Ford suppliers, provide design services to Ford Motor Co., and use the most current revisions of PDGS to be compatible with Ford's internal systems.

The injunction would prohibit Prime from using or enforcing contractual language in its software service contracts with those customers that require the purchase of hardware maintenance. The District Court's injunction would affect Prime's policies with respect to PDGS revisions for those customers. The effect of the 6th Circuit's emergency stay is to suspend the District Court's injunction until Prime can appeal the injunction to the 6th Circuit Court.

In addition, Prime intends to ask the District Court to reverse the judge's treble-damage verdict in the amount of $25 million, and if the District Court denies that request, Prime will appeal the verdict to the 6th Circuit Court.

Prime continues to believe that all of its policies and practices are legal and not in violation of antitrust laws, and will vigorously defend those policies. They have served customers well and allow Prime to provide the highest quality of service.

BANGKOK (NOV. 16) - Vietnam's communist leader has predicted that the communist parties of Eastern Europe will regain their strength and socialism will ''certainly win'' in the long run, the Vietnam News Agency (Vna) reported Friday.

In a speech to a national conference of senior government officials last week in Hanoi, party General Secretary Nguyen Van Linh made it clear that socialism is still the prevailing ideology in Vietnam, regardless of Perestroika-like reforms.

''Socialism is facing hard times. However, we should not be pessimistic nor should we waver,'' said Linh in a speech picked up by Vna and monitored here.

Linh, who became the communist party chief in December 1986, is closely associated with the economic reforms Vietnam has been implementing since 1987.

Like China, Vietnam appears to be taking a path of Perestroika without Glasnost, or economic reforms without accompanying political reforms.

Vietnam's all-powerful Communist Party clearly has been shaken by the downfall of socialist regimes in Eastern Europe, a development which Hanoi has blamed on the poor leadership of European communist parties.

''The communists in the Eastern Europe countries will draw the necessary lessons from reality, creatively develop Marxism-Leninism and correctly apply it to the concrete situation of their countries, find out the correct solutions, enlist the support of the people and regain their strength,'' predicted Linh.

He added, ''The way to socialism remains a zigzag and complicated one but socialism will certainly win.''

TOKYO (NOV. 16) - Japan's overall wholesale prices in October rose 1.5 percent from a year earlier, but remained unchanged from September, the Bank of Japan said Friday.

The central bank said the year-on-year rise was the largest since May when it reached 1.7 percent.

Domestic wholesale prices increased 1.8 percent from a year before and 0.3 percent from the previous month, as higher crude oil costs boosted prices of petroleum, coal, chemical and plastic products.

Import wholesale prices jumped 9.7 percent from a year before and two per cent from September, while export prices fell four percent from a year before and 2.8 percent from September.

JAKARTA (NOV. 16) - The Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) should make concerted efforts to boost textile exports and fight the challenges of fiercer competition or growing protectionism, officials said Friday.

The establishment of voluntary trade blocs in Europe and North America could threaten the growth of ASEAN textile exports, officials attending the council meeting of the ASEAN Federation of Textile Producers (AFTEX) here said.

"ASEAN must make corresponding adjustments," AFTEX Chairman Cheng Wai Keung said.

AFTEX should make concerted efforts in overseas marketing, while at home it should help their government efforts to boost intra-ASEAN trade, he said.

ASEAN's total exports of textiles and apparel grew six-fold between 1979 and 1989 to nine billion dollars, and now represents about five per cent of the global export market.

ASEAN groups Brunei, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore and Thailand.

Indonesian Junior Industry Minister Tungky Ariwibowo said in his keynote remarks that AFTEX members should invest in selective technology that enhanced their main competitive advantage in the textile sector: the low labour costs.

BEIJING (NOV. 16) - Chinese and Indonesian firms have signed a memorandum of understanding in Beijing to co-operate in edible oil ventures in each others' country, the New China News Agency reported Friday.

Under the pact, signed during Indonesian President Suharto's visit here, the China National Vegetable Oil Corp., the Indonesian Mindo Vegetable Oil Co. and the Tunas Group are to establish palm oil-based industries in China, including a refinery and fractionating plant.

They will also set up a 25,000 hectare (61,750 acre) oil palm plantation in Indonesia that would include two crude oil milling plants.

Both ventures would be overseen by a special committee of the three companies, NCNA said.

Diplomats had predicted an increase in Sino-Indonesian trade and investment after the two countries resumed full diplomatic relations in August following a 23-year break.

SEOUL (NOV. 16) - North Korea supports a plan to lay a pipeline across its territory to bring Soviet natural gas to South Korea, the head of the Hyundai Group has said.

Hyundai founder and honorary chairman Chung Ju-Yung said upon return from the Soviet Union that North Korea had told the Soviet Union through its ambassador in Moscow that it had "no objections" to the plan, a spokesman said.

"This is not a short-term project, however, and there's nothing concrete," the spokesman said.

He could not say when the pipeline would be constructed.

The 1,000-kilometer (620-mile) pipeline would bring natural gas from Vladivostok on the Soviet Pacific coast to South Korea.

The Soviet Union recently established diplomatic relations with the capitalist South, a move that was called "treachery" in the communist North.

TOKYO (NOV. 16) - Japanese electronics makers should offer greater cooperation to their counterparts in East European countries to encourage entrepreneurs in the region, the Electronics Industries Assocation of Japan (EIAJ) said Friday.

The association, in a lengthy report, said East European countries are currently not attractive enough as separate nations but the combined market will serve as a stepping stone to a greater European market including the Soviet Union.

It urged its some 600 member companies to depart from their negative attitude and offer technological assistance, make more investments and help management.

The report analyzed the trends of demand, technological levels and the investment environment in the electronics, data communications and semiconductor industries in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia and eastern Germany (former East Germany).

The electronics industry of the region lags far behind that of the West in cost competitiveness and technological achievements, while development expertise for consumer electronics is especially weak, the report said.

But the EIAJ saw growth potential in the telecommuniations equipment market in these countries as they scramble to catch up the West.

The semiconductor market in the region will slacken temporarily as production of electronics equipment slows, but imports from Western nations will increase following relaxation of rules by the watchdog Coordinating Committee for Export Control (COCOM), the report said.

The Paris-based COCOM, which monitors the sale of sensitive equipment to communist or former communist countries, is calling for the loosening of restrictions on exports of computers and electronic and telecommunications equipment.

NAIROBI (NOV. 16) - Bread prices have risen by an average of 33 percent in Kenya, where bread consumption has increased in recent years to rival maize meal as a staple food, it was announced here.

The increases, which will hit Kenyan households hard, were announced in a special issue of the Kenya Gazette on Thursday. Wheat flour prices were also raised by more than 23 percent in some areas.

Kenya imports about half of its wheat, 70 percent of which is used to make bread.

Petrol prices have risen by nearly 50 percent at the pump since Iraq's invasion of Kuwait in August, and the once strong Kenya shilling is sliding against major currencies, making imports more expensive.

NAIROBI (NOV. 16) - A total of 45,574 bags of Kenyan coffee were offered for sale to markets at Nairobi's weekly auction and 45,373 bags were sold for an average price of 1,836.88 Kenyan pounds (1,597.28 U.S. dollars) per ton.

The market was overall a shade firmer, but unchanged with continuous buying by Rosters and large stocks of coffee in Europe, preventing any upswing.

To date, 1,298,467 bags of 198990 pool have been sold to all markets, with an overall gross average price of 2,230 Kenyan pounds (1,939.13 dollars) per ton.

TOKYO (NOV. 16) - Japanese trading giant Mitsubishi Corp. said its net profit soared 38.9 percent from a year earlier to 26.6 billion yen (193 million dollars) in the six months to September.

The company, the country's biggest trader of oil and other energy products, said sales rose 12.6 percent to 8,710 billion yen (63 billion dollars).

Sales of machinery and information equipment jumped by almost a third while turnover in other products -- ranging from fuels, metals and foodstuffs to chemicals, industrial materials and textiles -- grew by less than 10 percent.

TOKYO (NOV. 16) - Japan's Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. Ltd. said Friday its net consolidated profit grew by 16 percent from a year earlier to 127 billion yen (920 million dollars) in the six months to September.

The company, the world's biggest manufacturer of consumer electronics including the National and Panasonics brand names, said group sales climbed 12 percent to 3,247 billion yen (24 billion dollars) in the same period.

Exports grew more than twice as fast as domestic sales, the company said. Sales abroad jumped 19 percent to 1,501 billion yen (11 billion dollars) while sales at home rose eight percent to 1,746 billion yen (13 billion dollars).

Sales of video equipment rose eight percent to 83.5 billion yen (605 million dollars) while sales of audio equipment climbed 15 percent to 29.1 billion yen (211 million dollars). Sales of consumer electronics grew 13 per cent to 46.6

TOKYO (NOV. 16) - Nippon Light Metal Co. Ltd. said Friday its net profit inched up 0.9 percent from a year before to four billion yen (30 million dollars) in the six months to September.

Japan's largest aluminum producer said sales rose 3.1 percent to 142 billion yen (one billion dollars), reflecting brisk demand for drinking cans and transportation-related goods.

Sales surpassed year-before levels for rolled aluminum products as well as aluminum products and building materials, but declined for metal and chemical products.

For the year to March, the company forecast net profit of 7.5 billion yen (54 million dollars), up six percent from the previous year, on sales of 290 billion yen (2.1 billion dollars), up 7.4 percent.

HONG KONG (NOV. 16) - Arrangements were ready Friday for 14 international banks to fully underwrite an 800 million U.S. dollar loan for a China highway project, Beijing's first major borrowing since the country's turmoil last year.

The banks included Japanese, British, French, Chinese and Hong Kong interests, said Gordon Wu, managing director of Hopewell Holdings Ltd., which is the Hong Kong partner in the 1.54 billion U.S. dollar joint-venture super-highway plan in southern China.

U.S. banks were however notably absent from the 12-year financing package, seen by many as a litmus test for foreign banks' confidence on China after the June 4 Beijing massacre of pro-democracy activists last year, observers said.

The number of participating banks also fell short of an earlier estimate of 20 from the Chinese authorities.

Underwriters which have vowed to take part included Beijing's Bank of China, the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corp. in the British colony, and French concern Banque Nationale de Paris (BNP). Most of them were however understood to be Japanese banks.

Bank of China, the Hongkong Bank and a third participant have agreed to underwrite 100 million U.S. dollars each, while the rest would take up an average 50 million dollars each, according to Mr. Wu's estimate.

He said official underwriting agreements would be signed in the short term.

Work started in mid-1987 on the super-highway -- linking Guangzhou, Shenzhen and Zhuhai in neighbouring Guangdong province -- and has since been known to suffer financing problems.

Guangdong officials have said the project was vital to the province's development and would be completed for full operation by 1994 "with or without foreign loans."

The company, a leading trading house with strong activities in steel and chemicals, said sales grew 18.4 percent to 9,389 billion yen (68 billion dollars) in the same period.

Metal sales leapt by almost a third although sales of chemicals, fuels, machinery, foodstuffs and general products grew more modestly. Textiles sales were virtually unchanged.

Eight people were injured, some critically, when the fight started between several youths who had been drinking heavily. Ruma is some 70 kilometres east of capital.

The victims were unable to escape after flames from the upturned stove quickly enveloped the freshly-painted ''Pam-Pam'' bar, said the reports.

WOLFSBURG (NOV. 16) - Volkswagen reported here Friday that its net earnings in the first nine months of 1990 gained 2 percent to 621 million marks (421 million dollars).

VW said the parent company accounted for 477 million marks of the net profit, also up 2 percent from the same period last year.

The company's world group turnover reached 50.35 billion marks, up 4.3 percent, with the parent firm accounting for 37.77 billion marks, a 6.7 percent gain.

VW said it delivered a total of 2.28 million vehicles in the first nine months of 1990, up 2.9 percent, with production reaching 2.27 million vehicles, a 4.1 percent rise.

The company noted that domestic business remained robust, but there were signs of weakening in West European markets and the United States. The Gulf crisis was adding considerably to the uncertainty, VW said.

TAIPEI (NOV. 16) - Taiwan intends to renew a bid to purchase F-16 fighters from the United States if the Soviet Union supplies China with Sukhoi Su-27 planes, the island's deputy chief of the general staff for logistics said here Friday.

"If military facilities of the opposite side of the (Taiwan) Strait are markedly upgraded, we have more than adequate reason to purchase advanced weapons from the U.S.," General Lin Ke-cheng told reporters.

"We would want to buy U.S.-made F-16 fighters to maintain the balance of air combat capability between the two sides of the Strait if China acquires Su-27 fighters from the Soviet Union," Gen. Lin said.

In October, a Soviet aviation expert attending a biannual Chinese aeronautical trade show in Beijing said negotiations on supplying the Chinese with the state-of-the-art Su-27 were now at a "preliminary stage."

The Su-27 - codenamed "Flanker" by NATO forces - is one of the Soviet Union's most advanced supersonic fighters.

If a deal goes through - marking the first time that China has turned to the Soviet Union for warplanes since the 1950s - military analysts said it would represent a quantum leap in the firepower of China's antiquated air force, as well as a shift in the balance of military power in Asia.

In the past, Taiwan had tried without success to purchase F-16 fighters from the U.S., which after switching diplomatic recognition to China in 1979 agreed to quantitatively and qualitatively reduce arms sales to this island.

The Nationalists fled to Taiwan from China in 1949 after losing a civil war to the communists, with whom are they are still technically at war.

WINDHOEK (NOV. 16) - The Namibian government signed four agreements here Friday under which the European Economic Community (EEC) will provide 34 million rands (13.3 million dollars) in aid to Namibia, the EEC cordinator here, Tim Sheehy, said.

At the same time the EEC announced it would provide a further 12 million rands (4.7 million dollars) for various programmes, bringing to 78 million rands (30.5 million dollars) the total amount of aid committed to Namibia by the EEC so far this year.

Friday's agreements were signed by Mr. Sheehy and the Director-General of Namibia's National Planning Commission, Zedikia Ngavirue.

"The commitments the EC has made are clearly the beginning of a long-term relationship between Namibia and the European Community," Mr. Sheehy said.

The grants, which were given over and above the funds pledged by individual EEC member states, were "a clear sign of confidence by the EC in an independent Namibia," he added.

Namibia achieved its independence from South Africa on March 21 this year.

BEIJING (NOV. 16) - Argentina and China have signed several accords to step up their economic cooperation, an Argentinian diplomat said Friday as Argentine President Carlos Menem left after a three-day visit here.

The two countries signed several agreements on Thursday including one on joint business ventures, expanding on an earlier one, an Argentine Embassy spokesman said.

Chinese President Yang Shangkun was present for the signing ceremony.

Argentina has been involved in several joint ventures in fishing, metallurgy and agriculture in China, the spokesman said, adding that China would participate in an irrigation project in Argentina.

China agreed to increase the amount of wheat it buys from Argentina, and to award export credits worth 20 million dollars, while Buenos Aires pledged 300 million dollars in export credits to China, the spokesman said.

Trade between the two countries amounted to 576 million dollars last year, with the balance heavily in Argentina's favor.

The two sides also signed a counsular treaty and an agreement easing visa requirements.

Mr. Yang, who accompanied Mr. Menem to the airport Friday, said the visit "brought Sino-Argentine relations to a new stage," the official New China News Agency reported.

He visited Buenos Aires in May as part of a Latin American tour.

UITENHAGE, SOUTH AFRICA (NOV. 16) - Volkswagen South Africa (VWSA)'s plant in this eastern Cape motortown remained shut down for the second successive day following a walk-out by union members, the company said here Friday.

Some 6,000 workers were affected by the closure of the plant and VWSA management told workers Friday the company will not resume production until agreement was reached with the National Union of Metalworkers of South Africa (NUMSA) guaranteeing "uninterrupted production".

In a statement released here, VWSA said the plant was closed after 600 workers walked off their jobs Thursday to attend a court case involving a foreman and a shop steward.

The company warned off retrenchments following the action of the workers, all members of NUMSA, and said the plant will only be reopened if the union agreed to a "commitment to the viability of VWSA and industrial peace and stability".

South Africa's motor industry has been plagued with industrial relations problems this year.

Daimler-Benz's South African subsidiary, Mercedes-Benz South Africa (MBSA)'s plant in East London, 250 kilometres (156 miles) northeast of here, resumed production on October 9 after being shut down for eight weeks due to a strike.

BEIJING (NOV. 16) - China's currency, the yuan, will be devalued 9.57 percent Saturday, the News China News Agency (NCNA) announced.

The official agency said the decision was made by the government body in charge of the money supply, the State Administration of Exchange Control.

The yuan was quoted Friday at 471.03 per 100 U.S. dollars.

The decision was "part of the effort to deepen the country's economic and monetary reform and accelerate economic development," NCNA said, quoting the government agency.

The last devaluation of the yuan was on December 16 last year.

NOUMEA (NOV. 16) - Club Med will build a tourist resort village in Hienghene, on the east coast of New Caledonia's main island, a spokesman said Friday.

The resort, to open in 1992, will afford vacationers at Club Med, which already operates a hotel in Noumea, greater variety when they come to New Caledonia, the spokesman said.

A luxury sail-powered cruise liner, the Club Med II, will be complete by 1992, and it will operate from the village and cruise throughout New Caledonia's three provinces for at least five years, he said.

The resort village is expected to stimulate domestic air traffic in the archipelago, with plans for a daily link between Noumea and the east coast.

HONG KONG (NOV. 16) - An international consortium Friday announced it has dropped its plan to build a near-900 million U.S. dollar cable TV network in the British colony for commercial reasons.

The statement was made by Hong Kong Cable Communications Ltd., which was handpicked by the government more than a year ago to launch the colony's first cable project in 1991.

Cable Communications is a consortium led by local tycoon Sir Yue-kong Pao's Wharf Group. Other partners are two other local companies plus American telecommunications operator U.S. West Inc. and Belgian cable concern Coditel S.A.

The consortium had threatened to back down from the project for fear of competition from a satellite TV plan announced by a subsidiary of local businessman Li Ka-shing.

The government gave the Li firm, HutchVision, the go-ahead on October 31 to use Hong Kong as the base for its 400 million U.S. dollar pan-Asia satellite TV service scheduled to start at year-end.

The colony's Secretary for Recreation and Culture, Augustine Chui, called Cable's pull-out "a setback in some ways" although the consortium faced no penalty for breaking its commitment.

Mr. Chui said the government would look for other options to develop cable TV. He would not elaborate.

KUALA LUMPUR (NOV. 16) - Malaysia's national oil company Petronas Friday signed a letter of intent for part of its second refinery project with the U.S. oil firm Caltex, South Korea's Samsung Co. Ltd. and Taiwan's China Petroleum Corp.

Petronas' wholly-owned subsidiary Petronas Penapisan (Melaka) Sdn. Bhd. will have a 45-per cent share in the approximately 3.3-billion-dollar (1.22 billion U.S.) project to refine crudes with high sulphur content.

Caltex has a 25-per cent share while Samsung and China Petroleum Corp. each taking 15 per cent of the equity.

The shareholders are entitled to at least their equity share in the refined products, Petronas President Azizan Zainal Abidin told reporters after signing the agreement.

"We are confident it is going to be a viable project particularly with the partners we have," Mr. Azizan.

Products from the so-called sour crude train project, which comes on stream in the middle of 1995, are aimed for export.

The train, one of two in the refinery in southern Malacca state, has a capacity to refine between 100,000 to 130,000 barrels per day and the flexibility to accept the whole spectrum of crudes.

Petronas wholly owns the other train which will refine local crudes, which have low sulphur content. Petronas has another refinery in Kertih on the east coast.

BANGKOK (NOV. 16) - As Asia's urban population grows in the next two decades, as much as 96 per cent of new jobs created will have to be in the cities, according to United Nations figures released here Friday.

By the year 2000 one-third of the Asia-Pacific population will inhabit urban areas and by 2010 the figure will reach 40 per cent, according to a U.N. Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (ESCAP) study.

An inter-governmental meeting on population and social development of ESCAP member countries is to consider the study here Monday, an ESCAP statement said.

"Growth in labor force, changes in occupation and the kind of economic activities which accompany development, as well as increasing participation of women in the labor market, have important policy implications," the statement said.

"The rapidly growing sectors of manufacturing, trade and services rely heavily on female employees. Educational and training opportunities must be adequate to prepare females for modern sector employment," the statement added.

Another study prepared for the meeting urges that governments in the region formulate a "package of policies related to taxation, capital markets, savings and credit" to meet the needs of the growing urban work force.

Hong Kong (NOV. 16) - In a terse statement Friday, the Hong Kong Cable Communications (Hkcc) consortium said it was cancelling plans to build a 5.5 billion Hongkong dollar (705 million U.S. dollar) cable television network.

Hkcc did not elaborate on the reasons for the cancellation. But it was understood that the consortium's collapse was precipitated by the withdrawal of the American cable operators U.S. West Inc.

Other partners in the project quickly signalled their intention to follow suit. There has been very little progress on the cable project and its commercial viability has increasingly been questioned.

Hkcc won the license to operate the network 15 months ago after a fiercely fought contest. The majority shareholder in the consortium was Wharf Holdings, belonging to shipping magnate Sir Y.K. Pao, joined by local and overseas companies.

The main loser then was the Cablevision consortium led by tycoon Li Ka-Shing's Hutchison Whampoa group. Li has since gone ahead with an ambitious satellite television project.

The collapse of the scheme is also highly embarrassing for the government, which appointed Hkcc and was keen to see the development of cable Tv as a precursor to the introduction of a second telecommunications network to compete with the monopoly held by a subsidiary of Britain's Cable and Wireless.

''This is a commercial decision made by businessmen. It is not our policy to interfere in such matters,'' a government spokesman said when asked about the Hkcc announcement.

TOKYO (NOV. 16) - Japan's nine biggest trading houses announced Friday increased profits for the six months to September, citing strong domestic demand in addition to increased earnings from fuel trading activities.

Most companies reported increased sales, particularly for industrial equipment and machinery. Overall figures were distorted, however, as sales from gold trading accounts were excluded.

Mitsubishi Corp., the leading trading house and Japan's biggest trader of energy products, said its net profit soared 38.9 percent from a year earlier to 26.6 billion yen dollars (193 million dollars) in the six months.

Sales rose 12.6 percent to 8,710 billion yen (63 billion dollars). Sales of machinery and information equipment jumped by almost a third while turnover in other products - ranging from fuels, metals and foodstuffs to chemicals, industrial materials and textiles - grew by less than 10 per cent.

Mitsui and Co. Ltd., ranking second and the biggest Japanese trader of chemicals, steel and foodstuffs, said its net earnings increased 12.5 percent to 15 billion yen (109 million dollars).

But sales fell 4.5 percent to 8,955 billion yen (65 billion dollars). Sales of non-ferrous metals were slashed by more than a third while sales of textiles also fell. But machinery sales rose sharply and sales of petroleum and gas, steel, chemicals and foodstuffs also posted gains.

Sumitomo Corp, highly dependent on steel and chemical activities, said its profit advanced 14.2 percent to 18.6 billion yen (135 million dollars).

Sales grew 18.4 percent to 9,389 billion yen (68 billion dollars). Metal sales leapt by almost a third although sales of chemicals, fuels, machinery, foodstuffs and general products grew more modestly. Textiles sales were virtually unchanged.

Marubeni Corp., a former textile specialist affiliated with Fuji Bank Ltd., said its profit surged 20.2 percent to 10.6 billion yen (77 million dollars).

Sales jumped 13.5 percent to 9,048 billion yen (66 billion dollars). Turnover was higher in all sectors, led by metals and machinery followed by energy and chemical products.

TOKYO (NOV. 16) - Japan's Ricoh Co. Ltd. said Friday its net profit edged up 5.5 percent from a year earlier to 9.2 billion yen (67 million dollars) in the six months to September.

The company, a leading manufacturer of office equipment, said sales climbed 6.8 percent to 344 billion yen (2.5 billion dollars). Domestic sales advanced eight percent to 234 billion yen (1.7 billion dollars) while exports grew at a slower pace of five percent, reaching 110 billion yen (797 million dollars).

Photocopier sales rose, both at home and abroad, but sales of information equipment fell, depressed by a steep drop in exports. Sales of consumer goods were higher in Japan and overseas while sales of optical equipment also posted overall gains despite lower domestic sales.

Ricoh forecast a net profit of 16.2 billion yen (117 million dollars) on sales of 694 billion yen (five billion dollars).

Jerusalem (NOV. 16) - Israel's government will ban the breeding and sale of all pig products, and introduce other controversial religious legislation under a coalition agreement signed Friday with the ultra-orthodox Agudat Yisrael four-man parliamentary faction.

The agreements represent a significant success for the rightwing government headed by Premier Itzhak Shamir's Likud party. Instead of the slim 62-member support in enjoyed in the 120-seat Knesset parliament, it can now count on the support of 66 members.

It will thus have the means to resist threats from wavering coalition partners like the religious Shas party and the rightwing Tsomet faction, both of which have recently threatened to bring down the government.

But the secular right-wing Likud party was forced to pay a heavy price for the increased security, undertaking in the coalition agreement signed Friday to pass four controvesial religious laws.

This will mean the banning of the sale and breeding of all pig products except in strictly defined Christian communities, the tightening of abortion laws which will allow rabbis to decide when such an operation is permissible, the banning of all public transport on the Jewish Sabbath and the outlawing of any display of what the agreement termed ''lewd advertising''.

Agudat Yisrael's four parliamentarians were also rewarded in the agreement. Three of them will be appointed deputy ministers, and the fourth will chair the influential finance committee of the Knesset.

BOMBAY, India (NOV. 16) - Dhirubhai Ambani, the ageing warhorse of India's corporate battlefront, looked unusually relaxed as he addressed the shareholders of his flagship, Reliance Industries.

Reliance is India's third largest private sector company and 5,000 of its 3.6 million shareholders gathered Tuesday to hear the chairman at Bombay's giant Wankhede Stadium.

He announced that Reliance had achieved sales of 10 billion rupees (555 million dollars) during the six months to September - a 28-percent increase over the corresponding period last year.

At 810 million rupees (45 million dollars), net profits were up 22 percent.

But shareholders had more than just the results to celebrate.

They know their company is back in favour with the government, thanks to Mr. Ambani's close friendship with the new prime minister, Chandra Shekhar. Being in favour with the government means a lot for India's heavily government-controlled industrial sector - faster clearance of applications for expansion, diversification and help in raising finance from government-controlled banks and financial institutions.

Mr. Ambani, considered to be in the dog house during the 11 months in power of Vishwanath Pratap Singh, is now seen as one of the industrialists likely to gain the most from the new government.

In addition to his friendship with Mr. Shekhar, he is also perceived to be close to Congress (I) - the party propping up the new prime minister in office.

"We are a company, not a political party," Mr. Ambani said after shareholders asked him how the company would benefit from the new government. "Whatever the government at the centre, we are supposed to obey orders."

But Bombay's corporate grapevine believes Reliance Industries is in for good times once again.

Last week, amid an all-round fall in the price of equities on the Bombay Stock Exchange (BSE), Reliance held firm and rose in value.

The BSE's sensitivity index lost 40 points during the week, but Reliance's share price increased 26 rupees.

Observers in Bombay, India's business capital, believe Mr. Ambani has a real chance of regaining control over Larsen and Toubro, the country's eighth largest private sector company.

PARIS (NOV. 16) - The French opposition introduced a no-confidence motion in parliament on Friday which could topple the government of Socialist Prime Minister Michel Rocard.

The announcement by the three main conservative opposition groups came after Mr. Rocard told parliament early Friday that he would force through a bill on a controversial welfare tax without a vote.

The vote on the censure motion is scheduled for Monday, when Paris is hosting a summit of the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

The opposition needs to rally a total 289 votes in order to topple the government. It is certain of mustering 286 votes thanks to the 26 communist deputies who for the first time are voting for a censure motion against the Socialists.

The votes of 20 independnet deputies will consequently be crucial.

Former prime minister Laurent Fabius, a potential rival to Mr. Rocard as a future Socialist presidential candidate, noted on Friday that the communist decision to align themselves with the conservatives brought a "new fact" into the voting.

"The atmosphere is not good," he added.

The vote comes at a difficult time for the government, shaken by student protests and with new Justice Minister Henri Nallet accused of financial irregularities when he was treasurer of President Francois Mitterrand's re-election campaign in 1988.

The no-confidence motion is the ninth to be introduced against Mr. Rocard's government.

Mr. Rocard held talks with Mr. Mitterrand Friday, but no details were released.

The opposition has accused the Socialist president of undermining his own government by receiving a student delegation during a rally here by 200,000 high-school pupils Monday and saying that the government could perhaps find "a few billion" to meet their demands for greater security, improved premises and more teachers.

Mr. Rocard, who was in Japan during the student protests, promptly announced 4.5 billion francs (900 million dollars) in extra credits to renovate schools.

BONN (NOV. 16) - Britain has ratified the "Two plus Four" treaty that paved the way to the October 3 unification of Germany, the foreign ministry said here Friday.

The British ambassador in Bonn, Christopher Mallaby, on Friday handed a ratified copy of the treaty to Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher, the ministry said.

The treaty, gathering the major World War allies -- Britain, the United States France and the Soviet Union -- and East and West Germany, was signed in Moscow on September 12.

It agreed the external aspects of German unification, chiefly Germany's membership of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation and the departure of 380,000 Soviet troops from East Germany over four years.

The accord was automatically ratified Thursday, as Britain's House of Commons and House of Lords did not file an objection to it during a 21-day waiting period.

The United States and unified Germany ratified the treaty in October. The Soviet and French parliaments have yet to follow suit.

Pending the implementation of the treaty, the four wartime allies signed a separate agreement to suspend their residual rights over postwar Germany from October 3.

Manila (NOV. 16) - Senior officials of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (Asean) Friday agreed to expand cooperation in nine energy fields amid fears of a shooting war in the Gulf.

Officials from Brunei, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore and Thailand, which comprises Asean, also agreed here to activate an oil-sharing scheme if war breaks out in the Middle East.

At the end of their two-day meeting, Asean economic ministers on energy cooperation further agreed to expedite implementation of an intra-regional power grid project linking the six countries.

A program of action was approved to enhance cooperation in energy sectors such as coal, electricity, petroleum and natural gas and geothermal resources, among others. Of the six Asean members, only three - Brunei, Indonesia and Malaysia - produce petroleum.

As envisioned in the Asean petroleum security arrangement (Apsa), oil-producing members contribute 10 per cent of their total production to an ''oil pool'' as contingency supplies to be equally distributed to non-producing members.

Under the Apsa accord, member countries can gain about 80 percent of their requirements from the oil-producing members, according to Philippine Energy Affairs director Wenceslao de la Paz.

KABALE, UGANDA (NOV. 16) - Uganda will hit back if Rwandan troops continued to violate its air space and territory in pursuit of rebels who invaded Rwanda from Uganda on October 1, a Ugandan army commander warned here Thursday.

The National Resistance Army (NRA) area commander, Captain Sam Bishuba, said hundreds of Ugandans living along the border had fled their homes after fighting between forces of the rebel Rwandan Patriotic Front (RPF) and Rwandan government troops spilled over the border into Ugandan territory.

Captain Bishuba said students of a school near the border were forced to flee after Rwandan government forces crossed into Uganda and engaged in a gun battle with the rebels.

On Wednesday, a Rwandese reconnaisance plane entered three kilometres (two miles) into Ugandan airspace, the commander claimed.

"We are not going to sit back while Ugandans are being subjected to unwarranted suffering. Rwanda's wars are her problems", Captain Bishuba warned.

He said Uganda had the capacity to shoot back and vowed that it would do so if acts of provocations from Rwanda did not stop.

But Rwanda has denied the accusations, saying that the violations were the work of rebels who wanted to cause misunderstanding between the two countries.

Denying the accusations, Lieutenant-Colonel Francois Munyengango, leader of a 15-man Rwandan military team which is monitoring the Ugandan side of the border, told Agence France-Presse here Thursday that his troops were under strict instructions not to violate Ugandan territory.

"If any violation took place, then it is the work of the rebels who want to create misunderstanding between the two countries", Lt.-Col. Munyengango said.

Lt.-Col. Munyengango disclosed that his government was due to request Ugandan outhorities to help fight the rebels by joining Rwandan government forces in their military operations along the common border.

He said his monitoring team had requested access to points along the border they suspect to be conduits for supply of ammunition and food to the rebels from Uganda.

Captain Grace Agaba, the Ugandan military officer in charge of coordinating the team's activities, confirmed that the Rwandan military team would be stationed at five major points along the border -- Merama Hill, Rubare, Ntungamo, Kamuganguzi and Kabale.

BAGHDAD (NOV. 16) - Iraq warned Friday that joint U.S.-Saudi military maneuvers could plunge the region into an "abyss".

The ruling party newspaper Ath-Thawra warned that Saudi King Fahd ibn Abdel Aziz would be held responsible for any threat to regional security as a result of the exercises.

U.S. and Saudi Arabian troops, aircraft and warships launched their largest ever combined exercise on Thursday, involving 1,100 aircraft and an amphibious landing on Saudi beaches south of Kuwait.

"The Saudi regime will be held responsible for this American provocation and the ensuing threats to the region's security and stability," the official newspaper said.

"American provocation constitutes a new attempt to put pressure on Iraq," it said, describing the maneuvers as an "escalation that could plunge the region into an abyss."

A U.S. Navy spokesman, Commander J.D. Van Sickle, said Thursday in Dhahran that the exercise -- dubbed "Exercise Imminent Thunder" -- was not provocation but part of ongoing training.

He said the amphibious landing would take place in Saudi Arabia's Eastern Province, which borders Kuwait, but declined to say how far from the emirate it would be held.

U.S. newspaper reports said the beach landing may be as close as 10 miles (16 kilometers) from the Saudi border with Kuwait.

TAIF (NOV. 16) - Kuwait's exiled Emir, Sheikh Jaber al-Ahmed al-Sabah, has declared that practices by Iraqi troops in Iraqi-annexed Kuwait have outpaced repressive measures taken by the Israelis against Palestinians in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

He said the Iraqi invasion of his country on August 2 has overshadowed the Palestine question and cast a thick cloak on Israel's repressive practices against the Arab and Moslem population in the occupied territories.

Jaber made his remarks in a message Thursday night replying to Abbas Madani, leader of the Algerian fundamentalist Islamic Front, who had sent a letter to the ousted Emir in October, the Bahrain-based Gulf News Agency said.

Jaber said since August 2, more than one million people, including Kuwaiti nationals and foreign residents, have been rendered homeless after Iraqi occupation forces seized their properties and money, and launched a wave of ''killings and organised looting of all state utilities in Kuwait''.

''The practices of the Iraqi occupation army in Kuwait greatly outpaced what had happened and is happening to the Palestinians in the occupied Arab territories,'' Jaber said.

He added that the Iraqi government was trying to convince the Arab and Moslem worlds that Palestine could not be liberated before all Arab states in the Gulf were liberated first.

Jaber again urged Iraq to accept Arab, Islamic and United Nations resolutions which called for an unconditional Iraqi pullout from Kuwait and the reinstatement of the legitimate government there.

BRUSSELS (NOV. 16) - The European Economic Community (EEC) warned manufacturers of farm machinery Friday to end selective distribution that stops any dealer buying from any another.

The European Commission said that agreements restricting a dealer's right to sell such farm vehicles as tractors and combined harvesters anywhere within the EEC were prohibited unless specific exemptions were granted.

It said in a statement that farm vehicles were not subject to the same selective distribution rights as road vehicles, where a dealer might not be allowed to sell to another re-seller who is not authorised by the manufacturer.

The commission reported complaints from dealers who had tried unsuccessfully to buy tractors in EEC countries where prices were lower, adding that it would give offenders until January 1 next year to change their contracts.

BEIRUT (NOV. 16) - Rania and Jean Abu-Hamad, two Lebanese architects working in the United States, during a recent visit to Beirut examined 15 new construction sites of highrise marble-coated towers.

In Boston, where they work, only three new buildings are being erected, one of them by Lebanese expatriates, they say.

The Lebanese economy is picking up after six years of recession. Investment and expenditures are rising as militias withdraw from the capital and the government moves ahead with plans to restore peace.

Economists noted that during the past two weeks, after the announcement of a government ultimatum to pull out all militiamen from Beirut by November 19, investors, fleeing the instabilitiy of the Gulf, have started to invest money in projects here.

Serge Nader, owner of the once-famous Saint George Hotel on Beirut's Mediterranian bay, said he has started consultations with construction firms to rebuild his hotel which was devastated by sectarian strife in 1976.

The Salha family, owner of the equally-famous, but likewise destroyed Phonecia Hotel, has reportedly sold the estate in Beirut's once-bustling downtown district to an investment company which intends to restore it by 1992.

LAGOS (NOV. 16) - An air raid by Nigerian planes in a West African expeditionary force in Liberia has destroyed a boat loaded with arms and equipment for Liberian rebel leader Charles Taylor, sources close to the government said here Friday.

They said intelligence agents learned about the shipment and the air attack was then launched Wednesday afternoon by five Nigerian planes at the Liberian port of Buchanan, which lies south of the capital and, unlike Monrovia, is held by Mr. Taylor's rebel troops.

The planes were part of the five-nation ECOMOG force that has intervened in the Liberian civil war. The rebel offensive was launched by Mr. Taylor's rebel National Patriotic Front of Liberia (NPFL) last December again President Samuel Doe.

Mr. Doe was killed by a breakaway rebel faction led by Prince Johnson in September.

The information by the sources here Friday followed a statement by Nigeria's ambassador in Freetown saying there had been a Nigerian air raid on the port of Buchanan.

The NPFL had said the attack destroyed a U.S. ship carrying relief aid.

Sources close to the government here also said Friday that the ECOMOG force could act as Liberia's national army during a transition period.

They said the possibility was discussed in talks here this week between Liberia's interim president, Amos Sawyer, and Nigerian President Ibrahim Babangida and Vice President Augustus Aikhomu.

Nigerian and Ghanaian troops form the bulk of the 7,000-strong ECOMOG force sent into Liberia in August by the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS).

It started off as a peacekeeping force to establish a ceasefire throughout the country and has since driven the NPFL out of Monrovia. Mr. Johnson's dissident rebel force has rallied to the side of ECOMOG, making the NPFL the last warring faction to hold out against the force.

Nigeria has contributed the most number of troops, sending three battallions. Aside from Ghana, the other nations with troops involved are Sierra Leone, Guinea and Gambia.

ABU DHABI (NOV. 16) - Kuwaiti refugees in Gulf states have been urged to speak less about their tribulation to avoid provoking any retaliatory attack by Iraq at home.

"The Iraqi regime and its executioners are looking for any excuse to kill Kuwaitis," Sheikh Ahmed Fahd al-Sabah told Kuwaitis in Sharjah in the United Arab Emirates Thursday night.

"So, any random comments could pose a threat to our people under occupation in Kuwait," he said.

More than half Kuwait's native population of 700,000 have fled to neighbouring Gulf states since Iraqi forces overran their oil-rich emirate on August 2.

Several Kuwaiti officials and citizens who fled the country have spoken to the media about what they said were Iraqi atrocities in Kuwait.

"Holding our tongues in these circumstances is a kind of resistance," said Sheikh Ahmed, a member of the Kuwaiti ruling family and son of the emir of Kuwait's brother, Sheikh Fahd al-Ahmed as-Sabah.

Sheikh Fahd, who had headed the Asian Olympic Committee and Kuwait's football association, was killed as he tried to defend his brother's palace against Iraqi invaders in August.

Sheikh Ahmed said the Iraqis were digging trenches and staging military exercises in Kuwait's residential areas. He did not elaborate.

He urged Kuwaitis to join the resistance but warned they should expect big changes after liberation.

"The current crisis is not a dream which ends when we wake up," he said. "The Kuwait which we will see when we return will be quite different."

Sheikh Ahmed said Kuwaitis would get new passports within two months, saying Iraqi troops have seized most Kuwaitis' identity papers.

The move has prompted accusations by the Kuwaiti government that Iraq is seeking to change the demographic character of the emirate after annexing it a week after the invasion.

Iraq has given Kuwaitis until November 25 to change their identity papers for Iraqi papers, and officials fear this could trigger more departures.

TOKYO (NOV. 16) - Japan's ambassador to Iraq, Kunio Katakura, is raising poultry and growing vegetables at his official Baghdad residence in case of a food shortage in a prolonged Gulf crisis, a newspaper reported here Friday.

"This is a preparation for any event that would confine me to the residence," Mr. Katakura told the Asahi Evening News, which published a photo of the diplomat crouching amidst his 14 chickens.

He is also raising 13 quails and four guinea hens, the paper said.

The mini farm, whose garden is planted with seeds from Japan, is in the courtyard of Mr. Katakura's residence, it said.

MANAMA (NOV. 16) - Visiting Canadian Defence Minister William McKnight met Friday with Bahrain's Crown Prince, Sheikh Hamad bin Isa al-Khalifa, to discuss the Gulf crisis and ways of boosting bilateral relations in all fields it was reported here.

Sheikh Hamad and the Canadian defence minister reviewed ''the current conditions in the (Gulf) region and international efforts exerted to secure the withdrawal of Iraqi forces from Kuwaiti territory,'' the Bahrain-based Gulf News Agency said.

Bahrain's Emir, Sheikh Isa bin Sulman al-Khalifa, is currently on a private visit to Britain.

McKnight arrived here Thursday night from Qatar on the last leg of a Gulf tour which has also taken him to Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates (Uae).

The Canadian minister, whose country has sent 1,700 troops and a squadron of 18 fighter aircraft in support of the U.S.-led multinational force deployed in the Gulf following Iraq's invasion of Kuwait on August 2, has not ruled out a further commitment to end the Iraqi occupation.

In a statement in Riyadh Thursday after discussing the Gulf crisis with Saudi Arabia's King Fahd and other Saudi ministers, McKnight said Canada had demonstrated solidarity with the international community against Iraqi President Saddam Hussein despite its own budgetary problems.

''We believe that the world must condemn this (Iraqi) aggression and do everything it can to deter it,'' he said.

Although he felt that the United Nations sanctions against Iraq were working, McKnight said if the need arose for the use of military force against Baghdad, it should be under a United Nations umbrella.

WARSAW (NOV. 16) - A public transportation strike that began on Tuesday in Cracow spread on Friday to the northern cities of Gdansk and Olsztyn, where bus and tramway drivers walked off the job early in the morning, the Polish news agency PAP reported.

The strikers are calling for salary increases of up to 350,000 zlotys (37 dollars -- the average monthly salary in Poland is around 1.1 million zlotys (116 dollars) -- and state subsidies for their money-losing companies, some of which are unable to pay their employees for lack of funds.

In Cracow, public transportation had been provided by trucks belonging to large compnies, but strikers have begun blocking their routes.

The city has said that it intends to call upon the army to provide transportation.

Sporadic strikes have plagued the public transportation system across Poland in spite of calls from unions, including Solidarity, for workers not to walk off the job during the campaign leading up to the November 25 presidential elections.

ANKARA (NOV. 16) - Turkey has offered to sell 40 F-16 combat jets to Egypt, it was disclosed here Friday.

The disclosure was made by Vahit Erdem, director of the state-run Defence Industry Development and Support Fund on his return from a visit to Cairo.

Erdem said Egypt had already taken 120 of the 160 planes it is to get from the U.S. and Turkey could easily supply the remaining 40 by increasing monthly production from two to four planes, he added.

If it accepts the offer, Egypt will pay less for planes of the same quality, he said.

Turkey is building the body and assembling other components including engines for 160 F-16s under a 4.2-billion-dollar deal signed in 1983 with the U.S. firm General Dynamics.

During a visit to Washington in September, Turkish President Turgut Ozal voiced interest in another 160-plane package.

KABUL (NOV. 16) - Afghan troops Friday launched heavy artillery attacks on a guerrilla stronghold near the capital as part of an operation to prevent rocketing of the city during winter, official sources said.

Security forces kept up a heavy barrage of rocket fire at suspected rebel bases in Sakardara, nearly 40 kilometers (25 miles) north of here, the sources said.

They said mujahedeen guerrillas had been using Sakardara as a launching pad for rocket attacks on Kabul, and Friday's government offensive was aimed at driving the guerrillas out of the region.

"This operation is a preemptive one. If they (guerrillas) are dislodged now, by winter it would be difficult for them to regroup and transport rockets to mountain peaks to fire on Kabul," an official source said.

Residents here heard continual artillery fire throughout Friday morning, and motorists were told by soldiers that the highway to Sakardara was shut due to fighting in the area.

It was not immediately clear whether there were any casualties in the government offensive. The authorities have been carrying out similar mopping-up operations in several areas near Kabul in recent weeks.

Mujahedeen guerrillas fire rockets on the capital and other key cities in Afghanistan to put pressure on the Soviet-backed Kabul regime to step down.

KATHMANDU (NOV. 16) - There has been a mushrooming of political parties in Nepal since the ban of political parties was lifted on April 9 following pro-multi-party system protests, it was reported Friday.

The Nepali-language weekly Nepali Patra said the number of political parties in the Himalayan kingdom today stands at 53.

Of these, three parties were in existence even during the 30 years of the Panchayat system when political parties though banned were tolerated.

In the seven and half months since the ban on political parties was lifted, 30 new parties have come into being. But none of the 53 political parties have so far issued any kind of manifesto.

Meanwhile, with the enforcement of a multi-party democracy constitution on November 9, political parties have launched their campaigns for the forthcoming general election.

The general election is scheduled to be held in April or May next year.

Some violence have been reported from outside the Kathmandu valley with clashes taking place between the Communists and the Nepali Congress party.

MBABANE (NOV. 16) - Two Swazi political activists were on Friday still holed up in the U.S. embassy here where they sought refuge to escape arrest by police, an embassy spokesman said.

The two men, Ray Russon and Sabelo Dlamini, fled to the embassy on Thursday morning after they learned that police were about to arrest them under Swaziland's 60-day detention without trial act.

The spokesman said the embassy was still awaiting instructions from the U.S. State Department concerning applications for political asylum made by the two activists.

Meanwhile, police arrested a former lecturer at Swaziland University here and two student teachers at the William Pitcher Teachers' Training College in Manzini in central Swaziland.

Students at both institutions have been boycotting classes since Monday and the government on Thursday ordered the immediate closure of the training college after students refused a final order to resume classes.

The university has been closed since Wednesday after students rioted.

In another development, police said on Friday that more than 80 students were injured on Wednesday when paramilitary police stormed a building at the university's satellite campus at Kwaluseni, 30 kilometres (19 miles) southeast of here.

One of the injured students is a daughter of Swaziland's Prime Minister Obed Dlamini.

MANAMA (NOV. 16) - Distant hopes that an Arab summit could unlock a peaceful solution to the Gulf crisis looked to have faded like a desert mirage on Friday as Iraq and Arab rivals dug their heels into irreconcilable ground, diplomats said.

The call by Morocco's King Hassan II on Sunday for a last-ditch Arab summit to examine Iraq's three-month-old occupation of Kuwait has generated intensive diplomatic moves, including visits this week by President Hosni Mubarak of Egypt to Libya and Syria.

On the one hand Baghdad consistently repeated that any Arab gathering must examine in addition to the Gulf crisis all the problems facing the region, with the Palestinian issue high on its agenda.

Iraq also reiterated that it will not make any concessions over Kuwait, which it annexed less than a week after occupying the emirate.

The anti-Iraq block led by Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Syria have underlined their own intransigent conditions, with only Sudan, Libya and the Palestine Liberation Organisation upholding the call for a summit.

Mr. Mubarak, who this week met Libyan leader Colonel Moamer Kadhafi, has repeatedly called for Iraq's withdrawal from Kuwait saying no Arab summit could take place before this condition was met.

He and Syrian President Hafez al-Assad issued a similar appeal and furthermore blamed Iraq for "aborting" all political settlement to the Gulf crisis.

Mr. Mubarak was also quoted Friday by the semi-official Cairo daily Al-Ahram as saying he had urged U.S. President George Bush to "delay by two to three months" any plans for a military option to give peace a chance.

He also chastised Baghdad for wanting to link a Gulf solution to an overall settlement of the Middle East issue.

Syrian and Saudi officials have echoed Mr. Mubarak's stance.

The deadlock was "perfectly predicatable" a diplomat in the Gulf said on Friday, adding that the Moroccan call for a summit only served to "sweep away once and for all any myth that an Arab solution could be found to the crisis."

Wolfsburg (NOV. 16) - Volkswagen's supervisory board agreed here Friday to extend by two years the contract of chairman Carl H. Hahn to the end of 1993.

The board approved a proposal made a few weeks ago that Hahn's contract, which expires December 31, 1991, be extended by two years despite his already having reached the normal retirement age of 65.

Vw is in the midst of a restructuring programme which largely bears Hahn's stamp, and the supervisory board apparently felt it prudent to let him carry through with the plans than to hand the company's reins over to a successor, car industry analysts said.

Among other projects, Vw is setting up a production facility in the former East Germany and is also vying to gain a majority share in the Czechoslovak carmaker, Skoda. It is also reorganising its Vw, Audi, and the Spanish Seat divisions.

Earlier, Vw reported a 2 percent rise in net earnings, to 621 million marks (421 million dollars) in the first nine months of 1990, on a total group turnover of 50.35 billion marks, up 4.3 percent. Vw said it sold 2.28 million vehicles in the period, up 2.9 percent, while output rose 4.1 per cent to 2.27 million vehicles.

NAIROBI (NOV. 16) - The Kenyan parliament is to debate a bill making drug trafficking an offence punishable by death, a weekly bulletin of the African Church Informations Services (APS) reported here Friday.

The move comes in the wake of revelations that Kenya has become a major route for international drug smugglers and that drug abuse among Kenyan youths is on the rise.

APS quoted a United Nations report that Kenya had a big stake in the estimated 11.5 trillion shilling (500 billion dollar) worth of global illicit drug traffic.

Kenya was singled out as an important route for drugs by the U.N. International Narcotics Control Board, which said heroin, cocaine, mandrax and bhang (cannabis sativa) were the main drugs transitting through the country, APS said.

The head of Kenya's Anti-Narcotics Unit, Peter Kimanthi, said in a recent interview with a local daily that international drug traffickers were entering Kenya disguised as tourists.

In the last three years, Kenyan police seized 4.51 kilogrammes (9.02 pounds) of heroin, 304 grammes (0.66 pounds) of cocaine and over 216 kilogrammes (475.2 pounds) of Mandrax tablets.

The British government, alarmed by the amount of drugs entering Britain from Kenya, have recently sponsored courses, seminars and workshops for Kenya's security personnel and customs officials to help seize the traffickers.

SARAJEVO, YUGOSLAVIA (NOV. 16) - Bosnia-Herzegovina, whose ethnic tensions are a miniature version of Yugoslavia's, is holding its first postwar elections Sunday, whose outcome is widely viewed as an omen for the future of this increasingly polarized nation.

The elections are the fourth in one of Yugoslavia's six republics and the first in which Moslems will field candidates.

The Moslems, who are Slavic and make up 39 per cent of the population, have formed two parties, and the Orthodox Serbs (32 per cent) and Catholic Croats (18 per cent) each have their own.

Each party is campaigning as the champion of the unity and sovereignty of this republic of four million people.

"Moslems may save Yugoslavia," said Alia Izetbegovic of the Democratic Action Party, one of the two Moslem parties.

He is a proponent of loosening the reins with which the central government in Belgrade controls the six republics and two autonomous provinces.

The Serbs, in whose province Belgrade is located and who have the biggest population, with six million, favour keeping the central government strong.

The Croats side with the Moslems on this issue -- they too want a loose confederation of sovereign states.

Many analysts say the resurgence of ethnic tensions are the result of 45 years of a Communist regime, founded by Marshal Josip Tito, that drew its power from its skill in setting these groups against each other.

BEIJING (NOV. 16) - Cambodian resistance leader Prince Norodom Sihanouk told President Suharto of Indonesia on Friday that he saw peace on the horizon for his war-torn nation, despite a row stalling a United nations peace plan.

"We are very near a final solution," the prince said, giving credit to international efforts to end Cambodia's 12-year conflict.

Indonesia holds co-chairmanship with France of Cambodian peace talks.

President Suharto arrived Wednesday on a six-day state visit to China .

Prince Sihanouk also discussed the Cambodian crisis here Thursday with Thailand's Prime Minister Chatichai Choonhavan.

A United Nations peace plan for Cambodia has been held up by a row over the chairmanship of a Supreme National Council, which would represent Cambodian sovereignty pending free elections.

The tripartite Cambodian resistance, which includes the Khmer Rouge, wants Prince Sihanouk to be named chairman, but rejects a demand by the Phnom Penh government that its Premier Hun Sen be named vice chairman.

(In Bangkok, Thai Foreign Minister Subin Pinkayan said Prince Sihanouk told Mr. Chatichai that if a quick end to the chairmanship feud can be found, he would attend a meeting of all Cambodian factions in the Thai capital Saturday and Sunday.)

Mr. Suharto, the first Indonesian president to come to China in more than two decades, spent part of his Friday visiting the Great Wall, before meeting separately with Prince Sihanouk and Communist Party chief Jiang Zemin. He flies Saturday to the ancient Chinese capital of Xian.

His six-day tour follows the re-establishment of Sino-Indonesian relations in August, ending a 23-year rift that began with Jakarta accusing Beijing of complicity in an abortive 1965 coup attempt.

BY ERSKINE MCCULLOUGH

BANGKOK (NOV. 16) - When the ragged remains of Burma's National League for Democracy (NLD) agreed last week to go along with the ruling junta's vision of the future, the last recognisable sign of opposition was brought under military control.

In only six months the hopes of the country returning to democracy, boosted when the NLD surprised everyone, including themselves, by sweeping the May elections, have been dashed and locked away like most of the pro-democracy leaders who had dared to challenge for power.

Even the monks, traditionally the driving force for democracy in the country, have been silenced by a series of military sweeps on the more militant monasteries in Mandalay.

Last month scores of monks were arrested and mass defrockings are expected to be carried out. Several monkhoods have been declared illegal and a boycott by monks of the military, which in effect was an excommunication of the soldiers and their families, has ended.

The crackdown has removed any lingering hopes by Rangoon based diplomats and other Burmese observers that the generals who snatched power in a bloody 1988 coup would surrender their grip anytime soon.

While the bloody excesses of the regime recieve widespread condemnation, the military's coffers continue to be filled by international business, which recognises the economic wealth and potential in the country.

European, American, Japanese and South Korean oil companies have all signed contracts with the junta for rights to look for, and then pump out, the high quality oil they are convinced is there.

"Quite simply the oil companies look at Burma as a high risk-high profit investment," explained a Western oil expert based in Bangkok.

"Burmese oil is top quality and the companies are damned sure there is enough of it to make a sizeable profit," he said.

WIESBADEN, Germany (NOV. 16) - Industrial production prices in west Germany rose 2 percent last month over the same month last year, the federal statistics office announced Friday.

The increase was mainly due to higher prices for oil products but a drop in prices for some commodities - iron was down 5.8 percent, lead and copper down 12 percent - buffered the overall rise.

Farming commodities slipped between 2.1 and 4.4 percent.

PARIS (NOV. 16) - Several thousand French students Friday staged a sit-in on the lawns beside the Eiffel tower in central Paris, amid a massive police presence, witnesses said.

The sit-in, called by the two main student organizing committees, began peacefully under the gaze of security forces stationed under the Eiffel tower, beside Iena bridge spanning the river Seine and around Trocadero located across the river.

Large groups of pupils carrying banners were also marching towards the Champs de Mars where the sit-in was taking place, an AFP reporter said.

Several thousand police were mobilized in Paris and surrounding regions in a bid to prevent the sit-ins degenerating into violence, as happened on Monday during a mass demonstration here by 200,000 pupils.

A group of 600 students meanwhile blocked the cross-Channel ferry by staging an hour-long sit-in at the Calais docks for an hour on Friday, police there said.

In the southern port city of Toulon, about 400 pupils blocked roads and improvised a classroom on the roadway where they held a dictation.

In eastern Montchanin, students delayed the departure of five high-speed trains from the station after blocking the railway line.

Education Minister Lionel Jospin Friday held a second day of talks with student representatives from the coordinating committees, after Prime Minister Michel Rocard agreed to an additional 4.5 billion francs (900 million dollars) in extra credits to meet the students' demands.

The education minister said on Friday that he had agreed to overhaul the functioning of the French educational system.

The pupils have staged a month-long campaign to ease overcrowding in schools and to demand better security and improved facilities, and ordered Friday's action despite the government's promise of more money for schools.

The student crisis has exacerbated Mr. Rocard's political difficulties. The Socialist prime minister faces a no-confidence vote in parliament on Monday over his plans to push through a controversial welfare tax.

LONDON (NOV. 16) - North Sea Brent crude slipped under the 30-dollar-a-barrel mark on the London market on Friday for the first time in three weeks, as analysts argued that current supplies were adequate and a Gulf war was not imminent.

"The feeling is that there is very little chance of a war in the next few weeks and that supplies will be fine over the winter", Geoff Pyne of UBS Phillips and Drew brokers said.

Brent stood at 29.10 dollars a barrel for shipment in January in early afternoon trading, down 1.3 dollars on Thursday's close.

Saudi Arabia said it could boost production from eight million barrels a day in November to 8.2 million barrels next month.

Even if the figures should be "slightly exaggerated", their influence on the market was accentuated by slack consumer demand in the United States due to high oil prices and unseasonably mild weather, Mr. Pyne added.

U.S. consumption of oil products was 16.37 million barrels a day in the four weeks to November 9, down 5.4 percent from the same period last year, according to recent statistics.

Mr. Pyne expects stable prices for the next two weeks, as long as the United Nations does not vote a resolution authorizing use of force in the Gulf crisis.

LEEDS, ENGLAND (NOV. 16) - British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd said here Friday he would not challenge Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher for the Tory party leadership but left open the possibility that he would stand if she fails to win in a secret ballot on Tuesday.

Responding to a question on whether he would not under any circumstances compete for the leadership of the Conservative Party and by extension for the office of prime minister, Mr. Hurd, referring to Mrs. Thatcher, answered only that he would not run "against her."

Mr. Hurd, whose name has been mentioned with growing frequency in recent days as a possible successor to Mrs. Thatcher, herself locked in a struggle for the party leadership with former defence secretary Michael Heseltine, pointedly steered clear of ruling himself completely out of any future race.

But he told a news conference here: "I support Mrs. Thatcher. I hope and think on what I have heard, that she will win on the first ballot" between Mrs. Thatcher and Mr. Heseltine, which takes place in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Failure by either contender to win the contest outright would force a second round of voting open to new candidates, possibly including Mr. Hurd, but it remained unclear what Mrs. Thatcher's standing would be after Tuesday's vote.

Mr. Hurd, who has maintained a cautious distance from the political fray since Wednesday when Mr. Heseltine declared his intention to challenge Mrs. Thatcher for the party leadership, said he could not see a way to support the prime minister this week and stop supporting her next week.

In remarks at a luncheon near here later Friday, Mr. Hurd described the party leadership contest as "superfluous and misleading" and said he believed that between 80 per cent and 90 per cent of Conservative MP's supported the government's policy on Europe.

BERLIN (NOV. 16) - Unified Germany is to continue East Germany's aid program for developing countries, but will remove Cuba from the list, Cooperation Minister Juergen Warnke said Friday.

The Bonn government intends to end agreements with countries that violate human rights and whose governments follow "wrong economic directions," he told the press.

East Germany agreed to give Cuba, a fellow member of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance (Comecon), 800 million Ostmarks per year in aid, by buying Cuban sugar at way above world prices, he said. form The assistance is equivalent to 533 million dollars at the former official exchange rate of one Ostmark for one Deutsche mark.

The aid will be terminated at the end of the year, Mr. Warnke said.

Analysts said the decision would be a body-blow for the Cuban economy, which is already reeling from low world prices for sugar, its main export, and from declining deliveries of cheap Soviet oil.

The German government will continue assistance and cooperation contracts with other developing countries that help in the fight against poverty, ignorance and ill-health, Mr. Warnke said.

East Germany's development program shrank after the October 1989 revolution. Before the fall of the country's Communist government, 1,170 East German experts were working on projects in 40 Third World countries.

The figure fell to 235 persons, working in 15 countries, when East Germany was absorbed by the Federal Republic of Germany on October 3.

MUNICH, GERMANY (NOV. 16) - U.S. troops in Germany on Friday were faced with the threat of a sex strike, more than a military strike, as they prepared for duty in the Gulf.

Three leading women members of Germany's Greens Party urged wives and girlfriends to refuse all sexual contact with their men in order to encourage disaffection with Washington's "murderous" escalation of the crisis.

The three included Jutta Ditfurth, former federal leader of the Greens party, local press reports said.

They are members of the Greens' Bavarian section, which earlier this week called on U.S. troops in Germany to desert rather than serve in the Gulf.

The Greens' headquarters in Bonn also printed handbills calling on German troops to fling down their arms rather than have any involvement in the crisis. Police raided the building.

Mrs. Ditfurth recalled the ancient Greek legend of Lysistrata, who successfully encouraged fellow women to deny conjugal rights to their husbands in order to put an end to a war.

CAPE TOWN (NOV. 16) - For the second time in a week, former South African president Pieter Willem Botha has broken his silence to criticise the direction in which the country is going under his successor, Frederik de Klerk.

Addressing a primary school function in Bellville, near here, Mr. Botha said the Afrikaner nation was in a "mangle".

In a clear broadside against Mr. De Klerk, the 74-year-old former leader added: "A true leader does not turn against his own people or seek popularity, but walks out in front."

Known as the "Great Crocodile" for his fiery temperament, Mr. Botha resigned his post in August last year after an acrimonious exchange with Mr. De Klerk, who was then leader of the ruling National Party (NP) and the party's caucus.

He maintained his silence until May, when he announced he was quitting the NP after Mr. De Klerk had led a government team in historic talks with the African National Congress (ANC).

Mr. De Klerk legalised the black nationalist organization in February after a 30-year ban.

In an interview published at the time, Mr. Botha said President De Klerk was taking the country "down the road of gradual abdication".

After that outburst, Mr. Botha retreated once more into silence at his retirement home at Wilderness on the Cape province coast, refusing all media requests for interviews.

BUCHAREST (NOV. 16) - South African Foreign Minister Pik Botha arrived Friday in Romania for an unofficial visit, the Romanian news agency Rompres reported.

The aim of Mr. Botha's visits was to "open talks with Romanian authorities to establish direct relations" between the two countries, the agency said.

The Romanian foreign ministry said Mr. Botha would meet Foreign Minister Adrian Nastase.

THE HAGUE (NOV. 16) - The Netherlands has granted 15 million guilder (nine million dollars) in food aid to famine-stricken Sudan, the Development Cooperation Ministry announced here Friday.

Twelve million guilder (seven million dollars) will serve to buy cereals within the World Food Program and three million guilder (two million dollars) have been earmarked for the air-lifting of food from Nairobi to Juba, in southern Sudan, until the end of the year, a ministry statement said.

BRUSSELS (NOV. 16) - The United States has not yet decided to use force or to ask U.N. Security Council approval for the possible use of force to end the Gulf crisis, U.S. Secretary of State James Baker said here Friday.

Addressing a press conference after a ministerial meeting between the United States and the European Economic Community (EEC), Baker said: "No decision to use force has been taken."

He added that Washington was still discussing with its allies whether to ask the United Nations for a resolution authorising force.

Baker said he was pessimistic that a peaceful and political outcome to the Gulf crisis was possible unless Iraqi President Saddam Hussein came to understand clearly that force did remain a credible option.

Therefore the foundation for the use of force needed to be laid. "That is what we would be doing at the U.N. if a resolution sanctioning force was sought, "Baker said in answer to a question whether a rapid attack on Iraq would quickly follow the passing of such a resolution.

The secretary of state said the United States and the EEC agreed on the political importance of maintaining political unity against Iraqi aggression, and on the need to accept nothing less than Iraq's full compliance with U.N. resolutions.

He added that the United States and the Soviet Union were continuing to have "good discussions" on the Gulf.

He said they shared the view that Iraq must not be allowed to extract any "reward" from its aggression in the Gulf, that there could be no partial solution to the Gulf crisis and that it could not be linked to other issues.

Baker said visits to Baghdad by prominent people aiming to secure the release of hostages "tends to weaken the unity of the extraordinary coalition" ranged against Iraq.

He warned them against allowing themselves to be used by the Iraqi president "to send confusing and mixed messages" into the world.

NEW DELHI (NOV. 16) - Indian Prime Minister Chandra Shekhar on Friday won parliament's mandate for his minority government, nine days after his predecessor was voted out of office.

After a stormy eight-hour debate, parliament adoped a one-sentence resolution 269 to 204 that "this house expresses confidence in the council of ministers."

Mr. Shekhar, who heads the breakaway Janata Dal-Socialist party, was expected to win the confidence vote with the backing of former premier Rajiv Gandhi's Congress (I) party.

Mr. Shekhar made a fervent appeal to Hindus and Moslems to reach a negotiated settlement in their dispute over a holy site in northern India, which has left some 250 people dead in the past month.

Security forces have twice thwarted plans by fundamentalist Hindus to construct a temple on the site of an ancient mosque they tried to demolish in Ayodhya in the northern state of Uttar Pradesh.

Earlier, Mr. Shekhar, a career politician holding his first public office, defended his alliance with the Congress, (I) labelled by critics as opportunistic and "unholy."

Amid shouts of "shame, shame" from his leftist opponents, the former socialist also hit out at his predecessor Vishwanath Pratap Singh, who on November 7 became India's first premier to be voted out of office by parliament.

"I do not have any regret in seeking the Congress (I)'s support," said Mr. Shekhar, who broke away from Mr. V.P. Singh's centrist Janata Dal (People's Party) to create the Janata Dal-Socialist.

Lal Krishan Advani, president of the fundamentalist Hindu Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), charged that Mr. Shekhar had neither a popular mandate nor political legitimacy.

The BJP toppled V.P. Singh by withdrawing its support of his government over the temple-mosque dispute.

Mr. Advani said it was the first time that India had a government which neither had an ideology nor a programme.

Somnath Chatterjee of the Communist Party of India-Marxist, bitterly opposed to the BJP, said the Shekhar government was a symbol of "constitutional mockery and debasement of parliamentary democracy."

Friday's was the third emergency session of parliament staged in less than a year to enable a prime minister to test his majority.

CAIRO (NOV. 16) - Egyptian President Hosny Mubarak has urged U.S. President George Bush to delay any military option against Iraqi forces in Kuwait for three months to allow Iraqi President Saddam Hussein time to rethink his position.

Mubarak said on his return late Thursday from Damascus and talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad that he had passed the request on to U.S. Secretary of State James Baker, the Egyptian news agency Mena reported.

Once Iraq had withdrawn from Kuwait, a solution to the satisfaction of all parties should be negotiated, he added. A new security structure for the Gulf should be created by Arab states without foreign intervention.

Earlier in Damascus, Mubarak and Assad had issued a joint statement saying an Arab summit on the Gulf crisis was unlikely because of conditions set by Iraq. But they stressed their determination to continue consultations with other Arab leaders.

In Washington, Bush late Thursday demanded once more that Iraq withdraw its forces from Kuwait, release all hostages and lift its restrictions on the U.S. embassy in Iraqi-occupied Kuwait.

In a Cnn television interview, Bush warned the Iraqi president to heed what he called a ''clear clarion signal''.

''We are deadly serious about seeing you (Saddam) get out of Kuwait and about those hostages, American and others, being free and about the sanctity of our embassy being respected and about the stability of the world economic system '' he warned.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein told an American television audience that his country wants peace but will not capitulate.

MOSCOW (NOV. 16) - Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev, coming under increasing public pressure, indicated Friday that a government reshuffling was in the offing.

Addressing parliamentarians during an emergency debate on the state of the nation, Gorbachev said the Soviet Union was in the grip of a ''power struggle'' with ''destructive forces'' aiming to exploit the crisis.

In a speech following Gorbachev's, Russian President Boris Yeltsin called on deputies to stage a vote of confidence to bring down the government of Soviet Prime Minister Nikolai Ryzkhov.

He said an ''extraordinary anti-crisis committee'' comprising representatives of the constituent republics could then take over from the old central government.

On the whole, Gorbachev defended the central government. But he said that some personnel changes were necessary, adding, ''We have reputable experts in mind so that a broad-based government can be established.''

Proposals for remoulding a government dogged by longstanding structural defects would be put forward within the next 10 days, the Soviet president said.

Describing his talks with Yeltsin last weekend, Gorbachev said that despite some differences they had agreed on the need to consolidate forces supporting perestroika reforms. ''Every hour is precious'' in this respect, said Gorbachev.

Yeltsin told the Soviet Interfax news agency Friday that Gorbachev had suggested the formation of a coalition government, adding, ''The president named no mechanism for this although I put a proposal to him.''

During Friday's debate, called after Soviet parliamentarians on Wednesday refused to pass any more bills, Gorbachev called the situation ''very grave'' and cited ''forms of confrontation'' using ''anti-constitutional means''.

He brushed aside repeated criticism that the Kremlin had no recipe for ending the present crisis, declaring: ''We have a programme''.

He said it comprised the phased introduction of a free-market economy, the regulation of relations between the Soviet republics and the overcoming of nationalist conflicts.

''We must now go on the offensive,'' said Gorbachev, attacking Soviet media for predicting food shortages in the coming winter. ''Food supplies are about as large as they were last year.''

Gorbachev also slammed ''the lack of discipline in the republics which has reached a critical stage''. The republics had largely failed to comply with their delivery obligations, he added.

He urged the squabbling Soviet republics to pull together and support a new union of Soviet sovereign republics. The existing union set up in 1922 anchors major power in the Kremlin.

In an apparent reference to some republics that have ignored legislation passed by Kremlin lawmakers, the Soviet president urged a moratorium on decisions flouting Moscow's policy.

JERUSALEM (NOV 16) - Israel's army chief of staff, General Dan Shomron, on Friday "reprimanded" the commander of the central Israeli military zone for an Arab infiltration operation Tuesday in which an Israeli soldier was killed, military sources said.

Gen. Shomron also blamed the general commanding the unit charged with security in the area, while the officer directly responsible for the company is to appear before a military court in the next few days, they said.

On Tuesday, an armed infiltrator from Jordan shot and killed an Israeli soldier before being captured by troops near the Adam Bridge that spans the Jordan River on the cease-fire line betwen the two countries.

The 17-year-old Arab was identified as a member of the Moslem fundamentalist group Islamic Jihad (Holy War).

A report made public Friday was handed to Gen. Shomron and Defense Minister Moshe Arens, noting that inexperience and insufficient training of Israeli soldiers posted in that border region contributed to the infiltration.

"Except for the victim, all (soldiers) lacked combat experience and some didn't even know how to use their weapons," the report said. "Moreover, many of them were old reservists."

Israeli militlary authorities on Friday decided to undertake unspecified measures to beef up security along the Israeli-Jordanian frontier, military sources said.

JERUSALEM (NOV. 16) - More than a third of new Soviet immigrants in Israel are not Jews and stricter criteria should be introduced, Israel's Minister of Immigration and Absorption said in an interview published Friday.

Yitzhak Peretz, who is visiting Moscow, told the daily Yediot Aharonot that the current law allowing Jews to settle in Israel and become citizens was "too permissive."

He proposed that Israel no longer issue immigration visas to people whose claim to Jewishness was through their paternal grandfather, since according to Jewish law, Jewishness is transferred only through the mother.

Mr. Peretz, who is ultra-orthodox, cautioned against "the real risk of mixed marriages in Israel," adding that the arrival of a third of non-Jewish Soviet immigrants was "a catastrophe for future generations."

The minister's position has angered Uri Gordon, the chief of the immigration department at the Jewish (immigration) Agency, who said the statements endangered immigration from the Soviet Union.

Left-wing parties in Israel have called for Mr. Peretz' resignation, while a newly arrived immigrant said bitterly: "In Russia, we were treated as Yids (Jews), but here we're not considered to be Jewish."

TEHERAN (NOV. 16) - Iran's Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayati on Friday denied reports that his country's policy regarding the United States had been altered, adding that it will remain unchanged so long as Washington maintains its hostile attitude towards Iran.

Mr. Velayati told the official IRNA news agency that reports published in the U.S. and Turkish media saying President Ali Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani had asked his Turkish counterpart last weekend to intercede between Teheran and Washington were false.

Mr. Rafsanjani and Turkish leader Turgut Ozal met here at length on November 10 to discuss the Gulf crisis sparked by Iraq's August 2 invasion of Kuwait.

Mr. Velayati said suggestions of a Turkish mediation effort were not even broached.

On Tuesday, U.S. President George Bush extended a "national emergency" with Iran that was first declared on November 14, 1979, after the hostage taking at the U.S. embassy here.

The emergency measure, which has been extended each year since the hostages were seized, grants the president the authority to take whatever steps he deems necessary to secure Iran's adherence to the agreements reached in January 1981, at the end of that hostage crisis.

BRUSSELS (NOV 16) - Differences between the United States and the European Economic Community (EEC) were still overshadowing international trade talks, spokesmen for the two sides said here Friday.

But, speaking at a press conference after a twice-yearly EEC-U.S. ministerial meeting, they said they were continuing their search for a compromise on the controversial issue of farm subsidies.

U.S. Secretary of State James Baker, leading the U.S. delegation to the talks, said many problems remained to be settled before the scheduled start of a General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) conference here December 3.

The conference, which aims at lowering barriers to trade, is threatened by the issue of high EEC farm subsidies. The United States and other countries accuse the EEC of proposing grossly insufficient cuts in such subsidies.

Mr. Baker said both sides were committed to "intensive high-level discussions" before the start of the week-long GATT conference on December 3.

But U.S. Agricultural Secretary Clayton Yeutter said he was "still very pessimistic" because the EEC had not made concessions on cutting farm export subsidies or on throwing open its domestic market to foreign farmers.

LAGOS (NOV. 16) - Nigeria's former petroleum resources minister, Professor Tam David-West, was Friday sentenced to 10 years imprisonment by a special military tribunal for ''contributing to Nigeria's economic adversity.''

The former minister, who has been standing trial since September 12 for acts bordering on economic sabotage, was sentenced to a total of 20 years, 10 years on each of the two charges. But he will spend only 10 years in jail since the sentences are to run concurrently.

Professor David-West, a virologist, was charged with contributing to the country's economic adversity while a minister by ''curruptly enriching Stinnes Interoil Inc., a U.S-based oil company, to the tune of 57,117,443 U.S. dollars, being money owed to the Nigerian National Petroleum Corporation (Nnpc) for lifting Nigerian crude oil.''

In his judgement, the tribunal chairman said the former minister was guilty of abuse of office by single-handedly conceding 57 million dollars to Stinnes Interoil Inc. without any mandate or written approval from the president.

The chairman said the tribunal took judicial notice of the economic situation in the country between January 1984 and January 1986, when the offence was committed, adding that the tribunal had no doubt that by his act, the former minister contributed to the economic adversity of the country.

The tribunal had agreed with the prosecution that the ex-minister curruptly enriched Stinnes by receiving bribes from the company's representatives ''in the form of friendship, having received a wrist watch, a dinner and some cups of coffee.''

PARIS (NOV. 16) - Several dozen people skirmished with police on Friday following a sit-in by thousands of students on the lawns beside the Eiffel tower in Paris.

Rioters used slings and catapults to fire projectiles at security forces guarding the demonstrations, then fled when the police answered with tear-gas grenades and a charge.

The incidents occurred after student organizers had called for the sit-in to break up peacefully.

The sit-in, called by the two main student organising committees, began peacefully under the gaze of security forces stationed under the Eiffel tower, beside the Iena bridge spanning the river Seine and around the Trocadero Palace on the other side of the river.

Several thousand police were mobilised in Paris and surrounding regions for the demonstration.

Police officials had refused to authorize a march, allowing only a static demonstration in a bid to prevent the protests from degenerating into violence, as happened on Monday when a march here by 200,000 students ended with youth gangs looting stores, burning cars and injuring 234 police.

Earlier Friday, a group of 600 students blocked the cross-Channel ferry by staging an hour-long sit-in at the Calais docks, police there said.

In the southern port city of Toulon, about 400 pupils blocked roads and improvised a classroom on the roadway where they held a dictation.

In eastern Montchanin, students delayed the departure of five high-speed trains from the station by blocking the rail line.

Meanwhile, Education Minister Lionel Jospin held a second day of talks with student representatives from the coordinating committees, after Prime Minister Michel Rocard agreed to grant an additional 4.5 billion francs (900 million dollars) in extra credits to meet the students' demands.

The education minister said on Friday that he had agreed to overhaul the functioning of the French educational system.

The pupils have staged a month-long campaign to ease overcrowding in schools and to demand better security and improved facilities, and ordered Friday's action despite the government's promise to provide more money.

The student crisis has exacerbated Mr. Rocard's political difficulties. The Socialist prime minister faces a no-confidence vote in parliament on Monday over his plans to push through a controversial welfare tax.

OTTAWA (NOV. 16) - Canada's trade surplus continued to grow in September, reaching 1.48 billion dollars (1.27 billion U.S.), up from 679 million dollars (584 million U.S.) in August, while inflation rose in October to a 4.8 percent annual rate, Statistics Canada announced Friday.

Positive trade figures were linked to a drop to 10.76 billion dollars (9.25 billion U.S.) in imports in September compared to 11.14 billion dollars (9.58 billion U.S.) in August, due largely to a decline in car imports.

Exports rose to 12.24 billion dollars in September (10.53 billion U.S.) up from August's 11.8 billion (10.15 billion U.S.), as Canada's oil and natural gas exports increased to compensate for production loss caused by the crisis in the Gulf.

The increase in Canada's trade surplus with the United States, its principal business partner, rose to 708.2 million dollars (609 million U.S.) in September.

Inflation increased at a 4.8 percent annualized rate in October, its highest level since April.

With figures adjusted for seasonal variations, retail prices for October were up 0.7 percent against a 0.4 percent rise in September, the federal statistics bureau said.

The greatest price increases were registered in the transportation sector, due to fuel costs inflated by the Gulf crisis, and in the hotel industry in the wake of annual land tax increases.

PORTLAND, OREGON (NOV. 16) - The National Council of Churches, representing some 42 million U.S. Christians, has called for the United States to pull its troops from the Gulf region and work towards a negotiated settlement to the dispute with Iraq.

The council passed a resolution saying that only troops dispatched by the United Nations should remain in the region. The resolution sharply criticized what it called the U.S. Government's "reckless rhetoric," "imprudent behavior" and excessive deployment of military forces to the Gulf.

In calling for direct negotiations with Iraq, the council said Thursday: "All around us seemingly impregnable walls are being broken down and deep historical enmities are being healed. And yet, ironically, at such a moment our own nation seems to be poised at the brink of war in the Middle East."

The council speaks on behalf of some 42 million U.S. Christians including most of the nation's mainstream Christian denominations.

On Friday the president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, Archbishop Daniel Pilarczyk, presented President George Bush with a letter suggesting that the Gulf crisis might well fall short of the traditional Catholic concept of "just war."

But the bishops stopped short of demanding U.S. troop withdrawal from the Gulf region.

WASHINGTON (NOV 16) - President George Bush leaves here Friday to take part in the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe's (CSCE) summit in Paris, looking to bid a final farewell to the Cold War and celebrate the triumph of Western ideas in "a Europe whole and free."

The U.S. president intends to argue at the 34-nation summit for a continued vital role for his country in Europe and for a reinvigorated CSCE to remain pragmatic, non-bureaucratic and separate from a strong North Atlantic Treaty Alliance (NATO).

During his Sunday to Wednesday stay in Paris, Mr. Bush will experience first-hand the positive effects of the new post-Cold War era: every European country (even Albania attending as an observer) plus the United States and Canada united in their determination to definitively push beyond 45 years of East-West divisions.

The summit will provide an upbeat prelude to Mr. Bush's visit to the Gulf region next Wednesday through Friday, when he will review U.S. troops deployed against Iraq.

On this second leg of his trip, the U.S. president will get a personal view of the first post-Cold War conflict and its dangers.

A year and a half ago, Mr. Bush traveled through Europe praising the coming of a "a Europe whole and free." According to a senior U.S. official, the summit represents the "fulfillment" of this idea, in three acts.

Mr. Bush will start out by signing the first treaty reducing conventional forces in Europe (CFE). This accord, which will slash the enormous conventional advantage once held by the Warsaw Pact, is viewed as "the essential foundation on which greater European cooperation is going to have to rest," U.S. Secretary of State James Baker said.

So vital is the accord in U.S. eyes that Mr. Bush had set its signature during the CSCE summit as a precondition for his attendance.

The U.S. president will then sign a non-agression declaration between members of the Warsaw Pact and NATO which, in Mr. Baker's words, will "bury the Cold War hatchet."

Lastly, Mr. Bush will put his signature on the final document produced by the CSCE summit, which Mr. Baker said this week would open "new doors to a future of democracy and cooperation."

AMSTERDAM (NOV 16) - Energie Beheer Nederland B.V. (EBN B.V.), a state-owned Dutch corporation with holdings in the energy sector, began issuing one billion guilders (595 million dollars) in commercial paper on Friday, according to ABN-AMRO Holding, which is handling the operation.

EBN was created in 1973 under the name of DSM Aardgas BV. After privatization of the DSM chemical company in 1989, all of the shares of DSM Aardgas BV were handed over to the state, which continued to operate the company under the name of EBN B.V.

EBN B.V. participates on behalf of the state in production consortiums and in the treatment and sale of oil and natural gas. The firm holds 40 per cent of the natural gas distribution company Nederlandse Gasunie.

Income from the commercial paper program will be used for general financing, ABN-AMRO said.

The program is the first on this scale to be carried out jointly by the banks ABN and AMRO since they merged in August.

PRETORIA (NOV. 14) - South African Law and Order Minister Adriaan Vlok lifted the declared "state of unrest" on Friday in a number of black townships near Johannesburg with immediate effect.

Mr. Vlok said in a statement this meant that the only areas in which there were states of unrest were Wynberg in Cape Town and in Pretoria's Atteridgeville and Sauseville townships, the country's recent flashpoint.

Declarations, such as the one just lifted by Mr. Vlok, vastly expand the powers of the security forces and enable the minister to impose curfews on areas where he deems it necessary.

The state of unrest and curfews no longer applied in the country's largest black township near Johannesburg, Soweto, Meadowlands, Diepkloof, Dobsonville, Alexandra, Sharpville, Sebokeng, Evaton, Bophelong, Mohlakeng, Bekkersdal, Kagiso and Munsieville, Mr. Vlok said in a statement.

Mr. Vlok expressed his appreciation to the residents who had co-operated with the police during the period of unrest.

He said, however, he would not hesitate to re-impose the state of unrest wherever there was danger or threat to the maintenance of law and order.

LIMA (NOV 16) - About 140 passengers narrowly escaped tragedy when a powerful bomb exploded in the train car they were preparing to board in Peru's southeastern Andes mountains, police said Friday.

At least a dozen people were injured by the force of the blast late Thursday in the town of Juliaca, near Lake Titicaca. The railway car was demolished by the explosion, police said.

The passenger train was travelling from Cuzco in the eastern Andes to the southern city of Arequipa when it arrived in Juliaca and was emptied of passengers for routine servicing before continuing on to Arequipa.

The bomb exploded as passengers awaited a call to re-board the train, police said.

Police did not speculate officially on who may have been responsible for the bombing.

But authorities announced the arrest in Arequipa of six members of the leftist Tupac Amaru Revolutionary Movement, which has been blamed for carrying out 15 dynamite attacks in the southern Andean region. It was not immediately clear if the arrests were linked to the Juliaca attack.

BRUSSELS (NOV 16) - NATO is to seek more assurances from the Soviet Union that it is not trying to evade disarmament obligations by moving massive amounts of arms east of the Ural Mountains, a NATO source said here Friday.

He said that the movements of armaments, including latest-generation T-72 tanks, east of the Urals meant they would be excluded from being counted under the Conventional Forces in Europe (CFE) treaty to be signed in Paris on Monday.

The source, a senior official of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation, said that although NATO had already been given "certain guarantees" that Moscow was not trying to bypass the treaty by moving the weapons, it wanted more.

The CFE treaty, to be signed by countries of NATO and the Warsaw Pact, covers Europe from the Atlantic Ocean to the Ural Mountains.

The NATO official said it was "perfectly legitimate" for Moscow to move weapons beyond the Urals before the signing of the treaty, so they would not have to be destroyed.

But he said the Soviet Union had assured NATO that it would not use these armaments to circumvent the treaty or set up a staging area for new strategic reserves.

PARIS (NOV. 16) - The United States has entered a period of "very slow growth" but is not headed for a recession, senior officials of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) said Friday.

The latest OECD projections, as quoted by the officials, indicate that the sharp rise in oil prices due to the Gulf crisis will result in a moderate temporary slowdown in the 24 OECD countries as a group next year.

The OECD expects average growth of 2.75 percent in the OECD countries this year, falling off to 2.0 percent in 1991 and recovering to 2.5 percent in 1992.

Before the Gulf crisis, the organization foresaw growth of about 2.9 per cent this year and next year, down from the 1989 rate of 3.6 percent.

The new projections, presented to a meeting of the organization's high-level Economic Policy Committee (EPC) on Thursday and Friday, forecast a moderate one percentage point rise in consumer price inflation to 5.7 percent next year before an easing in 1992.

The committee saw continued buoyancy in Western European economies and Japan but sluggish growth in North America and Britain, the EPC's German deputy chairman Bernhardt Molitor told reporters.

He said disparities between the two groups of countries that had been evident in the spring, before the Gulf crisis, had become "more pronounced."

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) - President George Bush's approval rating, on the decline since a record-high 76 percent soon after the Gulf crisis began August 2, has dropped below 50 percent for the first time, a new poll said Friday.

The survey by the Times-Mirror Center for People and The Press showed the lowest approval rating since Mr. Bush took office in January of last year.

His approval rate had slipped to 68 percent in September and to 55 percent last month.

The latest survey, conducted among 1,208 adults earlier this month, indicated that 30 per cent disapproved of Mr. Bush's handling of government while 21 percent had no opinion.

The opinion poll also shows that following the November 6 mid-term elections, Mr. Bush leads New York Governor Mario Cuomo -- a possible Democratic contender for the 1992 presidential elections -- 50 to 37 percent.

After the 1986 mid-term elections, Democratic presidential hopeful Gary Hart led then vice president Bush by 51 to 38 percent. Four years earlier, former Democratic vice president Walter Mondale was ahead of then president Ronald Reagan by 52 to 40 percent.

BEIJING (NOV 16) - China and the Marshall Islands agreed on Friday to set up diplomatic relations, the official New China News Agency (NCNA) said.

Chinese Foreign Minister Qian Qichen and his Marshall Islands counterpart Tom Kijiner signed a joint statement establishing ties at the ambassadorial level beginning on Friday "in conformity with the interests and common desire of the two peoples," according to NCNA.

Ruled by Germany from 1885 to 1914, Japan until 1944 and the United States from 1947, the tiny Pacific archipelago became independent in 1986.

Since June 1989, Beijing has broken relations with six countries that set up ties with its nationalist rival Taiwan: Grenada, Belize, Liberia, Lesotho, Guinea-Bissau and Nicaragua.

It has established ties recently with Saudi Arabia and Singapore, and resumed relations with Indonesia after a 23-year break.

PARIS (NOV 16) - Former Israeli prime minister and current opposition leader Shimon Peres said Friday that the Gulf crisis should be solved before the Palestinian issue.

Speaking to reporters after a 45-meeting with French President Francois Mitterrand, Mr. Peres said he thought it was wrong to try and link the two issues.

He described himself as "pessimistic" regarding prospects for a peaceful solution in the Gulf, adding that Iraqi President "Saddam Hussein thinks everybody is like him."

Mr. Peres said the question of an international conference on the Middle East was not discussed in his talks with Mr. Mitterrand.

NEW YORK, United Nations (NOV 16) - Canada's United Nations ambassador Yves Fortier Friday acknowledged that a special Security Council session was being considered to review the authorization of use of force against Iraq.

No decision has yet been made on meeting plans, Mr. Fortier said.

The meeting could adopt a resolution on the use of force to drive Iraq from Kuwait, and Mr. Fortier stressed that this was being demanded by the United States.

While the United States exercises the rotating Security Council presidency in November, U.S. Secretary of State James Baker should be able to boost U.S. leverage and convince the council's member states to agree to such a meeting in conversations this weekend in Europe.

The issue of use of force against Iraq should figure prominently in this week's discussions in Paris between U.S. President George Bush and Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev on the sidelines of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe summit will be held.

In an interview in Friday's New York Times, special Soviet envoy Yevgeny Primakov expressed concerns about the rapid use of force.

Mr. Primakov said that "if there is to be a Security Council resolution on military force, then you should act immediately. If you adopt it without action, you send the wrong signal."

China, which like the Soviet Union, the United States, France and Britain enjoys Security Council veto power, has made known its reservations about authorizing use of force to solve differences between nations.

Chinese Foreign Affairs Minister Qian Qichen, back from a tour of several Mid-Eastern states, in Iraq stressed China's policy repeatedly, in spite of the fact that the U.N. charter permits the use of force in certain cases.

These remarks have been interpreted by U.N. diplomats as a likely abstention on China's part should a vote be held to authorize the use of force against Iraq.

NEW YORK, UNITED NATIONS (NOV. 16) - Ambassadors from Islamic and other Third World countries urged the U.N. Security Council Friday to force Israel to obey the Geneva Conventions in its treatment of Palestinians.

Colombia, Cuba, Malaysia and Yemen proposed a resolution calling a meeting of the 164 signatories of the 1949 Geneva Convention to discuss the situation of Arabs living on land taken by Israel in 1967, and deploying U.N. troops to the occupied territories.

Tunisia's Representative, Ahmed Ghezal, said it was the responsibility of the Security Council to convince Israel to follow the 1949 Geneva Convention concerning treatment of civilians in wartime.

Testimony began October 5.

And Mr. Ghezal backed the suggestion of Malaysia's ambassador, Musa Hitam, who called for U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar to convene a meeting of all of the accord's signatories.

Israel had rejected a similar plan, when it was first suggested after the October 8 killing of at least 18 Palestinians in Jerusalem.

Libya's ambassador, Ali Treiki, and Syria's Dia Allah El-Fattal said they backed the plan.

The 15-member Security Council will consider the proposal early next week, diplomatic sources said.

WASHINGTON (NOV. 16) - President George Bush left Friday on a one-week trip that is to include a European summit and a visit with U.S. forces in the Gulf.

Mr. Bush made no comment to reporters as he left the White House for the short helicopter ride to Andrews Air Force Base outside the city and the start of his transatlantic journey. He had spent the day conferring with advisers on the meetings that await him abroad, and managed to squeeze in some jogging.

The U.S. deployment in the Gulf and the strengthening of the international coalition forged to compel an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait top the agenda of Mr. Bush, who is to meet with Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev in Paris.

Mr. Bush's first stop is Prague, where he arrives Saturday to celebrate the first anniversary of the so-called Velvet Revolution that led to the installation of democracy in Czechoslovakia.

After a stopover in Germany, Mr. Bush will participate in a Paris summit of the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe and sign an East-West accord slashing conventional force levels in Europe.

On the sidelines of the Paris gathering Mr. Bush is due to meet with heads of state or government to discuss boosting pressure against Iraq and the possibility of a United Nations resolution specifically authorizing the use of force against Baghdad.

From Paris the U.S. president will move on to Saudi Arabia, where he will meet with government officials and celebrate Thankgiving Day Thursday with U.S. troops in the Gulf. He is to return to Washington Saturday after a brief stopover in Cairo.

BEIRUT (NOV 17) - Lebanon's principal Christian militia group is to delay its pullout from Beirut, threatening to hold up a complete deployment of the Lebanese army throughout the city by Monday.

A Christian leader linked to the militia, Mounir Hajje, said late Friday that conditions for the withdrawal of the Lebanese Forces militia had not yet been satisfied.

Lebanese Defense Minister Albert Mansour last Tuesday gave all militia groups until Saturday to remove their forces from the greater Beirut area to prepare the way for Lebanese army deployment by Monday.

Mr. Hajje, vice-president of the Kataeb Party, speaking after a meeting with Lebanese President Elias Hrawi, said the Lebanese Forces had decided to delay their pullout "for a while."

He did not say when they would be prepared to leave.

Lebanon's Shiite Moslem and Druze militia have complied with the government's order to remove their arsenals from the capital and its outskirts.

Mr. Hajje said that there been continued attacks against Christian residents in the Metn area outside Beirut, which had been held by troops loyal to General Michel Aoun before his ouster last month by Syrian troops.

Pro-Syrian militia entered Metn area in the wake of Gen. Aoun's expulsion, but a security committee named to oversee the disarmament of the Metn region said the militia had been evacuated by Friday.

In another development, the Syrian military command here on Friday announced that two rival Shiite militia groups had agreed to allow the deployment of the Lebanese army near the southern port of Sidon.

Leaders of the pro-Syrian Amal militia and the pro-Iranian Hezbollah group gave their "complete and unconditional" approval to the plan to move government troops into the mountainous area which they have disputed for more than two years, the Syrian command said.

Early Friday, some 800 Lebanese soldiers arrived in Sidon to act as a backup force to troops which will be deployed in the Iqlim at-Touffah region southeast of Sidon.

TOKYO (NOV 16) EFE - Vice President of the Cuban Council of State Carlos Rafael Rodriguez has said his country is suffering the worst economic crisis since the 1959 revolution that brought the communists to power.

In statements published Friday in Japanese newspapers, Rodriguez, who was in Tokyo for the enthronement of Emperor Akihito, blamed lower sugar production and the falling value of the U.S. dollar -- leading to less revenue from exports -- for the crisis.

He said the situation had been aggravated by upheavals in the Soviet Union and in eastern Europe, Cuba's main trading partners and providers of aid., he said they could only be improved if Washington lifts the economic blockade it has imposed on Cuba and gives back the military base it holds at Guantanamo on the eastern tip of the island.

In talks with Japanese Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu on Thursday, Rodriguez discussed repayment of Cuba's dlrs 385 million debt to Japan, the increase of Japanese tourists to Cuba and bilateral relations.

SANTIAGO (NOV 16) EFE - Detectives Friday shot dead a young convicted police-killer sprung from prison two days ago by members of his leftist guerrilla group, police said.

Two detectives were also wounded in the night shoot-out after police tracked ultra-Marxist Lautaro Youth Front rebel Marco Ariel Antonioletti, 21, to his hiding place in the poor western Santiago suburb of Guacolda.

Antonioletti, the group's second-in-command, was sprung from captivity Wednesday when Lautaro Youth Front rebels opened fire on a van in which he was traveling.

Three prison officers and a paramilitary policeman who were guarding him were killed. A fourth prison guard and a female rebel were seriously injured in the attack.

The woman, abandoned by the rebels as they fled, was later named as 37-year-old Marcela Rodriguez Valdivieso, dubbed the "machine-gun woman" by Chilean media due to her alleged involvement in armed attacks over the last two years.

The Lautaro group surfaced in the late 1980s during the military dictatorship of Gen. Augusto Pinochet and has continued its activities since democratically-elected President Patricio Aylwin took office in March.

Lautaro guerrillas frequently attack businesses and banks and have broken into pharmacies to steal contraceptives which they have then distributed in working-class neighborhoods.

In the last year, the group has killed at least 11 military policemen in urban ambushes. It has not claimed responsibility for Wednesday's attack.

MANAGUA (NOV 16) EFE - The Nicaraguan leftist opposition Sandinistas have decided to back their former Contra enemies in a battle to persuade the government to fulfill promises made when the rightist guerrillas demobilized earlier this year, a Sandinista leader said.

The Contras have been demanding the conservative government of President Violeta Chamorro provide jobs, land, and food, promised in exchange for disarmament.

National Sandinista Liberation Front (FSLN) leader Luis Carrion said the group supported these "legitimate demands."

But Carrion slammed Contra leader Aristides Sanchez, who was arrested Thursday for maintaining contact with officials in the United States embassy.

The U.S.-backed Contra guerrillas fought a bloody 10-year civil war against the ruling FSLN until the leftist party was voted out of office in elections last February.

Twenty-four people have died in recent months and dozens have been wounded in Contra protests to press the Chamorro regime to fulfill its pledge to help the 21,500 former rebels reintegrate themselves into civilian life.

The Contras completed demobilization at the end of June but have not received the social concessions promised them by Chamorro.

The conflict has escalated since the beginning of November with the Contras and their supporters blocking a major highway and occupying public buildings to pressure the govenment into fulfilling the accords.

The death toll from the protests reached 24 on Tuesday when four people died in a battle with the police in Sebaco, 100 km north of Managua.

Their protest has been backed by some 20 mayors in central Nicaragua who say the Contra demands are just, although the government has dismissed the mayors' involvement as politically motivated.

The United States, which organized and financed the Contras, has granted dlrs 16.5 million to the demobilization program, of the dlrs 30 million approved by Congress, International Commission of Support and Verification (CIAV) coordinator Santiago Murray said.

The cash was was being used to pay for food, clothing, building materials and transport for 1,700 refugees, Murray said.

A government aide recently described another dlrs 30 million handed out by the Organization of American States for the rehabilitation program as "hardly adequate."

VATICAN CITY (NOV. 15) EFE - Pope John Paul II is to meet Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev in the Vatican this weekend, a Papal spokesman said Friday.

"The Soviet President has asked the Holy Father to grant him an audience" during Gorbachev's one-day visit to Rome on Sunday, spokesman Joaquin Navarro Valls said.

Gorbachev is also due to sign a Friendship and Cooperation Treaty with Italian Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti.

The Vatican meeting is the second to be held between the Soviet leader and the Pope.

Following their historic first meeting last December, Gorbachev announced the reestablishment of relations between the Vatican and the Soviet Union.

Although the Vatican has not said what the meeting will involve, the Gulf Crisis and the rapid changes in Eastern Europe were thought to be high on the agenda.

The Milan daily Corriere della Sera newspaper said the Pope and Gorbachev would also discuss the future of Catholic churches in the Soviet republics of Ukraine, Lithuania, Latvia and Byelorussia, and a possible papal visit to the Soviet Union.

After the Vatican meeting, Gorbachev and Andreotti are due to sign the Friendship and Cooperation Treaty which will involve Italian investments in the Soviet Union of some dlrs 3.1 billion.

The two leaders are also to sign eight bilateral protocol agreements, one environment agreement and two Italian credits with a global value of some dlrs 1.1 billion.

Interior Ministry sources said the two leaders would deliver a joint declaration after signing the accords.

Before leaving Rome, Gorbachev is to receive the Premio Fiuggi of dlrs 416,000 from the Fiuggi foundation for his "exceptional activity in favour of Human Rights".

The Soviet leader will then go to Paris for Monday's 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

LONDON (NOV. 16) EFE - British Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd, tipped as a possible candidate in a bitter contest for the leadership of the ruling Conservative Party, on Friday refused to rule himself out of the race.

While Hurd has not registered for the contest, his supporters have said he might mount a challenge if next Tuesday's first round results humiliate Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and force her resignation as party leader.

Speaking Friday in the northern city of Leeds, Hurd said he would be prepared to join a leadership race in the future but at the same time expressed his support for Thatcher.

Hurd said Thatcher was the best person to lead the party and that he was sure she would beat her dissident challenger, former defense minister Michael Heseltine, in the first round of voting by the 372 Conservative deputies Tuesday.

But he did not rule out the possibility of joining the contest if Tuesday's result was inconclusive and damaging enough to Thatcher to push her into resigning before a second round vote, thus opening the way for Hurd's candidacy.

Thatcher loyalists have stressed she will fight the contest to the end.

Cabinet members have backed her leadership but some, including Hurd, have refused to say no other cabinet minister will join the race at any stage.

For first round victory under the complex voting rules to decide the Conservative leadership, either Heseltine or Thatcher will have to win at least half of the votes of the 372 deputies and at least 56 votes more than their rival.

Heseltine is thought unlikely to win outright but if the vote brings a large number of abstentions and Thatcher stands down, observers said Hurd would be seen as a good candidate to re-unite the party after the current damaging split.

BUENOS AIRES (NOV 16) EFE - Former Argentine president Raul Alfonsin Friday announced his party was pulling out of talks with the government on constitutional reform.

Alfonsin, who heads the leading opposition Radical Civic Union party (UCR), said the changes being proposed by the government of President Carlos Menem would damage the rule of law in Argentina.

Alfonsin said his party opposed Menem's economic policies and the +high-handed way the president implemented them by decree+.

Menem has called for reducing the presidential period of office from six to four years, as well as allowing two consecutive terms in power, neither of which have been well received by the various opposition parties taking part in talks on changing the 1853 constitution.

Alfonsin's UCR wants to set up a prime ministerial post, which in turn has been flatly rejected by Menem.

WASHINGTON (NOV 16) - The International Monetary Fund Friday said nations severely affected by the Persian Gulf crisis would now have access to emergency funds.

The Board of Executive Directors Thursday unanimously approved a financial aid program for front-line countries such as Jordan, Egypt and Turkey, and other nations affected by the crisis.

Stand-by loans and other emergency aid would be available to those nations starting Friday, the IMF said.

The 22-member Board of Executive Directors representing 155 member nations said the effects of the crisis had +increased the vulnerability of the world economy and intensified the difficulties facing several Fund member nations+.

Morocco, Pakistan, Sudan, Bangladesh, India, the Philippines and Sri Lanka, whose citizens have had to leave the Middle East following Iraq's August invasion of Kuwait, will all benefit from the program.

Aid will also go to the Dominican Republic and other Latin American countries which do not have sufficient funds to weather the drastic effects of soaring oil prices triggered by the crisis.

TOKYO (NOV. 16) KYODO - DESPITE EARLIER WORRIES CONCERNING THE SUPPLY OF KEROSENE THIS WINTER, JAPANESE INDUSTRY OFFICIALS SAY THEY MAY BE FACING AN OVERSUPPLY OF THE FUEL.

THE OFFICIALS SAY THE EXTENDED FALL IS THE BIGGEST REASON, IN ADDITION TO AN INCREASE OF KEROSENE PRODUCTION FOR FEAR OF SHORTAGES DUE TO THE GULF CRISIS.

THE OIL INDUSTRY IS CARRYING A LARGE AMOUNT OF KEROSENE STOCK, WHILE PRICES ARE IN DECLINE.

JAPAN RELIED ON KUWAIT FOR 873,000 KILOLITERS OF ITS KEROSENE SUPPLY IN FISCAL 1989, OR 12 PERCENT OF ITS TOTAL KEROSENE OILIMPORTS, BUT IMPORTS FROM KUWAIT CAME TO A HALT AFTER IRAQ INVADED THE COUNTRY ON AUGUST 2.

THE MINISTRY OF INTERNATIONAL TRADE AND INDUSTRY (MITI) HAD ADVISED THE OIL INDUSTRY TO INCREASE PRODUCTION BY 11 PERCENT IN THE LATTER HALF OF LAST FISCAL YEAR, TO COPE WITH POSSIBLE KEROSENE SHORTAGES THIS WINTER.

JAPAN'S KEROSENE CONSUMPTION USUSALLY BEGINS TO RISE IN NOVEMBER AS THE COUNTRY ENTERS THE WINTER SEASON.

THIS YEAR, HOWEVER, THE RELATIVELY WARM WEATHER HAS KEPT A LID ON CONSUMPTION, WHILE STOCKS WITHIN THE INDUSTRY AND THE MARKET HAVEKEPT ON RISING.

THE OIL INDUSTRY NOW HAS 6.2 MILLION KILOLITERS OF KEROSENE IN STOCK AND THERE IS A MILLION MORE IN THE MARKET. THE FIGURE IS ABOUT 900,000 KILOLITERS MORE THAN AT THE SAME TIME LAST YEAR, THE INDUSTRY OFFICIALS SAID.

WITH WEAKENED DEMAND, PRICES BEGAN TO FALL. IN SINGAPORE, THE MID-OCTOBER SPOT PRICE FOR KEROSENE WAS AROUND 70 DOLLARS PER BARREL, BUT THE PRICE WAS DOWN TO THE 47 DOLLAR LEVEL ON TURSDAY.

THE DOMESTIC PRICE OF KEROSENE FELL TO THE 45 YEN LEVEL PER LITER FROM 56 YEN IN MID-OCTOBER.

''IF THE TEMPERATURE IS UP 1 DEGREE CENTIGRADE DURING THE WINTER, CONSUMPTION OF KEROSENE DROPS BY 7 PERCENT,'' SAID AN OFFICIAL WITH NIPPON OIL CO.

THE INDUSTRY OFFICIALS SAY THEY ARE NOW WORRIED THAT THEY MAY BE LEFT WITH A HUGE AMOUNT OF SURPLUS KEROSENE NEXT SPRING.

THE RESCUE PLAN FOR THE MEDIUM-SIZED TRADER BY SUMITOMO BANK, ITOMAN'S MAIN BANK, WAS UNVEILED AT A PRESS CONFERENCE BY SUMITOMO BANK PRESIDENT SOTOO TATSUMI.

ANALYSTS SAID THE MOVE WOULD MEAN THAT SUMITOMO BANK WILL TAKE A DECISIVE ROLE IN IMPROVING ITOMAN'S POOR FINANCIAL SITUATION, WHICH RESULTED FROM RECENT EXTENSIVE EXPOSURE TO SPECULATIVE REAL ESTATE DEALINGS.

ITOMAN, CURRENTLY AT THE CENTER OF A FINANCIAL SCANDAL, IS REPORTED TO BE BEING PLAGUED BY DEBTS OF UP TO 1.3 TRILLION YEN.

SOGO WILL BE ASSIGNED A POSITION AS ADVISER TO ITOMAN, WHICH TATSUMI DESCRIBED AS "NEARLY EQUAL TO VICE PRESIDENT" OF THE COMPANY.

SOGO WILL ASSIST ITOMAN'S PRESIDENT, YOSHIHIKO KAWAMURA, IN STREAMLINING THE COMPANY'S EXCESSIVE REAL ESTATE-LINKED FINANCING AND INVESTMENT, WHICH FORM THE CORE OF THE COMPANY'S HEAVY FINANCIAL BURDENS, SUMITOMO OFFICIALS SAID.

TATSUMI ALSO SAID THE OVERALL RESCUE PLAN FOR ITOMAN HAS ALREADY BEEN EXPLAINED TO OFFICIALS OF THE BANK OF JAPAN AND THE FINANCE MINISTRY.

KAWAMURA ALSO SAID THAT HE IS NOT CONSIDERING RESIGNING FROM ITOMAN. THE FIRM IS STILL IN A GOOD FINANCIAL SITUATION, HE SAID.

WHAT'S AHEAD:

MCI COMMUNICATIONS says it will eliminate about 1,500 jobs nationwide over the next six months.

FROM THE BULLS:

"I think we're headed to Dow 2800, maybe even new highs," says MARK LEIBOWITZ, editor of the "Volume Reversal Survey." "I think what we've experienced since July is a correction in a bull market, not the beginning of a bear market as many of my colleagues would say." Since the series of declines began, internal market indicators such as the advance-decline statistics have been rising. "This pattern mirrors the 1982 pattern - this is bull market phenomenon." His work tells him "smart money is buying and has been buying all summer." (CNN "Business Day", 11/16

"I'm of the opinion that the market bottomed on Oct. 11," says ED YARDENI, chief economist at PRUDENTIAL-BACHE. "For the purposes of the stock market, the recession is over when the Federal Reserve starts pushing interest rates down." (WSJ, 11/16)

"I think we could have a modest correction at these levels, but I'm bullish because the tone of the market has been particularly good and a number of the uncertainties of a month or two months ago are somewhat resolved," says MICHAEL CARTY at VALUELINE INC. (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/15)

"As far as we can see it, the bear has just about run its course," says IDS ADVISORY of Minneapolis. "Enough was enough already," says DAN DONOVAN, who manages about $700 million of IDS's $3 billion in assets. He looks for a mild brief recession, oil prices falling to the low $20-a-barrel range, low inflation and falling interest rates. ("USA Today", 11/16)

FROM THE BEARS:

"We're still in a bear market and you've got to be out of your mind to run after any stock," says STAN WEINSTEIN, publisher of the "Professional Tape Reader" newsletter. "We may be in a financial crisis," says MARC HOWARD of JRO ASSOCIATES. "Besides, business is terrible, the consumer isn't buying and real estate prices are going down. The latest rally is more of a one-night stand than a love affair. It's just about over." ("USA Today", 11/16)

STOCK MARKET:

"We think the damage to the market, which was mostly manifested by the Mideast crisis, has more than discounted this recession and we are now taking a somewhat more aggressive mode to the securities market," says GEORGE ZIMMERMAN director of research at GRUNTAL & CO. "We think we have had a rolling recession since the second or third quarter of 1989 ... and will probably come out of it by the end of the second quarter." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/15)

"The answer to the question facing the market - has the Fed eased? - - is an unequivocal 'maybe,'" says HUGH JOHNSON at FIRST ALBANY CORP. "Unfortunately, we're going to have to wait another day to get a definitive answer." Either way, he says sock and bond prices are likely to fall in the near-term. "It's a classic case of 'buy the rumor, sell the news,'" he says. (WSJ, 11/16)

Sentiment readings are still positive for stocks, says MICHAEL BURKE of "Investors Intelligence." While the Dow could see more lows, downside is limited, says Burke who is encouraged by the Dow transportation average's failure to confirm the last low in the DJIA. "The bulls now have the ball, but [the] big problem we see is weakness in the U.S. dollar," says Burke. Nonetheless, he has moved to a 75% invested position. (CNBC "World Business", 11/16)

"We are still getting help from the interest rate front," says CHARLES CLOUGH JR. at MERRILL LYNCH. "We need more help from that or some clarification of what is going on in the economy." He says the Fed "probably" will ease, but does not predict when that will happen. (NYT, 11/16)

"There are a lot of bears, a lot of shorts, out there who want to see the market go lower, but it just won't," says ROB KING, co-manager of over-the-counter trading at ROBINSON-HUMPHREY. (WSJ, 11/16)

Stocks will trace a relatively neutral trading range in the weeks ahead, according to technical analysis by SMITH BARNEY's ALAN SHAW. He believes a base building process is underway: "Recent rally [failures] actually may be strengthening the technical underpinnings." However, Shaw thinks the underlying trend is still "vulnerable." (CNBC "World Business", 11/16)

STOCK TIPS:

"We're gradually working back into the market," says MARSHALL ACUFF, portfolio strategist at SMITH BARNEY where the equity allocation this week was raised from 45% to 50%. "We're not getting super bullish at this point, but we're saying to our clients, let's go look at some individual, quality stocks." Among cyclical issues, he likes DOW and GM. In the technology area, he suggests INTEL and IBM, which he calls his current favorite stock. He says Big Blue's product positioning is the best in ten years, the benefits of cost cutting are being realized, and the company is very strong financially. (CNBC "World Business" 11/16)

"We would be aggressive buyers of some of the cyclical issues," says GEORGE ZIMMERMAN at GRUNTAL & CO. "I don't want to name them right now, but conceivably that's the place to go. Many brokerage houses in late 1989 suggested that the cyclicals be bought and the consumer stocks be dumped. That was a mistake. Now we think the converse is true." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/15)

"EASTERN will be around well into 1991 - and if my judgment is right, we'll be around after that," says EASTERN AIR LINES trustee MARTIN SHUGRUE JR. ("The Washington Post", 11/16)

The "Heard on the Street" column in "The Wall Street Journal" examines whether copper stocks are a good buy in a recessionary environment. WILLIAM HARNISH, president of FORSTMANN-LEFF ASSOCIATES, says people focus on the United States when looking at copper companies even though "80% of the demand is outside the U.S. Japan, Europe and Third World countries are all sources of demand. Even Russia for that matter." His company owns more than a million shares of MAGMA. DREYFUS FUND has purchased at least 300,000 shares of PHELPS DODGE this year. "We see heavy demand for copper," explains WOLODYMYR WRONSKYJ, the fund's portfolio manager. "The Pacific rim is rapidly industrializing. Phelps Dodge is the best vehicle, because it is all cooper and it is the lowest cost producer. LISA ARNOLD, metals analyst for INDEPENDENCE INVESTMENT ASSOCIATES in Boston, says: "Earnings will not tank the way they did before, with the currency where it is. As long as the dollar keeps crunching down, it helps keep [copper] companies profitable." On the bearish side, RONALD SHORR at BEAR STEARNS says long-term growth in world demand for copper is only 1.5% a year and that he would not be surprised to see copper prices fall to 50 cents a pound from the current $1.20. (WSJ, 11/16)

MONEY & CREDIT:

HUGH JOHNSON at FIRST ALBANY CORP. notes there are those "who feel the Fed may have decided not to change policy but to hold the line and preserve its credibility as an inflation fighter." (NYT, 11/16)

"I think the Fed is easing," says PHILIP BRAVERMAN, chief economist at DKB SECURITIES. (WSJ, 11/16)

"I don't think the Fed eased," says ROBERT CHANDROSS, chief economist at LLOYD'S BANK. "If they had wanted to signal an easing, they would have done it unambiguously. The fact that [Fed] funds traded firmly all day suggests that they didn't ease." (NYT, 11/16)

THE ECONOMY:

"I'd like to be a little reassuring on this economy," PRESIDENT BUSH says in a "CNN" interview. "I am concerned about a slowdown. ... But I am not a gloom and doom person on where the American economy will be before long. And yet I don't want to mislead you, because I am concerned that we're in a downturn here." (CNN, 11/15)

What should the president do about the economy? "My advice would be 'When you ride a roller coaster, you just sit down and hang on,'" says ROBERT BRUSCA at NIKKO SECURITIES. "I don't think the recession is that deep," says JON DOUGLAS of JON DOUGLAS CO., a Los Angeles real estate company. "I'd tell him to loosen credit," says WILLIAM DEAN SINGLETON, co-owner of "The Houston Post" and "The Denver Post." ("USA Today", 11/16)

EVELINA TAINER, economist at the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO, says the 0.5% increase in business inventories in September is "consistent with the idea that the economy is sliding into a recession and growth will be negative in the fourth quarter." ("The Washington Post", 11/16)

"This isn't a classic recession whereby the cyclical manufacturing sector takes a big dive and springs back," says GARY CIMINERO, economist at FLEET/NORSTAR FINANCIAL GROUP. "It will take a longer time to work out of this" because of overvalued real estate, overleveraging by corporations and over-lending by banks. (WSJ, 11/16)

"I think the recession has begun this quarter and its going to last a lot longer than people think," says DAVID JONES, chief economist for AUBREY G. LANSTON. "A normal recession is one year - this one may still last two years." While protracted, the recession is not expected to be deep, says Jones. With recessionary psychology setting in ahead of the actual recession, Jones says consumers have cut back spending plans and businesses have already pared inventories: "That gives us a little bit of downside protection." Jones looks for a one quarter point cut in the fed funds rate before the end of the month. (CNN "Business Morning", 11/16)

FRANCIS SCHOTT, chief economist for EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, looks for a relatively mild recession "because there are some elements of strength that we can count on. First, one assumes the Gulf situation will be settled and, assuming it is to our reasonable satisfaction, then consumer confidence would bounce back. The plunge in consumer confidence is really what has caused this recession. Secondly, I think our exports are strong and will get stronger yet because of the depreciating dollar. And I think agriculture has gotten over its slump and is doing quite well - as is manufacturing. The weakness you see in construction, particularly residential housing and commercial construction, should not be the final say in what happens to the economy. It will be slow to get out of the recession, but I think it will be over in late 1991." (CNBC "Market Wrap-Up", 11/15)

"We're just bouncing around in a range [on oil prices] and there's no real news or headlines to give us direction," says BRIAN TAGLER of LEHMAN BROTHERS. (NYT, 11/16)

ZURICH, SWITZERLAND (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - The ABB Asea Brown Boveri Group (ABB) reported today that orders received for the first nine months of 1990 amounted to $21.3 billion, an increase of 34 percent compared to last year (nine months 1989: $15.9 billion). Excluding acquisitions, divestitures and exchange rate fluctuations, growth was approximately 7 percent. Substantial increases in orders received were reported by the power plants, industry, transportation, and environmental control business segments.

During the third quarter, several large orders were booked: in the environmental control segment a $205 million order was received for a paint finishing facility in Canada, and the power plant segment booked three orders for gas-fired combined cycle power plants, two from Korea and one from the United Kingdom.

Revenues for the first nine months of 1990 totaled $18.8 billion, which was 34 percent above last year (nine months 1989: $14.1 billion). Excluding acquisitions, divestitures and exchange rate fluctuations, revenues increased by 3 percent. The order backlog on Sept. 30, 1990, was $24.9 billion.

ABB Group operating earnings after depreciation for the first nine months of 1990 totaled $1.2 billion, an increase of 42 percent compared to last year (nine months 1989: $844 million). Earnings after financial items amounted to $749 million, an increase of 23 percent, compared to $610 million for the first nine months of 1989. In the third quarter, earnings after financial items amounted to $260 million, 21 percent higher than in the third quarter last year (third quarter 1989: $214 million).

Strong earnings growth was reported by the power transmission, power distribution, environmental control, and financial services business segments whereas the transportation segment reported lower earnings. The Combustion Engineering operations, which have been consolidated since Jan. 1, 1990, continue to develop according to plan and restructuring is well under way. Including acquisition costs, Combustion Engineering made a negative contribution to earnings after financial items.

Income before taxes amounted to $746 million. A temporary increase in the group's tax rate for 1990 is expected.

So far, developments in the Middle East have had a limited direct impact on ABB. However, a slowdown of the economy is evident in several countries, and demand has weakened both for standard products and capital goods. ABB is preparing for this reduced demand. At the same time, infrastructure investments in certain types of power plants, in transportation, and in environmental control are growing.

Compared with 1989, earnings after financial items for the full year are expected to increase roughly in line with the growth achieved in the first nine months of 1990.

The ABB Group provides products and services for the power, process, industrial automation, environmental control, transit and other markets worldwide. It is the world's leading electrical engineering company with total annual sales of about $25 billion and 217,000 employees in 140 countries.

FREMONT, CALIF. (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Lam Research Corp. (NASDAQ: LRCX) announced today that it received an order for Phase I plasma etch systems slated for Motorola's (NYSE: MOT) new MOS 11 facility in Austin, Texas.

"This order illustrates our confidence, both in Lam as a supplier and in the Rainbow etch systems, which deliver sophisticated etch technology for our demanding applications," stated Bill Walker, Motorola's vice president and director of MOS 11. "The combination of 0.5 micron etch and 200mm wafer handling capabilities, coupled with cost of ownership and process advantages of Lam's single wafer systems, were all key selection criteria."

According to Bill Dunnigan, Motorola's photo/etch manager of MOS 11, the Rainbow etchers will be used for the production of Motorola's most sophisticated devices on the eight-inch production line. The $5 million system order encompasses Lam's Advanced Capabilitiy Rainbow poly, nitride and oxide systems, introduced earlier this year specifically for etch processes demanding performance in the 0.5 micron range. The metal etch portion of MOS 11 will be determined by a head to head evaluation of competitive systems, one of which Lam has been invited to supply. Deliveries for the order are scheduled to begin in January of 1991, and will continue throughout the year.

Several of Lam's Advanced Capability Rainbow etchers were chosen for Phase I following an extensive, 18-month engineering evaluation period. Due to the positive results of that study, Motorola and Lam have initiated a joint development project in which engineers from both companies will work together in Fremont and Austin to optimize MOS 11 etch processes on eight-inch wafers.

About Lam Research: Lam is a leading supplier of wafer processing equipment for the worldwide semiconductor industry and the leading supplier of single wafer etchers. The company's broad product offerings are focused on etch and deposition, two of the most vital areas in the fabrication of current and future integrated circuits. Serving as the foundation for this focus, Lam has developed core technologies encompassing etch and CVD disciplines. Headquartered in Fremont, Lam maintains customer support centers throughout the United States, Europe and the Pacific Rim to support its global customer base. Founded in 1980, Lam Research is publicly held and listed on the NASDAQ National Market System under the symbol LRCX.

CONCORD, CALIF. (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Fibreboard Corp. (AMEX: FBD) announced today that two orders were entered on Nov. 12, 1990 in the Cimino class action in Texas. The orders address a number of pending matters, including calculation of prejudgment interest and punitive damages, allocation of bankrupt defendants' shares and extrapolation of awards in the 160 sample trials to the remaining claims within the class.

The court determined that Fibreboard and the other non-settling defendant would each be responsible for 50 percent of the compensatory damage awards against The Celotex Corp., which recently filed for bankruptcy protection. In the event Fibreboard is unsuccessful in overturning the Cimino action on appeal, Fibreboard and Celotex have each stipulated to a ten percent share of liability. thus, under these orders, Fibreboard will be responsible for 15 percent of the actual compensatory damage awards.

The court also determined that prejudgment interest would be added to each compensatory damage award at the Texas statutory for a period beginning six months after each claimant's last exposure to asbestos fibers to the date of judgment. The last exposure of each claimant will be determined on a case by case basis.

The court also ruled that Fibreboard's punitive damage liability would be calculated at 1.5 times actual damages, such actual damages to include Fibreboard's individual share of compensatory damage awards plus the portion of the Celotex share for which Fibreboard is held responsible.

With regard to extrapolation, the court determined that the compensatory damage awards in the 160 sample trials already concluded would be averaged by disease category. Each remaining class member (estimated to consist of approximately 2,100) will be categorized by disease and will receive the average compensatory award given for such diseases in the 160 sample trials.

In the event Fibreboard is unsuccessful in overturning the Cimino action on appeal, Fibreboard's total compensatory and punitive damage liability calculated pursuant to the orders will approximate $500 million plus prejudgment interest.

TOKYO (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Addressing international concerns about the possibility of global warming, a GM engineer today presented a study on the automobile's role in the greenhouse effect and alternate methods to reduce greenhouse gases.

Giving a U.S. perspective at a conference on "Automobiles and Coping with Global Environmental Problems," Charles A. Amann of the GM Research Laboratories indicated the extent to which combustion of fossil fuels in automobiles produces carbon dioxide, the principal greenhouse gas.

"We estimate that U.S. autos account for about 3 percent of the worldwide global warming potential," Amann said. "To reduce or stabilize carbon dioxide production from vehicles will require technical breakthroughs, changes in consumer behavior, and of course, considerable expense."

Amann said that if global warming concerns materialize to require restrictions on vehicles using fossil fuels, the leading alternatives are:

-- Electric vehicles - powered from nuclear sources, requiring fail- safe reactors and public acceptance of nuclear plants.

-- Alcohol-fueled vehicles - using methanol or ethanol from biomass production (trees and plants as the source of fuel), requiring significant land use.

-- Hydrogen-powered vehicles - using hydrogen gas made from water, requiring greater land use and an advance in either nuclear electricity or solar-cell technology.

Citing progress made, Amann said that tailpipe carbon dioxide from the average new U.S. car has already been halved over the last 15 years due to improvements in fuel economy. "Based on today's fuel-economy standards, carbon dioxide emissions will decrease about 20 percent per car over the next decade just due to fleet turnover," he said.

WARREN, MI (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - A team of Hughes Aircraft Company (Hughes) engineers today described a series of projects to transfer advanced technology as well as systems engineering and program management methodologies from Hughes to General Motors (NYSE: GM). The occasion was a news media briefing at the General Motors Technical Center.

The technology transfer projects will affect various GM products, product design and manufacturing processes, communications systems, security systems and work with intelligent vehicle/highway systems.

Gerald K. Slocum, Hughes vice president for GM Programs, stated, These projects are aimed at supporting the GM objectives of providing customer satisfaction through high-quality products and systems at the lowest possible cost, and getting them into the customers' hands quickly."

Product projects were reviewed by J. William Weber, manager of Display Programs and Systems for the Processor Division of Hughes Radar Systems Group.

HEADS UP DISPLAY -- An Automotive Head-Up Display (HUD), developed jointly by Hughes and Delco Electronics, projects such information as speed, low fuel warnings and turn signals into the driver's forward field of vision. The visual symbols appear to float in space above the front bumper of the car. With the HUD, drivers don't have to look down to the instrument panel to check their speed, and they don't have to refocus their eyes when looking between the displayed information and the road. The Delco Electronics-produced HUD system is available as an option on all 1991 Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme International coupe and sedan models and on Pontiac Grand Prix STE, GT and GTP coupe and SE models.

HOLOGRAPHIC CENTER HIGH MOUNTED STOP LIGHT (CHMSL) -- The holographic CHMSL projects red light beams through a clear circular hologram on a car's rear window, generating a red stop light when the brakes are applied. This new lighting system, being developed by Hughes and GM's Inland Fisher Guide Division, will eliminate the current lamp fixture mounted on the rear package shelf. Even when the light is on, it is invisible to the driver and therefore doesn't obstruct rear vision.

In all, Hughes is working on some 150 projects to transfer aerospace technologies and expertise to General Motors. Hughes -- the world leader in defense electronics and commercial communications satellites -- is a subsidiary of GM Hughes Electronics Corporation (GMHE). GMHE has one other subsidiary: Delco Electronics Corporation -- the world leader in automotive electronics. GMHE is a wholly owned subsidiary of General Motors.

ANAHEIM, CALIF. (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Carl Karcher Enterprises Inc. (NASDAQ: CARLS) today unveiled plans to franchise 57 company- owned Carl's Jr. restaurants in Northern California over the next two years.

The move is part of an overall corporate strategy to increase the proportion of franchised restaurants. Currently, 23 percent of Carl's Jr. restaurants are franchised; the company aims to increase that ratio to 40 percent in the next four to five years.

According to the plan, all Carl's Jr. restaurants in a geographic region ranging from Ukiah to Lompoc will be sold to franchises. Prospective franchisees will be asked to open additional Carl's Jr. restaurants in their respective communities, which should result in approximately 80 new Carl's Jr. restaurants in Northern California over the next five to 10 years.

"Our franchise strategy will greatly enhance the company's long- term growth, spread the challenge of developing properties and raising capital, and cushion the volatility of economic cycles," said president and chief operating officer Donald F. Karcher.

"Because the franchisees generally have closer ties to their communities than our corporate real estate department, they will be better able to identify and seize good opportunities for building new restaurants," Karcher added.

The company is currently seeking potential franchisors. The 57 restaurants will be grouped and sold over the next two years in 17 packages according to location.

Some sales are already in progress. Restaurants in Santa Rosa (three locations), Healdsburg, Rohnert Park and Ukiah have already been sold as a six-restaurant franchise to Robert W. Wisely, a former company executive. Restaurants in a central coast district in Arroyo Grande, Atascadero, Lompoc, Paso Robles, San Luis Obispo and Santa Maria (three) are expected to be sold as an eight-restaurant franchise pending the successful completion of the franchising documents.

Carl Karcher Enterprises Inc. operates Carl's Jr. restaurants, a regional quick-service chain known for its varied menu and healthful, premium quality products. Founded in 1941, the company, its franchisees and licensees operate 561 restaurants in California, Nevada, Oregon, Arizona and Japan.

DALLAS (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Trans-National Leasing, Inc. (NASDAQ: TNLS) today announced increased revenues and pre-tax profits for the first quarter ended Sept. 30, 1990, but the company reported a net loss attributed primarily to tax effects.

For the quarter, Trans-National reported revenues of $1.8 million, up 13 percent from $1.6 million for the same quarter last year. The net loss was $56,600, or 4 cents per share, compared to a loss of $126,700, or 10 cents per share, a year ago.

John Maher, president, noted that pre-tax profits were $70,300 in the most recent quarter, but that net income was again affected negatively by Alternate Minimum Tax (AMT) calculations. He said the high tax rate results from timing differences between the depreciation allowed by tax law and actual depreciation expense -- differences that are reversed out when vehicles are sold. Maher said that it is difficult in the fleet leasing business to anticipate the timing of vehicle dispositions, making tax projections subject to constant reevaluation. He added that the AMT problem is likely persist through the current year.

Maher said that revenues and profits continue to improve and that Trans-National's fleet size recently surpassed the company's high prior to the slump in the Southwestern economy.

TAMPA, FLA. (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Tampa Electric Company today submitted to the Sebring Utilities Commission a proposal for purchasing two of the commission's generating plants along with plant sites, permits and relevant assets, as well as a contract to provide Sebring's complete electricity needs for a 20-year period.

Under the terms of the proposal, Tampa Electric would supply the electric power needs of the commission's electric system with the same high-quality level of service currently offered to Tampa Electric's retail customers. In addition, a full requirements rate schedule would be filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC).

The entire transaction would be subject to approvals by FERC, the Florida Public Service Commission (PSC), and the governing boards of Sebring Utilities Commission, TECO Energy, Inc. (NYSE: TE) and Tampa Electric Company.

Tampa Electric President Girard F. Anderson said, "The main benefit of this transaction is rate stability on behalf of the customers of Sebring, derived from access to Tampa Electric's coal-fired baseload capacity." Anderson also pointed out that Tampa Electric customers will benefit from lower fuel costs.

Anderson said coal prices have been far less subject to annual fluctuations than either oil or gas. Also, Tampa Electric is not expected to add additional high-cost baseload capacity until after the turn of the century. If the proposal is accepted and approved, Sebring's costs of electricity would be reduced immediately, and future costs are expected to be stable and not responsive to inflationary pressures.

Other benefits to the commission and Highlands County include: Additional resources to promote new industrial development to the area; assistance in developing energy conservation programs; and the benefits of Tampa Electric's nationally acclaimed training programs, which already have dramatically improved worker safety, while lowering the costs of maintaining transmission and distribution systems.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - SCANA Corporation (NYSE: SCG) announced today that it has entered into a formal agreement with Tri-C Resources, Inc., a Houston-based oil and gas company, to purchase natural gas producing properties in the state of Texas.

Lawrence M. Gressette, Jr., chairman and chief executive office of SCANA, called the $29 million acquisition a "first step by our Company into direct ownership of natural gas reserves."

"The properties currently are producing 12 million cubic feet of natural gas and about 120 barrels of oil per day. This purchase will provide us with a base of production ownership that we intend to expand by development and by future acquisition."

Gressette said SCANA is reviewing other gas producing properties and pipeline projects that could broaden its entry into the upstream side of the natural gas industry.

"We believe," he said, "that with our experience marketing natural gas, these production activities will provide us with new opportunities in the rapidly changing natural gas business."

William B. Timmerman, SCANA's senior vice president and chief financial officer, said the funding for the purchase will come from proceeds of the Company's recent sale of its earlier investment, in Telecom-USA. He said the investment of those funds in natural gas reserves "reflect the continuing commitment to diversify SCANA as well as an effort to narrow the focus of our unregulated businesses."

NORFOLK, VA. (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - The Fourth Annual American Railroad Conference on November 7 presented one of its two 1990 Productivity Awards to Norfolk Southern Corporation (NYSE: NSC) for its Thoroughbred Short Line Program. The award is given each year to recognize creative programs that improve productivity.

The Thoroughbred Short Line Program is a new approach to financing the conversion of previously sub-marginal, light-density lines into successful short lines that retain the maximum traffic and revenues for the NS system. The program has created more than 20 successful new short-line businesses from lines that, under conventional performance standards, had only half the traffic that start-up short lines generally require. The program provides these new short lines with both a negotiated allowance of NS line haul revenues and lease credits for traffic above a threshold level. More than 1,300 miles have been converted into short lines under this program.

Federal Railroad Administrator Gilbert E. Carmichael presented the award to James W. McClellan, director of Corprate Development, Norfolk, who accepted the award for Norfolk Southern. NS also received the award last year for its Triple Crown RoadRailer(R) service.

Union Pacific received the other 1990 award for restructuring its management forces and for the productivity gains as a result of that action.

NEW YORK (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has issued an administrative complaint against Schenectady Chemicals, Inc., of Schenectady, N.Y. for failure to immediately notify the appropriate federal, state and local agencies following an Oct. 23, 1989 release of 10,000 pounds of acetone, a hazardous substance, into the Mohawk River. The complaint, which seeks $55,000 in penalties, is the result of an EPA investigation of the release, and was initiated by information provided by the New York State Attorney General's office.

"EPA has reason to believe that Schenectady Chemicals delayed apprising the appropriate authorities for a 9-hour period," said Constantine Sidamon-Eristoff, EPA's regional administrator. "Prompt notification of spills like this is essential so that government agencies can take steps to protect public health and the environment. Our regional enforcement effort is focusing in on those companies that fail to make the requisite local, state and federal notifications," Eristoff continued.

Under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA), also known as Superfund, a company is required to immediately inform the National Response Center (NRC) following an accidental release of listed hazardous substance. Furthermore, under Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act (EPCRA), companies that release extremely hazardous substances must also notify the state and local response authorities.

This is the fourth complaint issued this year in EPA Region 2 for violations of Superfund and EPCRA notification requirements.

MINNEAPOLIS (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Donaldson Company, Inc. (NYSE: DCI) today reported first-quarter sales and earnings for the period ended Oct. 31, 1990. Sales of $112.9 million were up 9 percent from the prior year's sales of $103.3 million. The current quarter was the highest sales quarter in the company's history. Net earnings of $7.2 million, or 73 cents per share, were up 52 percent over last year's earnings of $4.7 million, or 49 cents per share.

"Sales increases were reported across all markets," said William A. Hodder, chairman, president and chief executive officer. "On a relative basis, the most significant sales increases were reported for disk drive filters, air filters for military vehicles and increased aftermarket sales.

"Gross margins at 29.1 percent were 2.2 percentage points higher than last year and were consistent with the gross margins reported in the second half of Fiscal 1990. Operating expenses at 17.8 percent of sales were also consistent with the expense levels reported in the same period of the prior year.

"Both sales and earnings were positively impacted by the lower U.S. dollar. Profitability was also favorably impacted by reduced other expense and a reduction in the company's effective income tax rate -- trends which should continue throughout the year.

"Total backlogs of $122.7 million were up more than 26 percent from the same period last year and 6 percent from the prior year-end. Significant increases in total backlogs for defense, gas turbine filtration and high purity products offset some weakness in our traditional domestic diesel engine markets."

BASKING RIDGE, NJ (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - AT&T (NYSE: T) has opened direct-dial service to 10 countries and areas, including Syria, Albania and The Congo. Before now calls to the 10 areas required operator assistance.

The new direct-dial countries and areas are the African nations of The Congo (Country Code 242), Mauritania (222) and Mozambique (258); Albania (355); Bhutan (975) in Asia; Mayotte (269) in the Indian Ocean; Syria (963); and the Pacific island nations of Cook Islands (682), Nauru (674), and Solomon Islands (677).

By dialing a call directly rather than using an operator, callers are connected more quickly and easily, and at a lower cost. As an example, a five-minute, direct-dialed call from the U.S. to Syria during the least expensive time of day will cost $8.95. The least expensive operator-assisted rate for a five-minute call to Syria is $12.21.

AT&T completes more than one billion international calls each year to more than 270 countries and areas. Americans can now direct-dial 177 countries and areas with the addition of the 10 announced today. International calling service to Albania had not been available even through operators before April 1990, due to restrictions the Albanian government had placed on international calling for more than 40 years.

All calls to Syria have required operator assistance since 1934. Direct-dial service is less expensive than operator-assisted calling, so the new service will benefit the estimated 110,000 people of Syrian descent living in the U.S.

Direct dialing was introduced domestically by AT&T in 1951. Overseas direct dialing began in 1970 to the United Kingdom, and by 1980 the capability rose to 70 countries.

MIAMI (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - In a filing with the Office of Thrift Supervision ("OTS") earlier this week, American Savings and Loan Association of Florida (NASDAQ: ASLA) ("ASLA") announced that continued compliance with regulatory capital requirements may prove impossible if a reserve is required relating to outstanding indebtedness from The Enstar Group, Inc. (NASDAQ: ENST) ("Enstar") and its affiliates to ASLA, or if capital requirements are made more stringent by OTS. Enstar owns 50 percent of ASLA's common stock. The indebtedness is the subject of supervisory directives and a proposed cease and desist order issued by OTS, described in that filing with OTS.

Under the terms of a capital maintenance agreement, executed in connection with Enstar's acquisition of ASLA, Enstar is required to provide additional capital to ASLA in order to maintain ASLA's regulatory capital at required levels. Enstar announced yesterday that if ASLA does not meet its regulatory capital requirements at Dec. 31, 1990, then, in light of Enstar's liquidity position, Enstar might not be able to infuse sufficient additional capital to bring ASLA into compliance with its capital requirements as of Dec. 31, 1990.

ASLA's management currently believes that it will be required to provide loss reserves against the indebtedness from Enstar and its affiliates to ASLA that will cause ASLA's regulatory capital to fall below required levels.

If ASLA does not meet its minimum regulatory capital standards, it will be required to submit a capital plan to the OTS. The plan would have to address ASLA's need for increased capital, describe the manner in which ASLA would increase its capital so as to achieve compliance with regulatory capital requirements, specify the type and level of activities in which ASLA would engage, and would require any increase in assets to be accompanied by (i) an increase in tangible capital not less in percentage amount than the leverage limit then applicable, and (ii) an increase in capital not less in percentage amount than required under the risk-based capital standard then applicable. The plan must be acceptable to the OTS.

American Savings currently operates a network of 5 mortgage offices and 55 retail banking offices in Dade, Broward, Palm Beach, Pinellas, Hernando and Pasco counties. American Savings is a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank System and its deposits are Federally insured. American Savings' common NORRISTOWN, Pa. (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Provident American Corporation, an insurance holding company, announced today that for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, it had a loss from operations of $1,725,000, or $.30 per share on gross revenue of $37,115,000. The results compare with a gain from operations of $56,000, or $.02 per share, on gross revenue of $275,000 for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1989.

For the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, Provident had an operating loss of $1,460,000, or $.25 per share, on gross revenue of $12,345,000 compared with a gain of $34,000, or $.01 per share, on gross revenue of $175,000 for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1989.

In October 1989, Provident acquired Maine National Life Insurance Company in an exchange of common stock and this acquisition has been treated as a reverse purchase for accounting purposes. Accordingly, the financial results for the nine and three month periods of 1989, represent only Maine National's operations.

Operating results for 1990 are severely impacted by adverse claim experience on one block of group accident and health business, which had been administered by an unrelated third party administrator until November 1989. At Sept. 30, 1990, an additional claim reserve of $1,500,000 for the prior year claim experience was established with respect to this block of business. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, this block has incurred a loss of $2,600,000, including the addition to reserves of $2,200,000 for prior year claim experience. The company believes that the reserves on this business are now adequate and does not anticipate any unusual additions to these reserves in the future.

The company continues in its endeavor to increase the production of ordinary life insurance through pre-need sales and is in the process of building a national sales team that will be dedicated to this market.

Provident also announced that, effective Oct. 15, 1990, it sold 823,500 newly issued common shares in a private placement to a small number of individual investors raising approximately $2,800,000 of additional capital. This capital has been used to increase the surplus of Provident's life insurance subsidiary.

CLEVELAND (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - The Commercial Composites division of Advanced Materials, a subsidiary of BP Chemicals Inc., today announced that its Filon manufacturing plant in Hawthorne, Calif., will be closed, effective on or about Apr. 1, 1991.

The Filon plant, which manufactures plastic panels used for RV bodies, greenhouses, signs and building products, will be consolidated with the company's two other Filon plants in Ft. Wright, Ky. and Jonesboro, Ark.

In addition, the division's headquarters group will relocate from Hawthorne to the greater Cincinnati area. The move will begin during the first quarter, 1991, and should be completed by Sept. 1, 1991. The Hawthorne office will remain open during the transition period.

The company's Silmar plant in Hawthorne, adjacent to the Filon facility, will remain in operation. Silmar produces high quality polyester resins for materials in cultured marble and moldings for car and boat parts.

The closing of the Filon plant will result in the permanent layoff of approximately 41 hourly and 6 supervisory employees. The headquarters relocation will result in the permanent layoff of 47 salaried employees. About 20 employees will be transferred to the new headquarters.

All employees involved in the layoffs will be offered job search assistance and personal counseling.

"The market for Filon products continues to grow, but at a slower pace than anticipated," said Larry Wentz, vice president and general manager, commercial composites. "The Hawthorne facility is being closed because it has the least favorable economics of our existing plants.

The Jonesboro and Ft. Wright plants are closer to our customer base, and will enable us to continue to grow with demand."

The Jonesboro plant is currently under construction. When completed in early 1991, the plant will offer the advantages of up-to-date technology and improved operating efficiencies over similar plants, according to Wentz.

The Hawthorne plant began operations in 1955, and was purchased in 1966 by Standard Oil (now BP America).

CLEVELAND (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Acme-Cleveland Corporation (NYSE: AMT) today reported net earnings for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1990 of $5.1 million, or $.77 a common share, compared to net earnings for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1989 of $7.0 million, or $1.07 a common share. For the fourth quarter, the corporation's reported net earnings were $.4 million, or $.06 a common share, compared to net earnings of $2.1 million, or $.32 a common share during the comparable period in fiscal 1989.

Reported earnings included nonrecurring other income of $.8 million, or $.12 a common share, in fiscal 1990 and $1.0 million, or $.16 a common share, in fiscal 1989, and nonrecurring other expense in 1990 of $3.4 million for the fiscal year and $1.8 million for the fourth quarter, or $.54 and $.28 a common share, respectively.

The nonrecurring other income resulted mainly from sales of land and minority equity investments. The nonrecurring other expense for both fiscal 1990 periods resulted from charges to write down the corporation's minority equity investment in International Twist Drill (Holdings) Limited (ITD).

Sales in 1990 were $199.5 million for the fiscal year and $47.9 million for the fourth quarter compared to $191.0 million and $48.9 million for the corresponding periods in 1989. Consolidated orders booked for fiscal 1990 were $197.1 million compared to $201.4 million in fiscal 1989. Fourth quarter consolidated orders booked were $47.1 million versus $50.9 million for the previous quarter and $44.8 million for the fourth quarter in fiscal 1989. The order backlog was $30.0 million at Sept. 30, 1990 compared to $35.7 million at Sept. 30, 1989.

In commenting on results, David L. Swift, president and chief executive officer, said "Fiscal 1990 was a successful year in terms of operating performance but a disappointing year because of the decline in net earnings. Operating earnings before nonrecurring items improved about 25 percent on a rather modest sales increase; and orders booked, in the aggregate, were essentially equal to the prior year despite weakening industrial activity in several key U.S. markets. Orders booked in FY 1989 also included two unusually large contracts that did not repeat in FY 1990. The write-down of the corporations's minority equity investment in ITD which was the primary cause of the decrease in net earnings became necessary because of substantial losses incurred by an ITD subsidiary in discontinuing their manufacturing operations. The write-down is behind us. The underlying reason for our initial investment in ITD, to secure better access to the European cutting tool market remains valid.

"The year-to-year decrease in fourth quarter sales reflected a mix shift to lower-priced type multiple spindle machines and the absence of a large telecommunications contract. These two factors offset gains elsewhere. The year-over-year increase in customer orders for the quarter included gains in both of the corporation's product business segments, metalworking products and telecommunications and electronics products, and in all operating units but one. The decreases from third quarter levels for both sales and orders booked reflected seasonal patterns and timing of customer demand."

Acme-Cleveland Corporation manufactures and sells telecommunications products, sensor devices and controls, cutting tools, multi-spindle machine tools, quality assurance products and systems, and related parts and services.

Net earnings for the quarter were $277,000, or 5 cents per share compared to net earnings of $2,648,000, or 46 cents per share in the prior year.

Sales for the 39 weeks ended Oct. 27 increased from $263,589,000 to $266,532,000, up 1 percent. Net loss for the nine months was $1,448,000, or 25 cents per share compared to net earnings of $4,093,000, or 71 cents per share for the same period last year.

"Results thus far this year have been disappointing. While we planned for the new store start-up and tenancy costs which we have absorbed this year, we did not anticipate a weakening economic environment to the extent we have seen, with its impact on operating margins. However, the most important part of the year is still ahead and we are going into the holiday season with our inventories and expenses well-controlled," said J.R. Fowler, chairman and CEO.

(NASDAQ: NZYM) today at its annual shareholders meeting announced a profit for the fiscal 1991 second quarter ended Sept. 30 of $3,184 on revenues of $390,684, all of which were product sales. Paul C. Ahrens, president and chief executive officer of the company, stated, "This quarter marks our third consecutive quarter of increased product sales. CHERRY HILL, N.J. (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - The Rocking Horse Child Care Centers of America, Inc. (NASDAQ: RHCC), the nation's fastest growing publicly traded child care company, "achieved record revenue and operating profit in the nine month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, spurred by the company's acquisition of 28 centers in California and seven centers in North Carolina in late 1989," John Quaintance, president, reported today. "Interest charges associated with debt incurred to fund this acquisition strategy created a loss for the current period. With 100 centers now in operation, up from six when new management took over in 1986, Rocking Horse now is of the size where it will be emphasizing new center development rather than this aggressive acquisition strategy, and therefore our growth strategy for the next 24 months will be to concentrate on shortening the cycle between start-up and profitability of new centers, while reducing debt."

For the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, Rocking Horse had revenues of $8,286,268, a 46 percent increase over the $5,673,572 reported for the same three-month period a year ago. Operating income for the quarter declined 8 percent to $973,852 from $1,059,761 for the comparable 1989 quarter. Net loss for the quarter was ($569,572), or ($0.05) per share, versus net profit of $49,381, or $0.00 per share in the 1989 quarter.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990. Rocking Horse had a 61 percent increase in revenues to $26,795,213 from revenues of $16,646,034 in the year ago nine-month period. Operating income for the nine months increased by 33 percent to $4,528,414 compared with $3,397,788 in 1989. Net loss for the nine months was ($491,704), or ($0.05) per share, compared with net income of $528,540, or $0.05 per share in the first nine months of 1989.

The Rocking Horse Child Care Centers of America, Inc., has been cited by INC. Magazine as the nation's fastest growing publicly traded child care company over the last five years. Since 1985, the company has grown from an operator of six child care centers, to an operator of 100 centers delivering high quality child care in 11 states.

Sales for the quarter were $5,462,828 compared to $5,700,005 for the same quarter last year. First quarter earnings were a loss of $(273,297) or $(.09) per share, from $(401,632) or $(.12) per share, a year earlier. Pullo, president of York Financial Corp., York (NASDAQ: YFED), announced today that York Financial has postponed the acquisition of American Federal Savings, Franklin, Pa., as a result of conditions in the economy and particularly the stock prices of financial institutions.

York Financial previously announced the acquisition of American Federal by York Financial through a conversion/acquisition whereby American Federal would convert to stock form and be simultaneously acquired by York Financial. As part of the transaction, York Financial would have offered additional shares of its common stock to depositors and other members of American Federal and stockholders of York Financial in an amount equal to the appraised value of American Federal. Any remaining shares would have been offered to the general public in a broker-assisted community offering.

Pullo stated, "American Federal is a fine organization and we are disappointed that we are unable to proceed with the acquisition at this time." Pullo noted that the motivating factor for entering into the transaction was to build shareholder value through an immediate increase in book value and earnings per share for York Financial shareholders. The concern about the capital market's weak support of additional equity issues and depressed stock market prices make an additional equity offering virtually impossible at this time and would not achieve York Financial objectives.

York Financial Corp. is the parent holding company of York Federal Savings and Loan Association, a federally chartered savings and loan association. York Federal currently operates 19 full-service office facilities in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

HOUSTON (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Granada Foods Corp. (AMEX: GNF) today reported gains in both sales and earnings for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1990, as compared to the comparable 1989 period.

According to David G. Eller, chairman and chief executive officer, the stronger earnings performance thus far in 1990 primarily reflects increased sales from the red meat division.

For the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, 1990, net income was $148,000, or 4 cents per share, compared with net income of $15,000, or one cent per share, in the 1989 period. Revenues were $101,783,000, an 8 percent increase from $94,147,000 in the year-earlier period. The 1990 per share data was based on 3,379,000 average outstanding common shares compared to 2,200,000 for the 1989 period.

Eller said that revenues for the period increased primarily due to a gain in its TMP subsidiary meat product sales in the Houston and San Antonio markets. He said turkey sales were about equal to last year and there was a decline in export sales due to continuing competition and oversupply in a key market.

For the third quarter of 1990, net income was $18,000 or one cent per share, compared with $41,000, or 2 cents per share, for the third quarter of 1989. The decrease in net income is attributable to the decline in export sales and to lower feedyard sales. Revenues were $32,297,000 down slightly from $33,133,000 in the prior year.

The third quarter 1990 per share amount was based on 3,477,000 average outstanding common shares, while the 1989 per share amount was computed on the basis of 2,200,000 average outstanding common shares.

On Sept. 30, 1990, Granada Foods had working capital of $19.3 million. Shareholders' equity was $24.5 million.

MIAMI (NOV. 16) PR NEWSWIRE - Crest Industries, Inc. (NASDAQ: CRII) today reported unaudited net sales and net loss for its second quarter, which ended Sept. 30, 1990.

Net sales for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1990, were $7.3 million, down 8 percent from $7.9 million for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1989. The company reported a net loss for the quarter of approximately $334,000, or ($0.10) per share for the quarter, as compared to pro forma net income of $30,000, or $0.01 per share for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1989.

The overall decrease in net sales resulted from offsetting factors in several product categories. Sales of lighting products, which includes track and recessed, increased approximately $900,000, up 81 percent from 1989. This is a result of the company's focus on supporting and expanding these product lines. Crest Building Products, Inc., an 80 percent owned subsidiary, reported net sales of approximately $300,000. The subsidiary did not exist in 1989.

Offsetting these increases were decreases in fans and air conditioners totaling approximately $1 million, down 20 percent from 1989. Management attributes this decrease to mild weather and increasing uncertainties in the marketplace, which caused cancellation and delays in placing orders at the end of the selling season. Management's decision to discontinue locks and brass products resulted in no sales in the hardware category which represents a decrease of approximately $840,000 from 1989.

Pro forma provisions for income taxes and net income amounts for the three months ended Sept. 30, 1989, assume that Crest was subject to income taxes. It revoked its subchapter S election effective Jan. 1, 1990. The company completed its initial public offering in July 1990 and currently has 3,380,000 shares outstanding.

Crest Industries, Inc. is primarily engaged in the wholesale distribution of home improvement products, including ceiling fans, room air conditioners, track and recessed lighting products and plumbing fixtures. The company designs ceiling fans, track lighting products and plumbing fixtures and contracts for their manufacture by independent suppliers located in the Far East. Crest room air conditioners are produced domestically and its recessed lighting products are assembled by the company at its facility in Cleveland, Ohio.
